£3,000,000 TO RESTOCK FARMS

Disfranchisement After Trial, But Not Death For Rebels—No Tax on Transvaal to Pay For the War—Dutch Language in the Schools If Parents Wish and in Courts If Necessary.

London, June 3.—Not in years had the House of Commons been so thronged with a brilliant and enthusiastic audience as when the First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House, Mr. Balfour, announced yesterday afternoon, the peace terms concluded with the Boers.

An hour before the House met a large crowd on Whitehall vociferously cheered the notable politicians, particularly the Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, who walked unconcernedly from the Colonial Office with a broad smile on his face.

Long before the customary prayer, the galleries of the House were packed. Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassador, Henry White, the Secretary of the Embassy, Lord Rothschild and many members of the Cabinet patiently waited through the answering of questions in the House for the momentous announcement. An unusually large number of peers sat in their gallery, and behind the ladies' grill aristocratic women were closely packed. Noticeable among them was Lady Sarah Wilson, who thus saw the end of the drama in which she played such an active part.

Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour both received a great ovation as they walked to their seats. Mr. Chamberlain's ovation being by far the most enthusiastic of the two.

The period of waiting finally came to an end. Amid breathless silence, broken a few seconds later by applause, such as the House of Commons seldom hears, Mr. Balfour stood up and announced the terms on which the war in South Africa had been ended. The reference to the Boers acknowledging King Edward as their sovereign was the hit of the day, being greeted with a salvo of "Hears, hears" and applause from the galleries, the occupants of which refused to be silenced.

As the liberality of the terms grew plainer, the cheers on the Government side of the House diminished, while the Opposition's satisfaction was proportionately increased.

Through all this the Irish members sat impassive, though earlier in the afternoon they had startled the House by a demonstration which at first was thought to be in honor of peace. This, it was soon discovered was caused by the re-appearance in the House of William Redmond, who has just returned from the United States.

When Mr. Balfour's statement was concluded, every one seemed glad of the opportunity for a hearty laugh, caused by the Government leader's humorous quashing of the suggestion that the Commons adjourn in honor of peace.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, on behalf of the Opposition, said, unbounded satisfaction would be felt throughout the Empire at the conclusion of peace. They were unanimous in admiration of their late enemies, now their friends and fellow citizens, whose military qualities, tenacity of purpose and self-sacrificing devotion to liberty and country, had won them the whole world, and, foremost of all, the respect of their opponents. Every member would offer congratulations to the King and to the country, on thrice blessed restoration of peace.

Mr. Balfour having announced the Government would take an early opportunity of moving a vote of thanks to Lord Kitchener and the forces in South Africa, the members of the House of Commons returned to their ordinary avocations.

TEXT OF PEACE TERMS.

Officially Announced in British House of Commons by Mr. A. J. Balfour.

London, June 3.—The First Lord of the Treasury and Government Leader A. J. Balfour in the House of Commons yesterday announced the terms of peace in South Africa, as follows:—

"His Excellency Lord Milner, in behalf of the British Government; his Excellency Mr. Steyn, General Bremner, General C. R. Dewet and Judge Hertzog, acting in behalf of the Orange Free State; and General Schalkburger, General Reitz, General Louis Botha and General Delarey, acting in behalf of their respective burghers, desiring to terminate the present hostilities, agree to the following terms:—

"The burgher forces in the field will forthwith lay down their arms and hand over all their guns, rifles and ammunition of war in their possession, or under their control, and desist from further resistance and acknowledge King Edward VII. as their lawful sovereign.

"The manner and details of this surrender will be arranged between Lord Kitchener and Commandant General Botha, assisted by General Delarey and Chief Commandant Dewet.

"Second—All burghers outside the limits of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, and all prisoners of war at present outside South Africa, who are burghers, will, on duly declaring their acceptance of the position of subjects of his Majesty, be brought back to their homes so soon as means of transportation can be provided and means of subsistence assured.

Third—The burghers so returning will not be deprived of their personal liberty or property.

"Fourth—No proceedings, civil or criminal, will be taken against any burghers surrendering, or so returning, for any acts in connection with the prosecution of the war. The benefits of this clause do not extend to certain acts contrary to the usages of war which had been notified by the Commander-in-Chief to the Boer generals and which shall be tried by court-martial after the close of hostilities.

"Fifth—The Dutch language will be taught in the Public schools of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony where the parents desire it, and will be allowed in the courts of law, for the better and more effectual administration of justice.

"Sixth—Possession of rifles will be allowed in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony to persons requiring them for their protection, on taking out a license according to law.

"Seventh—The military administration of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony will, at the earliest possible date, be succeeded by a civil Government, and, so soon as circumstances permit representative institutions, leading up to self-government, will be introduced.

"Eighth—The question of granting the franchise to natives will not be decided until after the introduction of self-government.

"Ninth—No special war tax will be imposed on landed property in the Transvaal or Orange River Colony to defray the expenses of the war.

"Tenth—So soon as the conditions permit it a commission, on which the local inhabitants will be represented, will be appointed in each district of the Transvaal and Orange River colony under the presidency of a magistrate or other official, for the purpose of assisting in the restoration of the people to their homes, and supplying those who, owing to war losses, are unable to provide for themselves, with food and shelter, and the necessary amount of seed, stock and implements, etc., indispensable to the resumption of formal occupancy.

"His Majesty's Government will place at the disposal of these commissions the sum of three million pounds sterling ($15,000,000) and will allow all the notes issued under the law of 1900 of the South African Republic and all receipts given up to officers in the field of the late Republics, or under their orders, to be presented to a judicial commission which will be appointed by the Government, and if such notes and receipts are found by this commission to have been duly issued in return for valuable considerations they will be received by the first name commissions as evidence of war losses suffered by the persons to which they were originally given.

"In addition to the above named free grant of three million pounds sterling, His Majesty's Government will be prepared to make advances, on loan, for the same purposes free of interest for two years, and afterwards repayable over a period of years, with three per cent. interest. No foreigner or rebel will be entitled to benefit under this clause.

"Rebels are liable to trial, according to the law of the colony to which they belong. The rank and file will be disfranchised for life. The death penalty will not be inflicted."

After he had concluded reading the peace agreement, Mr. Balfour proceeded:

"There are certain important points not dealt with in the document I have just read, and which was signed on Saturday night. Therefore, it may be convenient, if I read a despatch from Lord Kitchener to the Secretary of War, dated May 30, as follows:

"After handing the Boer delegates a copy of the draft of the agreement, I read them a statement, and gave them a copy of it, as follows: "His Majesty's Government must place on record that the treatment of the Cape and Natal colonists who have been in rebellion, will, if they return to their colonies, be determined by the colonial courts, and in accordance with the laws of the colonies, and any British subjects who have joined the enemy will be liable to trial, under the law of that part of the British empire to which they belong.

"His Majesty's Government are informed by the Cape Government that their views regarding the terms to be granted to British subjects in Cape Colony now in the field, or who have surrendered or been captured since April 12, 1901, are as follows:

"With regard to the rank and file, they should all after surrender, and giving up their arms, sign a document before the resident magistrate of the district in which they surrender, acknowledging themselves guilty of high treason, and the punishment to be accorded them, provided they are not guilty of murder or acts contrary to the usages of civilized warfare, shall be that they are not entitled, for life to be registered as voters, or vote in any parliamentary or provincial council or municipal election.

"With reference to justices of the peace, field cornets and all others who held official positions under the Government of Cape Colony, or who have been occupying a position of authority or who have held commands in the rebel or burgher forces, they shall be tried for high treason before the ordinary courts of the country or such special courts as may hereafter be constituted, their punishment to be left to the discretion of such court, with the provision that in no case shall the penalty of death be inflicted.

"The Natal Government are of the opinion that the rebels should be dealt with according to the law of that colony."

"These arrangements," concluded Mr. Balfour, "the Government have approved."

THE FORESTRY PROBLEM.

The report of Mr. Thomas Southworth, Ontario Director of Forestry, which has recently been issued for the year 1900-1901 presents some important facts and conclusions with regard to forestry conditions. Much has been done by the Government of late years to preserve the forests still under the control of the Government. The fire-ranging system has been considerably extended and perfected so that the losses by forest fires are much less than formerly. Large areas which by reason of the situation or the character of the land are unsuited for agriculture have been set aside as forest reserves. These include the Temagami reserve of 1,408,000 acres containing the most valuable and extensive tract of white pine known to exist in New Ontario; the Sibley reserve of 45,000 acres on the north shore of Lake Superior, and the Eastern Reserve in the Counties of Frontenac and Addington, of 80,000 acres. The Algonquin National Park of 1,109,383 acres, though not a forest reserve in the strict sense of the word, largely answers the same purpose. So far as the Crown Lands are concerned, therefore, the situation is satisfactory and there is no reason to fear that the country will be unduly stripped of its timber.

As regards Southern Ontario where the land has nearly all passed into the hands of private owners the problem is made more complicated. The remaining forests are being rapidly destroyed owing to the increased demand for timber of all kinds, more especially in those localities where the fertility of the soil encourages clearing. An indication of the extent to which deforestation has been carried is afforded by the statistics giving the respective areas of cleared and uncleared land furnished by the municipalities to the Bureau of Industries every year. A comparison of the figures for 1901 with those of 1896 shows that the area of timbered land greatly decreased during the interval. There are only six counties in the province which have over 25 per cent. of their area in timber. Ten counties have less than 25 and more than 20 per cent. of woodland sixteen counties have between 10 and 20 per cent. and eleven counties have less than 5 per cent. Forestry authorities give 20 per cent as the lowest proportion to which the woodland can be reduced without greatly endangering agricultural interests, and the changes for the worse which have already taken place in the climate should be a sufficient warning as to the more serious consequences which may be looked for, unless a halt is called in the work of destruction.

It is noteworthy that the evil of over-clearance has affected the western and Midland Counties to a much greater extent than the eastern section. All the counties having above 25 per cent. are in the eastern part of the province. The county having the highest percentage of woodland is Russell, with 58.54 per cent. Haliburton comes next with 54.72 per cent. Peterborough has 22.04 per cent. of timbered land, while Victoria comes lowest on the list with only 4.49 per cent. It is explained, however, that this is probably due to inaccurate classification as large areas of swamp lands in that county, which are timbered, are classed as waste. In two counties, Prince Edward and Grenville, the woodland area shows a slight increase. A very low percentage is shown by many of the townships. A list of 44 townships is given which have less than 5 per cent. of their area in forest.

In the United States, where the problem has been under consideration for many years, legislation has done something to encourage forestry on private lands. In several States, bonuses for tree planting are given, or timbered lands given the benefit of exemption from assessment, or a rebate on taxation. A summary of these laws is given in the report. A paper on the management of the Farmer's Woodlot, by Mr. Wm. H. Hutt, is appended, which contains many useful suggestions. Anyone wishing to obtain a copy of this instructive report can do so by sending his address to Thos. Southworth, Director of Forestry, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

The Toronto News, (Conservative,) says: "Experience in the past has taught that where the Government has even the smallest prima facie majority at first, the advantage of turnovers on recounts and gains in bye-elections is with the Government every time.

"In the Herald's judgment," says the Hamilton Herald, "the Conservatives failed to win in this campaign partly because they did not have as good a leader as their opponents had, but chiefly because they had no definite, declared policy. They were fighting for nothing particular—except office. Their tactics consisted of criticism, more or less vituperative, of the Ross Government. They tried to climb into power by making the people believe, not so much that the Conservative party is worthy to be entrusted with power, as that the Liberal party is not worthy. If they could have convicted the Government of any great political misdemeanors or shortcomings, they might have succeeded; but they were rather short of material for censure."

CANADIAN BUTTER IN BRITAIN.

The British market report shows that Canadian dairy products have to win a place against competition from many quarters, and that the lateness of the present season makes proportionate openings for some of our rivals. The Canadian supply has not yet made an effective appearance in the market, but other countries are making large shipments. Russian and Argentine shipments have been exceptionally heavy, the latter country sending 67,842 packages for the season ending with the first week in May, as compared with 49,959 packages for the same season last year. The Danish, Swedish and Finnish shipments have also been heavy, and Ireland contributes largely. Even with the most rapid growth of our export butter trade, Canada will supply a comparatively small part of the British demand for some years to come.

Against an importation of three million cwt., and a domestic production of a million and a half cwt. in 1900, Canada sent 146,444 cwt., the total contribution by the colonies being 639,875 cwt. But while we have a market at good prices for all we have to sell we need not worry about relative proportions. There will be a splendid chance for Canadian dairymen to distinguish and advertise themselves at the Dairy Show to be held in London next October. The British Dairy Farmers' Association have instituted a colonial section, so that the products of the various colonies will compete against each other. There will be two classes in colonial, butter, salt and fresh, and the prizes in each class will be, for first five pounds and a silver medal, and for the second three pounds and a bronze medal. Canadian producers of creamery butter must seize this opportunity, as the distinction of winning is within their reach.—Globe.

WHEN THE NEGRO RISES.

"Bystander" Thinks the United States Will Learn What he can do.

(Bystander in Weekly Sun.)

There is another frightful case of lynching in the United States. The lynchers piled dry brush, dry wood dry grass and straw round the negro, poured on oil, and applied the match. For several minutes the burning man writed and groaned, then he became silent. In a civilized and Christian country four thousand men went out to gloat over the agonies of a victim burned alive. This is bad enough. Not less bad as an indication of the state of national character, is the report of the lynching in a first-class American newspaper as an article of news without a syllable of reprobation. The influence of the South upon the North is in this respect worse now than it was in the days of slavery, when the South, socially speaking, was almost a foreign nation. Now mutterings are heard of a negro insurrection. The negro is by nature apathetic and callous to injustice or insult, but when he does rise, St. Domingo knows what he can do. Meantime the President is vowing that the flag under which the blessings of civilization are being extended to the Filipino shall not be hauled down.

PREMIER'S DEPARTURE

Sails for England with Lady Laurier on June 14.

CABINET BUSY TILL JUNE 12.

Plans of the Ministers With Reference to Their Departure For England and Also the Commercial Banquet in Toronto —Canada Atlantic Purchase Probably Abandoned by Dr. Webb.

Ottawa, June 2.—The Cabinet will be very busy almost daily from now until the 12th instant, when the Premier, accompanied by Lady Laurier, will leave for New York to take passage for England. Sir Wilfrid and his amiable wife sail from New York on the Etruria on June 14th. On the same date Messrs. Mulock, Paterson and Fielding will leave Montreal in the Tunisian. The two former will be accompanied by their private secretaries, Messrs. Lasching-er and Bain. It is not unlikely that Mr. John Bain will act as secretary to the Canadian section of the colonial conference. He is exceedingly well posted on every phase of Canadian commerce, and has also made a study of the trade of the colonies generally. Messrs. Mulock, Paterson, Sutherland and Tarte will attend the banquet of commercial men in Toronto on Thursday night. The Minister of Finance has given a qualified consent, and, if possible, will also be present.

Canada Atlantic Option.

The negotiations for the purchase of the Canada Atlantic Railway by Dr. Seward Webb have practically come to nothing. This was the day upon which the option expired, and Mr. J. R. Booth stated yesterday afternoon that to all intents and purposes the deal is off. "I have heard nothing from Dr. Webb or those connected with him directly, and I would assume that if they intended to carry out the bargain involving such a large amount they would have communicated with me before this; however, they have a few hours yet."

"Do you intend to extend the option?" was asked.

"No, I won't do that," replied Mr. Booth, "for the reason that the financial standing of the parties on the other side is not the same now as when the option was taken."

Mr. Regensberger, solicitor for Mr. Arthur A. Meyer of New York, was in the city yesterday and saw Mr. Booth. The original option was given to Mr. Meyer and subsequently transferred to Dr. Webb. Mr. Regensberger still continues to act for Mr. Meyer, but Mr. Booth says he does not know the latter gentleman in the transaction. The conference between them yesterday morning was very brief, and nothing was done. Mackenzie & Mann were in conference with Mr. Booth on Saturday, but the latter denies that any negotiations with Mackenzie and Mann are afoot.

MINERS' HANDS STRENGTHENED.

Engineers, Firemen and Pumpmen Respond to Order to Strike.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 3.—The order of the United Mine Workers of America calling out on strike all engineers, firemen and pumpmen employed at collieries where the 8-hour work day with present wages was not granted, went into effect yesterday, and a majority of the men obeyed the order. Neither side can claim a victory at this time, because the struggle on this phase of the anthracite coal miners' strike has just opened. There was only a partial showing of strength yesterday. The real test of whether or not the mine pumps shall be manned will begin today.

Union Charter Is Cancelled.

Watertown, N. Y., June 3.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has cancelled the charter of the Kingston, Ont., Iron Workers' Union because the men would not support the machinists now on strike there. Such a step was never before necessary in the history of unionism in Canada.

The Great Medicine for Building up Weak and Sickly People in Summer.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Gives a Lady the new Life She so Earnestly Sought for and Adds 41 Pounds to Her Weight.

The surest and speediest banisher of disease and sickness known to medical men, is Paine's Celery Compound.

The peculiar virtues of Paine's Celery Compound enables it to reach all the centres where disease is working; it quickly banishes all pain and trouble.

At this time, Paine's Celery Compound is a veritable boon to every nervous, weak and debilitated man and woman. The ailments and diseases that have held people in bondage and suffering up to the present, can be permanently banished by the use of a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound this month. Mr. Joseph Lloyd, Gananoque, Ont., tells of her complete cure as follows:

"I was always a sufferer from nervous debility and very bad headaches, and found it impossible to obtain regular rest and sleep. I read of your Paine's Celery Compound, and bought a bottle of it. After I used it, I got rest and sleep. I have used altogether seven bottles and am completely cured. Your medicine purifies the blood and regulates the system; I would not be without it if it took my last dollar. Before using Paine's Celery Compound my weight was only 100 pounds; now I weigh 141 pounds. Five of my friends are using the Compound since they have seen what it has done for me."

TERMS OF THE TREATY

South Africa, referred to the great loss which the Empire had sustained in the death of Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador at Washington, "who had done more than any one man to cement the union of the two great Anglo-Saxon races, which is one of the healthiest and most promising indications of the time."

Lord Tweedmough (Liberal) and Lord Rosebery, associated themselves with the Premier's tribute.

Lord Salisbury, then remarking that he hoped the agreed on terms of surrender would bring the lamentable state of things in South Africa to an end, proceeded to read the terms of the agreement arrived at with the Boers.

Lord Rosebery expressed his hearty, unstinted and unreserved congratulations.

PROGRESS OF THE NEGOTIATIONS.

The Various Steps That Finally Led to the Happy Ending.

London, June 3.—A parliamentary paper, issued last evening, gives the correspondence preceding the peace agreement. From this it appears that General Schalkburger (acting president of the Transvaal) informed Lord Kitchener, March 12, that he was prepared to make peace proposals. A month later the Boer delegates submitted propositions. On April 13, the War Secretary, Mr. Brodrick, refused to entertain any propositions based on the independence of the republics.

Subsequently President Steyn of the Orange Free State and Generals Schalkburger and Botha declared that the surrender of independence must be submitted to the burghers in the field. The British Government expressed surprise at this attitude, but announced its willingness to accept the Boer's surrender on the same terms that Lord Kitchener had previously offered Gen. Botha, and to give fair redress for consultation of the Boer commands.

On May 17 Gen. Schalkburger and Mr. Steyn informed Lord Kitchener that the burghers assembled at Vereeniging had empowered a commission to negotiate peace terms subject to ratification at Vereeniging. Lord Milner, Lord Kitchener and the Boer commission met May 19. The latter offered to surrender the independence of the republics, as regards foreign relations; to surrender part of their territory and self-government under British supervision.

These proposals were forthwith rejected. The same day Lord Milner Gen. Smuts and Judge Hertzog drew up a form of agreement to be submitted to the conference at Vereeniging for a yes or no vote. This was very similar to the final agreement, and, with a few alterations, was approved by Mr. Chamberlain, who, in giving notice of his approval, told Lord Milner he must inform the Boers that unless it was accepted within a fixed limit of time the conference would be considered ended, and his Majesty's Government would not be bound in any way by the present declarations. The Boers asked to be allowed until Saturday night to give an answer, and the result was seen in the termination of the war.

The last message of Lord Milner to Mr. Chamberlain, June 1, after the signature of the peace agreement mentions that Mr. Steyn's name was omitted from the signatures, because he was too ill to come up from Pretoria, adding that he had already taken his parole.

Of the Orange Free State delegation, Gen. Dewet signed first, because Mr. Steyn nominated him "acting president" on retiring from the conference.

OLD LUNNON CELEBRATES.

Assistants at a Funeral Waved Union Jacks—Crowds Hilarious.

London, June 3.—The peace in South Africa and its very elastic terms were welcomed in London last night with a mild repetition of the Mafeking celebration.

At the height of the rejoicing a hearse passed through Piccadilly, and even the undertaker's assistants, who are known as mutes, waved Union Jacks.

Throughout the evening the hilarious crowds exhibited the utmost good humor.

The King In Danger.

King Edward narrowly escaped what might have been a serious accident yesterday morning. His Majesty was driving to St. James' Palace when a cab collided with his carriage. The cab horse fell and lay struggling under the royal vehicle. The King alighted and stood upon the pavement until matters were righted.

Boers Leave Pretoria.

Pretoria, June 2.—A number of the Boer leaders left here to-day. They are going to bring in the commandoes. It is expected these operations will occupy about a fortnight.

Thanksgiving Day June 15.

Cape Town, June 2.—The announcement of peace was made public in St. George's Cathedral here this morning, and has been hailed everywhere with the greatest relief. The entire town has been decorated with Union Jacks.

June 15 has been appointed a day of thanksgiving in the churches.

This day will be preceded by a day of humiliation, which had been fixed for June 13.

Sir Gordon Sprigg and the Premier of Cape Colony spoke for two hours at a meeting here. The Governor vehemently defended the action of the Government in opposing the suspension of the colonial constitution. He declared it was the intention of the Government never to falter, and it would meet its enemies in the forum as it had met them in the field.

News at the Hague.

The Hague, June 3.—The news of the conclusion of peace in South Africa was received here with mixed [illegible] While there is general satisfaction that the war is ended, un[illegible] at the [illegible] evidence.

The Boer delegates here are in a trying position. It has been learned, upon good authority, that the British Government at the last moment refused to allow the Boers in South Africa to communicate with their leaders in Europe; thus the delegates on the Continent were entirely shut out of the negotiations and were ignorant even of the terms of surrender, except as they learned of them through the newspapers. A Dutch official, referring to the news from South Africa, said: "The delegates made a great mistake in not complying with the ardent wish of the Dutch Government at the time of the overtures made by Dr. Kuyper, the Premier, which was that they apply for safe conducts to South Africa."

Kruger Is Silent.

Amsterdam, June 3.—Since the news was received that peace had been concluded in South Africa, Mr. Kruger had declined to receive visitors or express an opinion on the subject. The other Boer delegates here are disappointed at the outcome, and are not inclined to discuss the matter.

Botha Going to Europe.

Paris, June 3.—Gen. Louis Botha telegraphed to his wife, who is at Brussels, Sunday, that he had signed the peace agreement, and would start for Europe next month. The municipal council yesterday adopted an address of sympathy with Mr. Kruger, "whose people have so valiantly fought for right against might."

Britain's Heavy Cost.

London, June 3.—The cost to England in life and treasure is:

British officers, 1,064; men, 21,142; total, 22,206.

Sent home invalided—Officers, 3,030; men, 70,952; total, 73,982.

Boers (not exactly known).

Losses reported of all kinds up to 1902, 78,320.

Losses of all kinds in 1902, 6,500.

Probably actual number of Boers engaged, 70,000.

Boers reduced at end of war to 8,000.

Prisoners at Ceylon, St. Helena, Bermuda and Cape, 40,000.

Cost in money to Great Britain, estimated, $1,125,000,000.

CANADA'S CONGRATULATIONS.

Lord Minto Sends Messages to Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Kitchener.

Ottawa, June 3.—The following cable was sent out last night by the Governor-General, Lord Minto, to Joseph Chamberlain:

My Ministers hasten to offer to His Majesty the King the humble and loyal congratulations of the people of Canada in the restoration of peace to South Africa, and they regard the announcement on the eve of the approaching solemnities of the coronation as forming a happy augury for the long-continuous prosperity and greatness of His Majesty's reign. Pole Broke, Man Killed.

Fort William, June 3.—A man named Graham was killed yesterday afternoon on the steel dock while discharging the cargo from the steamer Johnson. About all that is known of the man at the present time is that he is a stranger and has been here only a short time. He was killed by being struck by a rail caused by the breaking of the gin pole.

RICE HANGS JULY 18.

The Murderer Betrays no Emotion When Sentenced

PRISONER CAREFULLY GUARDED.

Chief Justice Falconbridge Warns Him That Appeal For Remission of the Death Sentence Will Prove Vain—Had a Fair Trial—His Lordship Very Much Affected in Passing Sentence.

Toronto, June 3.—Fred Lee Rice was removed last night from the hospital wing at the jail to a cell in No. 18 corridor, and the death watch placed over him, he having been sentenced yesterday in the Criminal Assizes by Chief Justice Falconbridge to be hanged on Friday, July 18.

Great precaution was taken in bringing Rice from the jail to the court-room yesterday morning. He was accompanied by six constables. Two were with him in the hack. One rode with the driver. Three others were behind in a separate hack. Rice was shackled, handcuffed and wore the ball and chain.

Just after the prisoner was seated in the dock Chief Justice Falconbridge entered, preceded by Sheriff Mowat, Hugh Guthrie, K.C., M.P., representing the Crown. The Court crier declared the court open, and Clerk Nichol asked the prisoner if he had any reason to state why sentence should not be passed upon him for the murder of County Constable William Boyd on June 4 last. Rice's answer was a low, but firm, negative.

Chief Justice Falconbridge then began passing of sentence. "After as fair a trial as I could give you," he said, "you have been convicted of the crime of murder."

At this point, T. C. Robinette, who had entered since the opening of the court, rose and asked His Lordship to defer sentence, in order to allow him to appeal to the Supreme Court at Ottawa. He based his right to appeal on the Supreme Court Act, and instanced the Markham-Aurora bonus case. The Chief Justice, in reply, declined to delay sentence, as there had been such long delay already. He expressed the opinion that there was no ground for an appeal, and remarked that if there were, either the Supreme Court or the Minister of Justice could grant a respite of the sentence to allow an appeal. He then continued passing sentence.

"That you were properly convicted," he said. "No one can doubt I, personally, have not the slightest doubt that your hand fired the fatal shot. It is not my custom to enlarge on the atrocity of the crime. You, if you have any feeling, realize that.

"One thing I wish to warn you, not to entertain hope of remission. Even those misguided and hysterical people who try to obstruct the proceedings of justice could find no motive for sympathy in your case."

His Lordship then sentenced Rice to be hanged on Friday, July 18, at the jail. In pronouncing the fatal words the Chief Justice almost broke down, and the words, "May God have mercy on your soul" were scarcely audible. The judge was more affected than the condemned, in whose face scarcely a muscle moved.

T. C. Robinette will leave for Ottawa on Friday night to make application for leave to set the case of Fred Lee Rice down for argument in the Supreme Court.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longfor morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Written on the Face.

We write our characters on our faces; yet, though we are quick to read our neighbor's face we are slow to realize that our own is open for him to read. But it is. The story is there, and we are writing it every day of our lives. Not only do smiles and frowns leave traces, but every passion which sways the heart stamps its record upon the face. Even a ride in a street car on a short railway journey gives proof of this. Look around you. Those two strangers opposite you never saw before, yet you know that one is passionate, the other mean, and your heart warms to the little old lady near by. You want no one to assure you she is kind and gentle, while a whole net-work of wrinkles about the eyes tells you that the old gentleman in the corner loves his joke. Character, indeed, is written plainly on every face. Some speak of tragedy, some of comedy, and not a few give you a distinct warning.—Toronto Saturday Night.

LAST NIGHT'S DEMONSTRATION

The Regiment Marched out With Bands.

Plate Glass Windows Were Broken by the Intense Heat of Bonfires—A Big Time.

The restoration of peace in South Africa, was welcome news to the people of Peterborough, a town that has done well her share in supplying recruits for the South African campaign, that has been so incessantly waged for the past two years and a half. During that period of time there have been more than 100 men enlisted in Peterborough, and the last of these have scarcely landed at Cape Town. However, there have been others who have gone before, and who have shed their blood for their country on the South African veldt, and now that the long struggle is over, they will be sadly missed among the circle of friends who had anticipated seeing their return at the close of the war.

It is no wonder, then that the people of Peterborough gave vent to their feelings last night and celebrated the event in a pleasing manner. There had been very little notice given of the intention to hold a demonstration, but long before eight o'clock the streets of the town were crowded, and bonfires were blazing. By nine o'clock the proceedings were in good order. The bands were playing, fireworks illuminated the air, and a general demonstration of thanksgiving was in order.

At about 8.30 o'clock, the 57th Regiment, accompanied by both bands and in command of Lieut.-Col E. B. Edwards, who was mounted, marched down George street. They were followed by the fire wagons, from which a pretty display of fireworks was set off. Making a circuit of the principal streets, the regiment returned to the drill shed, where the men were dismissed.

A huge bon fire was lighted on Hunter street, that stretched from George street to the Oriental Hotel. It consisted of a number of packing boxes, of very inflamable material. The fire was pretty, but the heat was intense. In fact so great was the heat that two large plate glass windows were broken. One of these was in the drug store of Mr. Madill, and the other in the insurance offfice of Mr. W. H. Hill. The fire brigade had to be called out, and the water was turned on the fire before any further damage was done.

THE SPEECHES.

Upon arriving at Central Park, a few brief speeches were delivered by prominent citizens. Lieut.-Colonel Edwards acted as chairman and introduced Police Magistrate Dumble, who spoke as follows;

Soldiers and Citizens, Throughout the world to-day, wherever it is coloured red on the map, there are glad hearts and much rejoicing, because a long and stubborn war has been now brought to a happy conclusion. The war has determined many things that were not thought of at its inception and amongst these is the now patent fact that any nation that attempts to make war with England will not deal alone with little England, but with the Greater Britain, for the government of England at home and abroad has been of such a beneficent character that when she wants soldiers to battle for her, she is not compelled to resort to conscription, but voluntarily and from their own loyalty and patriotism the men of the little island, and the men of the dependencies stand together to maintain the honour of the flag, and to support her in her struggles. This fact has brought delight to the hearts of Britons the world over, and has secured for her the respect of all, so that hereafter any nation that contemplates war with Britain must understand that they deal not with the old lion alone, but with the lion and her cubs. I congratulate you, citizen-soldiers on the brave men who have gone out from your midst to battle for the Empire. They have shown themselves in valour, and in ability, and in everything, not inferior to the best troops in the British army. They have by their life-blood testified their loyalty and their bravery. While war is to be lamented, this war has demonstrated that Britain is able to do what no other nation in Europe could have done, inasmuch as she has maintained an army of a quarter of a million men for two and a half years, seven thousand miles from her base of supplies, so that England to-day has demonstrated that she is a military power of the first order, not only on sea but upon land. I urge you to maintain your discipline and military organization. We have a land and an Empire worth maintaining, and it behooves us to raise her a race of stalwarts, who in the hour of conflict should stand for their rights and their country. It is to be hoped that never again will you be called upon to furnish troops, but this we know, that if that necessity arises you will be found "Ready, aye ready. (Cheers.)

Rev. Father McColl and Rev. J. C. Davidson, followed in the same patriotic strain as characterized the speech of Mr. Dumble. The remarks of both reverend gentlemen were received with manifestations of great enthusiasm.

EXPENDITURE OF $60,000

On Dredging the River From Little Lake to Murray St.

THE CEREAL COMPANYS OFFER

Hon. Senator Cox met the Council Last Evening and Made a Proposition Regarding the Work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held last evening, but in consequence of a proposition relative to the dredging of the river, laid before the members by Hon. Senator Cox, it was decided to adjourn in order that a small committee might frame an agreement bearing on the matter.

Senator Cox appeared before the Council accompanied by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun and Messrs. Kirn and McDonald of the Cereal Co., for the purpose of having an understanding in regard to the question of deepening the river channel for navigation purposes from the Little Lake to Murray street.

It will be remembered that a deputation from the Council waited on Hon. Mr. Tarte some time ago with Senator Cox, with the object of ascertaining if the Government would not assist in defraying the cost entailed in connection with the above named project.

Reporting on the negotiations which had been carried on with the Government, Senator Cox stated that, with Mr. Stuart, of the Cereal Works, he had met Mr. Tarte towards the close of the session and asked for an appropriation for dredging on the river front. Mr. Tarte had appeared to fall in readily with the idea and had promised to send engineers at once to take the necessary soundings. This, as was known, he had done. He had also consented to place the sum of $30,000 in the supplementary estimates, if the town was prepared to expend a like amount in the work, the estimate of the engineers being that $60,000 would be required. Mr. Tarte, realizing the necessity, had said further, that the work should be done at once and suggested that two of the Ontario Ministers be seen in regard to the matter.

Senator Cox stated that he had then interviewed Hon. Mr. Cartwright and Hon. Mr. Mulock, both of whom had promised their support in having a sum placed in the supplementary estimates. Whether the sum had been placed in the estimates or not, Senator Cox could not say, but he assured the Council that the promises obtained were of a sufficiently bona fide character, as to warrant steps being taken at once in beginning the work. As the Government was thus prepared to pay one half of the cost, the next question, the Senator went on to say, related to the other half of the expenditure. The Cereal Company recognized that the town was not prepared to take such a step as offering to bear the cost without a vote of the people being taken in regard to the expenditure. Mr. Stuart, therefore proposed that if the town would allow the Cereal Company to expend the money they would do so, providing that the town would either convey the river front lots to the company or else recompense them for the expenditure within a fixed period of time. This proposition struck the Senator as being a very fair and reasonable way of dealing with the matter. If the town did not feel justified in conveying the land in question to the company, all that would have to be done would be to repay the company for the expenditure they had incurred. Though apparently appearing before the council in the interests of the Cereal Company in the matter, Senator Cox assured the members that he was far more concerned in the interests of the town.

Ald. Rush inquired as to what amount the expenditure would probably reach?

Senator Cox replied that the bargain only contemplated an expenditure of $60,000. The town would only be liable therefore for $30,000. Any further expenditure would have to be the result of a new bargain.

Ald. Best was of the opinion that the ratepayers would never sanction an expenditure of $30,000, and counselled that the land be turned over to the Cereal Company outright, the town reserving the dockage rights between Charlotte and King streets.

Senator Cox stated that this would be perfectly agreeable to the Cereal Company.

Ald. Roger urged that it would be far better to have the two options, suggested by Senator Cox, of either repaying the company for the outlay, or turning over the land. He advised that the matter be not settled at once.

It was decided that the matter be left to a committee composed of the Mayor and Ald. Morrison, Best and Roger to form the basis of an agreement with the Cereal Company, and present the same to the council for consideration.

The council then adjourned until half past ten o'clock, when the members again met, and the following resolution was passed;

Moved by Ald. Morrison and Turner;

"That provided the American Cereal Company dredge the river, under the superintendence of the Dominion Government Engineer, along the east side of the land granted to the town on the west side of the river, so as to make the same navigable between Murray street and Dalhousie street, and pile or crib the east side of the said land, and place all the material taken from the river behind such piling or cribbing, commencing from Hunter street and extending south towards King street, but not going below King street, spreading it evenly, so as to fill in up to high water mark, so far as the excavated material will extend, that an agreement be entered into, that unless the town within eighteen months after such work is done, as certified by the Dominion Government engineer, repays to the company the actual cost to the company of such work, the land on the west side of the river be conveyed to the company, subject to the rights of the Wm. English estate, and Mrs. M. A. Rogers, and subject to a reservation of King and Charlotte streets produced, and the land between King and Charlotte streets lying east of the C.P.R. track to be reserved to the town for public purposes, such work to be commenced within three months, the company to do all the necessary underpinning or other works necessary to the piers of the Hunter street bridge, so as to render the same safe, and that an agreement be prepared to carry out the arrangement, and also that the company will in addition crib the part reserved for public purposes between King and Charlotte streets, and fill in the same, to make the same suitable for dockage."

Senator Cox and the other representatives of the Cereal Company, declined to say whether such an arrangement would be acceptable to them, but appeared to think that the conditions were somewhat onerous.

The notice regarding the franchise on the streets being given to the Radial Railway Company, was read, and no objection was raised by any ratepayer to the same being granted.

The council then adjourned until this evening.

TO-NIGHT'S MARCH-OUT.

The 3rd Dragoons go Into Camp on the 24th of June.

The regular weekly drill of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, will take place this evening, and the commanding officer of the Regiment is desirous that there should be a good turnout of all ranks. There will be no march out, but a stiff night's drill is looked forward to.

A despatch to the Governor-General, Lord Minto, says;

"Dangerously ill of enteric fever, May 30th, Potchefstroom, Pioneer Frederick Haudy Pengally; next of kin, father, T. R. Pengally, Bailleboro, Ont."

Pengally's home is at Bailleboro, Peterborough county.

A Militia General Order issued yesterday, announces that the Cavalry camp at Niagara will be held on June 24th. The following regiments will take part; Governor-General's Body Guards, Toronto Mounted Rifles; 1st Hussars, London, 2nd Dragoons, St. Catharines. The 3rd Dragoons, of Peterborough, and the 4th Hussars, Kingston, will camp at Barriefield Commons, on the same date.

This will be a little disappointing to the members of the 3rd Dragoons, who reckoned on having a camp at Niagara. However it is better than having no camp at all, and the 3rd Dragoons will be on hand on the 24th.

Since the war broke out in South Africa, 230 Canadians have given up their lives for the Empire, the number being apportioned as follows; 1st Contingent, 68; 1st C.M.R., 41; R.C.A., 9; Strathcona's Horse, 27; Canadian Scouts, 12; South African Constabulary, 5; 2nd C.M.R., 16; Canadians in various Imperial corps, 6.

A Garrison Church Parade will take place on Sunday afternoon next. The following corps will participate in the event: The 14th Field Battery, 3rd Dragoons, 57th Regiment, Veterans and Cadet Corps.

THE 57TH'S REPRESENTATIVE.

To the Editor of the Examiner;

Dear Sir,—Surgeon-Major Young in his reply to J. H. Burnham in his eagerness to abuse Mr. Burnham totally ignores the main point, namely, that a man who is paid to be a member of the 57th Regiment is sent as its representative on the coronation contingent, as against a man who has all the necessary qualifications and who is Canadian born and has served in the 57th Regiment for about 17 years, holding various positions with credit to himself and to the Regiment, and without any hope of remuneration and merely to satisfy his military instinct. Major Young appears to think no person should critize the actions of the lordly rulers of the 57th Regiment. I can only say that if the officers would pay even a little attention to the wishes of the Non-Comm. and privates, it would result in an "esprit de corps" which is altogether lacking at prosent. In the Regiment and throughout the town indignation is intense at this outrage and I have yet to hear of even one person, "except Major Young," who considers Sergt.-Major Brittain had any right to go. Why even his manner and speech pronounce him English, and when he is met by old compantons in London or elsewhere and queried as to his appearance in the contingent he becomes confidential and replies—"Oh they don't grow anything in Peterborough good enough to send here." Sergt.-Major Brittain may be a Canadian by recent adoption, but would he be a member of the 57th Regiment if he did not draw a salary from it, and if he was offered an extra hundred dollars a year to go to another Regiment, wouldn't he go as soon as he could sever his connection with the 57th.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

"ONLOOKER."

BELLES OF OLD ROME

THE TIME AND MONEY THAT WERE SPENT ON THEIR TOILETS.

Modern Methods and Cost of Beauty Culture Are Simple Compared With Ancient Luxuriousness—Hygiene the Latter Day Magic.

The secret of eternal youth, so eagerly sought by the magicians of all centuries and sought in vain, has almost revealed itself to the present generation; at least we have its watchword, which is hygiene. For youth means beauty, and beauty means health, and the skillful beauty specialists accomplish all their successes by means of rational methods based on a careful study of the causes that may affect to its detriment the health of the skin.

In the dim back ages of the world of civilization beauty was made a cult of the utmost moment, but for many a century after the downfall of the Greek and Roman empires such matters were allowed to languish. Not until the declining years of the nineteenth century was the subject reinstated as one of paramount interest. But today beauty specialists abound—some for face treatment, others for manicure and again many more for electrolysis.

Of course these treatments are expensive, but it is worth much to a woman to be rid of a careworn expression. Moreover, to feel that her youth and therefore her beauty is somewhat restored has a beneficial influence upon her mental state.

But whoever fancies that the modern husband is to be pitied for the cost of his wife's beauty preservatives should consider the toilet expenses of a Roman lady in the comparatively early days of the world's history. Excessive as may appear the time and money spent now upon the art of beauty cultivation, the grooming of a modern woman of fashion seems invested with an admirable simplicity compared with the time and money thus expended in the days of Poppæa and Agrippina.

In the early days of Rome three classes of slaves assisted at the toilet of a lady of fashion. On leaving her bed, which was usually at noon, she immediately went to her bath, where she was carefully rubbed with pumice stone. She then put herself in the hands of the cosmotes, a class of slaves who possessed many secrets for preserving and beautifying the complexion; therefore their functions were considered of the greatest importance, especially as they claimed for their arts hygeian advantages.

By the cosmotes her face was thoroughly sponged with asses' milk, then massaged with various mixtures corresponding in intention to the "skin food" of these days; with ashes of snails and of large ants, bruised and burned in salt; with honey in which the bees had been smothered; with the fat of a pullet mixed with onion—oh, shades of Araby! And, lastly, the fat of a swan was vigorously applied, to which was attributed the property of removing wrinkles. Red spots were effaced with a piece of woolen cloth steeped in oil of roses, and freckles were treated with a scraping of sheepskin mixed with oil of Corsica, to which was added the powder of frankincense.

Then appeared the second class of slaves, armed with pinchers and porcupine quills. One of them extracted every hair, however minute, from the face of her mistress, and another cleaned the teeth with grated pumice stone, with marble dust and finally with a toothpick of porcupine quill.

A third class of slaves, who were Grecian, colored eyebrows, eyelashes and hair to the shade of "my lady's" taste. Her lips were treated with red pomade, but if chapped they were first rubbed with the inside of a sheepskin, then covered with the ashes of a burnt mouse mixed with fennel roots.

The last touches of the toilet were given by the favorite attendant, the slave kept by every patrician Roman woman for the sole purpose of applying fragrant unguents. Each part of the body had its own unguent—the hair had sweet marjoram, the neck and knees wild thyme, the arms balsam, the cheeks and breast palm oil, the feet and legs saffron. Then after a final sprinkling of Indian perfumes on hair and dress the favored slave in order that the finished work might be appreciated handed to her mistress a mirror. It was not of silver—those were so common they were used only by slaves—but a costly thing of gold, ornamented with precious stones, held by a handle of mother of pearl, the mirror itself formed of a composite of several metals so exquisitely polished as to be not inferior to glass, which was then unknown.

Ah, the modern husband may be congratulated that his lines were not cast in the days of Brutus and Cato of Utica!

THANKS FOR BOTH

French Gentleman Gracefully Expresses His Own and His Wife's Gratitude.

A Strong Letter Written With the Noble Purpose of Trying to Benefit Someone Else.

St. Hippolyte, Que., June 1. (Special.)—Mr. L. A. Paquin of this village has written for publication the following letter. In it he speaks for both himself and his wife. The letter reads:

"After much suffering I had become unable to work. I had Kidney Trouble which gave me great pain.

"My wife had used a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills for a similar trouble sometime before, and as they had completely restored her to good health I made up my mind to take a treatment myself.

"I was not disappointed, and I can now say that I have tried and proved Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the greatest medicine in the world.

"We are now both quite well, and able to do our work as well as ever.

"We have found Dodd's Kidney Pills to be a remedy, which saves us the pains and trouble which we so often see in others, who are languishing and incapable of attending to their work.

"We keep Dodd's Kidney Pills constantly on hand, and use them occasionally if we feel the slightest indisposition. We have used altogether between us six boxes.

"Perhaps I should explain why I write this letter. It is because I feel there may be many others who have not heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills, or who having heard, have not yet given them a trial, and to such I would say 'Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a fair trial and you will agree with my wife and myself that there is not any other such medicine to be had.'"

What Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for Mr. Paquin and his good wife, they will do for any man or woman who suffers from Kidney Disease in any form.

COFFEE ADULTERANTS.

The List Runs Through the Alphabet From A to W.

If all of the substances that pass through a coffee grinding machine during the year should be written in alphabetical order, "a" would begin the list with acorns, and "w" would end it with wormwood, sprouts of which are sometimes used to give the debased coffee a slight aromatic bitter taste.

Adulteration occurs largely in the coffee that is sold in the ground form. Several coffee berry factories have been discovered in Europe which were doing a large and profitable business by molding an admixture of tanbark, stove rust, clay, sawdust, chicory, coffee sediment and coffee meal into a neat berry by the aid of some agglutinant, and these berries were so well made that the deception was not discovered for a long time. This production had a large sale among the lower classes of Russia and Poland, and, mixed with the genuine coffee berry, its sale was quite lively in other parts of Europe.

Unroasted coffee berries are often made from oat and rye flour and cornmeal. The natural aroma of these grains is destroyed by some process, and after the proper amount of coffee aroma is added the berries are formed and caused to maintain their shape by some adhesive substance. The test usually employed to discover this deception is to place the beans in a receptacle containing warm water, which will dissolve them in a few hours.—Honolulu Star.

SHE GAINED ELEVEN POUNDS

And was Brought Back From Nervous Prostration to Health and Strength by Using

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There is no faith cure about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You do not need to imagine it is doing good. You can prove it by keeping a record of your weight. This food cure acts in a perfect natural way. In fact, it is nature's own cure, and is composed of the most powerful restoratives and invigorators that science has yet discovered.

Take the case of Mrs. West, as described in her letter quoted below. She was pale, weak, and run down in health. Her blood was thin and watery and her nerves so starved and exhausted that she was prostrated. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured her, and added new, firm flesh to her body to the extent of eleven pounds. You will find her letter interesting.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Wellington County, Ont., writes: — "About two years ago I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition, and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I used three boxes with great benefit. In a short time I gained eleven pounds, and as I was very thin when I began to use the remedy I was very proud of the increase of weight.

"Then the following spring I became rather poorly, and they again built me up, and gave me such a good appetite that I wanted to eat nearly half the time. I was so pleased with the cure the Nerve Food brought about that I recommended it to others, and they have told me of the benefits they had obtained from this preparation. You may use this testimonial in order that others may learn of the good there is in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

If you have been affected as Mrs. West has, if you are not feeling real strong and well, you will be surprised at the good that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do you. It puts colour in the cheeks, rounds out angular and wasted forms, and brings new hopes, new confidence and new life to take the place of despondency, weakness, and disease. 50 cents a box; 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 1

When in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will breathe in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually goes down, the breathing becomes natural, and pneumonia is avoided. Every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. For the hard colds and coughs of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresolene. 9

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials sent upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

Poisonous Flesh.

No known land animal has naturally poisonous flesh. There are, however, several fish whose flesh is deadly.

The Lucifer Match.

An old book in which were recorded the acts of John Walker, a chemist of Durham, England, furnishes evidence that he was the first inventor of the lucifer match. In 1827 he sold the first box, the price being 18 pence.

Rubber and Plants.

Rubber gloves are fine for the hands, but not for the plants. Unless of the softest and most pliable variety they should be removed when handling roots or flowers.

Cheese.

Cheese serves two different purposes as food. It may be considered and used as a part of the regular material for the body's sustenance or taken in small quantities as a kind of condiment along with or after other regular fare. The natural color of cheese is not yellow, but rather a dingy white.

Fire Escapes.

Fire escapes were first used in Paris in 1761.

POWERFUL VOICES.

Some Historic Shriekers Who Antedated the Famous Stentor.

The question has often been asked, "Who was the most loud voiced man of history?" The answer usually is that it was Stentor, of whom Homer says his voice was as loud as that of fifty other men combined and from which we get the phrase "stentorian voiced." But we have record of two historic "shriekers" anterior to Homer. We read where Simeon and Levi fought against the twelve men of the city of Sarton and that Levi beheaded one man with his own sword. In chapter 38, verse 41, of the book referred to the story is related in the following words: "And the sons of Jacob seeing that they could not prevail over the twelve, Simeon gave a loud and tremendous shriek, and the eleven remaining men were stunned by the awful shriek."

In chapter 39, same book, verse 19, we find the following account of the battles of the sons of Jacob with the inhabitants of the city of Gaash. It seems as though the battle was both in the front and in the rear and that the warriors on the wall were throwing spears and hurling stones upon the sons of Jacob. What next occurred, as related in chapter and verse above cited, is recorded in these words:

"And Judah, seeing that the men of Gaash were getting too heavy for them, gave a piercing and tremendous shriek, and all the men of Gaash were terrified at Judah's cry, and men fell from the wall at the sound of his powerful shriek, and all those that were without as well as those within the city were greatly afraid of their lives."

The Canary Is a Little Pig.

The canary is always regarded as a small eater, just as the pig is notorious for its gluttony. People with small appetites are often twitted for not eating more than enough to feed a canary, and this led a man who was a tiny eater to watch the yellow bird and report.

He found that a canary that weighed 247 grains ate just thirty-two times its own weight in a month; that is, it ate rather more than its own weight on an average every day. Anyone who watches the little bird will notice that it is always eating. Now, says the investigator, a pig doesn't eat its own weight every day, glutton as it is. Hence he thinks that the canary deserves to be classed as a little pig.

The Cheese Fly.

The common cheese fly is only a tenth of an inch long. It deposits about 250 eggs in the cracks of cheese, though if not able to find this substance it readily selects another.

New England Superstitions.

A New Hampshire cure for sore throat is to wear about the neck a stocking in the toe of which a potato has been tied. According to a Maine belief, a nutmeg pierced and hung on a string around the neck prevents boils, croup and neuralgia.

Irrigation.

It has been found that, even where the rainfall is normal, the production of the soil can be increased threefold by a proper system of irrigation.

Ships of the Ancients.

Large ships were not unknown to the ancients, and some of the most roomy attained dimensions equal to ships of modern times. Nevertheless they were unmanageable monstrosities, almost at the mercy of wind and wave and utterly unfit to cope with the fury of a hurricane.

CHELSEA'S NOTED BUNS.

All London Used to Visit Mrs. Hands on Good Friday.

However religious observances may change in England, the eating of hot cross buns on Good Friday is not likely to die out. Still, enthusiasm in this particular has considerably declined since the days when Mrs. Hands kept the Chelsea Bun House at the corner of Jews' row, now Pimlico road. So many people were in the habit of flocking there on Good Friday in order to eat hot cross buns that on one occasion 50,000 persons assembled there, and £250 was taken in the day for buns alone. After this the inhabitants of Chelsea protested against the noise and disturbance this caused, and Mrs. Hands, fearing to be restrained by the law, issued in 1793 a quaint proclamation, stating how, "desirous, therefore, of testifying her regard and obedience to those laws by which she is happily protected, she is determined, though much to her loss, not to sell cross buns on that day to any person whatever, but Chelsea buns as usual."

This Mrs. Hands was something of a character in her own way. The royal family and many of the aristocracy used to visit her in the morning, and Queen Charlotte even presented her with a silver half gallon mug containing 5 guineas. The house remained in the possession of her family for some time, as Sir Richard Phillips, writing a few years before its destruction, mentions. After admitting that for upward of thirty years he had never passed the house without filling his pockets, he goes on to say, "These buns have afforded a competency and even wealth to four generations of the same family, and it is singular that their delicate flavor, lightness and richness have never been successfully imitated." When Ranelagh was closed, the Bun House declined in popularity, though as late as 1839 24,000 buns were sold on Good Friday alone.

Ran Without Legs.

A certain congressman has a smart granddaughter, whose clever sayings are the delight of her parents. The other day she came to her grandfather with her face all smiles.

"Grandpa," she said, "I saw something this morning running across the kitchen floor without any legs. What do think it was?"

Mr. Congressman studied for awhile and gave up. "What was it?" he asked.

"Water" said the youngster triumphantly.

Proceeding With Caution.

"Are you sure that your arguments are calculated to impress people with your punctilious principles?"

"I don't want to impress 'em too strongly with my punctiliousness," answered Senator Sorghum. "If anybody is willing to sell out, I don't want him to feel scared about making a proposition."

What Causes Pain?

Most pains and aches come from of uric acid poisons in the blood, due to deranged kidneys, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, pains in the sides and limbs accompanied by bladder and urinary troubles, are warnings too serious and painful to be neglected. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and specifically on the Kidneys, make them active, vigorous and thoroughly cure these ailments. One 25 cent box of this great kidney medicine will do you a world of good.

Banana Juice For Bronchitis.

The juice of bananas is recommended as one of the best remedies in chronic bronchitis with insufficient expectoration and marked dyspnœa. A dram eight or ten times a day during the first days is usually prescribed, and later the dose can be diminished.

The sirip is prepared as follows: Cut the fruit in slices and place them in a jar; sprinkle with sugar and cover the jar, which is then enveloped in straw and placed in cold water, and the latter is heated to the boiling point. The jar is then removed, allowed to cool, and the juice is poured into little bottles.

Fred Derocher, Harold Dunsford—Umpires.

The Boston Bloomers, champion lady base ball players of the world, will arrive in town on June 9th and give an exhibition on Nicholls Oval at 3 p.m., the Peterborough team being their opponents. The Bloomer girls do not expect to draw crowds entirely on account of the novelty of being female players, but really put up a creditable exhibition of the American game. They travel in a private palace car and carry a canvas fence for enclosing the grounds, a grand stand with a seating capacity of 2,000 and everything necessary to give a first class exhibition. They have toured all the Western states, and have everywhere received good notices from the press, not only for their good base ball playing, but also for their ladylike behaviour. Ladies can attend the Boston Bloomer game without any fear of being offended, as nothing will be tolerated on the ball grounds that would shock the most fastidious lady present.

WON AT HAMILTNO.

A despatch from Hamilton says: — Hamilton June 1.—Nearly 1,500 persons yesterday saw the Boston Bloomer Girls easily defeat the Sawyer-Massey Company's baseball team at the Driving Park. The locals, with Christie and Hurley, a battery of much experience, in the points, went into the game as if it were a huge joke, but they soon discovered their mistake. The girls took the lead at the start and were never headed, winning eased up, by 19 runs to 10. Christie was batted out of the box in the fourth and Bridges, who followed, did not fare much better. Lucy Hall, the left-handed pitcher of the Bloomers, struck out 14 of the locals, and Maudie Neilson, who replaced her for one inning, similarly disposed of two batsmen. Both girls have great speed and a fine assortment of curves. They were given good support, especially at shortstop, third base, first base and left field, in which posture "Carrie Nation" made a remarkable running catch of a long drive when two bases were occupied. In the audience were three or four hundred ladies, and the Bloomer Girls were as much admired for their ladylike conduct as for their remarkable playing.

BOWLING.

There was a great turn-out of the bowlers last evening on the lawn, and a number of interesting matches took place. In the schedule games Skip Waddell won from Skip Houston by 14 to 12 and Skip F. J. Bell won from Skip Boucher by 18 to 11. The rinks to play to-night are:

M Green vs. A J N Tarrill.
A Elliott vs. Geo. Giroux.

Mr. Wright wrote asking the council if it was true that diphtheria existed in the school of the village.

The report appears to be unfounded, but to satisfy all, the Board of Health will look into the matter.

The matter of local and county assessment was fully discussed, but no action was taken.

The Canadian Ultimator Company applied for tax exemption to December 31, 1903, but the matter was laid over until the next meeting of the council, as was also the matter of a new contract for water service for the village.

It has been suggested that a concrete walk be laid on both sides of Elizabeth street from Lake street to Mark street. This too will come up for consideration at the next meeting of the council.

DOG POISONING.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I see by your paper last night that four dogs were poisoned in the west end. An act like this is generally condemned, but that is only one side of the question. We might take into account the excuse for it. I am sure that the dogs which were put out of the way furnished the excuse themselves. They were not, I am sure, dogs which were taken care of, and prevented from being a nuisance to their neighbours—left out to bark and howl and waken people into desperation. I have suffered untold distress from loss of sleep, caused by howling curs. Very likely there are many of my neighbours who suffer in the same way. I wouldn't like to poison such dogs. But I wouldn't cry very much if somebody would give a dose to the particular curs that annoy me. Those who poison such dogs may be blamed by the men, but I give them credit for doing a charitable act. It is not done from malice, but in pure self defence. If people keep dogs they should see that they are not a nuisance to their neighbours. Night after night I have been fairly wild from loss of sleep, caused by the howling dogs. My fretful baby is tiresome enough sometimes, but after getting it quiet after hours of work, and then have it wakened again by howling dogs, and my own sleep just coming on, perhaps broken, is enough to make me desperate. I believe any dog that is poisoned is some brute that has driven somebody to it. I love a dog, and if he was worth the trouble I would keep him safe at nights, but if I allowed him to roam the streets, and howl and bark, and rob people of their sleep, I wouldn't blame them if they poisoned him. And half of these dogs haven't paid taxes. They are paupers, and a worse nuisance than tramps. Then, in the west end, there are a good many vacant lots, open to the streets, where people stake their cows. These brutes suffer for water often through the night, and towards morning, when the dogs are tired out, take up the work and bawl, and bawl and bawl, making another sleep-destroying noise. People that work hard all day want their sleep at night, and it is sinful to allow such things as dogs and cows to annoy them. I am sorry for the poisoned dogs but they have brought their punishment on themselves. If they had been shut up at night, and hadn't driven some poor women desperate, they might have been living yet. The Scriptures say that "man is better than a sheep," and I say that a women is better than a dog, and I don't blame a women with a baby, and house and family to look after, if she takes means to get sleep to give her strength for her work. I will guarantee that no dog will be poisoned that has not made himself a nuisance to somebody. I am sorry to trouble you with this long letter, but I feel and believe it all, and I hope you will print it all.

Yours truly,

A MOTHER.

Our correspondent is rather sweeping in her condemnation. Her experience may be, and probably is, all she says it is, but there is no doubt that other motives than self-defence, enter largely into the poisoning of some dogs. Some person may have a spite against the owner of a valuable dog, and from lack of courage to "take it out of" the owner, may take the cowardly way of venting his enmity upon some harmless dog by using the easy expedient of poison, and no condemnation of such an act can be too severe. Poisoning dogs is perhaps a good deal on the principle of lynchings — taking the law into one's own hands.

Medical Science Advances.

It is not more than half a century ago that physicians considered a surgical operation with its risk, expense and pain as the only cure for piles. To-day it is only the out of date doctors that think of such treatment. It is cruel and extravagant to operate for a disease which is far more certainly cured by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment. You may be skeptical, but for proof you are referred to tens of thousands of cases that have been cured by this famous preparation.

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some Sensible Advice to Women by Mrs. E. Sailer.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I passed through what is known as 'change of life,' I had two years' suffering,—sudden heat, and as quick chills would pass over me; my appetite was variable and I never could tell for a day at a time how I would feel the next day. Five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound changed all that, my days became days of health, and I have enjoyed every day since—now six years.

MRS. E. SAILER,
President German Relief Association, Los Angeles, Cal.

"We have used considerable of your Vegetable Compound in our charitable work, as we find that to restore a poor mother to health so she can support herself and those dependent upon her, if such there be, is truer charity than to give other aid. You have my hearty endorsement, for you have proven yourself a true friend to suffering women."—MRS. E. SAILER, 756½ Hill St., Los Angeles, Cal.—$5000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

No other person can give such helpful advice to women who are sick as can Mrs. Pinkham, for no other has had such great experience—her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice free—if you are sick write her—you are foolish if you don't.

KEEP COOL.

The Opposition journals are wasting words in vain clamours to the effect that Mr. Whitney has practically won in the general elections. Vain clamours, for their claims more or less preposterous, have, and can have, no effect upon the situation. The majority of the Ross Government stands at four, counting the seat held by the late Mr. Munro by a large majority. And this majority will stand till recounts may affect it. The chances are just as good that recounts will increase this majority, as that they will diminish it. It is as well to take the situation cooly and dispassionately, and accept the situation, which all the claiming, arguing and boasting will not affect one jot. The Ross Government is sustained — that's the sum of the whole matter. There's no use growing hysterical and heated over the question. Winning on paper, other than the ballot paper, does not count. Let the Opposition papers possess their souls in patience, and keep cool.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Globe, though a first-class journal, is sometimes equal to something atrocious. It says that the "Liberal majority in Ontario has been referred to as moribund, but it will become moribundant as time goes on."

It is not mere idle boasting, but a close deduction from facts to say that the probabilities are that the war in South Africa would have been ended long ago if Canadians had numerically predominated in the field forces in South Africa.

The Government has agreed to give $15,000 towards the cost of transporting to Montreal any troops that may desire to take part in the review in that city on coronation day. The arrangements are left in the hands of the Montreal authorities. Will the 57th elect to take advantage of this offer?

The Ottawa Journal in nominating Hon. E. H. Bronson, of Ottawa, as a candidate for the Senate vacancy caused by the death of Senator Clemmow, says:—"If a first-class Senator is wanted, Mr. Bronson is the man. He is of the highest type of citizen. He would do the office more honour than the office can do him."

Coal will be coal next winter, according to present prospects. In several places the price has been advanced to $7.50 per ton, and if the strike in the coal regions continues, even this high price will advance. With the thermometer coquetting about ninety degrees in the shade, dear coal loses many of its terrors, but a little cool calculation will convince one that it will cost money to keep warm next winter.

It's a great thing to win but a greater thing to win greatly. Great Britain has done grand work in subduing the Boer rising, but it has done a grander thing in magnaminiously treating a beaten enemy. The terms given the vanquished burgers may be called liberal, but with the British victorious and the enemy beaten they cannot be construed into the cowardice of surrender as was the case of humuliating concessions to Boer demands on former occasions.

It is thought probable that the Canadian troops which are in South Africa, or on their way there, will be retained for the full period they have engaged to serve in order to release for garrison duty elsewhere British regulars which have been at the front since the war began. It is thought quite likely that the third special service battalion, R.C.R., at Halifax, may not be needed much longer, and a British regiment will soon be available to take its place.

On the first of June the chartered banks declared dividends aggregating two millions of dollars, which were paid over to the lucky shareholders. This year the earnings of the banks has been on a par with the general prosperity in all branches of industry. Most of the large money institutions have this year increased their profits and after paying comfortable dividends to their shareholders have added considerably to their rest accounts. It is on unfailing sign of prosperity when banks make money, and that sign is certainly not wanting in Canada this year.

THE GREAT TRIUMPH.

The greatest British triumph of the war which has ended in South Africa is the record of her treatment of the foe.

Let every Briton around the seven seas look back with pride on the forbearance, the humanity, the generosity which has marked the course of the Imperial Government and army in the long and trying struggle which has happily ended. From top to bottom is that true. From the Imperial cabinet in London to the Tommies and the colonial rank and file in Africa, is it true. A humane conception in London, a humane practice in the area of the strife, marked every phase of the struggle.

The orders of the Imperial government were in effect that no Boer should be treated as an enemy, whether in person or in his property, unless opposing in arms the British troops, or his property found utilized for opposition. The orders were that every man captured or surrendering should be treated as far as possible as a friend. The orders, enforced with terrible sternness in the one or two isolated cases in which they were disobeyed, were that no lynch law must enter into the British conduct of the war. The orders were that everything taken from the Boer people not actually engaged in resistance, should be paid for. The orders were that Boer women and children—and men who entered the concentration camps—should be protected, fed and clothed. The orders were unparalleled in the story of human warfare, that though the full storm of war still raged, and the issue was undecided, British pains should be taken, British teachers used, British money spent, to educate, to improve, to enlighten, to give a better chance in the world, to the children of the men who remained busy shooting down British soldiers.

Such a spirit of the British administration was rivalled by the spirit of British officers and soldiers. Men who dared everything in the battle, who marched and fought like heroes and could die like paladins, who showed in endurance and fight all the mighty spirit of the old northern races, were gentle to all who were at their mercy. During nearly three years of war barely one indubitable case of cruelty on the British part came to light. The punishment was as exceptional in its severity as the crime was in its nature. Quarter of a million British soldiers have been employed in war in South Africa over the greater part of two years, employed in a business by its very nature almost unavoidably reckless and ruthless. A great part of these troops have been operating in detached bodies, illy controllable in details by the responsible executive of the army. With the best intentions, the sternest orders, the Imperial Government could not have prevented innumerable misdoings by these troops had not the rank and file been as manly and as merciful as they were brave, and as humane as the Government of the Empire for which they fought.

An unsullied record of manliness and humanity is that of the South African war. This is the great British triumph, transcending the glory of courageous fighting, or the success of conquest. The British empire, it is to be hoped, will be repaid by a rapid growth of kindly feeling in South Africa, and mutual confidence between all peoples there. By different tactics the war could have been ended sooner, and infinitely more cheaply. No generous Briton will count the greater cost. A new example has been set the nations, if wars must continue. And worth remembering is the fact that the new fellow subjects of the Empire, the Boers, after a first outbreak of arrogance and roughness which probably was fully advertised for all it was worth, fought on the whole a fair and manly fight themselves, under a desperate irritation.—Ottawa Journal.

CORP. KNISLEY'S LAST FIGHT.

How a Brave Soldier Died in South Africa.

He Visited Sgt. Price and was Well Known in Peterborough—Came From Selkirk.

Mr. Henry Knisley, of Selkirk, is in receipt of the following letters from South Africa, giving particulars of the death of his son, the late Corp. W. A. Knisley, who was the man who, at the risk of his own life, rescued Corp. Percy Price, when they were in South Africa with the 1st Contingent. Corp. Knisley visited Corp. Price after his return with the 1st Contingent, and the friends he made here were greatly grieved to hear of his death. The letters read;—

Johannesburg, April 15th, 1902.

Dear Mr. Knisely,—This is a painful duty that I have to perform, but I think you will welcome a few lines in regard to the death of your dear boy, William, from one of his chums. Perhaps in his letters he may have told you of a "poacher," in his troop and section. I am he. I left my college work in Toronto and enlisted as a trooper, hoping to help the dear boys in the ranks, and fight for the King of Heaven as well as for the King of England.

After the battle of Hart's River, when Canadian boys again upheld Canada's honour, but cost her many brave men on Monday, March 31st. I was side by side with William. After the shell fire we were ordered to return to cover, and galloped toward the convoy, six of us, but we lost the direction in the rain while crossing a scrubby patch of shrubs on the veldt. All night in the rain we travelled, and all day Tuesday until 4 p.m., when we were attacked by four mounted Boers. After exchanging a few shots we drove them off and led off in darkness and rain. Towards morning we took up a position on a small, strong kopje, expecting to be followed. We were not disappointed. At 8 a.m., we were attacked by eight mounted Boers and a commando near by kept sending out more until fifty surrounded us. All our six had fair rock cover save myself, and I had shrubs. We commenced a hot fusilade, keeping it up for five hours, until they had crept up within 200 yards, and we saw it was hopeless. We yelled to each other to run out and surrender, but two of our brave boys did not respond. Poor Will and Bert Day were both shot dead—through the brain. After the Boers stripped us we went to see our comrades. It was a sad sight. They were both already stripped, but the Boers gave me Will's testament. I am saving it for you. They appeared to have been killed early in the fight, as they were cold and swollen almost beyond recognition. We had a sad funeral service over them; the saddest I ever conducted. The Boers knelt with us, (we had killed two of them, wounded one and killed their horses). Then, bare-footed, the four of us walked fifty miles to Klerksdorp in the rain, and were all sent to the hospital, two of us with rheumatism.

Will died a brave hero. He often read the Bible with our section of four in our little tent, and lived a clean life. We had many good talks of better things, and Will's faith was simple and genuine. He was beloved, and now is terribly missed by all the men and officers. I hope when I get home to Dunnville to see you all. Call and see my father, if you can, in Dunnville—R. A. H. Brace, Baptist minister.

I am praying that God will give you all strength to bear up in this hour of trial.

Ever your sincere and sorrowing friend.

A. J. BRACE,
E. Squadron, 2nd C. M. R.

Extract from Capt. Elmsley's letter to H. Knisley, dated April 8th, 1902.

Your son being the senior, was responsible for the brave and gallant fight that these six men put up, and it is with the deepest regret that the officers and men learned of his death. I hope you will accept the sincere sympathy of my officers and self in the loss of your gallant son, which loss will be deeply felt throughout the squadron.

Lieut.-Col. Evans' letter to H. Knisley, dated April 7th, 1902;—

Will you please accept the deepest sympathy of myself and my whole Regiment for the great loss you have sustained in the death of your son, Corp. W. A. Knisley. After the fight at Boschbult he was reported missing and knowing the splendid character he bore, we feared the worst.

On the 6th inst., I learned from one of the officers who had seen one of the party at Klerksdorp that your son and five others were cut off from the main body on March 31st, and gradually made their way towards Klgrksdorp. On their way back they successfully drove off several small parties of Boers, but finally on April 2nd ran into a body of fifty. Your son's party entrenched itself and fought until all their ammunition was exhausted, when they found your son and Pte. Day were killed. The others were stripped and sent in to Klerksdorp.

Your son having previously served with me in the R. C. D., and well knowing his record there, I now feel that his death is a personal loss to me, and a great loss to the Regiment. I shall send you further particulars when I see any of the men who were with him. If his mother is alive, will you please convey to her and accept for yourself my very deepest sympathy. Your son lived and died a soldier of the very grandest type, and this must be a source of consolation to you.

SGT. TRUSLER WRITES.

A Characteristic Letter From one of our Boys in South Africa.

Mr. Samuel Deyell, of Otonabee, has received the following letter from Sgt. Trussler, of South Africa;

Klerksdorp, South Africa, April 23nd.

Dear Sir,—Having a few moments to spare, I thought I would drop you a line or two, hoping you are quite well. I never felt better in my life, although we have had quite a hard time of it lately. During the past month we have had lots of scrapping, and have been continually on the march, day and night, but our biggest fight was on Easter Monday, March 31st. Our force numbered 1,500, and we were attacked by 3,000 Boers under Delarey. It was about 2.30 p.m., and I shall never forget the next eight hours. It was shell, pom-pom and rifle fire, and our camp was all confusion. We had no cover whatever, and had just halted for dinner, when we were attacked. Well, we got no dinner that day. The fire ceased about 5.30, and we started to gather up the dead and wounded, and it was indeed a pitiful sight to see in the Canadian lines eleven killed and 48 wounded. We also had 200 horses killed by the heavy shell fire, some of the horses being torn to pieces. It was a terrible sight. Only one man from Peterborough was wounded—Sgt. Murphy. He received an ugly scalp wound, and it is reported to-day that he is insane, but I hope it is not true. We have been having a rest the last couple of days, and indeed our horses need it. It is also rumoured that peace is declared, but it is not confirmed yet. The weather is fine, and it is a blessing to us, for we have no tents, and have to sleep out all the time, but you bet we sleep sound when we get a chance.

I think if I get through this Canada will be good enough for me, for this is the most lonely part of South Africa, although there is abundance of fine land, which only needs cultivation to produce good returns. But the Boer is too lazy to work, and consequently the land is desolate. Well, I hope you are all well, and hoping to see you all again, I remain

Yours respectfully
218 TROOPER TRUSLER,
1st Troop E. Squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, South Africa.

THE KING'S MESSAGE

Thanked Lord Milner, Lord Kitchener and the Troops

TEXT OF THE CONGRATULATIONS

His Majesty's Despatch to the Army Is Being Communicated by Lord Kitchener—The High Commissioner's Able Conduct of the Negotiations Praised — Some Bad Feeling Shown at Cape Town.

London, June 4.—King Edward cabled his congratulations on the conclusion of peace to Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner in South Africa. The text of the royal despatch to Lord Milner is as follows:

"I am overjoyed at the news of the surrender of the Boers, and I warmly congratulate you on the able manner in which you have conducted the negotiations."

To this message Lord Milner replied:

"I offer my deepest thanks for Your Majesty's gracious message. I am profoundly thankful that Your Majesty's coronation will be celebrated with peace throughout your South African dominions."

The King to Lord Kitchener.

The following is the text of King Edward's despatch to Lord Kitchener:

"I send you my most hearty congratulations on the termination of hostilities. I also heartily congratulate my brave troops under your command for having brought a long and difficult campaign to so glorious and successful conclusion."

To this message Lord Kitchener replied:

"The army in South Africa highly appreciates Your Majesty's most gracious message, which I am now communicating to it. I humbly beg to thank Your Majesty."

REWARD FOR KITCHENER.

A Message From the King Gives Him $500,000 and a Title.

London, June 4.—Contrary to custom the House of Lords will hold a sitting to-day to receive a message from King Edward with reference to peace in South Africa. It is expected that this message will announce the conferring of a title upon Lord Kitchener and the granting him a reward for his services. This reward will probably be 100,000 pounds ($500,000).

It now appears that Lord Kitchener will not return to London for the King's Coronation, and Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary has said that the Government does not propose to have the new South African colonies represented at the crowning of King Edward. Transvaal and Orange River representatives could hardly reach London in time for the function.

AMID PROFOUND SILENCE.

The Signing of the Peace Agreement at Pretoria.

Pretoria, Transvaal, Monday, June 2.—The signing of the peace agreement last Saturday night was marked by little ceremony. Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner and General Dewet and others representing the Orange Free State and General Schalkburger and others of the Transvaal Government quietly met in the dining room of the residence occupied by the burgher delegates, adjoining Lord Kitchener's house. The document was entrusted to Colonel Hamilton, Lord Kitchener's Military Secretary, and an aide, who left Pretoria to-night to deliver it to King Edward.

Arrangements are being made to send representatives of each unit of the British army in South Africa to participate in the coronation festivities in London.

25,565 Boer Prisoners.

London, June 4.—Answering a question in the House of Commons yesterday, the War Secretary, Mr. Brodrick, said the total number of Boer prisoners in South Africa and elsewhere was 25,565, of whom 783 were under 16, and 1,025 over 60 years of age.

Met in Kruger's House.

Utrecht, Holland, June 4.—The Boer delegates in Europe arrived here yesterday afternoon. They held a prolonged conference in the house of Mr. Kruger and afterwards another meeting was held in the Hotel de Pays Bas here. None of the delegates was willing to talk with regard to the conclusion of peace or of what had been done at yesterday's meetings. Mr. Leyds and Mr. Fischer will remain here. Mr. Wessels and Mr. Wolmarans have proceeded to The Hague.

The Handelsclad declares that neither Mr. Kruger nor any of the Boer delegates in Europe has received any communication from the Boers in South Africa concerning peace. "The inference is," says the paper, "that the British Government is stopping such despatches."

German Papers Disappointed.

Berlin, June 4.—Referring to the terms of peace in South Africa, the German newspapers yesterday express great disappointment and say they amount practically to the unconditional surrender of the Boers.

SAFE CONDUCT FOR KRUGER.

Oom Paul to Be Asked to Retire to His South African Farm.

London, June 4.—Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, was received by King Edward at Buckingham Palace last night. Mr. Chamberlain's residence at Birmingham is nightly the scene of patriotic demonstrations and ovations.

Telegraphing from Amsterdam, the correspondent of The Daily Mail says that Sir W. Coyingham Greene, the British Minister at Berne, Switzerland, and who was formerly British Agent at Pretoria, together with Lord Reay from London, has arrived here and conferred at length with Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch Premier.

It is rumored, continues the correspondent, that Sir W. Coyingham Greene and Lord Reay purpose accompanying Dr. Kuyper to notify Mr. Kruger of the conditions of peace and to offer him safe conduct to South Africa and other facilities, conditional upon his retirement to his farm at Rustenburg.

Dr. Kuyper's good offices in this matter were requested by Great Britain.

FEELING AT CAPE TOWN.

Some Stones Thrown and Many Windows Were Broken.

Cape Town, June 3.—Sir John Gordon Sprigg, Premier of Cape Colony, during a meeting here yesterday announced that the Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, had informed him that the Imperial Government did not contemplate the suspension of the constitution of Cape Colony. The Premier further declared that the "disfranchisement of the rebels of Cape Colony will defeat our enemies in the House as effectually as they have been beaten in the field."

The Premier said that at the colonial conference to be held in London at the coronation he intended to uphold free trade within the Empire.

Considerable opposition to the Premier's views developed among the audience, while the crowd outside the hall was so hostile that some of the windows were broken with stones.

Kitchener's Thanks.

Ottawa, June 4.—The following acknowledgment to his personal message of congratulations to Lord Kitchener was received yesterday by His Excellency the Governor-General:

Pretoria, June 3.

Lord Minto, Ottawa, Canada:

My hearty thanks on behalf of self and army for Canada's congratulations.

(Signed) Kitchener.

Canadians Ill.

Ottawa, June 4.—Lord Minto received a cable from the Casualty Department announcing as follows:

Cape Town, June 3.—Dangerously ill enteric fever, Petermaritzburg, 2nd Regiment C.M.R., 899, C. Redsell; 2nd Regiment, C.M.R., 615, Charles McVicar; Kimberley, 2nd Regiment, C.M.R., 562, Henry Wilson Dyment; Klockdorp, Canadian Army Medical Corps, 66, Christian Nelson Price.

These parties have been reported before, except Price, whose name does not appear on the nominal roll.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and long for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It dures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Official Ignorance.

The London Chronicle quotes a naval officer as saying that during the war of 1812 the British admiralty sent out to Kingston, Canada, where the British fleet was then stationed, a large number of water casks in the belief that Lake Ontario was a salt water lake.

THANKS FOR BOTH

French Gentleman Gracefully Expresses His Own and His Wife's Gratitude.

A Strong Letter Written With the Noble Purpose of Trying to Benefit Someone Else.

St. Hippolyte, Que., June 1. (Special.)—Mr. L. A. Paquin of this village has written for publication the following letter. In it he speaks for both himself and his wife. The letter reads:

"After much suffering I had become unable to work. I had Kidney Trouble which gave me great pain.

"My wife had used a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills for a similar trouble sometime before, and as they had completely restored her to good health I made up my mind to take a treatment myself.

"I was not disappointed, and I can now say that I have tried and proved Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the greatest medicine in the world.

"We are now both quite well, and able to do our work as well as ever.

"We have found Dodd's Kidney Pills to be a remedy, which saves us the pains and trouble which we so often see in others, who are languishing and incapable of attending to their work.

"We keep Dodd's Kidney Pills constantly on hand, and use them occasionally if we feel the slightest indisposition. We have used altogether between us six boxes.

"Perhaps I should explain why I write this letter. It is because I feel there may be many others who have not heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills, or who having heard, have not yet given them a trial, and to such I would say 'Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a fair trial and you will agree with my wife and myself that there is not any other such medicine to be had.'"

What Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for Mr. Paquin and his good wife, they will do for any man or woman who suffers from Kidney Disease in any form.

A PRESENTATION

To Mr. M. Reilley From the Employees of the Lock Works.

The hall of Court St. Peter, C. O. F., was the scene of a very pleasant gathering last night, when a large number of the employees of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., assembled for the purpose of doing honour to Mr. M. Reilley, who, it is understood, contemplates retiring from active business.

During the evening, Mr. A. Weatherhead read the following address to Mr. Reilley on behalf of the employees;

Mr. M. Reilley, Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sir, — We, the undersigned committee, on behalf of the employees of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., desire to take this opportunity to extend to you our sincere thanks for the interest you have always manifested in our welfare. No words of ours can fittingly express our gratitude to you for the great pains you have taken during the past number of years in assisting us in our work. You freely gave us the benefit of your experience, and at all times manifested the deepest interest in our welfare. Your business and explanatory talks with us upon the works upon which we were engaged, proved a wonderful impetus to our efforts, and encouraged us with new energy and perseverance.

In recognition of the high esteem and as a remembrance of the valued place you hold among us we ask you to accept this cheque, as a slight token of our esteem, and regard, as we understand you are about to sever your connection with us, and retire from business life, on account of ill-health.

Signed on behalf of the employees.

Committee.

Mr. W. McAuliffe then handed Mr. Reilley a cheque for a substantial amount.

Mr. Reilley expressed his thanks for the gift in a few appropriate words after which an enjoyable social evening was spent.

The only reply to the telegraph is to the effect that the remains cannot be sent on to Peterborough. It was intended that Mr. Armour's four son's should all spend their holidays in Peterborough together this month. The deceased was only 19 years of age and left town about two years ago.

PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD.

The Semi-Monthly Meeting Held This Morning.

9 5-8 THE HIGHEST PRICE.

Will Employ an Inspector for the Local Board Alone—Mr. Ward Appointed.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held this morning. The following buyers were in attendance: — Messrs. Wrighton, Rollins, Whitton, Cook, Fitzgerald, Kerr and Bailey.

Before the bidding commenced considerable discussion took place regarding matters of interest to the Board. Mr. Drummond the president, addressed the gathering at some length regarding the affairs of the Board. He thought that the matter of having an inspector for the exclusive use of the Peterborough Board, should be finally disposed of to-day. He had been making some enquiries and he understood that an inspector could be secured for the sum of $10 a factory.

Mr. Galvin, the treasurer of the Board, said that he found it difficult enough to collect the $6 fee of former years and what effect would the levying of $10 have on the salesmen of these factories?

Mr. E. M. Elliott said that the difficulty lay in the fact that the smaller factories did not think they should pay as much as the larger factories. An arrangement should be made whereby the factories shall pay according to their out-put.

Mr. Bailey contended that the salesmen should not look at it from an individual point of view. All should pay alike. One factory might not get a dollar's worth of direct value while his neighbouring factory men might receive $20 direct value for the $10 spent. The idea is, however, to improve the quality of cheese on the whole Board, and improve it on the English market, and in that way each factory on this Board will be benefitted indirectly.

Mr. Riddell moved that the Board engage Mr. Ward for the full season and that the price to the factories be $10. The motion was seconded by Mr. Wm. Anderson and on being put was declared lost.

Mr. Bailey then arose to his feet and made a stirring speech in which he told the salesmen of the mistake they were making in voting down such a motion. They were taking a step backwards, and the president of each factory, or the cheesemaker should go down in his pocket and make up the difference sooner than be without the exclusive use of the inspector, as was proposed.

Mr. Whitton contended that the Ontario cheese makers were losing their laurels as the honest cheese makers of the Dominion. The Peterborough Board has done much in the past for the raising of the standard of cheese, and he would be sorry to see them refuse to appoint an inspector for the use of the Board.

The president then called for the motion again and it was carried by a large majority.

The bidding opened at 9c by Mr. Whitton, and went quickly up to 9 5-8c., the latter bid being by the same gentleman. He called Shearer, Villiers, Westwood, and Ormonde; all accepted. At 9 9-16c for further selections, he called Melrose Abbey, Norwood and Keene; the two former accepted but the latter refused.

Mr. Fitzgerald followed with a bid of 9 9-16, taking Central Smith, Lakefield, Myrtle, Fraserville, East Emily, Trewern, Cavanville, Buckhorn and Mount Pleasant; all accepted.

At this juncture a funny incident took place. A bid of 9 9-16 was called out, Messrs. Rollins, Kerr and Cook each claiming that they were first. After considerable wrangling the trio cast lots, and Mr. Rollins won out. He took, Warminster, North Smith, Oakdale, Daisy D, Maple Leaf, Pine Grove, North Dummer, Cedar Dale, Stony Lake, Young's Point and South Burleigh.

Mr. Kerr called 9 9-16c, but Mr. Cook surprised them all by going 9 5-8c He picked up Lang, Shearer and Brickley, which accepted. At 9 9-16c, Mr. Wrighton got Warsaw, Peterborough, Otonabee Union, Indian River, Bensfort, Missing Link and Fleetwood.

This cleared about all the factories off the board and the following additions were made to the various purchases; Mr. Rollins took Apsley at 9 9-16, Belleville inspection; and Darlington Union went to Mr. Bailey at 9 9-16; Oak Leaf went to Mr. Cook, at 9 1-2, factory inspection; Blackstock, Mr. Kerr, 9 1-2, Montreal inspection; Ballyduff, [illegible] 9-16, to Mr. Fitzgerald.

THE MONTH OF WEDDINGS.

Bright Sunshiny June Ushered in by Many Nuptial Events.

Several Marriages Which Took Place Yesterday—Many Others Announced to Take Place During the Month.

CRAGG-MIGHT.

The marriage took place last evening of Rev. Charles Edward Cragg, S.T.L., of Orono, to Miss Bertha May Might, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Wm. Might, George street, north, in the presence of about 40 of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The house was very tastfully decorated for the occasion, the bay windows where the ceremony was performed, being banked up with palms, while the bridal pair stood beneath three large floral bells suspended from festoons of flowers.

Promptly at 6 o'clock the bride entered the parlours on the arm of her father, attired in a handsome gown of white Japanese taffeta silk with applique trimmings and carrying a bouquet of white roses. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Emma Might, who wore a very pretty gown of white organdie with satin trimmings. Miss Helen Stone, of town, was the pretty little maid of honour.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Cecil Cragg, of Trinity Medical College, Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Cragg, of Brighton, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. W. J. M. Cragg, B.A., of Philadelphia, brother of the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a crescent of pearls, and to the bridesmaid a fleur-de-lis pin with pearl setting. Miss Ethel Crane, of Toronto Conservatory, cousin of the bride, presided at the piano. The catering was done by Mr. Lane, of town.

The happy young couple left on the 9 p.m. Grand Trunk train amid the earnest good wishes of a large number of friends for a long and happy married life.

After a short trip they will return to Brighton where a reception will be held on June 12th by Rev. Edward and Mrs. Cragg for their son and his bride, after which the young couple will return to Peterborough for a short time before leaving for their new home to be decided by the conference now in session.

BEAUCLERE—BALL.

The residence of Mr. Jos. Ball, of Ashburnham, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when his daughter, Miss Charlotte, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Beauclere. The bride looked most attractive gowned in white organdie. Miss Jessie Crane performed the duties of bridesmaid most effectively, while Mr. Walter Ball, brother of the bride, assisted the groom.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke the Evangelist's church.

During the evening a most appetizing dejeuner was served. The presents which were received made a very handsome display.

PENTZ-GORDON.

A beautiful and joyous wedding took place yesterday, June 3rd, at 2.30 p.m., at "Maple Lodge," Lakefield, the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon, of their daughter, Miss Sarah McLean Gordon, to Mr. Charles Everett Pentz, also of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Bastow, of the Murray street church, Peterborough.

The bride was elegantly attired, and was assisted by Miss Lillie Fitzgerald, of Ashburnham. The groomsman was Mr. Herbert R. Montgomery, of Lakefield.

Many relatives and friends were present. It was a very bright and happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Pentz have gone to spend a few days at Toronto. They start life under very favourable circumstances with bright prospects and with the heartiest good wishes of a multitude of friends.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The report of the Property Committee was submitted by its chairman, Mr. Robt. Fair, and was as follows;

Your Property Committee beg leave to report that they have made their inspection of the different school properties, and would recommend the following repairs and improvements to be undertaken during the summer vacations.

West Ward School.

Some repairs are required. The closets, which will entail but a trifling cost, and may be undertaken by the janitor in charge.

The front section of the blackboard in Miss Currie's room and all the blackboards in Mr. McCreary's room require repapering and painting.

The seats in Mr. McCreary's room are evidently too high for the pupils attending there, and we believe that it would be very beneficial to the comfort of both teacher and pupils, were single desks secured, and were they so arranged that the pupils would face the north. This would secure more blackboard space and much better lighting than at present.

North Ward School.

A portion of the walks require new planks and wire screens should be placed on the windows on the East side of the play house. The steps on the north and south sides of the boys' entrance, should be replaced, and the walls of the boys' basement should be re-kalsomined. The furnace room should be refloored. All blackboards in this school are in need of re-painting, and we would recommend that slate be placed in the front section in each room.

George Street School.

The blackboards require re-painting, and some portions should be re-papered. The ceiling should be kalsomined.

South Ward School.

That part of the building left over from last summer should be painted and kalsomined. This embraces the halls of the new part of the building, and Mr. Yenney's and Miss Thompson's rooms. As in the north ward, we find all the blackboards, not of slate, require repairing, and we would recommend that the front sections of all these boards be replaced by slate, with the exception of Miss Noble's, which should have a composition board similar to that of last summer, in the Collegiate Institute. The walks of the north and west side require re-planking.

Central School.

In order to secure satisfactory flushing, some changes are necessary in the boys' urinal. The trough should be lowered into the floor, and slate approaches should be added thereto. The steps to the girls' entrance should be re-planked and the fence between the Public School

Benefit for the Conquered in the Peace Just Proclaimed.

BOER WOMEN WEPT FOR JOY

Great Rejoicing in Concentration Camps—The Majority of the Prisoners at Bombay Rejoiced, Though Some of Them Would Have Preferred to Suffer Longer to Secure Independence—Pope Rejoices.

Montreal, June 4.—Hon. Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, interviewed in regard to the peace terms in South Africa, gave expression to his pleasure and satisfaction. "Oh, I am so pleased," replied Mr. Tarte. "I am delighted. I hope the British Government will give those people their self-government with the least possible delay. If they get the same system of government that we have here, there is no reason in the world why they should not become good and loyal British subjects within a very short time. Why not, indeed? Have we not the greatest measure possible of liberty, and are we not as loyal as any people within the British Empire? I am convinced that these Boers, some of whom I met while I was at Paris two years ago, will prove good subjects of our King. Those I met impressed me as being very intelligent, and even at that time I believe if reasonable terms had been offered to them they would have been considered, and I believe peace would have ensued long ago.

"I think the King himself is responsible for the cessation of hostilities. It would have been too bad altogether if the war had been going on at the time of the coronation. Do you know, very few people have any idea of what a capable man our King is? I met him once, two years ago, at the dinner of the British Empire League, where I made a little speech myself. He was then Prince of Wales, and made a speech that struck me as one of the most sensible I ever heard, and further enquiries I have made as to his doings have convinced me that he is in every way worthy of the dignified position which he now occupies, and I hope he may long be spared to this great and glorious Empire."

Boer Women Wept For Joy.

Pretoria, Transvaal, Monday, June 2.—There was great rejoicing in all the concentration camps upon receipt of the news that peace had been concluded. The occupants assembled in the open spaces and chanted psalms, the women weeping with joy.

Peace Thanksgiving Service.

London, June 4.—King Edward will attend a peace thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Cathedral Sunday, June 8. The Lord Mayor, Sir Joseph O. Dimsdale, and the members of the corporation will be present in State.

ANTHEMS, BOER AND BRITISH.

Went Up in Thanksgiving on the Lone Island of St. Helena.

Jamestown, Island of St. Helena, June 4.—The news of the peace agreement in South Africa created the greatest enthusiasm in the Boer prison camps here. It was celebrated by singing Boer and British anthems.

The Majority Rejoiced.

Bombay, British India, June 3.—In the Boer prison camps here a majority of the prisoners rejoiced over the news of peace in South Africa, but many considered it bad because it meant the loss of all they fought for. "We would have stayed in captivity for years without complaint," said many of the Boers, "had such been the judgment of the burghers."

The Pope Rejoices.

Rome, June 4.—Monsignor Stoner, the Archbishop of Trebizond, officially communicated to the Pope Monday the news of the termination of the war in South Africa. His Holiness answered: "God be blessed. I pray you to communicate to the British Government the fact that the news has filled me with content."

Spoiled by the Weather.

Montreal, June 4.—The big military parade which was fixed to take place last night to commemorate the conclusion of peace in South Africa, was somewhat spoiled by bad weather. A very heavy downpour of rain set in shortly before 8 o'clock, and for some time it poured down in torrents. Over 1,200 men mustered at the Armory, and, despite the rain, marched through the principal streets. The parade was witnessed by a good many enthusiastic spectators.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possible derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

STOCK MARKETS.

June Prices Should be Higher.

New York, June 2nd, 1902.—Indications are not lacking of a breaking away in the market from the May quietness, and the change will more than likely be in the direction of higher prices. All through the past month each time the market exhibited increased activity, it was accompanied by rising prices. Dullness became most pronounced upon concessions. Every railway official, whose position places him in touch with the current and prospective movements of freight tonnage, and conversant with the crop situation all along the lines of his company, takes an extremely rosy view of the situation. Harriman is reported to be on his way east, and as a rampant bull upon the market. The people in control of the great railway corporations continue to conduct their operations with the view to enhancing the earning power of their properties invested.

Investors are in evidence daily, picking up shares of different railways, and taking them from the market. The recently formed bear pool seems to have retired from active operations, evidently giving them up in disgust, owing to their non-success.

The ironage reports unremitting activity in steel and iron circles. Every company reports a good volume of business and large and urgent orders. The copper situation is clearing, most of the producers being down to hard pan, which will cause them to realize that some remarkable working agreement is necessary, in order for dividends to be earned for their shareholdefs. The passage last week of dividends by two of the leading copper companies will bring the influence of the large shareholders to bear upon the management, in order that they may be resumed.

Nothing wakes people up so quickly as curtailing incomes. We still hear persistent rumors that the coal strike is nearing its critical point, which will be its end. The prices for coal shares actually advancing last week is a most strong indication that there is some basis of truth in these rumors. We again state that these shares have made their low prices. Judicious purchases of stock made now should be productive of profit this month.

SHE GAINED ELEVEN POUNDS

And was Brought Back From Nervous Prostration to Health and Strength by Using

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There is no faith cure about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You do not need to imagine it is doing good. You can prove it by keeping a record of your weight. This food cure acts in a perfect natural way. In fact, it is nature's own cure, and is composed of the most powerful restoratives and invigorators that science has yet discovered.

Take the case of Mrs. West, as described in her letter quoted below. She was pale, weak, and run down in health. Her blood was thin and watery and her nerves so starved and exhausted that she was prostrated. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured her, and added new, firm flesh to her body to the extent of eleven pounds. You will find her letter interesting.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Wellington County, Ont., writes: — "About two years ago I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition, and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I used three boxes with great benefit. In a short time I gained eleven pounds, and as I was very thin when I began to use the remedy I was very proud of the increase of weight.

"Then the following spring I became rather poorly, and they again built me up, and gave me such a good appetite that I wanted to eat nearly half the time. I was so pleased with the cure the Nerve Food brought about that I recommended it to others, and they have told me of the benefits they had obtained from this preparation. You may use this testimonial in order that others may learn of the good there is in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

If you have been affected as Mrs. West has, if you are not feeling real strong and well, you will be surprised at the good that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do you. It puts colour in the cheeks, rounds out angular and wasted forms, and brings new hope, new confidence and new life to take the place of despondency, weakness, and disease. 50 cents a box; 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 1

CONCERNING THE MENU.

Food For Spring—Importance of Fruits, Cereals and Vegetables.

It is generally conceded that the springtime is rather a trying period for the family caterer. The appetite, often as fickle as the weather, clamors for something new, something fresh and savoring of the earth. Commenting upon this condition, the Boston Cooking School Magazine says:

This longing is not due to caprice, but probably shows some unsupplied need of the system, especially in the case of children. Chloride of sodium (common salt) and lime, both important elements in the formation of teeth and bone and in maintenance of the integrity of the system, are largely found in fresh fruits, vegetables and grains. Often the supply of fresh fruit and vegetables is limited during the winter season, and the system is now calling for elements that have been wanting.

True, common salt has been supplied in the food, and lime may have been given, but these crude substances are not identical with the lime and salt contained in fruit, vegetables and grains. Here these substances have been organized and fitted for appropriation by animal life, while in an unorganized state they tend to disturb digestion. The evidence is strong that common salt in excess may cause kidney disorders, leading even to Bright's disease.

Bananas are always available and when perfectly ripe many can eat them in a raw state. For others the starch in composition needs be changed by cooking to more assimilable sweet substances. Oranges are plentiful and comparatively cheap during the early spring, and later "spring greens" abound.

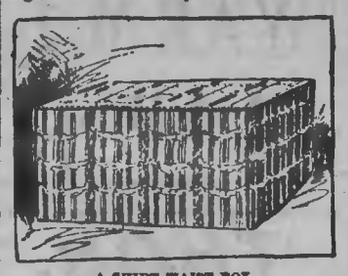
Spinach is in reality a green the "year round," but it is more plentiful and cheap after freezing weather has passed. This, with dandelions and cowslips, all cooked as "pot herbs," with but little water, avails to maintain "health and courage" in the enervating days of the springtime. Even sorrel that grows wild or that which is found in the city market should not be overlooked. Thoroughly washed, wiped dry and broken or cut in pieces, it gives tone to a salad, or in sufficient quantity it may be used for a cream of sorrel soup.

A quart of sorrel is required to make about a quart of soup. Ten minutes' cooking in a cup of water will suffice. Then drain the sorrel, discarding the water, chop fine and finish as any cream soup, using a pint of broth or milk with the sorrel for the foundation sauce and cream for the rest. As sorrel loses its color in cooking spinach juice is needed for tinting. A suspicion of onion is scarcely recognized and adds completeness to the finished soup. Yolks of eggs also give richness.

Rhubarb is too medicinal for frequent use, but the first tender shoots are always welcomed. For a change bake with raisins, first cooking the latter to insure tenderness of the skins.

A Useful Bit of Furniture.

The shirt waist box may be reckoned almost a necessary bit of furniture nowadays. In its homemade and inexpensive state as sketched by The Designer it is evolved by the amateur cabinet maker from a soapbox, with the aid of a pair of hinges for the cover and the proper lining and covering. The latter may be art ticking or, as here illustrated, a cretonne in a happy mixture of stripes and festoons.



A SHIRT WAIST BOX.

One Way to Boil Rice.

Put one cup of rice in one pint of boiling water in the top of the double boiler. Salt the water in the lower boiler, as it increases the heat. Boil thirty minutes, then drain off the water and steam twenty minutes.

Fashions and Fancies.

The fashionable preference in colors lingers lovingly in thought over champagne—a quite lovely neutral tint—silver gray (the last craze of the Riviera), zinc white and every known shade of mushroom and biscuit.

Despite many rumors, despite the wish that was perhaps father to the thought, boleros absolutely decline to be "as a tale that is told." The habit basqued bolero is a vogue whose day is yet to come.

Antique buttons are greatly prized on gowns and introduced wherever possible. Rubies, garnets and amethysts are all coming into fashion, and they blend with old enamel and old paintings in a quite delightful fashion.

Printed lawns in many colors, with tiny black spots, indicate one of the newest fashions in Paris. Sateen lawns are equally well printed in floral patterns on black grounds.

It is a year when grass lawns will be greatly in demand, and there are pretty examples with white brocaded patterns all over them and some with white lacelike stripes.

Waved lines of ribbon velvet outlining an insertion of oriental embroidery or embroidered lawn is a decoration most worthy to be considered on bodice or bolero.

Tucked lawns and silky washing materials in white and ecru, including piques and black spotted white muslin and drawn thread stripes, are among things of the summer.

HAS A SPECIFIC USE.

Mrs. Octave Larose Often had Fainting Spells and for six Years Suffered With Severe Inward Trouble—Cured by the New Ozone Method Without the Use of Drugs.

Having been a sufferer from extreme weakness and a generally run-down system for fourteen years back, I feel impelled to place before the public a knowledge of what has fully proved effectual in restoring my health—Powley's Liquified Ozone.

MRS. OCTAVE LAROSE, MONTREAL

I used to suffer constantly with overpowering headaches, and was subject to fainting spells, often four or five times a day, while for six years past I suffered much from inward trouble, and altogether my condition seemed past help, as all medical skill had failed to bring the desired relief.

I commenced using Ozone about July, 1900, and after using four bottles I feel well and hearty and enjoy life as much as ever. Trusting this statement may benefit some other sufferer, I am, (Signed) Mrs. Octave Larose, 288 St. Timothee street, Montreal, P.Q.

Powley's Liquozone has its specific use and that is to feed the blood oxygen, its essential nourishment. It is not a "cure-all," but it does cure disorders that find their cause in a lack of vitality, in an enervated system, an impure blood stream, in fact under those conditions that are favourable to the attack of disease germs. You may say that these diseases are many, yet the cause is common to all. If you have any systemic disorder, we would earnestly advise you to find out about this Ozone Treatment from some one you know has taken it. We know that if you'll get at the truth about it, and you can from good Canadian citizens, you'll be impressed with the fact that it's a scientific discovery and that it will do you a great deal of good. Powley's Liquified Ozone is on sale at your druggists; 2 sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.

AN INTERNATIONAL TOWN.

Peculiarities of Nogales, on the Mexican Border Line.

It would be incorrect to date a letter from either Nogales, Ariz., or Nogales, Mex., alone, for the town belongs so thoroughly and completely to both that neither half is a town at all. It is the most completely and curiously international place that can be conceived of. There is no separation of the two parts visible as you look down on the town from the hills, and the life and the ordinary traffic of the place flow back and forth with no one apparently to say them nay. However, it must not be supposed that there is free trade across the thoroughfare, which on one side is called International street and on the other the Calle International.

In the middle of the street, where the Calle Elias, or main business street, crosses the international avenue, stands a stone obelisk about twelve feet high, and in the vicinity of this are always one or two guards in civilian dress, who pay no attention to empty handed passersby, but will stop any carriage or any person who offers to cross with a burden that might contain dutiable material. Occasionally on the Mexican side one sees a Mexican soldier in uniform, but the cuartel near by is too small to hold more than a small detachment, and neither soldiers nor uniformed customs guards are ever in evidence along the border.

The Americans live apart from one another in individual houses of all grades, most of which are very neat and some of which are quite fine and must have been costly. Their streets run up the sides of the mountain glen in which the town is situated. In among their houses are the adobe cabins of the Mexicans, who are their hewers of wood and drawers of water (these terms being literally correct here, for the fuel of the country is knotted and gnarled wood, brought from the hills on donkeys' backs, and the town water won't run up to the higher elevations).

He Gave His Address.

Harry Furniss told a good story of a distinguished but irritable Scotch lecturer. The gentleman had occasion to speak in a small town in one of the lowland counties, and it chanced that he met with a more than usually loquacious chairman. This genius actually spoke for a whole hour in "introducing" the lecturer. He wound up by saying, "It is unnecessary for me to say more, but call upon the talented gentleman who has come so far to give us his address tonight."

The lecturer came forward. "You want my address? I'll give it to you; 822 Rob Roy Crescent, Edinburgh, and I'm just off there now. Good night!"—Woman's Home Companion.

How Wheat Came to Earth.

A classic account of the distribution of wheat over the primeval world shows that Ceres, having taught her favorite, Triptolemus, the art of agriculture and the science of breadmaking, gave him her chariot, a celestial vehicle, and that in it he traveled night and day, distributing this valuable bread grain among all nations of the earth.

OLD FASHIONED.

What has become of the old fashioned child that "made faces?"

What has become of the old fashioned man who hung his lodge sword in a conspicuous place?

What has become of the old fashioned man who said a handy, industrious man was "full handed?"

What has become of the old fashioned man who wanted to put his enemies where the dogs wouldn't bite them?

What has become of the old fashioned father who took a whip and held heart to heart talks with his son out in the barn?

What has become of the old fashioned woman who gave her children potatoes to make animals with, using toothpicks to make the legs?

What has become of the old fashioned woman who didn't think it proper to appear on the streets with her husband unless she had hold of his arm?

Jefferson as an Inventor.

Not many people know that Thomas Jefferson was a great inventor. His inventions were all of articles of everyday use. He devised a three legged folding camp stool that is the basis of all camp stools of that kind today. The stool he had made for his own use was his constant companion on occasions of outings. The revolving chair was his invention. He designed a light wagon. A copying press was devised by him and came into general use. He also invented an instrument for measuring the distance he walked. A plow and a hemp cultivator showed that his thoughts were often on agricultural matters. His plow received a gold medal in France in 1790. Jefferson never benefited financially by his inventions, but believed they should be for the use of every one without cost.

Pleasant Cure for Weak Lungs.

The best remedy for sore, weak lungs, is the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and passage of the breathing organs. It treats remote parts that cough mixtures and sprays can't approach, and kills thousands of germs at every breath. Catarrhozone drives away pain, congestion and inflammation; it makes breathing easy and regular, and exerts a marvelous influence on Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Deafness, and Lung Trouble. Catarrhozone cures at once, is delightful to inhale, and simple to use. Price $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Imitating the Music of a Cascade.

Certain tribes on the Amazon have been fascinated by the music of the waterfall. Musical instruments were found in use among them consisting of a complicated mechanism by which water was poured from one bowl into another, in imitation of the cascade, and then returned by the receiving bowl into the vessel which had poured it, so that by a repetition of this mechanism a constant murmur of a cascade could be kept up so long as the audience desired or the player was able to perform it.

What Causes Pain?

Most pains and aches come from of uric acid poisons in the blood, due to deranged kidneys, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, pains in the sides and limbs accompanied by bladder and urinary troubles, are warnings too serious and painful to be neglected. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and specifically on the Kidneys, make them active, vigorous and thoroughly cure these ailments. One 25 cent box of this great kidney medicine will do you a world of good.

Forks.

The fork was absolutely unknown to the Greeks and Romans. It appeared only as a curiosity in the middle ages and was first used upon the table by Henry III.

Tougher Than Steel.

It is not generally known that, size for size, a thread of spider silk is decidedly tougher than a bar of steel. An ordinary thread will bear a weight of three grains. This is just about 5% per cent stronger than a steel thread of the same thickness.

Like Sunshine and Rain

Which come to the rich and poor, good and bad alike, so Four T's, the greatest remedy of the age, cures coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough and pnumonia; for all who take it. Don't neglect your lungs. Spend 25 c. for a bottle of Four T's at Ormond & Walsh's drug store and avoid congestion.

Imitations

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coating and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitators have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. There is only one DODD'S. Dodd's is the original. Dodd's is the name to be careful about—

A team from the ladies' club went to Toronto to-day to play the ladies of the Rosedale Club. Peterborough will be represented by Mrs. Peter Campbell, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Miss Halliday, Miss Clementi, Miss Dennistoun and Mrs. Sanderson. Quite a number of club members accompanied the team, amongst them being Mrs. Boucher, Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Miss Lundy and Miss Kate Hall.

CRICKET.

The members of the Colts' Club are asked to turn out regularly to practice in order that the team which goes to Port Hope Saturday to play the T.C.S. may be a strong one.

The grand old game of cricket bids fair to become a leading factor in Peterborough athletic circles. The younger boys have been most persistent in their efforts to establish the game in Peterborough during the past year or two, until to-day there is quite an array of young material. They are practising hard and have been quite successful in their matches so far. The Colts have been fortunate in having their ranks augumented by a crack bowler in the person of Mr. Harry Keele, who learned the game at the Grove and played it later at Upper Canada College. He played on the Colts' second team at Lakefield on Monday and surprised all hands.

The Lindsay Collegiate Institute possess a pretty good eleven and are doing excellent work. An effort should be made to bring the Scugog boys to Peterborough.

LACROSSE.

The following men will represent the Y.M.C.A. team to-night in the game against the T.A.S.; Goal, Frost; point, Trollope; c. point, Smith; defence field, Galley, Pennick, McDonald; centre, Robinson; home field, Dumble, Foreman and Robertson; outside, Anglesey; inside, Best.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The Deputy Minister of Education, Mr. John Miller, wrote enclosing the report of Inspector Seath, Inspector of High Schools and Collegiate Institutes. Amongst other things he said;

Blinds should be provided for the rear windows of the lower First Form. The light from them is far too strong. Although there is provision for ventilating the gymnasium it is apparently not properly used; it should be made the business of the caretaker to be on hand when the classes are there to open the ventilators, in accordance with the instructions of the teacher. Exercise taken under present conditions is most objectionable. If this important matter is not satisfactory at my next visit, I will reduce the grading of them 14.

The provision for teaching the prescribed courses of study is not satisfactory for the following various reasons;

1. The attendance in each of the four Lower Forms is far too large for efficient work. They have each an average of about forty-five, whereas there should not be more than thirty on the roll for each teacher.

2. The amount of time given to mathematics, in particular in the Lower Forms, is disproportionately large. The English subjects — composition, especially — need attention. The distribution of time needs re-adjustment.

3. As a result of too small a staff the grading in Form III is bad.

4. The practical aspect of the programme does not receive the attention now being given it in other schools.

To make the school as efficient as other similar schools, another teacher is needed.

The staff.—All legally qualified. There is no commercial specialist, but Mr. McPherson has undertaken to prepare himself as soon as possible. This promise is satisfactory.

As to the supplementary reading in English Literature, good reading is provided in the way of books, but the time given is not sufficient.

Owing to the objectionable features of the organization I do not grade the work. The staff are good teachers, and their work deserves higher grading than I could give in most subjects under existing conditions. The staff is too small to permit of efficient organization, and the organization itself needs to be remodelled. I add that in the matter of school accommodation, Peterborough is inferior to most of the other large centres in the province, and it is much to be regretted that its Collegiate Institute is not now housed in a building with suitable surroundings, in so important a centre.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The Special Committee appointed some time ago to report as to the advisability of introducing the teaching of Domestic Science and Manual Training into our schools, reported through its chairman, Mr. J. J. Hartley. In addition to the report, Mr. Hartley addressed the Board briefly on hte matter. He was much impressed with what he saw while away and had no hesitation in saying that the subject should be taught in the public schools of the Town of Peterborough. It would of course entail some little expenditure but the Government was willing to deal very liberally with any schools that were desirous of introducing the system. There was a great deal of the general school work brought into practical use in the study of the subject of Domestic Science. They have to figuree out to the smallest fraction the ingredients that go into every composition and they do nothing, in fact that they do not minutely account for. There was no doubt in Mr. Hartley's mind as to the desirability of a good live town like Peterborough adopting the scheme, and once they did he felt sure that they would never do away with it. He made a suitable reference to the kindness shown to the delegation at Stratford, by Mr. Maybery and Mr. Preston, two members of the Board of Education of that city.

Mr. Fair endorsed all Mr. Hartley had said concerning the matter. He was most favourably impressed with the subject after returning from the tour of inspection.

After some little general discussion of the matter, a committee consisting of Messrs. Hartley, Jameson, Eastwood, Fair and Langford was appointed to meet a like committee from the Ashburnham public schools and the Separate School Boards, when the matter of the advisability of establishing a school of the kind in Peterborough will be more fully gone into.

Upon motion of Mr. Hartley, Mr. Jefferies was appointed on the Board of Examiners of the entrance examinations.

The appointment of Mr. Hart as janitor of the Collegiate Institute was confirmed. The Board then adjourned.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the Board of Education, Messrs. R. B. Rogers and W. J. Garvin, representing the Ashburnham School Board, interviewed the members of the town Board regarding the matter of having a school for the teaching of Domestic Science and Manual Training. Mr. Roger, who was one of the deputation to Stratford, was very favourably impressed with what he saw and was anxious that the matter should be fully considered by the Peterborough and Ashburnham School Boards. A meeting of delegates from the Ashburnham School Board, the Separate School Board and the Board of Education will be held this week to look further into the matter.

ONTARIO HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Fifth Annual Meeting Held in Peterborough.

The President's Address—Welcomed to Peterborough—The Visitors Shown 'Round Town—The Evening Session—Lake Excursion to Lindsay.

After the appointment of a Nominating Committee yesterday, the Ontario Historical Society was photographed at the Museum.

The following report was read by Mr. T. A. S. Hay, secretary of the local Society;

To the President, Officers and Members of the Ontario Historical Society:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen,—I beg to report as follows concerning the Peterborough Historical Society, whose annual meeting was held on Sept. 12th, 1901;

At the meeting the annual address of the President, the report of the Secretary, and the financial statement of the Treasurer were presented.

In the President's address the objects and aims of the Ontario Historical and other affiliated societies were explained, and members were urged to promote the good and useful work, one example of which had been brought to a successful issue through the untiring energy of our Treasurer, Mrs. MacFarlane Wilson. Ascertaining that the ramai of the late Isabella Valancey Crawford were buried in an unmarked grave in Little Lake Cemetery, Mrs. Wilson at once set to work, and procured subscriptions, and with the kind assistance of "Kit" of the Mail and Empire, a sufficient amount was raised and a handsome Celtic Cross of gray Canadian granite now marks the burial place of

"Isabella Valancey Crawford,
Born in Dublin, Dec. 25th, 1850;
Died in Toronto, Feb. 13th, 1887.
Poet,
By the Gift of God."

Efforts have been made from time to time to have the site of the Otonabee Serpent Mound secured by the Government and preserved from vandalism. This excellent specimen of a prehistoric age has been illustrated and reported on in the annual report of the Secretary of the Ontario Historical Society, and it is not necessary to comment on it further than to say that it was honed that at the annual meeting of the Society in Peterborough an opportunity would have been afforded members of seeing this very interesting object.

On June 3rd, the Veterans (1866) Association, at a special meeting of the Historical Society, presented the large and handsome portrait group to the museum. An address was read by the President of the Association, and at the proper moment, the picture, which was draped in a large Canadian flag, was unveiled, after which a reply was read by the Chairman of the Museum Board, accepting with thanks, and stating that this friendly act at once constituted all members of the Veterans Association as members of the Historical Society, which was received with much applause and the singing of the National anthem.

The Secretary's report showed a membership of 88, of which 25 might be considered active members.

Although few meetings were held during the year, the interests of the Society were kept from languishing by the efforts of the Executive Committee.

Our main stay has been the great interest taken by members in our museum, which has steadily grown in extent and importance.

While we have no historic battlefields, and few objects of historic value, in this we have collected the stories of patient plodding under hardship and privations by the pioneer settlers of the Newcastle and Colborne districts, now the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham.

Through the kindness of Messrs. Hall and McGill, executors of the Nicholls estate, we are in possession of a most suitable building for the purposes of a museum and headquarters, entirely free of expense to the Society, which is thoroughly appreciated by the members and the public generally, the latter, as well as the former, having free access during the season, from April till October. The building was formally opened and dedicated as "Victoria Museum," on Jubilee Day, 1897.

We are constantly receiving accessories to our collections, not only from our own country, but from friends in far off countries.

The election of officers for the year 1901—2 resulted as follows;—

Hon. President, Judge Weller.
President, Lt. Col. H. C. Rogers.
Vice-Presidents, Richard Hall, J. B. McWilliams, Mrs. Birdsall.
Executive Committee, Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards, D. Spence, F. R. Yokome, W. J. Francis, Rev. J. C. Davidson, E. Elcome, Dr. Harrison.
Secretary, T. A. S. Hay.
Treasurer, Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson.
Museum Board—Dr. Burnham, H. T. Strickland, T. A. S. Hay, for the Historical Society.
The Mayor, T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Ald. Edgecombe, Ald. Corkery, for the Town Council.
The Warden, Thos. Eastland, Commissioners Peck and Casement, for the County Council.
Messrs. Hall and McGill, for the Nicholls Estate.

T. A. S. HAY,
Secretary.

The members were then driven in carriages to the various points of interest in the town.

Amongst the delegates who registered at the meeting were J. N. Coyne, C. C. James, Mr. Thompson, Miss Merrill, Rev. Dr. Bryce, Mrs. Bryce, Mrs. Birdsall, Miss Carnochan, Mrs. Coyne, Miss Armour, Miss Peck, Mr. Weldon, Judge Dean, Miss Fitzpatrick, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Jas. Dennistoun, Mrs. H. C. Rogers, G. R. Patullo, Mrs. Clementina Fessenden, Mrs. Cortez Fessenden, A. F. Hunter, Harry Strickland, A. Wilson, Miss M. Riddell, Miss Farmer, Miss Watt, Mrs. Collins, Miss Lundy, Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson, A. Wilson, J. D. Collins, Miss Chandler, T. H. Parker, Robt. Harrison, Hampden Burnham, J. E. Belcher, D. Walker, Arthur Smith, E. Elcome, R. M. Roy.

The evening meeting in the Y.M.C.A., was largely attended. The chair was occupied at the opening by Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, but was taken later on by the president, Mr. Jas. H. Coyne, St. Thomas, Registrar of Elgin.

The proceedings were opened by a paper being read by Mrs. Clementina Fessenden, of Hamilton, President of the Wentworth Historical Society, her subject being "The Monument that Failed." A most interesting and thorough account was given of the attempt made by the "Sons of the Revolution," of the United States, to erect a monument in Quebec to the memory of General Montgomery. The hard fight which was made, and in which Mrs. Fessenden herself, was the loyal leader, against such an indignity, was described in most pathetic sentiments which called for many outbursts of enthusiasm. The final victory for the Canadians who opposed the scheme was described in most glowing language.

The following address was then read by Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, president of the local Society;

Peterborough, June 4th, 1902.

To the Officers and Members of the Ontario Historical Society;

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen—As a citizen of Peterborough and as a representative of the Peterborough Historical Society, I welcome you here on your annual tour. The principal aim of the organization is, I take it, the collection of information by the different branches throughout the Province to help coming historians with reliable material when they write the history of our country, so that future generations may know the true story of Ontario in its early days; which we know is sadly deficient at the present time. I think these annual meetings should act as a stimulant to encourage us in the work we have undertaken. Coming, as I have already said, from different parts of the Province, we not only meet with kindred spirits, compare notes and exchange ideas, but these visits to pastures new, each recurring season, should broaden our minds and make us familiar with the beauty and capabilities of the country it has pleased a kind Providence to cast our lot in—the resources of which are only beginning to be known and developed, and which, if we are true to ourselves, promise to bring Canada to the front rank of nations, when being a component part of the greatest empire the world has ever seen, our descendants, or those who come after us, may be justly proud to be called Canadians.

I trust your visit here may be both pleasant and instructive, while regretting that your stay is so short that you can only catch a glimpse of a few of what we think are points of interest in the vicinity. I am glad that through the benficence of an early settler, Mrs. Robert Nicholls, whose representative, Mr. Richard Hall, is with us to-day, we are able to receive you in this historic abode, and amid mementos of the early days, and I hope that our beginning at a collection of relics and curious may incite some of you to action, who have not already commenced preserving land marks.

Before concluding these slight greetings of welcome to our good Town I would beg to remind you, Mr. President, that less than a century ago, this place was a virgin forest—the hunting ground of the red man, whose descendants are still among us. We are here situated on the old Indian trail from the upper lakes to the St. Lawrence—traversed by Champlain nearly two centuries ago. Last year this Society had the privilege of visiting the sites of the early settlement of the United Empire Loyalists, in 1783, truly historic ground, on the beautiful Bay of Quinte. Through that Bay was the highway to both the lower and upper lakes. From its head sprang two branches, that to the left leading over the carrying-place, now Murray Canal, to the lower lake region, through the river Trent and a long chain of lakes, stretching off to the north west, nearly the entire distance to Georgian Bay. A portion of this chain we hope to show you to-morrow, and I venture to predict that those of you who are not familiar with these parts, will wonder why the present generation has not more vigorously utilized these water stretches, to the purpose for which nature has evidently intended them, viz., one of the thoroughfares from the sea board to the north-west, and I assure you that in spite of delays and discouragements, I still hope to see the completion of the Trent Valley Navigation and the products of our unlimited western provinces carried by it through the heart of Ontario to the markets of the world, and bringing the products of the world to the doors of our citizens on the line of the canal and its tributaries. It will also be your privilege to-morrow to visit our sister town in the Kawartha Lake region, not only a growing commercial centre, but famous for the manly sports in which her sons excel, and the hospitality of Lindsay, I know from experience, is unbounded.

Wishing you, Mr. President, long life and prosperity, and the Ontario Historical Society every success, with its branches extended into every part of our beloved Ontario, I beg to remain, on behalf of the Peterborough Historical Society,

Your faithful follower,
H. C. ROGERS,
Pres. Peterborough Historical Society.

In replying to the address President Coyne referred, in most pleasing terms to the hospitality which had been extended by the citizens of Peterborough. All of the delegates, he was sure, would carry away with them new ideas and a much larger knowledge of the beauties and the possibilities of Peterborough. Few had any idea that the town possessed such beautiful parks or so magnificent a water power. It was news indeed that such a great manufacturing centre was being built up on the Otonabee. The delegates he knew were surprised and delighted at the evidences given of what an enormous amount of manufacturing was being done in Peterborough.

Referring to the work being done by the Society he said:—

It is five years since the Pioneer and Historical Association of the Province of Ontario did me the honour to elect me to the Presidency. It is four years since its present name, "The Historical Society" was adopted, three since the passage of the Act of Incorporation.

Before laying aside the insignia of office, it may not be out of place to give a brief resume of the operations of the Society since June 1897.

By our Constitution, the annual meeting is intended to be peripatetic. In 1897 the old Association met in the old court house of historic Niagara. Delegates from the Council of of the Six Nations were formally received as members, and the evening was devoted to a meeting of the Iroquois council held in due form, at which business relating to the Six Nations was regularly transacted.

The meeting of 1898 was held, by special invitation of the superintendent and council, in the council house of the Six Nations at Ohsweken on the Grand River Reserve. The members were the guests of the chiefs and warriors, and the gathering was one of exceptional interest.

In 1899 the annual meeting took place during the very successful Historical Exhibition held at Victoria College, Toronto, under the Society's auspices.

In 1900 we met successively in the City Hall, Hamilton, at Dundurn Castle, and at the old Gorge House, Stony Creek, on the anniversary of the battle fought around the last mentioned spot.

Last year our annual gathering was

THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1902.

THE INDEPENDENTS.

The Independent candidates did not fare very well in Thursday's contest, as regards the winning of seats for themselves, although there is no doubt that in two or three instances Prohibitionists were the means of defeating the Liberal nominees.

Seven candidates who ran as straight Prohibitionists were all defeated. They were: Ross in North Oxford, Wilson in Lincoln, Pettit in South Wentworth, Bailey in Dufferin, Spencer in West Simcoe, Carter in South Wellington and Daly in London. Ross, Carter, Daly and Spencer polled a fairly large vote, but as there was no Liberal candidate in West Simcoe, Spencer polled as well almost the entire Liberal vote and was even then defeated by a majority of 576. Daly in London and Carter in South Wellington polled large votes, but their being in the field simply contributed to the defeat of the Liberal candidates.

The Conservative candidates who subscribed to the Prohibition platform, did not fare very well. The list embraces the Conservative standard bearers in Port Arthur, Parry Sound, North Lanark, West Peterborough, and Monck, all of whom were defeated, as was also the Liberal candidate in South Huron, who took a similar obligation. Explain the circumstances as you may, the fact remains that the pledging of candidates favourable to the Prohibition cause has served only to secure their defeat.

The Socialist candidates did not fare much better. The best run by one of their members was made by Mr. Wilshire, a wealthy man and an able platform speaker, who carried their banner in West Elgin. He put up a splendid fight, but out of 6051 votes he secured only 425, and 375 of these were in the city of St. Thomas. In Hamilton the two Socialist candidates received 565 out of about 10,000 votes. In North Toronto the two Socialist candidates secured 74 and 22 respectively—96 votes out of 7288 polled. In South Toronto one Socialist got 100 and the other 170—270 out of a total of 9481. In East Toronto the Socialist vote divided between two candidates was 354, and the total vote was 5684. In West Toronto two Socialists ran, and received 329 between them, the total vote being 7168. In London the Socialist candidate got only 95 votes, and in East Middlesex the Socialist vote was very small.

It is to be said, of course, for the Socialist candidates, that there was no expectation on their part, or on the part of their supporters, that they would win. They were put up solely for the purpose of carrying on a campaign of education, and in this respect the end in view was probably served.—Brantford Expositor.

NO OCCASION FOR PANIC.

Sir John Glover in a paper before the Statistical Society in Britain dealing with the mercantile marine interests of Britain, said;

"Our investigations have revealed no signs of decay. The figures I have submitted indicate health, strength and ever-increasing efficiency."

This statement was found upon the following figures which he had furnished, showing the growth in steam tonnage of the chief maritime powers of the world;

	1890 Tons.	1900. Tons.
British...	5,154,815	7,451,126
United States...	283,985	1,031,009
Germany	685,085	1,344,605
France...	494,960	542,305

It will be seen that the increase in British tonnage is 2,294,411 tons in the ten years, which is greater than the present combined total tonnage of Germany, and France. British maritime interests are not yet in serious danger from her rivals. With her eyes wide open, as they always are, to anything which threatens her supremacy at sea, it will be strange if Britain cannot hold her own in a contest for maritime commerce. There never has been any occasion for panic among British manufacturers or British traders over German, American or other competition, but there is always necessity for the greatest watchfulness and care so that their leading position may be maintained.

EDITORIAL NOTES

If DeWet the squirming guerilla marvel of South Africa, now that he has become a British subject, develops in politics the same foxy characteristics as he has done in dodging defeat it will take a swift politican to to beat him at that game.

The death of Senator Clemow, and the forfeiture of his seat in the Senate of Senator Masson, for non-attendance on his parliamentary duties, creates two vacancies, which will be filled by the appointment of Liberals. This will make a difference of four votes on a division.

The British populace, now that they have got the Boers off their minds, can concentrate their energies upon the battle against the bread tax. John Bull can stand a pretty stiff blow in the pocket, but when you land on his stomach, his solar plexus, he is hit hard.

It hardly looks the right thing to tax the British poor man's loaf to raise money to pay the Boers fifteen million dollars to restore the latter to prosperity and to their farms, which they have forfeited by a course which has cost the Imperial exchequer fifteen hundred million dollars.

Even the poets are consistent. They do not bombard us with peace poetry, wherein rhyme fights with reason. Between another little scrap and a campaign of peace poetry, there is a toss-up. War mercifully finishes its victims, and put them out of their misery. The poets torture but do not kill. Very few poets have attempted to write a piece on peace, for which many thanks.

Attention is drawn by the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, to the fact that all the journalists in the last Legislature, eight Liberals, were re-elected on Thursday last, while a number of Colonels, Captains and such like went down in the battle. A dearly esteemed confrere will be delighted to know that the newspaper men are on top, while the military spirit is not on the increase in Canada—judged by the results of polling day.

LaPatrie, a Montreal journal printed in French has a paragraph upon the peace which reads in English, both in language and sentiment, thus:—"The British regime is the regime of individual liberty, of religious liberty, of public liberty, of what Thiers called the necessary liberties. It was beneficial for the French-Canadians. It will be beneficial for the Boers. Moreover, the spirit of enterprise of Great Britain will bring in South Africa a new impulse and new studies that will surely captivate the Boers." This is the newspaper that is sneered at by such Francophobes as the Mail and Empire and Hamilton Spectator as a "Tarte sheet." The unity of our peoples is not much promoted by the actions of such political schismatics.

The war in South Africa has developed the defective conditions in British Army methods. The same courage, the same unwavering purpose fills the heart of the British private. The war has not shown any weak spots in Tommy Atkins; it's the way he is handled that is the trouble. The war office has learned a lesson, which it will doubtless lay to heart. Now the Admiralty should see that the Navy receives attention. The lesson learned by the War Office in South Africa has cost about fifteen hundred million dollars and the lives of 21,000 soldiers. A third of that sum spent in brushing up the Navy, supposing it needs similar attention, will place that arm of the Imperial service so far ahead of any possible naval force of any one power and so far ahead of any probable International combination, that Britannia will be able to distance all competition.

The Mail and Empire indulged in frantic pre-election prophecies, that the Ross Government would be wiped out by a political Mount Pelee. When that did not materialise it declares that the Ross Government will be counted out. An element in the Mail's calculations is the situation in North Renfrew, where the Liberal candidate died suddenly, before the declaration of his return was made. It quotes law learnedly to show that there is no provision for bringing on an election under such circumstances. There is only one little flaw in the Mail's contention, and that is that the law sufficiently provides for such a situation as appears in North Renfrew. A clause in the Election Act that;

> A warrant may issue under the hands and seals of two members-elect of the Legislative Assembly to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery for the issue of a new writ for the election of a member of the Legislative Assembly, to fill any vacancy arising subsequently to a general election, and before the first meeting of said assembly thereafter, by reason of the death or other of the causes aforesaid, and the writ may issue at any time after such vacancy.

This contains a fairly explicit statement that a writ for a new election may issue on the application of two members-elect, when the death of a member creates a vacancy "arising subsequently to a general election," and before the meeting of Parliament. With a Liberal majority of 500 in South Renfrew at the genera elections, the Mail and Empire doesn't seem to want a new election that will in all probability restore the Government's majority to the number of four, which it was before the lamented death of Mr. Munro, the member-elect.

CANADA'S CONTRIBUTION

To the Fighting and Winning Forces in South Africa.

The following is a mere mention of the several contingents and other forces which Canada contributed to the forces that operated in South Africa during the late war:

First Contingent.—Royal Canadian Infantry, 1,150 men.

Second Contingent.—Royal Canadian Dragoons, 379 men and horses. First Canadian Mounted Rifles, 388 men and horses. Royal Canadian Artillery, 539 men and horses. Those were paid for and equipped by the Canadian Government at a cost of $2,000,000.

Other Corps.—Strathcona's Horse, equipped by Lord Strathcona, 597 men and horses. South African Constabulary, paid for by the Imperial authorities, 1,208 men.

Third Contingent.—Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, paid for by Imperial authorities, 935 men and horses. Field Hospital, 62 men and horses.

Fourth Contingent.—Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles, 2,000 men and horses, equipped and paid for by the Imperial authorities.

Besides these Canada has sent to Africa 34 unattached officers for instruction and 16 hospital nursing sisters.

The Garrison at Halifax, formerly supplied by an Imperial Regiment, has been taken over and to-day 1,004 Canadians paid by the Canadian Government, hold the fort.

CLEAN BANK BILLS.

A Supply for all Who Call for Them.

The Ottawa Department of Finance will call in all soiled bank bills, redeem them, and issue instead clean, crisp, new bills. Of course the banks cannot compel holders of bank notes unfit for circulation to present them for redemption, and it will no doubt happen that notes will remain in circulation long after they are unfit for circulation. The fact is so many persons have so much trouble to get hold of bank notes of any kind, and have to spend them so quickly, that their momentary possession makes them indifferent as to whether they are soiled or clean. If the bills will pass they will let them pass.

KITCHENER'S REWARD

A General, a Viscount, and a Money Grant Proposed.

THE BURGHER VOTE FOR PEACE.

Surrender Was Opposed by Only Six Boers, While Fifty-Four Favored Peace—Botha Exhorted the Burghers to Be Loyal to the New Government—Briton and Boer Friends Again.

London, June 5.—It was announced yesterday afternoon that Lord Kitchener had been created a Viscount by King Edward.

In the House of Commons yesterday the Government leader, A. J. Balfour, presented a message from King Edward, as follows:

"His Majesty, taking into consideration the eminent services rendered by Lord Kitchener, and being desirous, in recognition of such services, to confer on him some signal mark of his favor, recommend that he, the King, should be enabled to grant Lord Kitchener £50,000 ($250,000).

John Dillon, William Redmond and Swift MacNeill (Irish Nationalists) announced their intention of opposing the grant at every stage.

A resolution giving effect to his Majesty's message will be discussed to-day.

Lord Kitchener has been promoted to be a general.

THE VEREENIGING BALLOT.

Six Boers Favored Continuing the Fight, But Fifty-Four Were For Surrender—Lord Kitchener's Speech.

Pretoria, Transvaal, June 4.—The ballot of the Boers at Vereeniging resulted in fifty-four votes in favor of surrender and six against it.

Preparations are being made here for the surrender of the Boer commands, which will take place on the racecourse. All the Boers are allowed perfect freedom.

There will be a thanksgiving service Sunday, June 8, on the church square, in which it is hoped the Boers will participate.

The women in the concentration camps are anxious to return to their homes immediately, but this will be impossible until a system of supply depots for the outlying districts is established.

General Baden-Powell is arranging for the distribution of mounted constabulary in various districts. The police, railroads and telegraphs will be handed over to the civil authorities as soon as possible, and the restrictions of martial law will be gradually relaxed.

The Boer delegates, who during the peace negotiations were stiff, formal and unfriendly, are now extremely cordial. All the commandants are returning to their commands in order to explain the situation.

Gen. Louis Botha, the Boer Commandant-General, has written an open letter to the burghers, thanking them for their obedience in the past and exhorting them to be equally loyal in their obedience to the new Government.

Lord Kitchener's address to the Boer delegates at Vereeniging, in which he said that if he had been one of them he would have been proud to have done so well in the field as they had done, made the best possible impression and drew forth a hearty response from General Meyers, the Chairman of the Boer Conference, who expressed the pleasure the Boers experienced at meeting Lord Kitchener as a friend, adding that they had fought so long against him that they had acquired full appreciation of his worth.

The departure of the Boer commanders from Vereeniging for their various districts was marked by remarkable scenes of fraternization. The trains conveying the Boers started late, and, the night being extremely cold, the sentries along the railroad track lighted huge bonfires, round which groups of Boers and Britons gathered, forming a highly picturesque scene. The late opponents joined in such songs as "Hard Times Come Again No More" and "Old Folks at Home," the British soldiers and the burghers outvieing one another in their demonstrations of joy. In brief the scenes with the departure of the trains resembled nothing so much as the starting of huge picnic parties. The same signs of rejoicing were witnessed throughout the Rand. Flags were displayed everywhere and thanksgiving services were held in all the towns.

Generals Botha and Delarey and other Boer leaders will start for Europe shortly, for the purpose of raising funds for the distressed burghers.

General Schalkburger, who was acting President of the Transvaal, joined General Botha in addressing an open letter to the burghers. After referring to the courage which they had displayed and their brave deeds in the field, he called on them to work together for the social and spiritual advancement of the country.

Kitchener Coming Home.

Durban, Natal, June 4.—The Times of Natal states that Lord Kitchener has left for England, and that General Lyttleton is acting Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in South Africa.

Not All Over Yet.

London, June 5.—In a despatch from Pretoria on the terms of peace, the correspondent there of The Times says he believes the fact that the Boers who are a very law-abiding people, have, through their leaders, formally acknowledged the sovereignty of King Edward, means a great deal.

It is important to remember the Cape rebels may still continue operations in the northwest, but neither these nor irreconciliable Boers are likely to give much trouble.

Ottawa, June 5.—The following cable was received by the Governor-General yesterday:

(Signed) Chamberlain.

$200,000,000 TO BE NEEDED.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Outlines Demobilization, Transportation and Garrison's Plans.

London, June 5.—In the House of Commons yesterday, in reviewing the necessities of the situation, now that the South Africa war is terminated, the Chancellor of the Exchequer forecasted the purport of his statement, saying that the new taxes, including the duty on grain, would be retained, in order to raise the money required; but, if there is any surplus, it will be devoted to the redemption of part of the National debt.

The promised statement of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach consisted of a lengthy review of the financial situation. The Chancellor of the Exchequer said that the whole £40,000,000 ($200,000,000), provided for the budget for the prosecution of the war, would be needed to effect the demobilization and the transportation of the British troops in South Africa, to move the Boer prisoners from the various concentration camps and to furnish garrisons for South Africa.

The Chancellor said he was glad to say he could dispense with the additional £15,750,000 ($78,750,000), which he asked for when the new loan was authorized by the House. He said he purposed to continue the new taxes for the present, but he asked the House to resume the Sinking Fund, as the best step towards re-establishing the credit of the country.

In conclusion the Chancellor of the Exchequer said one of the first matters to be considered was to determine how the revenue derived from the mineral wealth of the Transvaal could be allocated so as to provide interest on a portion of the war debt.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN

Relations of the Motherland and the Dominion Discussed.

THE PREFERENTIAL RESOLUTION.

Resolution of Gladness Over the Restoration of Peace—Cheaper Postage on Newspapers and Periodicals—Cattle Embargo—State-Owned Cables—Canadian Industrial Exhibit for London—Resolutions.

Toronto, June 5.—A gathering, composed of delegates from the Boards of Trade from one end of the Dominion to the other, numbering over 100, was assembled in the Legislative Chamber yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

On assembling, A. E. Ames, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, welcomed the delegates. On motion of Mr. McFee, Montreal, it was decided that Mr. Ames preside.

Upon a standing vote, and with the singing of the National Anthem and cheers, a resolution was carried expressive of joy over the restoration of peace.

Capt. John Gaskin, Kingston, addressed the conference on the subject of newspaper postage between Canada and Britain. He advocated the reduction in rates on newspapers and periodicals between Britain and Canada to the standard applied to letters. On behalf of the Kingston Board of Trade he presented a resolution along these lines, which was carried without debate.

George E. Drummond, Montreal, then submitted a resolution which formed the chief matter of discussion during the day. It was in effect that Great Britain discriminate in favor of her colonies in the importation of food supplies,

W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford, seconded the resolution. The consumer should not object to a slight extra cost for food brought from British colonies, and could be relied upon at all times.

E. G. Henderson, Windsor, suggested advising Sir Wilfrid Laurier to ask the Imperial conference for a royal commission to consider the preferential admission of colonial products to the British market.

Mr. Drummond thereupon accepted this suggestion.

After George McLaren, Stratford; Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P. Woodstock; John McKay, Sault Ste. Marie; Robt. Munro, Montreal; John Russell, Winnipeg; C. A. Young, Winnipeg, P. B. DuMaulin, Quebec, and D. R. Wilkie, Toronto, had spoken, the discussion was adjourned at 1 o'clock.

After some discussion at the afternoon session, two amendments were voted down and the main motion carried.

Mr. Chown submitted a resolution from the Kingston Board, to the effect that, Germany, having imposed a practically prohibitory duty upon our cereals, that our Government be urged to place a countervailing duty upon German articles coming into Canada.

Mr. McFee, Montreal, thought it better not to specify any country in particular, and moved an amendment along this line, which carried on division by a vote of 51 to 38.

C. A. Young, Winnipeg, submitted a resolution, favoring a preferential duty for colonial wheat by Great Britain, as a means of encouraging agriculture in the colonies. The resolution carried, with but few dissenting voices.

W. Frank Hathaway, St. John, N. B., followed with a resolution that the preference tariff to imports from England be allowed on only such goods as came via Canadian ports.

Several speeches for and against were made before 6 o'clock adjournment, and on resuming business at 8 o'clock session an amendment was proposed by Mr. Munro, seconded by Mr. Campbell, setting forth that, in order to encourage the importation of British goods via Canadian ports this conference desires that the preferential rebate of 33 1-3 per cent. be limited to 25 per cent. on all goods shipped via American ports.

Several delegates upheld the motion, and it finally carried with little opposition.

Mr. Cockshutt submitted the following: "That the members of this conference of Boards of Trade of the Dominion of Canada are of the opinion that the coming Imperial conference in June will afford an opportune time to negotiate for the removal of the embargo that exists against the importation of Canadian live cattle into Great Britain, inasmuch as the present prohibition prejudically effects Canadian stock raisers, and no contagious disease is known to exist in our herds."

John Rainsford, Clinton, a stock raiser, said he had no complaint coming from existing conditions.

Andrew Elliott, Galt, spoke forcibly in favor of the motion.

On a call of yeas and nays the motion was declared carried.

John Coates, Ottawa, and Mr. Chown, Kingston, presented the resolution of their respective boards on the question of intercolonial cables, which were adopted without opposition. They were:

(Ottawa) That the laying of the Pacific cable should, as soon as practicable, be followed by the establishment of State-owned cables from Australia to India and South Africa, and from South Africa, as well as from Canada, to England, in order to complete a globe-girdling chain of national telegraphs.

(Kingston) That it is of first importance to have the best means of maintaining the freest and cheapest intercourse between all parts of the Empire, and that therefore the policy adopted in establishing a state-owned Cable from Canada to Australia should, as soon as practicable be extended, in order that there may be a complete line of British cables round the globe.

J. D. Allan, Toronto moved "That the conference holds the opinion that provision should be made at the earliest possible time for a practical trade representation of the Dominion of Canada in London, by the establishment in that city of a depot of exhibition, presided over by business experts, having at their head a man of comprehensive knowledge of Canadian products, the whole purpose and scope of the enterprise being the increase of Canadian trade throughout the Empire, and the direction of the attention of the people of the British Isles to the products and capacities of Canada, both as to emigration and investment.

The motion was carried unanimously, and the meeting adjourned.

THE CORONATION DERBY.

King and Queen Witness the Victory of Ard Patrick.

London, June 5.—The general holiday-making mood of the people arising from the announcement of peace in South Africa and the approaching coronation festivities was exemplified yesterday by the unprecedented muster of the classes and masses at Epsom Downs for the Coronation Derby. Enormous crowds left London (the exodus beginning at daybreak), both by road and rail.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Duke of Cambridge, Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark, and the Indian Rajahs and their suites took special trains to the course and received ovations everywhere from the crowds.

Inclement, showery weather prevailed.

J. Gubbins' brown colt, Ard Patrick, ridden by J. H. Martin, the American jockey, won. Col. H. McCalmont's Rising Gloss was second, and the Duke of Portland's Friar Tuck was third. Eighteen horses ran. Ard Patrick won by three lengths.

DYSPEPSIA

Is the Most Prevalent and Unpleasant of all Diseases.

Ninety out of Every Hundred People are Suffering With Some Form of Stomach Trouble.

Dyspepsia is generally caused by faults in the food.

Carelessness and indiscretion in eating and drinking; eating too fast or too much, or too little exercise.

In these days of rush and worry, people forget or neglect to pay any attention whatever to their Stomachs.

Hasty meals are gobbled without time for proper mastication, or a thought as to the possible consequences to the digestive organs of such unreasonable and unfair treatment.

But there comes a time when they fail.

There is a limit even to the endurance of these faithful organs.

The symptoms of Dyspepsia appear; Heartburn, Waterbrash, Bloating or Pain in the Chest begin to cause annoyance.

How many invalids can trace the commencement of their physical breakdown to the appearance of these trifling ailments.

It is strange that people will still continue to neglect these early symptoms of Dyspepsia despite the widespread knowledge of their fearful results.

In the light of the unfortunate experience of the tens of thousands who are to-day suffering the pains of Chronic Dyspepsia, is it not the part of wisdom to immediately take steps to correct these symptoms when they first appear.

If they are not corrected, they will certainly leave you a victim of Chronic Dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Chronic Dyspepsia, no matter of how long standing.

But is it not easier and better to check the very first symptom of the Disease?

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a specific. They are compounded from the best digestives known to science.

If taken immediately after each meal, they will digest the food, and every particle of it, and thus give the Stomach an opportunity for rest and restoration.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act directly on the organs of digestion. Toning them up and restoring to them their normal health and vigour.

A JUNE BRIDAL.

Wedding of Miss Caroline Rose Sutherland and Mr. Thomas George Ranton.

A very pretty June house wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. James Sutherland, at 8 o'clock last night. The principals were Caroline Rose Sutherland, youngest daughter of Mr. Jas. Sutherland, and Thomas George Ranton, of Rochester, nephew of Rev. A. H. Ranton, the evangelist. The drawing room of the residence was beautifully brightened with floral decorations, and there was a large number of guests present from town and from outside places, Toronto and Rochester being represented in the latter.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. O. Crossley, assisted by Rev. A. H. Ranton. The bride was assisted by Miss Marie Fletcher, of Bensfort, the bride's niece, Miss M. De Long, was maid of honour, and Mr. Jas. Sutherland, jr., brother of the bride, was best man. The bride was becomingly attired in cream cashmere with garniture of cream satin and cream silk lace, and corsage knot of orange blossoms. The head tire consisted of the regulation veil and wreath of orange blossoms. A beautiful bouquet of white roses completed the bridal regalia. The going-away gown of the bride was of navy blue cloth, tailor made, with a picture hat of black plumes and jet. The bridesmaid was gowned in white organdy, trimmed with white silk lace and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, after the large array of beautiful presents, which testified to the high esteem in which the bride and her family are held, were viewed and admired, the wedding dejeuner, sumptuous in appointment and composition, was partaken of by the large party of guests present.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Ranton took train for Rochester, their future home, followed by showers of rice, congratulations and hearty good wishes of a host of friends, in which the Examiner desires to join.

Before the close of the proceedings Mr. Robertson was invited to speak before the Council and delivered a practical address to the members. The officers of the Tailors Union will be installed at a meeting to be held in the Y.M.C.A. building next week, when it is expected the tailoresses will be present and identify themselves with the Union.

The Brass Polishers also met in the Labour Hall on Wednesday evening, and formed themselves into a Union. Mr. Charles Murty, President of the Trades and Labour Council, assisted in the organization. There was a large attendance of Polishers, and the indications are that this will become one of the strongest Unions in the town.

THE RECOUNT IN LENNOX

Now Proceeding at Napanee.

(Special to the Examiner)

Napanee, Ont., June 5.—In the Lennox recount about two-thirds of the regular ballots examined so far but one mistake has been discovered, a ballot for Carscallen was counted for Madole at Wilton poll in Earnestown. This reduces Madole's majority of two to a tie. The rejected ballots, 32, will not be taken up until the main vote has been examined. The recount is being made with closed doors and it is hard to get very much information so far.

A LARGE CROWD DISAPPOINTED.

A Dead-Lock in the City Lacrosse League.

NO GAME LAST NIGHT.

The Toronto Ladies Defeated Peterborough Lady Golfers—The Latest in Local Sporting Circles.

LACROSSE.

There was a disappointed crowd at the Nicholls oval last night, and it is up to the town league officials to place matters in a right light before the public at as early a date as possible. The Y.M.C.A. and the T.A.S. teams were billed to come together in a city league match, and the ball was to have been faced at 7 o'clock sharp. As a result of the intense interest the City League games are arousing, there was a large attendance at the Oval. A considerable number of ladies were in attendance, a feature that should be very pleasing to all. The evening was an ideal one for a game of lacrosse, and it appeared as if the oval never looked more beautiful. The Y.M.C.A. team with their suits of blue and white, were first on the scene, and indulged in a preliminary skirmish. "Putty" Frost stood between the flags, and seemed impatient for the battle to begin; but perhaps he was no more impatient in this regard than the several hundred spectators.

The T.A.S. team, with their natty uniforms, of yellow and black, drove to the grounds from their rooms on George street. The referee, Mr. Jack McCabe, blew his whistle, and the teams were about to line up, when the field captain of the Y.M.C.A. team objected to the playing of Myles McDonough.

This was a matter that should have been settled long ago, viz., whether it would injure the standing of any team towards the C.L.A., were they to play against or with McDonough. McDonough is an expelled member of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, his offence towards that body be that he played under an assumed name. He is still under expulsion, but was never declared a professional. The T.A.S. claimed that it would not injure the standing of any team towards the C.L.A. to play with or against McDonough, and also claimed that they had assurances from President McKeown and Vice-President Nelson to this effect. The Y.M.C.A. team claimed the very contrary would result, and further declared that they had word from Secretary Hall of the C.L.A. to bear out what they contended. There was a deadlock. The referee could not force the teams to play, so the game was declared off, and each team went away back to its own corner of the field, and tossed the ball to each other until the shades of darkness set in, and the field was deserted, as far as the spectators were concerned.

The Examiner being anxious to find out how McDonough's playing would affect the standing of any teams towards the C.L.A., last night sent the following telegram to Mr. Francis Nelson, Sporting Editor of the Toronto Globe, and 1st Vice-President of the C.L.A.:

"Would it affect the standing of a team towards the C.L.A. to play with or against Myles McDonough, expelled from the Association, but not declared a professional?"

The following reply was received this morning;

"The C.L.A. is not likely to look kindly on any team that plays with or against a person expelled from the Association."

"Francis Nelson."

It would appear from this that the C.L.A. Executive hardly know where they were at. The T.A.S. men contend that they have positive assurance from President McKeown and Secretary Hall, as well as a verbal promise from Mr. Nelson, the Vice-President of the C.L.A., and the sender of the above telegram, that no action would be taken against teams playing with or against McDonough. They also can produce the following telegram from President McKeown:

Orangeville, Ont., May 23rd.

R. J. Begley, Peterborough,

"C.L.A. will take no action to professionalize players not within it's jurisdiction for playing with or against McDonough."

J. C. R. McKeown,
Pres. C. L. A.

Then in addition they have the following letter from Mr. Lennox, a member of the Executive Committee:

Stouffville, June 3rd, 1902

Robt. J. Begley, Esq., Peterborough,

"Dear Sir,—I have your favour of the 31st, and I am glad to learn lacrosse is booming with you. I consider McDonough's case exactly parallel with Clark's, and I quite agree with our President's interpretation. I think you would be safe in playing him in a local league and when the matter comes before the judiciary I will be pleased to do what I can to have McDonough re-instated.

Yours truly,
J. F. Lennox.

The Y.M.C.A. contend that until the matter is settled one way or the other they will not play against the T.A.S. team. They want to do nothing, they state, that will displease the governing body. That being the case the league executive should finally dispose of the question, and not have it resurrected every time the two teams meet on the field.

The T.A.S. team have a grievance against the Y.M.C.A. team. They claim Trollope is a professional, he being a physical director and drawing money for his services. The opinion appears to be that the charge is well taken for the rule of the Amateur Athletic Association on this point distinctly states that it will constitute an offence of the rules of the Association in playing against one who has been declared a professional, or against one whom they know at the time is receiving pay for his services in the athletic sphere. Trollope has not been declared a professional, but is there anyone who doubts that he receives money for his services as physical director? The Examiner is not taking any other ground than, merely, that these matters should not hang fire any longer but that they should be finally disposed of.

The game that was to have been played last night should be played over again and no admission fee charged.

A meeting of the Peterborough City League has been called for this evening when it is to be hoped that all matters now in dispute will be straightened out.

Cobourg lacrosse club has written the management of St. Peter's T.A.S. lacrosse team to the effect that they will send up a twelve on July 1st for a game in connection with the field day of sports on Murray street Separate School grounds on that date.

A full turn out of the Athletic lacrosse club is called for to-night at the Central Park.

BASEBALL.

Mr. A. E. Craig, Secretary of the Millbrook Baseball Team, writes to the Sporting Editor of the Examiner to ask what the prospects are for getting a game on with the Peterborough team for June 12th. This is the date of the Farmers' Institute Picnic, and the Millbrook boys would driver over to Hales' Bridge and take the steamer on down to the Point. Any team desiring a game at Jubilee Point on the date in question, with the Millbrook team, may communicate with Mr. Craig or apply at this office.

The game on Monday between the locals and the Bloomers promises to be the event of the season.

CORONATION CONTINGENT.

Several communications in reference to Sergt.-Major Brittain being chosen to represent the 57th Regt. on the Coronation Contingent have been received at the Examiner office, we will be only too pleased to publish the same, if the writers will subscribe their names thereto. Both Mr. J. H. Burnham and Surgeon-Major Young have written their communications over their own signatures and it would be manifestly unfair to allow criticism of the same to be made anonymously.

ORANGE GRAND LODGE

Meeting of the Orangemen of Canada at Niagara Falls.

PROGRESS OF THE PAST YEAR

The Membership Has Made a Gain of 5,000 in Twelve Months—Excerpts From the Report of the Grand Secretary—Imperial Federation Favored—Visit of U. S. Grand Lodge and Banquet.

Niagara, Falls, June 5.—The Orange Grand Lodge of Canada opened here yesterday afternoon. Dr. Sproule, Grand Master, presided.

Grand Secretary Lockhart reported that 11 Provincial Grand Lodges were under the Grand Lodge of British America. A number of new lodges have been instituted. Three female lodges have been organized during the year, located as follows: At Stonehaven, Gloucester County, New Brunswick; Gooderham, County Halliburton, Ontario East; O'Leary Station, Prince County, Prince Edward Island.

The increase in membership shows a gain of 5,000. The order has $160,000 of property.

The Grand Secretary's report also says:

Orangemen in every part of the British Empire are looking forward to the time when there will be a federation of the great Empire, of which we form a part. We may be met with the argument that it will require a length of time to bring about a federation with the legislative powers, suitable to the requirements of the various portions of the Empire. At the same time, let us remember the tendency of opinion in this direction. Let us, therefore, as members of a Protestant association unite in a great Protestant federation to oppose all attempts:

1. To alter the Coronation Oath.
2. To open the throne of Britain to a Romanist.
3. To repeal the Bill of Rights or the Act of Settlement.
4. To open diplomatic relations with the Vatican.
5. To give any increased political power to the Roman Catholic Church or any other.

To support legislation:

1. For maintaining Protestant supremacy in every branch of the constitution and life of the Empire.
2. For the inspection of convents and monastic institutions, and for the adequate protection of their inmates, and the inspection of every institution receiving Government grants or aid.

Since last we met, Nationalist members of the British House of Commons have been in this country, whose mission was not for the promotion of the best interests of the Empire, and who were well received by certain members of our House of Commons, and it is said that even the Prime Minister of this Dominion was too assiduous in his attention to these enemies of the Empire. If evidence were wanting of their disloyal sentiments, it is afforded in the cheering of these same gentlemen and their Nationalist supporters in tht British House of Commons when it was announced that disaster met British arms in South Africa. We certainly should not, as loyal citizens, remain silent, but should, in the very strongest manner, enter our protest against the recognition of such men. We rejoice to know that, while these Nationalists assume to represent Ireland, they do not by any means represent the loyal people of that country, and that there are, even among their co-religionists, many who are truly loyal, of which they have given evidence in the struggle in South Africa.

A home for the aged and infirm has been suggested as the best memorial to the late N. C. Wallace.

Late in the afternoon the Grand Lodge was visited by a delegation numbering 150 members of the Grand Orange Lodge of the United States, who are in session at Niagara Falls, N.Y. The visitors were accorded a hearty welcome with Grand Lodge honors. M. W. Grand Master Sproule welcomed the visitors in eloquent address to the Canadian side. Supreme G. M. of United States, Rev. G. T. Lemmons of North Ferrisburg, Vt., replied in equal fraternal and patriotic international terms.

With the Americans were Past G. M. John C. Hardingburg of Cleveland, Ohio, and Past G. M. James Ray, of Massachusetts.

Life is not Safe When Disease is Allowed to run Unchecked in Summer.

Gives Marvellous Results When Used in June.

The majority of people, young and old, too often allow sickness and disease to follow them into the opening summer. Some have foul and stagnant blood; some recognize the fact that kidney disease or liver complaint have commenced their quiet but deadly work; some are tormented with the agonies of rheumatism and neuralgia; others are made miserable by dyspepsia, constipation, headache, sleeplessness and nervousness.

Life is not safe when such troubles are permitted to run unchecked. The hot days of summer will aggravate all conditions of weakness and sickness.

The ailing and suffering should take advantage of these June days and the life-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound to rid themselves of dangers. The work of purifying the blood, bracing the weak and flabby nerves and fortifying the system is happily done for all who use Paine's Celery Compound. It has made life joyous and happy for tens of thousands in June; it will do the same good work for you, dear reader. Test its virtues to-day and be convinced.

PROPELLER RUNS AMUCK.

Carries Away Lock Gate and Bumps Into Liner Parisian.

Montreal, June 4.—An accident, which produced considerable excitement at the harbor front, occurred at noon yesterday, when the propeller Ocean, from the Great Lakes, carried away the lock gates at the entrance to the canal, and collided with the Allan Line steamer Parisian, which is lying alongside that company's wharf, almost directly opposite the Harbor Commissioner's Office. The propeller was on the point of entering the canal, having successfully passed the lower lock gates, and was about to pass through the upper at a great pace, when her machinery gave way and she was forced back on the lower gates, which were then closed. She crashed through them and carried one of them along with her, and demolished the other.

The propeller herself, borne along by current from the rapidly emptying lock, was dashed stern first against the Parisian. The liner was staunch enough to withstand the little propeller, whose stern was badly crushed. She will have to remain here for repairs. The lock gates are badly shattered, and will probably have to be replaced by new ones.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Hillman, were damaged; buildings and contents covered by insurance.

Legs so Swelled He Couldn't Walk.

Kidney and Urinary Troubles Were Followed by Dropsy —A Perfect Cure by

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

This case of Mr. James Treneman, the well-known butcher, of 536 Adelaide street, London, Ont., is another proof that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are effective in the most severe and complicated diseases of the kidneys.

The double action which this famous prescription has on both the kidneys and liver is in a large measure responsible for its wonderful curative effects. When there are backache, frequent, difficult or painful urination, dropsical swellings, biliousness, constipation or stomach derangements, you may depend upon it that the kidneys are clogged and the liver sluggish.

It is at such times that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prove themselves prompt to give relief and certain to effect a cure. The evidence to prove this fact is simply overwhelming.

Mr. James Treneman states: "Two years ago I was laid up with kidney disease and urinary troubles. Besides the pain and inconvenience caused by these troubles I became dropsical, and my legs would swell up so that I could scarcely go around at all. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I procured a box and continued the use of this valuable medicine until now I can say for a certainty that I am entirely cured. I never took any medicine that did me so much good, and am firmly convinced that if it had not been for this medicine I would not be working to-day.

As a family medicine of tested and known worth, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have never been approached. They act directly on the kidneys and liver, regulate the bowels and ensure the perfect action of the digestive and filtering systems. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 2

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

Hon. Mr. Mulock's Efforts to Have The Rates Reduced.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES INERT.

Present Rates on Newspapers Between England and Canada Fixed Many Years Ago—Shortly After Taking Office, Mr. Mulock Attempted to Have Rates Reduced, and Later Made a Further Move.

Ottawa, June 4.—Hon. Wm. Mulock's attention was last evening drawn to a letter from Lord Londonderry, which has appeared in the English press, with reference to the reduction of the postage on newspapers between England and Canada. Mr. Mulock said :—The present postage rates on newspapers and periodicals passing between the United Kingdom and Canada was fixed many years ago by the postal convention. Shortly after taking office I undertook to bring about a reduction in these rates. The postal convention provides that any two or more countries may, as between themselves, modify the general rates, and the United Kingdom and Canada can maintain between themselves just such postal rates as the two countries may agree upon. I applied to the Postmaster-General of England as early as 1897 for reconsideration of the newspaper and periodical rates with a view to their reduction, pressing it upon him for a considerable length of time, but he declined to entertain any proposal for reduction. Soon after the present Postmaster-General of England assumed office he was also communicated with on behalf of the Canadian Government, with a view to considering a proposal for a reduction of rates, but without success. Up to this moment all our overtures for the reduction of these rates have been rejected, and this is the present position of the matter. We have by no means abandoned hope of ultimate success, but intend to press the subject upon the attention of the Imperial Government. It will be one of the subjects considered at the approaching conference.

Imitations

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coating and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitators have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. There is only one DODD'S. Dodd's is the original. Dodd's is the name to be careful about—

PROTEST IN KINGSTON.

A Recount Granted in the East Riding of Middlesex.

Kingston, June 4.—The Kingston Conservatives have decided to protest Mr. Pense's election to the Ontario Legislature. Bribery, personation, etc., will be the charges. The Liberals are prepared to meet all charges, and are confident that the case will be thrown out if it ever comes to trial. It is said that the Conservative candidate, Mayor Shaw does not favor any protest. He shook hands with Mr. Pense on the street the day after the election, and in presence of several persons stated that he had been defeated fairly.

On Thursday a recount will be begun in Lennox, where the Liberal candidate was declared to have a majority of 2. There are 32 spoiled and rejected ballots.

A rumor gained credence in the city Tuesday that Jos. Reid, M.P.P.-elect for Addington, was dead. The story is thought to have originated in Napanee. It is untrue.

The Strike Situation.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 4.—The situation in the Wyoming region yesterday, as far as it relates to the engineers, firemen and pumpmen, shows no change from that of Tuesday. All the collieries which had not voluntarily closed down their pumps during the last 10 days, continue to keep their mines free of water. Several collieries are said to be working short handed. If many more men strike these operations will have to shut down, and the mines will become flooded.

Reports are constantly coming in from the surrounding region of petty violence, principally by boys, but no one has as yet been seriously hurt.

Ottawa, June 4.—It is learned that the late Senator Clemow left an estate valued at about $600,000. He has left the bulk of it to his daughter, Miss Clemow, excepting the homestead and $5,000 a year to his widow. At the death of the widow the residue reverts to Miss Clemow.

Subjects Discussed by the Delegates to the Tuberculosis Congress.

New York, June 4.—The American Congress of Tuberculosis yesterday considered "Tuberculosis in its Pathological and Bacterilogical Aspects." Prof. J. J. Kinyoun, of Pennsylvania, spoke of tuberculosis as "the great white plague" which destroys more people than all other plagues. He said the knowledge that the disease is contagious is being slowly accepted. He also said that means for the disinfection of public resorts and vehicles frequented by consumptives demand serious attention.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

held at the City Hall, Belleville, and on the steamer Armenia, being placed at our disposal by Mr. E. W. Rathbun. Several points of interest on the Bay of Quinte were visited.

During the last five years special meetings were held on the Industrial Fair Grounds at Toronto, in connection with each annual fair. Additional sessions have been held at the Educational Department, Toronto—a winter session in February, 1899, and an Easter session in April, 1902.

At all the meetings, besides the transaction of necessary routine business, valuable and interesting papers on histoical subjects were read, and many matters connected with the Society's objects were considered. Effective representations were made to the Governments of the Dominion for the preservation of historic sites from apprehended spoliation or sacrilege.

And now we are met on the banks of the Otonabee, in the capital of the old Colborne District, the pleasant Town of Peterborough. The competition of hospitality between this town and Lindsay was so kindly and so keen that it was found difficult, if not impossible, to decide between them. A happy solution of the difficulty was found in a resort to the judgment of Solomon. The subject of dispute was divided in two, each litigant received her equal moiety, and all parties appeared to be pleased. Nature, uniting the two county towns by a river and lake system, of marvellous beauty and picturesqueness, aided in the division; and thanks to the friendly rivalry, the members present will have an opportunity of enjoying a voyage on the crystal waters that fill the Laurentian basins of Stony, Lovesick, Buckhorn, Pigeon and Sturgeon Lakes, as well as up the Otonabee and Sougog Rivers. The cool air blowing over these northern waters will, it is hoped, have a tranquillizing influence upon brows over-heated in the exciting atmosphere of the last few weeks. Even elections and recounts may be forgotten amidst the charms of Stony Lake and the picturesque beauties of Bobcaygeon.

I may be pardoned for referring to the fact that Peterborough has been peculiarly fortunate in having had its merits brought before the world in it's early days perhaps more extensively and favourably than any other part of the then "Backwoods of Canada." The names of Agnes Strickland, of Mrs. Trail and Mrs. Moodie, may be almost said to be household names throughout the British world. Who has not read, with delight and admiration, "Roughing it in the Bush," and "The Backwoods of Canada?" And who is there that does not consider a Historical Society fortunate that commences it's existence with Mrs. C. P. Trail as Honourary President, a Strickland as Honourary Vice-President and a Rogers as President, to say nothing of the other men and women of prominence associated with it's beginnings? What an interesting field for research is opened out by the mere mention of these historic names.

Five years ago, the Pioneer and Historical Association was as the name implied merely an Association of the Pioneer and Historical Societies, and according to the constitution was composed of eleven members, or one for each affiliated society. At the September meeting this representation was increased to 3 from each local society. In May 1898, the society was reorganized under it's present name, "The Ontario Historical Society," radical changes being effected in it's basis and objects.

Provision was made for various classes of members in addition to the delegates from local societies.

The new membership has grown at a satisfactory rate. There were on the Society's rolls on the 22nd of last month, 40 ex-officio members, beginning with the distinguished name of His Excellency the Governor-General, and His Honour the Lieut.-Governor, 6 honorary, 6 corresponding and 216 annual members—268 in all—in addition to the delegates from local societies who, if the societies were fully represented by persons not already members, would make the total membership 337, as compared with 11 five years ago. The number of local historical societies is rapidly increasing. Instead of 11, we have now 23 in affiliation with this Society:

The York Pioneers.
The Lundy's Lane Historical Society.
The Niagara Historical Society.
The Peel Historical Society.
The Elgin Historical and Scientific Institute.
The Thorold and Beaver Dams Historical Society.
The Simcoe Historical Society.
The Wentworth Historical Society.
The Perth Historical Society.
The Norfolk Historical Society.
The Bruce Historical Society.
The Lambton Historical Society.
The Halton Historical Society.
The Women's Wentworth Historical Society.
The Belleville and Bay of Quinte Historical Society.
The County of Victoria Historical Society.
The Oxford Historical Society.
The Peterborough Historical Society
The Women's Canadian Historical Society of Ottawa.
The Women's Canadian Historical Society of Toronto.
The Prince Edward County Historical Society.
The London and Middlesex Historical Society.
The Women's Historical Society of Bowmanville.

In the reorganization the Society undertook original work, the following paragraph being added to the statement of its objects, as set forth in its constitution;

(2) Also to engage in the collection, preservation, exhibition, and publication of materials for the study of history, especially the history of Ontario and Canada; to this end studying the archaeology of the province, acquiring documents and manuscripts, obtaining narratives and records of pioneers, conducting a library of historical reference, maintaining a gallery of historical portraiture and an ethnological and historical museum, publishing and otherwise diffusing information relating to the history of the province and of the Dominion, and in general encouraging and developing within the province the study of history.

Besides forming a centre of intercourse and co-operation for the local societies, and promoting the establishment of new organizations, the Society has from the beginning moved steadily and continuously along the lines laid down.

Our Act of Incorporation includes a simple and expeditious mode of incorporation of local societies. A simple resolution of our Council affiliating a local society incorporates the latter ipso facto without any expense.

The Society, besides publishing its annual transactions, has issued already three valuable volumes of Papers and Records, and has a fourth now in the press, with a fifth ready to follow almost immediately. Moreover it has made arrangements from time to time with Departments of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, whereby official reports and publications of historical interest have been distributed amongst its members.

Formerly we had no abiding home. Under the reorganization, the Society fixed its headquarters, with the consent of the Minister of Education, at the Educational Department, Toronto, where already we have the nucleus of what will ultimately become a valuable museum and historical library.

With the same consent we secured the services of the Provincial Archaeologist, Mr. David Boyle, as our Secretary. The constitution provides that the Minister of Education for the time being shall be Honorary President of the Society. Last April we held a joint meeting with the Historical Section of the Ontario Educational Association. In these ways we have identified the society with the Educational System of the province.

The Society has taken an active part in promoting the preservation of historic sites and the erection of monuments to commemorate important historic events.

Since our last meeting the monument to Laura Secord, for which funds were collected in small amounts under the capable and energetic direction of Mrs. J. H. Thompson as chairman of the Monument Committee, was unveiled in the old cemetery, at Lundy's Lane, by the late Mrs. Geo. W. Ross, whose sudden death caused so much sorrow throughout the province. The bust is a work of artistic excellence which will add to the high reputation of the sculptress, Miss Mildred Peel.

The contract has been given for the monument to General Simcoe, the first Lieut.-Governor of Upper Canada. Mr. Alward, the sculptor, lost no time in setting about his work. The model has already been completed and approved. It is hoped that before many months the finished work will grace the Queen's Park, Toronto.

In these and other ways we have been trying to promote a spirit of true patriotism and more intimate knowledge of the historic past, out of which the present has been evolved, and of which the future weal or woe of our country will be but the development.

You will observe that whilst the scope of the Provincial Society's operations is defined, the local organizations are not so limited. Any historical or pioneer society may apply for affiliation and may thereafter as before pursue its own objects in its own way. The Ontario Historical Society has mapped out a path for itself, which local societies may adopt or not, as they may deem expedient. Shall we devote a little time on this occasion to a discussion on the value of history. A man's experience is an important part of his working capital. It is the same with a nation, and with mankind as a whole. Consider how largely our civilization is based on recorded experience. That is history. It has been called the memory of the human race. And one of the wisest of men even went so far as to say, "Histories make men wise."

His Worship Mayor Denne was present for a few minutes and had to leave to attend another meeting.

His Honour Judge Dean of Lindsay, gave some very interesting facts concerning the trip to be taken tomorrow from Peterborough to Lindsay by boat, and was followed by Rev. Dr. Bryce, of Winnipeg, formerly of Ontario, who urged on the members the importance and necessity of interviewing the old settlers and placing their memoirs on record.

After singing the National Anthem the meeting adjourned, and the members left for Lindsay, on the morning train.

WHO IS THAT TEACHER?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The following item appeared in one of your town contemporaries a few days ago:

"—It is said that a certain teacher in our local public schools is such a pronounced Boer sympathizer that he occasionally gives vent to his feelings in the presence of his pupils. It is bad enough for any citizen to show disloyalty to the flag of the country they live in, but it is inexcusable in a teacher of the young to do so."

It is the duty of the trustees of the Public Schools of Peterborough to find out if the above is true. If it is so, the teacher that is guilty of such a dastardly thing as trying to sow the seed of disloyalty in the minds of the children under his or her care in our schools should be dismissed at once. Some of best young men of Peterborough and vicinity have given their lives in defence of the Empire of which we form a valuable part. We are a loyal people, and will not tolerate such a thing as paying a school teacher to instil disloyalty in the minds of our children. Our school teachers as a general rule are of the highest class of our citizens. If one has got in that is not of that high standard to compare with the other teachers, I say do away with their services at once.

Yours truly,
G. E. WHITEN.

THE DOG QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—A new light has shone lately on the subject of dog poisoning, and I believe there is something in it—that is, there are so many dogs untrained and uncared for that are supposed to be pets, but allowed to run and bark to the great annoyance of the neighborhood. Very few wish to lay a formal complaint of the nuisance, and a quiet resort is made to poison. I do not justify the act for a moment, but think it very wrong, and forming a cloak for malicious poisoning of good dogs. But I will say that there are people, not only in the west end, but in the south end and all over town, whose dogs will suffer serious bodily injury if their owners do not exercise a little common sense and remember that their pets are not pets to others, and what may be music in their ears is very annoying to others. But dogs are not the only nuisance noted by another complainant—cows and chickens, etc. Well, when will Peterborough cease to be a big country village, with farm yards at the back door? It is past a joke, and a more definite move of the city fathers in this direction would be in order, so the ratepayers would not be at variance with one another.

Thanking you for this space, I am
Yours, etc.,
PATIENCE.

OLYMPIC EXCURSION.

Grand Weather for the Historic Trip.

A DAY AT STONY LAKE.

Visits Paid to Young's Point, McCracken's Landing and the Head of the Lake —Meals Served at Burleigh Falls Hotel.

The first Thursday in June has come and gone and with it the annual excursion of the Olympic Club to Stony Lake. But though the Club's outing is over for this year the many pleasant recollections associated with the enjoyable day will be kept in mind for many moths.

It was a typical June day—warm, with a breeze just strong enough to stir the folinge on the trees and the guests from a distance who had never visited Stony Lake before were thoroughly charmed and delighted with this gem of the Kawarthas. The many harmonizing shades of green noticable in Stony Lake foliage was never more clearly accentuated than this season, and the effect as contrasted with the great bowlders of flinty granite was most striking.

The party yesterday numbered one hundred and six, including the 57th Band, which was most prodigal with its music all day. The morning train carried the members to Lakefield where the popular steamer Majestic was boarded. The Majestic has the same efficient and courteous crew which have contributed so much by their efforts to making this steamer such a favourite with tourists. Captain Will Scollard is in command and is assisted by Frank, Fred and Pat. Young.

Stops were made at Young's Point and McCracken's Landing, and the band gave a pleasing programme at each place.

It was just noon when Burleigh Falls was reached and Mine Host Darcy had a piping hot course dinner ready to be served beneath a huge canopy which stretched from the hotel to the large cottage just south of the main building. The tables were sufficiently large to allow all of the members to be seated at once and the menu was such as to be strongly reminescent of the days when John Holmes used to look after the Club so well.

Mr. Darcy has made a great many improvements to the hotel since taking possession. The bar, which was in the front of the building, has been transferred to the rear and in its place is now a large and roomy office. Some very pretty additional cottages have also been erected.

After dinner was served the locks were visited and in the course of an hour or so, the band concert began and was greatly enjoyed. At the same time the Majestic steamed away to the head of the lake with a portion of the party. An excellent supper was served at Burleigh at six o'clock, after which the usual list of sports was run off, and the boat left for home shortly after eight o'clock, the party reaching Peterborough by special train from Lakefield at about 11 o'clock.

The most complimentary of encomiums were passed concerning the manner in which every detail had been so carefully arranged by Mr. W. E. Lech, to whom all of the credit is due for the great success of the thoroughly enjoyable trip.

Everyone was most favourably impressed with the many improvements which have been made by Mr. Morgan at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing. The hotel and spacious piazzas have been painted white. Another large flight of steps has been erected at the north-west corner of the building, and the verandahs have all been neatly railed since last year. A large number of the members went through the house and were delighted with the large airy bedrooms, and fine view. With Mr. Fred Morgan again in charge the Victoria House will continue to uphold its reputation of being the most popular house in this portion of the Kawartha Lakes.

Mr. Will Bunton, the genial uptown ticket agent, had as his guests Andy J. Taylor, D.P.A., C. M. & St, P. Railway, B. H. Bennett, D. P. A., C. R. & W. Railway, and Harry Carter, D.P.A., U. P. Railway.

REACHED THE LIMIT.

The Work of Vandals in St. John's Church Grounds—A Warning.

It is much regretted that considerable difficulty has been experienced in keeping St. John's church grounds free from boys, hoodlums, etc. This state of affairs exists more particularly at noon hour, when the sheds to the rear of the church are visited by people who persist in breaking everything at all breakable. On the grounds flowers and shrubs have suffered greatly. Mr. Butcher, under whose administration the grounds are kept, has made every effort to stamp out such acts of vandalism, but his efforts to a certain extent, have proved abortive. Yesterday he was obliged to have a man arrested, and he will appear before Police Magistrate Dumble on Saturday. The authorities of St. John's are determined to pursue a very firm course and it is the duty of the citizens of the town, and those who wish to enjoy such pretty grounds, to join in preventing such rascality. Otherwise the grounds will have to be closed up and treated as private property, a circumstance that would be greatly regretted. It is also asked that all persons who are on the grounds should walk on the slat walks and not on the grass.

MADOLE HOLDS LENNOX.

The Result of the Recount is to Keep Lennox Liberal.

The Scrutiny of Ballots Results in a Tie—The Returning Officer Breaks the Tie in Madole's Favour—Ross Government's Majority Still Four.

A special despatch to the Examiner states that the recount in Lennox is completed, and that the result is a tie. The returning officer has declared the return of Mr. M. S. Madole, as the member for Lennox in the Ontario Legislature. This makes the majority of the Ross Government four.

It also discredits the wild claims of the Opposition that the recounts would result in placing Mr. Whitney in a majority. The Lennox recount shows that there is nothing in the Opposition contention that the recounts would favour the Opposition from the alleged fact that the Deputy Returning Officers would naturally favour the Government candidate, and give him the benefit of the doubt in the case of the doubtful marking of a ballot, making a decision difficult. In the Lennox scrutiny the error which took one vote from Mr. Madole and gave it to Mr. Carscallen, creating the tie, was purely an error, according to the Mail and Empire's report, the total vote for Carscallen having been counted for that of Madole, and vice versa.

The outcome of the first recount is a victory for the Ross Government, and not a very hopeful augury for Opposition success in the recounts.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The Provincial Convention Concluded Yesterday.

An Enjoyable Trip From Lakefield to Lindsay by Water—Those Who Were There.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Historical Society, which was in session on Wednesday in Peterborough concluded at Lindsay last night.

Yesterday's proceedings took the form of a trip by water from Lakefield to Lindsay. The trip was most enjoyable and the proceedings were somewhat unique, in as much as meetings were held on board the steamer and many historical points of interest were visited. Those taking in the trip were the delegates who were in attendance at the convention from a distance and the following from town: Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, J. H. Burnham, Ald. Edgcumbe, representing the town council, E. A. Peck, representing the county council, E. Elcome, R. B. Rogers, T.A.S. Hay, J. D. Collins, John Belcher, A. A. Cox and E.B. Edwards. The following ladies of Peterborough accompanied the party: Mrs. J.D. Collins, Mrs. A.A. Cox, Mrs. F.J. Rogers, Miss Birsall and Miss Helen Rogers. Supper was served on board the steamer Ogemah which conveyed the excursionists from Lakefield to Bobcaygeon. Here they were met by Mr. Boyd of the Trent Valley Navigation Company, who did everything in his power, and with much success, to add to the enjoyment of the excursionists. Indeed a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Boyd for the excellent manner in which the arrangements were carried out. Lindsay was reached at 5.30 sharp. Most of the Peterborough delegates returned on the evening train, but Mr. Edwards and Mr. Burnham remained until to-day and attended the closing session of the convention in Lindsay last night.

The officers elected at Lindsay were:

President—Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

Secretary—Mr. David Boyle.

Peterborough's representative on the Council is Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards.

Chief Pandash, who was at the meeting in Peterborough on Wednesday night, proved to be a most interesting personage and was eagerly conversed with by the delegates.

WHAT WE HAVE WE"LL HOLD.

The Briton is a pessimist of peculiar build. He will grumble till bed time; he will grumble at his taxes; but he pays them, and seems to enjoy it. He takes alarm over a proposal to tunnel the channel, and America's plutocratic "trust combine," conjures up visions of cataclysmic disaster. But with all this the Briton is sound at bottom, and never loses hope or faith in British pluck and ability, or Brit Annia's ability to remain Mistress of the Waves. At the annual meeting of the London Chamber of Commerce, Lord Brassey voiced this feeling. He has no fear for Britain. He said on this occasion;

"I believe the British on even terms are well able to hold their own in industrial struggles, proof of which was furnished by the fact that the exports per head of Great Britain, were nearly double those of the United States.

"In regard to the shipping combine it was idle to expect or claim a monopoly of the North Atlantic. It was certain sooner or later that some movement, similar to that initiated by J. P. Morgan, would be brought about by the United States.

"Let us not lose our national dignity in unavailing and needless alarm. Our position as a maritime nation is assured beyond the reach of competition; and we shall hold our position against all comers, because we build ships more cheaply, and, with, or without foreign crews, sail them more cheaply than any of our rivals."

The British hulls of oak and teak have given away to the hulls of steel, but the hearts of oak are still sound, and only toughened, not dismayed, by the stress of commercial conflict. A momentary spurt of spurious ambition may put their hearts of oak in a flutter for a time, but in calm confidence, the bull-dog tenacity, holds its way, and Britannia goes on ruling the waves, as of yore, and as of ever.

ALEXANDER MACKENZIE'S MEMORY.

Events, of Ottawa.

Alexander Mackenzie was not a brilliant man, but he was a patriot, He had indomitable courage. He struggled against great odds and climbed to a high place. He displayed one of the rarest qualities in public life, honesty. It was deemed a fitting tribute to such a man that Parliament should vote a sum of money for the purpose of erecting a statue to his memory. The work was executed and erected on Parliament Hill in Ottawa shortly before the visit of the Duke of York and when the heir to that throne which Alexander Mackenzie had always supported, and did much to strengthen, drove past the status it was still covered with coarse canvas. The features of the dead statesman were veiled. Some thought that the presence of the Duke of York would be taken advantage of for the unveiling, but after he had gone it was said that the Ontario Liberals wanted to make a demonstration at the unveiling. Shortly afterwards the statue was uncovered in the night, and no public unveiling has ever taken place. This strange omission has not been accounted for. No person seems to have ever asked the question why Mr. Mackenzie's statue was not thought worthy of a formal unveiling in the presence of his old friends and admirers. It is one of those things no fellow can make out. statues of George Brown, George E. Cartier, John A. Macdonald and of others have been erected and unveiled in a manner honourable to the memory of these men, but Alexander Mackenzie's statue has been exposed to view without any tributes from the lips of men who knew and appreciated him. It is a bad day for the Reformers of Ontario, when they allow Alexander Mackenzie's memory to be slighted without a protest.

The statue is by Herbert. Mr. Mackenzie is represented in the attitude of addressing the House of Commons, his right hand slightly raised, his features expressing that earnestness which always marked his public utterances. Two allegorical figures adorn the pedestal, a youth with chart and compass, and a female figure holding a shield with the inscription, "Duty was his law, and Conscience his Ruler."

LAND GRANTS IN ONTARIO.

More particularly since the opening up of New Ontario, inquires are frequently made as to the conditions upon which land grants are made in this province.

For the general information, it may be stated that agricultural lands can be obtained from the crown by actual settlers only, subject to conditions as to improvements and evidence offered before the issue of the patent. In some districts free grants of land are offered, and in others the land is for sale at a uniform price of 50 cents per acre. In Nipissing district, including the Temiskaming townships in the eastern part of New Ontario, in Algoma, in the middle west and in Wabigoon or Dryden, father to the west, the land is for sale in lots of 160 acres, but in case a portion is rough and broken the quantity may be increased so as not to exceed 240 acres. The settlement conditions to be fulfilled before a title is granted are the erection of a habitable house 16 by 20 feet at least, and the clearing of ten per cent. of the land. There are slight differences in the several localities as to the time allowed for the payment of the purchase money and the number of years residence required on the land before the issue of the patent.

The Temiskaming region possesses the largest continuous area of first-class land of all the sections now open for settlement. The 24 townships thus far thrown open to settlers extend in a northwesterly direction from Lake Temiskaming. The settlement will shortly be closely connected with the leading markets of the Dominion by the opening up of railway communication by way of North Bay.

The fertile area of the Wabigoon country, situated almost in the centre of the Rainy River district, comprises nine townships having a total area of about 234,000 acres, in addition to territory yet unsurveyed. The Canadian Pacific railway runs through this tract for about 40 miles.

The free grant system prevails in Muskoka, Parry Sound and Thunder Bay districts, and in the Rainy River valley the quantity obtainable by one individual varies from 100 to 160 acres. In the Rainy River Valley, where townships have been surveyed for settlement with an area of about 600,000 acres, the limit of a grant is 160 acres, but the head of a family locating is entitled to purchase an additional 80 acres at $1 per acre. A single male settler may be located for 120 acres and purchase an additional 80 acres on the same terms. The settlement duties in this district include the clearing of 15 acres during three years, with the building of a house and continuous residence during that period, and similar provisions, with some variations, are in force in all the free grant districts.

In Thunder Bay district the locatee of a free grant of 160 acres may purchase another 160-acre lot at 50 cents per acre, and the settlement regulations require five years' residence to acquire a patent. Fuller particulars may be obtained on application to the Commissioner of Crown Lands, Toronto.—Brantford Expositor.

A CONTRAST IN TIMBER.

On Tuesday last the Quebec Government sold 336 square miles of timber limits, receiving $43,710. This is at the rate of $130 per square mile. The Ontario Government has been criticized and charged with wasting our timber resources. The Ross Government at the last sale held sold 399 1-4 square miles for $732,787, or an average price per square mile of $1,835, over fourteen times as much as the price realized at the sale of Quebec timber limits on Tuesday. In all the Ontario Government timber sales since 1873, there have been disposed of 5,152 1-2 square miles of timber limits at the handsome average price per square mile of $1,324. In the three Ontario timber sales since 1897 inclusive, there have been disposed of 118 1-2 square miles, at the average price per square mile of $1,833.

The policy of the Ross Government in regard to our Crown timber is not only one that realizes high prices and a large revenue, but one that provides for the best available means of preservation and reproduction.

The Toronto News, Conservative, contends that the Liberals are so anxious to retain power that in the bye elections that may be held in the not distant future, they will resort to corrupt practices. The Conservatives are just as anxious to get office and, naturally, a great deal more so. Why does not the News assert that the Conservatives will resort to corrupt practices? That party is the party that invented and first practices the system of corrupting constituencies, first invented and practiced the system of spoiling ballots by fastening a bit of lead from a pencil under the finger nail by means of wax and thus permit of an additional mark being made in handling a ballot, that will cause it to be counted as spoiled. The man to look out for in a deal is the man that is always boasting of his own honesty.

The steamers Alert and Empress have brought up large quantities of freight for Mount Julian and Apsley during May, besides taking down some loads of wood. The Majestic has been busy towing and will not begin trips until the fishing season opens.

The rainy weather has delayed the farmers with their work, but the fields and gardens are now making a good appearance.

DEFENCE OF EMPIRE.

Discussed at the Conference of Boards of Trade.

CANADA'S FUTURE OF EXPANSION

Hon. Mr. Tarte's Ringing Words on the Transportation Problem—Canada Must Preserve Her Independence—Hon. Mr. Muloch on Trade With Australia — Ontario Premier's Glowing Summing Up.

Toronto, June 6.—The discussion of steamship and transportation questions occupied almost the entire attention of the conference of Dominion Boards of Trade yesterday, and a series of resolutions were passed advocating the subsidizing of a fast Atlantic service, an increased service to Australia and a line to South Africa. It was decided also to ask the Imperial Government to accredit commercial agents that may be appointed by the Canadian Government. The question of defence will be dealt with this afternoon, and is expected to give rise to a long discussion.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte and Hon. William Paterson were in the chamber for a time during the conference in the morning, and were warmly welcomed. Owing to the numbers of matters which are to be dealt with, it has been found impossible to complete the business within the two days, so it was decided yesterday morning to continue the sessions to-day.

After the adjournment yesterday lunch was served in the Parliament buildings restaurant by the Toronto Board of Trade to the visiting delegates. Mr. J. D. Allan, Chairman of the Committee of Management, was in the chair.

The first question to occupy the attention of the conference in the morning was that of commercial agencies, and after a little discussion the following resolution upon the subject, moved by E. V. Roy of the Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, and seconded by J. X. Perrault, Gaspe, was unanimously adopted:

"That the Imperial Government be requested to recognize and accredit to foreign governments the agents appointed by the Canadian Government, and to grant them proper credentials and necessary powers to protect our rights."

The following resolution was put and carried unanimously:

That this conference of Canadian Boards of Trade urges upon the representatives of Canada at the conference to be held in London in June next between British and colonial statesmen, to impress upon that gathering the importance of the Mother Country and the colonies adopting a policy under which fast lines of steamships will be secured and retained for the development and control of trade between the United Kingdom and her possessions, and between the colonies themselves, and for the provision of good mail services.

Mr. Campbell then brought in a resolution calling for speed and advocating that the establishment of the line be in the hands of the Government. This was put and carried unanimously.

Mr. C. B. Watts moved that a clause be added calling for rates as low as prevail on American lines.

Some delegates suggested a postponement of the matter, but on Mr Watts not being favorable to this, his motion was submitted and defeated on a division of 52 to 42.

J. D. Allan presented a motion requesting the Government to consider the establishment of a cargo steamer service from Canadian ports at so much per outward voyage, calling at Cape Town and proceeding to ports in Australia, also a faster service from Vancouver.

John Carter, Ottawa, seconded the resolution, and it carried unanimously.

A. S. Goodeve, Nelson, B.C., moved: "That it is desirable in the interest of Canada that the duties on pig lead and the products thereof should be so increased as to encourage the development of mining, smelting and refining of lead and the establishment of various manufactories of lead products within the Dominion."

Robert Munro, Montreal, seconded the motion, and it carried unanimously.

The question of defence was then introduced by Mr. McFee, Montreal, seconded by Mr. Munro, of the same city, presenting the motion of the Montreal board on the subject, as follows:

"That in the opinion of this conference it is the duty of this Dominion, as an important division of the Empire, to share in the cost of the general defence of said Empire, and therefore that an annual appropriation should be provided in the Dominion Budget for this purpose, to be expended as the Dominion Government may direct."

D. W. Dumble, Peterboro, opposed the idea embodied in the resolution, and offered in amendment, seconded by Mr. McLagan, Stratford, the resolution passed by the Peterboro Board of Trade, as follows:

"That Canada having expended in the construction of transcontinental railways vast sums of money, these railways being available for military purposes of the Empire, and having in the past done her part in self-defence, and having in the South African war manifested her loyalty by the contribution of men and money, it may be assumed that she can be relied upon by the Mother Country not only to maintain an effective military force at home for self-defence, but that she will make common cause with the Mother Country in time of need; and it is not now necessary, in view of her undeveloped condition, to pledge herself to expenditures for military and naval expenses which might cripple her in her course of development."

Mr. Sanford Evans, Winnipeg, moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Mr. Russell, that the policy of Canada should be to provide for the defence of its own interests, and that immediate provision be made for the consideration by the Government of a system of naval and coast defence.

During the debate on the above motion, Hon. G. W. Ross entered the chamber, and was given a warm ovation, as he accepted a seat on the right of the chairman.

On motion of J. D. Allan, Toronto, seconded by Mr. McFee, Montreal, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to that gentleman, by a standing vote, for the use of the chamber for the deliberations of the conference.

Mr. Ross acknowledged the thoughtful vote in a few happy remarks.

After some further discussion of the question of defence, it was decided to postpone the discussion, and to meet again to-day in order to finish it.

RINGING WORDS.

Captains of Industry Greatly Favored Hon. Mr. Tarte's Strenuous Views of "Canada First."

The banquet tendered the delegates to the conference of boards of trade of the Dominion by the Toronto Board of Trade in the Pavilion in the Allan Gardens last night was a success in the fullest sense. The speeches were all received with enthusiasm.

A few minutes after 9 President Ames arose and proposed the toast of the King, which was honored by the singing of the National Anthem, and cheers, with a tiger.

The President, then in a few happy remarks, reviewed the manner in which the business at the conference was transacted.

Hon Mr. Tarte Speaks

In responding to the toast of Canada and the Empire, Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, was the first speaker. He was greeted with enthusiastic applause. At the outset he said: I hope we have made up our minds to be masters of our destiny. (Cheers.) We are going to have transportation through Canadian channels, in Canadian bottoms, transportation on Canadian railways, on Canadian soil and through Canadian ports and harbors. We must have a Canadian policy on land and sea. (Applause.) No domination by an organization of railways! They shall not invade this country. I congratulate you, gentlemen, on the stand you have taken on that question. You have proved that you are Canadians and represent Canadian sentiment. We will have a fast line, as you have requested, and in such a way as not to be within the reach of Morgan or his associates. (Applause.) The St. Lawrence is being made ready to receive that fast line. And we must have a Canadian line of freights.

We must have also a Canadian tariff. (Cheers.)

I say, the more we know each other the better. In fact, the more the members of the British family meet the better for us all. Speaking in the name of my race, we are proud of being members of the British Empire. Our King will be crowned in a few days, and I would like to see Dewet and Delarey in attendance. If my voice could go far enough, I would like our new fellow-citizens in South Africa to know the kindly sentiment we hold towards them, now, as members of the British Empire. My father was a rebel at one time against the British Crown; I am a British Minister to-day. (Prolonged applause and cheers.) Yes, and a loyal British Minister. (Renewed cheers.) I do not hesitate in saying that great good will come out of the conference to be held in London.

As to the growth of Canada, I state with confidence that the next census will show a population of nearly ten million. (Applause.)

As the honorable gentleman resumed his seat the gathering arose, and, with waving handkerchiefs, cheered him to the echo.

The P.M.G. Followed.

Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General, followed. He said he was delighted with the gratifying spirit of sturdy patriotism shown by the delegates, and the desire manifested by them to promote Imperial and Colonial interests. They could depend upon it the voice of Canada would not fall upon deaf ears at the London conference. It was now felt among the colonies of the Empire that the day of separation would never come. (Applause.) Canadian sons knew no sacrifice too great for the honor and integrity of the British Empire. (Cheers.) Happily the war was over, and it had left the Empire more powerful and more respected among the nations of the earth than at any other time in its history. (Applause.)

He would echo the sentiment of Mr. Tarte, when he said that the Boers had shown themselves a gallant people. We welcome them as brothers into the British family. They had lost their flag, it was true, but they had gained far more than they had lost in the enjoyment of civil and religious liberty. It was gratifying to foul liberty. It was gratifying to see the descendants of those who fought under Wolfe and Montcalm working hand in hand to promote British institutions in Canada. Continuing, the hon. gentleman spoke of the splendid work done by the Canadians in the South African war, and on the steps being taken to establish a steamship service between Canada and Australia, which would be realized in about two months.

Another Union.

Judge Morrison of Newfoundland, who is resigning from the Supreme Court to advocate annexation with Canada, was the next speaker. He hoped the proposal of annexation would be welcomed with the same acclaim as he had been received with. He said the time had come when there should be closer relations between the two countries. He would inform them that there was no sentiment whatever in Newfoundland for annexation with the United States. (Applause.) If united to Canada, that French shore question would be settled by Mr. Tarte within six months. (Applause.) He assured the gathering that with annexation Canada would have practically all the trade with them in a very few years. Proceeding, he reviewed the resources and possibilities of the island.

Other eloquent speakers followed, and then to the toast of "The Resources and Prospects of Canada" Hon. G. W. Ross was enthusiastically received, and made a great speech concluding as follows:

Build Ships Here.

Mr. Ross went on to deal with the importance of our transportation, which, he said, was the greatest means of developing trade. Years ago, Great Britain, in commencing her commercial career, only had the map of Europe before her. Canada was commencing to-day with the map of the world to work upon. (Cheers.) We should build our ships here, and manufacture our resources into the finished product. (Applause) It would be our endeavor to convert the Atlantic into a ferry, and to have our own ferries. Any privileges we considered ourselves entitled to from Britain, in the way of preference in tariff, should be pressed and contended for until they were conceded to. (Applause.) In concluding he remarked that everything pointed to Canada in the near future being a great nation among the countries of the world. (Cheers.)

This concluded the speaking, and the playing of the National Anthem brought the memorable event to a close.

WENT UP IN SMOKE.

Pavilion, in Which Banquet Was Held, Totally Destroyed by Fire.

Caretaker Watson retired from the building after the banquet at two o'clock, the banquetting utensils having been removed by the caretaker. At a quarter past two this morning, Police Sergt. Willis turned in an alarm of fire. The whole brigade responded. The building went up as if it had been a lace curtain. At 10 minutes to 3 the supporting timbers gave way. Valuable plants were destoyed, and the trees planted by the King and Prince Arthur when they visited Canada are said to have been destroyed.

THE THIRD MAN WILL.

Both M. Bourgeois and M. Brisson Declined to Form New Cabinet.

Paris, June 6.—President Loubet asked M. Bourgeois to form a Cabinet to replace that of M. Waldeck-Rousseau, which resigned, but he declined on the ground that his health was not good.

M. Henri Brisson (the ex-Premier who is a Radical Republican in politics) went to the Elysee Palace yesterday as a result of President Loubet's summons, and was asked to form a new Cabinet. He declined.

Later in the day, Senator Combes (Progressive Republican, and ex-Vice-President of the Senate), accepted the task of forming a new Cabinet.

DYSPEPSIA

Is the Most Prevalent and Unpleasant of all Diseases.

Ninety out of Every Hundred People are Suffering With Some Form of Stomach Trouble.

Dyspepsia is generally caused by faults in the food.

Carelessness and indiscretion in eating and drinking; eating too fast or too much, or too little exercise.

In these days of rush and worry, people forget or neglect to pay any attention whatever to their Stomachs.

Hasty meals are gobbled without time for proper mastication, or a thought as to the possible consequences to the digestive organs of such unreasonable and unfair treatment.

But there comes a time when they fail.

There is a limit even to the endurance of these faithful organs.

The symptoms of Dyspepsia appear; Heartburn, Waterbrash, Bloating or Pain in the Chest begin to cause annoyance.

How many invalids can trace the commencement of their physical breakdown to the appearance of these trifling ailments.

It is strange that people will still continue to neglect these early symptoms of Dyspepsia despite the wide-spread knowledge of their fearful results.

In the light of the unfortunate experience of the tens of thousands who are to-day suffering the pains of Chronic Dyspepsia, is it not the part of wisdom to immediately take steps to correct these symptoms when they first appear.

If they are not corrected, they will certainly leave you a victim of Chronic Dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Chronic Dyspepsia, no matter of how long standing.

But is it not easier and better to check the very first symptom of the Disease?

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a specific. They are compounded from the best digestives known to science.

If taken immediately after each meal, they will digest the food, and every particle of it, and thus give the Stomach an opportunity for rest and restoration.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act directly on the organs of digestion. Toning them up and restoring to them their normal health and vigour.

A GOOD CITIZEN GOING.

Mr. W. B. Bamford Promotion Will Necessitate his Removal to Toronto.

Mr. W. B. Bamford, C.P.R. station agent, is to be congratulated and the town is to be condoled with. Mr. Bamford gains distinct promotion, and the town loses a citizen who has been an active force in Peterborough citizenship in many ways for many years.

Mr. Bamford has been appointed Travelling Freight Agent for the C. P. R. with headquarters in Toronto.

This will necessitate Mr. Bamford's removal to that city, and the departure of himself and family will be a loss to the community.

Mr. Bamford came to Peterborough from Elora ten years ago to fill the position of station agent here which he has done to the profit of the company and the credit of himself. In that time he has witnessed a steady yearly and large increase in the freight transactions of his line, indicating a corresponding growth of the commercial and manufacturing operations of the town.

Mr. Bamford is well qualified for the position he has accepted. His appointment without solicitation — a case of the selection of the fittest — is proof of his energy and trustworthiness. He is a life long railronder, having been connected with railway work from the termination of his school boy days. His relations with the business men, manufacturers and freight supplying public in Peterborough have always been and remain of the most cordial character.

Not only has Mr. Bamford, during his ten years residence in the town, shown himself to be a capable and prudent railway official, but as a citizen he has taken so active a part in the duties of citizenship in so many ways that he absence will be felt. It will be felt by the congregation of All Saint's church of which Mr. Bamford has been a Church Warden and is now for the third year representative of that church on the Nicholls Hospital Board. He is also chairman of the Advisory Board of the church. In addition he has been a member of the Town Charity Board and of the School Board for five years. In all these capacities he has given services that will long keep him in the pleasant and grateful memory of those with whom he has been associated. General regret will be felt at Mr. Bamford's removal to Toronto which will take place in about ten days—as soon as his successor, a Toronto gentleman, is installed in Mr. Bamford's late position.

There were present Messrs. J. J. Howden, H. R. H. Kenner, A. W. McPherson, Joe Picard, George Giroux, Geo. Robinson and F. A. Clarke.

The McDonough matter was taken up, and without very much discussion it was moved, seconded and carried, that McDonough be not allowed to play in the City League, until he has been reinstated by the C.L.A.

The Wednesday night game was ordered to played to-night, but it is thought that it will hardly take place.

THE RINK.

A meeting of the shareholders of the New Rink Company will likely be held in the course of a week or two when plans will be decided upon and arrangements made for the advertisement for tenders. Enough stock has now been subscribed to warrant the promoters in going ahead with the work.

RUGBY.

It has been suggested that when the Canadian Rugby Union get the secretaryship in Toronto, that they will proceed to soak the easterners as the easterners soaked the Argonauts last fall. This report, or suggestion, does not however come from people who have the interest of the game at heart. Because the east practically robbed the west of a championship, that is no reason why Toronto should turn round and try to "get even" when it holds the reins of office. Let the east see that we bear them no malice for the raw deal they gave us some few months past. And in the name of all that is good and kind have a proper interpretation of the scrimmage rule. Let us have no more such muddles as occurred in Montreal when a lot of pin-headed officials got together and buncoed a team representing a well known commercial centre in Ontario.—Telegram.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Agnes N. Sweet and Mr. James N. Jackson.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mrs. H. G. Gurney, No. 273 Dublin street, on Tuesday evening, when her youngest sister, Miss Agnes N. Sweet, was united in marriage to Mr. James S. Jackson.

At seven o'clock the groom accompanied by his cousin. Mr. Dolphie Brundage, of Trenton, awaited the bride in the parlour ,under an arch of evergreens and flowers. The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. W. Sweet, of Springbrook, and was attended by Miss Winnie Hawkeson, of town. Little Allan Sharp acted as ring-bearer.

The bride was prettily attired in a gown of white silk, with veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid was becomingly attired in a gown of white organdie.

Rev. Mr. Bastow performed the marriage ceremony, after which about guests sat down to supper. The usual toasts were given and a pleasant evening spent.

The many beautiful presents which the bride received testify to the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will take up their residence at No. 198 Reid street, and will be at home June 13th.

Douro Day, June 19th.

HONEST PACKING OF FRUIT.

Late Legislation Provides Severe Penalties for Dishonest Fruit Packing. Represented by the bad Fruit at the Bottom.

Mr. P J. Carey, Cobourg, Dominion Fruit Inspector under the Fruit Marks Act of 1901,is in town. In view of the near approach of the domestic fruit season, Mr. Carey's visit in connection with explaining the provisions of the Act in it's bearing upon the fruit trade, will be of interest to householders. The chief effect of the Act is to prevent the little apples concealing themselves in the bottom of the barrel, or the dwarf strawberries in the bottom of the box. Hereafter all basket fruits — strawberries, pears, peaches, etc., are subject to inspection, and severe penalties are provided for fraudulent packing of fruit. Section 7 of the Act reads as follows:—

"No person shall sell or offer, expose, or have in his possession for sale any fruit packed in any package which in the faced or shown surface gives a false representation of the contents of such package, and it shall be considered a false representation when more than fifteen per cent. of such fruit is substantially smaller in size than, or inferior in grade to, or different in variety from, the faced or shown surface of such package."

The penalties for each offence is a fine not exceeding $1.00, and not less than 25 cents for each package, with costs. Both packer and seller are liable to these penalties so that householders who happen to buy fruit packed so as to modestly subordinate the smaller or tainted or mouldy specimens to a humble place in the bottom of a package have their remedy. Anybody, farmer or otherwise, delivering dishonestly packed fruit at any house is liable to the same penalty as if he were a large dealer in fruit.

Honesty is the best policy whether in fruit packing or in all the affairs of life. The proverb has something to the effect that one by getting a good name may lie abed all day, but if one gets a bad name he will have to lie all day to square the situation. If local fruit growers get a bad name for dishonest packing of fruit, they will ultimately be the losers, and if Canada's fruit growers, get a bad name for dishonest packages in the Old Country, the trade will be ruined. John Bull will pay a good price for a good article, but he will fight shy of anything like sharp practice.

THEY GOT NOTHING.

Burglars Enter the Butcher Shop of Mr. John Mervin.

Sometime during last night burglars entered the butcher shop of Mr. John Mervin, corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets. An entrance was obtained by removing a pane of glass from the window on Aylmer street and in so doing the thief left blood marks on the window sill, which would indicate that he had been cut by the glass. An unused till was forced open but it contained nothing. The new cash register which stood beside it was also opened but evidently not far enough, as there remained about $3.00 which was in the rear of the drawer and was untouched. The safe in the office was unlocked and it was rifled by the robbers, but nothing was obtained.

GUNNER DICK BOYLE WRITES

And Tells of the Operations Near Klerksdorp.

A Very Interesting Epistle From One of Peterborough's Soldier Boys.

Gunner Dick Boyle has forwarded the following interesting account of the operations against the Boers in the neighborhood of Klerksdorp, to his mother, Mrs. M. Boyle, of town:

The operations against the Boers in the neighborhood of Klerksdorp, which were begun on Sunday night, March 23rd, 1902, were very cleverly conceived and executed. Owing to the enormous area of the country in these regions not divided by blockhouses, the lines of the usual drive were somewhat altered. Two lines, starting from Klerksdorp, were protected, viz., the Vaal River down towards Wolmaranstad, and the blockhouse line to Lichtenburg, the latter running north-west and the former south-west. It was known that the Boers in force were located in the corner formed by these diverging lines near Klerksdorp, and an outpost affair occurred a few days previously a few miles distant. The object of the operations was to form a long line of mounted men, with the left on the Lichtenburg blockhouse line, and its right on the Vaal River, and to work against the line of blockhouses. The columns were, however, encamped in the corner with Boers between them, and the positions they were to occupy, and in order to get into their proper places, on Sunday, at 6 p.m., the various columns marched west in detached order, and by forced marches, reached the centre point about 45 miles west of Klerksdorp, before dawn on Monday. The Boers were, of course, aware of columns moving off, but not of their intention.

Col. Kekewich, camped at Vaalbank, marched in a direction almost due west, Col. Rawlinson, who was camped at Klerksdorp with three columns, under Scott, Briggs, and Dawkins, marched straight through the enemy's lines just south of Hartsbeesfontein, and halted at day break, 39 miles west. General Walter Kitchener, who was commanding Keir, Rowe, and Cookson's columns, also marched west, south of Rawlinson's line of march, to a point 40 miles distant. Basing, who was lying north of the Vaal, moved to a position south of Kitchener, while Richefort formed up to the south of him, with his right on the Vaal.

No columns took any wheeled transport, leaving even the guns in camp. The idea was that at daybreak of the 24th all the columns would halt and drive back the enemy on the Schoonspruit blockhouse line. The task set before the columns was enormous. Hardly a single column would march less than seventy miles, some over 80,, but these were magnificent troops, seasoned, and hardened to marching and fighting. The call made on them was splendidly responded to, and the task was accomplished without a hitch.

It was a brilliant moon, showing a long, black line of columns. Everything went smoothly. There was no smoking, and everybody spoke in low tones. Contact was made with several parties of Boers during the westward march, but care was taken not to unduly alarm the enemy.

The appointed positions having been reached, a halt for a few minutes was made, and the whole force turned right about, and marched back towards the rising sun. Soon after we heard from some prisoners taken by Briggs, that Delarey was outside the line, having slept some distance to the west, but Liebenberg, Kemp, and Potgieter with their big commandoes and a number of guns, were inside. This news had a great effect on the troops, who appeared none the worse for the long march.

At about 10 o'clock Boers, to the number of 500, with wagons, appeared about four miles in front. Immediately the force was brought into double line, expecting the Boers to attempt to gallop through, at the same time getting in touch with the forces on each flank. order was given to advance. The men, in spite of the fatigue, showed delight at the order, and moved forward, but the enemy declined any contest, their only design being, apparently, to make their escape. At one point a party of Boers made an effort to break through our lines. A short space had been left open between Col. Rawlinson's and Col. Kekewick's right, which Dawkins and the Boers perceived at the same time.

Dawkins galloped forward with the 20th and 12th Mounted Infantry, to seize the commanding heights. The men and horses had already done over 50 miles without a halt, but, nevertheless, they galloped on. The ground was very rocky, and whenever a horse gave out the man jumped off and ran as fast as possible. Some, however, were able to gallop right up, winning the race by a short neck, and receiving the Boers with a warm fire, and driving them back.

Briggs, meantime, seeing the Boers move south, pushed on, but night fell before he could get in contact. Walter Kitchener, who was marching over to the left, picked up 88 Boers, who were trying to move round his right.

It is impossible to avoid using superlatives when describing the magnificent endurances displayed. All the men were 26 hours in the saddle. It was a splendid performance, which few soldiers in the world could hope to equal. The prisoners confessed that they never believed such a performance was possible, nor imagined for a moment that the troops who had marched the enormous distance during the night were the same men who chased them during the day.

Several interesting incidents occurred. Five Canadians, who fell out of the column, tried to make their way back, but were surrounded by a Boer force. They kept a splendid defence for some time, but seeing the case hopeless, four surrendered. The other indignantly refused, and continued singlehanded to fight until he killed three men. The 2nd Mounted Infantry also lost a column, which wandered in the veldt. Believing a camp to be ours they entered during the night, and fou. l five Boers round the fire. They took them prisoners. One Boer, however, perceiving the smallness of the party, slipped away to arouse his companions. But before they arrived, the soldiers had escaped. They had entered a Boer laager in mistake. One commando had been disturbed very early, but in their case the early bird gained their reward. The columns had not yet extended out to touch. The one column saw on its right its neighbouring column in proper order, apparently getting into position on its flank, and they pressed onward to be first in at the death. But the column on the right acted strangely, and it transpired that this was a Boer commando making tracks, and as pursuit would have meant a larger loophole, they escaped. In another place a large party was descried passing along the front, and was greeted with a discharge of bullets, whereupon an officer in British uniform, complete in detail, and with the initials K. F. S. on his shoulder, rode up and said that they were a British column, passing along to take up their alloted place in the line, and they passed on. The K. F. S. officer, however, was a Boer, and the column was a commando.

The exact totals of Boer casualties in the operations are 9 killed 4 wounded, 158 prisoners, 3 surrenders. The prisoners have been brought in, and much interest has been excited by their appearance. A batch was brought in, and paraded before the gaol preparatory to taking up their abode therein. Among them was W. Neethling, formerly Special Landdrost of this town, waiting his turn to occupy a cell in the gaol, the construction of which he superintended, and over which he had for years exercised a sort of parental jurisdiction, and in which he had, during the war, placed a number of Britons. He was one of the bench of Boer judges who sentenced several prisoners to death at Wolmaranstad, some sixteen months ago. The irony of fate had hit hard, and he seemed to feel it. Another prisoner was G. P. Pretorius, formerly claim inspector, and his clerk, van der Merwe. Philip Kock, formerly Labour Inspector, and grandson of General Kock, who fell at Elandslaagte, stood in the row, also S. Schoeman, Post Office clerk, J. Knobel, late customs officer, toed the line, side by side with N. Kamfer, late landdrost's clerk. Sergt. Hill, of the police, also waited to test the comfort of the accommodation of the premises he had done so much in the past to populate. P. Marais, a wealthy butcher of the town, also carried his swag, and waited for his turn, and C. Lombard, a prominent merchant, was there pondering over wrecked hopes and dispelled illusions. Thos. Leask, nephew of Delarey, and who occupied a good position in the Boer civil service in Pretoria, also stood to attention, looking somewhat awkwardly into the ranks of their guard of honour, a detachment of brawny kilted Highlanders. And there were many other local celebrities, who evidently did not enjoy their position, and who have at last learned the lesson, which they so badly needed. The Boer civil service staff of this town are now nearly all accounted for, only three still remaining at large.

A Boer prisoner conversing with one of his captors referred to the agility and cleverness with which "Fighting" General Liebenberg's men disappeared, and sententiously observed; "It will cost more sweat than blood to catch him and his men."

There is no doubt that the Boers have been rudely hustled, and disturbed, even though the actual captures have not been as great as in some other recent sweeps, and the result has been to effectually shatter the notion of invulnerability and irresistibility, which many of them had conceived.

About 1,500 Boers are believed to have been in the area, and were under Vermaas, Liebenburg, Kemp and Wolmarans.

Col. Kekwick captured three guns and two pom-poms, 35 prisoners, and about 50 wagons.

General Kitchener captured 84 prisoners, killed three, and took 1,000 cattle, 35 carts, and 20 wagons.

Col. Rawlinson also captured a useful looking bunch of Boers.

Five Boers have surrendered at Brakspruit, and several have come in here.

WOOD FAMINE AT AN END

The wood famine which has prevailed in town recently, came to an end on the receipt of two scows of hardwood, both green and dry, by J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

PRAISED KITCHENER.

Mr. Balfour Asked for the Vote of £50,000 for the General.

PARLIAMENT THANKS THE ARMY

Colonial Troops Are Included in the Vote of Thanks—A Protest From Ireland—Scene Caused by William Redmond—In the House of Lords Lord Salisbury Makes Just References to the Colonies.

London, June 6.—In accordance with King Edward's message to the House of Commons Wednesday, the Government leader, A. J. Balfour, in the House yesterday, asked for a vote of £50,000 ($250,000) to Lord Kitchener. As a remarkable coincidence, Parliament, on June 5, three years ago, voted its thanks and £30,000 ($150,000) to the same general for his services in Egypt.

Mr. Balfour, in supporting the motion, referred to Lord Kitchener's rapid promotion. He said it had been given to few public servants to compass so much work for their country, in so short a time as Lord Kitchener, who, besides being commander-in-chief in South Africa, was commander-in-chief designate of India. He found the army in South Africa in a state of disorganization or dislocation, consequent upon the ill-success which attended the British arms at the early stage of the campaign, and he executed his duty with admirable energy and skill. But it was not till Lord Roberts left that the claims of Lord Kitchener to the gratitude of his countrymen reached their present magnitude.

Lord Kitchener had to meet with unique difficulties. He had erected no fewer than 4,000 miles of blockhouses, and, in the conduct of the campaign, had shown the fertile range of his resources, boundless courage, energy and resolution, and to these qualities Great Britain owed the termination of the war. Few English generals had contended with greater difficulties, and few had emerged from them in a more triumphant and brilliant way.

The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who seconded the motion, paid a warm tribute to Lord Kitchener, as a soldier and statesman.

John Dillon (Irish Nationalist), led the opposition on behalf of the Nationalists. Mr. Dillon said that he and his friends absolutely objected to the vote, because they were opposed to the policy of the war in South Africa, and the conduct of the campaign, which involved wholesale devastation of the country, the burning of farms and the sacrifice of life.

During the course of the debate, William Redmond (Irish Nationalist) caused a scene of great disorder by remarking that Lord Kitchener would go down to history as a general who had "made war on women and children."

This remark called forth loud cries of "withdrawal," and appeals to the chairman to call Mr. Redmond to order. The chairman said that the expression used was not disorderly, but a majority of the House refused to listen any further to Mr. Redmond, and interrupted him with all kinds of shouts.

Mr. Redmond said that he desired to repeat that Lord Kitchener was responsible for the death of 15,000 children, and that he had warred on women and children. That was his absolute conviction and he refused to withdraw the words. The country was living in an atmosphere of hypocrisy. When a man spoke the truth he was gagged.

During the course of his speech Mr. Redmond indulged in considerable violence of language, and at times his remarks were almost inaudible owing to the uproar caused by the cheers of the Irish Nationalists and the protests of the members of other parties.

After a quarter of an hour spent by Mr. Redmond in a fruitless endeavor to obtain a hearing, the closure was moved and adopted by 273 to 138 votes, and the grant to Lord Kitchenerwas carried by 380 to 44 votes. Tht minority consisted of Irish Nationalists and two or three Radicals.

Mr. Balfour rose to move a vote of thanks to the officers and men of the army of South Africa. He said there was no exact parallel for the motion. Never before had Great Britain sent so vast an army beyond the seas, never before had she fought such a great campaign without allies and she had never been so aided by her volunteer and colonial troops, whose valor and humanity he praised.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman seconded the motion. He said he hoped there would not be a jarring note in the parliamentary appreciation of the services of those who upheld the valor of the British army in South Africa.

Mr. Balfour's motion, which included an expression of condolence with the bereaved, was adopted by 382 to 42 votes.

The Prince of Wales and many peeresses were present in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon, when Lord Salisbury moved a vote of thanks to the officers and men of the Imperial forces in South Africa. The motion specially mentioned the colonial premiers, and paid a tribute to the splendid qualities of the colonial troops, who, he said, contended, under no ordinary difficulties, against an enemy, which had accumulated vast stores of munitions of war, and had the advantage of fighting in a peculiar country, with which they were thoroughly familiar.

The Premier also said he thought the House had never before thanked, nor had such good cause to thank the colonial troops for their assistance. Not long ago the people in Europe thought that the time of the downfall of the British Empire had arrived, but the colonial troops came brilliantly to Great Britain's assistance and the more Great Britain's difficulties increased, the more Colonial loyalty had manifested itself in aiding the Empire to defy the hostilities and bitterness of all its opponents. Great Britain had the assistance of a force which a few years ago was not dreamed of, and that was the subject of exultation in England.

It was shown that when the country was denuded of troops, her naval supremacy was sufficient to protect her, and Great Britain was never safer than during that period of the war.

Earl Spencer, the Liberal leader in the House of Lords, added his tribute to the British forces in South Africa, and Lord Salisbury's motion for a vote of thanks to the officers and men of the Imperial forces in South Africa was carried unanimously.

STOCK MARKETS.

Tenacious Holding of Securities.

New York, June 4th, 1902.—Probably never in the history of Wall street have the people who hold the stocks been so unwilling to part with them, feeling that as long as the roads were making such marvellous showings that it would be foolish to sell any of the holdings. Increases week after week bring this sentiment out among stock holders. No use of selling your interest in property that makes one steady tale of money making. The drift of stocks has for a long time been towards concentration. Probably they are closer held to-day than for any time in several years. They are held by people who are able to take care of them, no matter what might happen. The safest market to buy into is one where the stocks are held by the few rich men of Wall street. Stability of prices is always the sequel of such a state of affairs. These men do not hold stocks in quantities unless the outlook for the future warrants their doing so, and their facilities for forecasting the future are of the very best, inasmuch as they are in complete touch with the conditions throughout the country, and being closely connected with the railroad business, are able to gather authentic data, and consequently make correct diagnosis of the situation and accurately gauge the future. To follow such people is usually judicious to follow them now, would be to take on some stocks. It is a tedious period at present in the market, carrying stocks when the daily fluctuations are as narrow as at present. Activity is bound to follow dullness. However, the fact that stocks are more active when moving up and when become dull when selling off is the strongest kind of a fact when figuring which side of the market to espouse. We are confident that the present market quietness will be followed by bullish activity. We find that many people are waiting for a lower range of prices, hoping to buy somewhat cheaper and when this class come into the market they will do so with a rush, and the belated always have to pay higher than they would had they not waited. Earnings are the lever that cause values to be regulated. The steady increases reported upon top notch figures are bound to ultimately sway the market. Their influence at present is in the direction of higher prices.

Hazelton, Pa., June 4th.—About 300 men from Philadelphia reached here on a special train to-day. They will be put to work around the mines.

Shamokin, Pa., June 4th.—Several more bosses in the local region quit work to-day owing to being importuned by by strikers who are doing their best to persuade the company's hands to stay away from their work.

Liverpool, June 4th.—Cotton opening futures opened quiet and steady at one point decline to one point higher, and at 12.30 p.m. were quiet and steady, at one point decline to 32 points advance from opening.

New York, June 4th. — A dull and steady opening in the stock market to-day is in order. There is practically no change in the strike situation, except that the reports favour the operators because they continue to keep the important mines from flooding. Frosts have damaged the corn crop to some extent. The Government report announces good conditions in spring wheat. Money is easy, with no immediate prospect of tight rates. Brt. and Manh. are purchases. Conservative purchases of Can. Pac., C.F.I., U.P., U.S.S., A.C.P., Atch., and A.L.C. will show profits, and especially if bought on reactions. London market for American securities was heavy.

New York, June 4th.—Strike news is less favourable to-day. Government crop report indicates that warm weather is needed for crops. Philadelphia insiders are bullish on Met. J. W. Gates sails for Europe. Big improvement planned for South Pac. Stocks plentiful in loan crowd. Talk of lifting British Consuls here. Foreign element almost entirely out of market. Money rates harder in London. H.V. dividend to-day.

The Strength of the Bond Market.

New York, June 5th, 1902.—Despite the dullness of share market, the bond market was active, transactions crossing $3,500,000 with firm prices and offerings light. The demand for bonds presages an active and higher market. Were the next market move to be in a downward direction, bonds would be drooping, supply heavy and bidding light. There is evidently plenty of investment money in sight. The more inactive preferred stocks of various companies, such as U.P., etc., are all exceedingly firm, and demand steady. The prices of the extreme gilt edged stocks are up to the high figures, and it is almost impossible to purchase any line without materially advancing quotations. Tuesday even Met. advanced about 3 per cent. upon dealings of less than 4,000 shares. No stronger illustration of the point could be offered. A strong bond market is always the forerunner of a higher stock market. Earnings continue enormous, causing a tenacious hanging on to stock holdings by the people who have them. Look at the B.Q. earnings for April. This corn road shows for that period an increase of 3 per cent. in earnings, upon an increase in mileage of 5 per cent. A few years ago a bad crop would have cut deeply into the income of that company. It illustrates the income of that company. It illustrates the remarkable change that has come over the American railroad world by the more diversified character of its tonnage. tchison equally exemplifies this fact.

Penn. shows an increase for April on its eastern lines alone amounting to almost one million dollars. The foundation upon which values rest at present is more certain than is usual at this time of the year. The dull, but strong market promises well for the future. The changes are nine out of ten that a break in the present market quietness will be through a movement in the upward direction. The probabilities for an active summer are most excellent.

New York, June 5th, 1902.—Market will be feverish as the professional traders are still bearish and predict lower prices. Selling of Sug. indicates liquidation by insiders. Coal strike is more unsatisfactory. North-west meeting today. Standard stocks are a purchase on declines. Atch. pfd. and Kt. pfd. are purchasers.

New York, June 5th.—The stock market will probably open heavy and irregular this morning, on account of unfavourable news from the strike in Pennsylvanea. The mines seem to be flooding, despite the assurances of the operators that the quitting of the pumpers had not crippled them. A continuance of the policy of conservatism we have been urging is in order. Be satisfied with moderate profits on stocks bought on reactions.

Not an Infectious Disease.

Toronto, June 6.—Dr. Roswell Park, one of the physicians who attended President McKinley when he was shot down by the assassin Czolgosz, gave the Ontario Medical Association the benefit of an exceedingly clear paper on the gall bladder. Another welcome visitor was Dr. Knopps of New York, one of the most eminent authorities on the subject of tuberculosis, who gave an address. Dr. Knopps said that phthisis was spread by the sputum, and it was not an acute infectious disease.

The election of officers for the year resulted as follows: President, Dr. J. C. Mitchell, Enniskillen; first vice-president, Dr. George A. Bingham, Toronto; second vice-president, Dr. G. W. Anglin, Kingston, third vice-president, Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, Alliston; fourth vice-president, Dr. J. D. Meikle, Mount Forest; general secretary, Dr. Harold C. Parsons, Toronto.

Britain's War Losses.

London, June 6.—An official statement issued by the War Office last evening shows that the reduction of the British forces in South Africa up to May 30 of the present year was 97,477.

This includes killed, wounded, prisoners, deaths from disease and men invalided home.

Of these many have recovered and rejoined their regiments, leaving 28,434 dead or permanently incapacitated.

The total number of troops killed in action or who died of wounds is 7,792, while the total number of deaths from disease is 13,250.

Another Canadian Dead.

Ottawa, June 6.—A cable from South Africa says Charles Murphy of Edmonton and Edgar Banfield of Halifax are dangerously ill. Percy Devereux of British Columbia died of wounds.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Fire Near Winchester.

Winchester, June 4.—All the valuable outbuildings, including barn, stables and shed, belonging to William Mulloy, who lives about one and a half miles west of here, were destroyed by fire about 4 yesterday afternoon. The barn was struck by lightning. Mulloy was in the barn at the time and escaped injury.

On His Way to Crown the King.

Toronto, June 4.—Hon. Fred Haultain, Premier of the Northwest Territories, is in town on his way to the coronation. In the late elections in the Territories, 35 out of the 45 members returned supporters of his Government.

Dampness Causes Piles.

Teamsters, drivers, farmers and all persons who are much exposed to dampness and sudden changes in temperature, are especially liable to suffer from piles, than which there is scarcely a disease which brings with it more acute misery.

Mr. John Tuttle, expressman, 107 Stewart street, Kingston, Ont, states; "Like most men who do much driving, sitting a great deal, and often exposed to dampness, I have been a great sufferer from piles. As a matter of fact I had piles for a number of years and tried nearly everything I could hear of in a vain effort to get cured, but only succeeded when I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. The first application of this grand preparation brought me relief from the dreadful itching, burning sensations, and less than two boxes made a perfect and permanent cure. I am grateful for the freedom from suffering, and desire others to benefit by my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment."

You hear of all sorts of treatments being tried in vain as a cure for piles, but never heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment failing. So certain is this preparation to bring prompt relief and lasting cure that it has come to be considered the only positive and actual cure for this dreadful ailment. 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 3

An Undermined Railway Culvert Near Calgary Causes Three Men to Lose Their Lives.

Calgary, N.W.T., June 5.—A serious accident occurred on the C.P.R., five miles east of here, at half-past 6 o'clock yesterday morning. Owing to the recent heavy rains, a culvert had become undermined, and Chris. Doria, with a freight train, dashed into the culvert, which gave way, precipitating the train into the water along the track.

Brakeman James Dunn and Car Inspector J. Corsey were thrown under the engine, and pinned there in eight feet of water. The train was telescoped and six freight cars piled on top of the engine.

The wrecking crews from east and west went at work, removing the debris, and traffic was resumed before midnight and the bodies of the unfortunate men recovered.

Passenger train No. 1 was fortunately late or much more frightful loss of life would have occurred.

Brakeman Carson had his foot crushed by the drawbars while coupling cars last night at Laggan. He was standing on one car and holding a link with his foot, when the cars came suddenly together, catching his foot. He was brought to Calgary, and his foot, which was terribly mangled, will have to be amputated.

Murder and Suicide.

Buffalo, June 5.—August Wolf yesterday shot Mrs. Sophia McGivney, and then ended his own life. The murder and suicide were committed at noon in Mrs. McGivney's cottage. The murdered woman leaves her husband, who is in California, and a 10-year-old son. Wolf leaves a wife and a number of children. He had been paying some attention to Mrs. McGivney, and yesterday, when she gave him to understand that she would have nothing to do with him, he sent a bullet crashing through her brain and then shot himself. The woman's husband came to Buffalo from Canada.

Knocked Down With a Cue.

Windsor, June 5.—Angus McLeod and William Dalton became involved in a dispute in a local billiard room yesterday. Dalton approached McLeod, when the latter hit him over the head with a billiard cue, felling him to the floor, and rendering him unconscious. McLeod was arrested, and Dalton was removed to the General Hospital. He may not recover.

The Fernie Mine Disaster.

Toronto, June 5.—Up to noon yesterday 117 bodies had been recovered from No. 2 and No. 3 mines at Fernie, B.C., the scene of the recent terrible explosion. Nine bodies yet remain in the mines. G. G. S. Lindsay, K.C., has gone to attend the adjourned inquest of the company, which is to be resumed on the 9th inst.

Killed by a Cave-in.

St. Catharines, June 5.—Thomas Cashin, an employe of the Waterworks Department, was almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon by a cave-in of a trench he was digging. Another man named Overholt was injured, but will recover.

Eight Miners Burned to Death.

Medical Men Meet.

Toronto, June 5.—The 22nd annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association commenced in the theatre of the Normal School yesterday morning, and will continue to-day. Dr. N. A. Powell, Toronto, president of the association delivered a fitting address. The association's business consisted almost wholly of papers of a technical nature, followed by general discussions.

Bullet in His Scalp.

Toronto, June 5.—James Size of Unionville was taken to the General Hospital yesterday suffering from a bullet wound in his scalp. An operation was performed, and the bullet was successfully removed. Mr. Size claims that while handling a revolver at his home, it accidentally exploded, inflicting the wound. He is 82 years old.

The Cause of Consumption.

New York, June 5.—Dr. Barwick of Toronto was elected third vice-president of the Tuberculosis Congress here to-day. Dr. Bryce was made treasurer. A resolution was passed, declaring that tuberculosis was ordinarily communicated by the dried sputum of a consumptive.

Off For the Coronation.

Toronto, June 5.—The Queen's Own Bugle Band left last night for Point Levis, Que., en route for the coronation. The band was made up of Bugle-Major Swift, four non-commissioned officers and 45 men. The band will sail by the steamer Parisian Saturday morning.

Great Crop of Fruit.

Toronto, June 5.—Reports to leading wholesale fruit commission-houses here indicate a plentiful crop of all fruits. The strawberry crop, especially, will be large, and already some fine sample have reached Toronto from across the lake. This berry is not a luxury, as some of the fruit commission men observe, but is within the reach of all, which is a gratifying circumstance.

The Mine Strike Situation.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 5.—More engineers, firemen, and pump runners obeyed the call of the Miners' Union and struck yesterday, but, in most instances, the coal companies were able to fill their places. The Susquehanna Coal Company's Colliery No. 5, at Nanticoke, was the worst sufferer, all the firemen refusing to go to work, which compelled the company to shut down the engines. This colliery furnishes the power for the water supply of Nanticoke, and, unless the engines are again started, the borough will have a water famine to contend with.

The company will allow its mines to fill with water, and let the borough get its water supply as best it can.

The first two bylaws were carried by majorities of 5 and 14 respectively, and the last was defeated because of an insufficient vote.

A MONUMENTAL FEMALE SWINDLER

A Long Career of Successful and Gigantic Crookedness

VICTIMS ROBBED OF MILLIONS

When a Woman's Good, She's Very, Very Good—But When She's Bad, She's Horrid—Brilliantly Bad Career of a Peasant Born French Woman.

A news item in the papers a few days ago to the effect that the detectives were on the look out for a certain Frederick and Mme. Humbert, who are fugitives from France, after swindling all and sundry out of millions of dollars gave the reader only an inkling of what is perhaps the most monstrous case of fraud perpetrated in this generation. The beginning of the deception was a story told by Mme. Humbert of nursing a rich American upon his dying bed, who had left her a large fortune of twenty million dollars. Before she could administer the estate, however, another will was produced on behalf of two brothers, said to be nephews of the deceased, and named Crawford. Both wills were dated the same day, but the second will left the fortune to a young sister of Mme. Humbert, Mlle. Marie D'Aurignac, on condition that she married one of the brothers Crawford. Mr. Parmentin, well-known in Havre, was lawyer for the mythical Crawfords, and the case was tried in several of the courts, now one side gaining and then the other. All the while, by the supposed written consent of the younger Crawfords, the fortune of the elder Crawford was supposed to be locksd up in a sealed safe, under the charge of Mme. Humbert and not to be opened until the will case should be finally decided. Nobody ever saw the Crawfords, but the story does not appear to have been doubted until a few weeks ago, and include an amazing array of names. Of the people who lent money on the supposed securities in the safe there is found the name of M. Lefevre, of Valenciennes, with $840,000, Marquis de Cazeaux, with $290,000; Messrs. Oppenheimer, of Paris, with $335,000; and other amounts from stock brokers, bankers, and other supposedly shrewd people, to the amount of many millions. The Societe Generale Credit Industriel, the Credit Foncier, and even the Bank of France, also advanced large sums to the Humberts, but it is believed on security which precludes loss. Since the bubble was blown the offices of Rente Viagere an insurance company in the Rue Aubert, founded by Mme. Humbert, and her relatives has been the scene of painful incidents.

Of this concern, M. Roman d'Aurignac, brother of Mme. Humbert, was manager, and he by some scheme or other, got the Roman Catholic paper La Croix, to print a series of laudatory articles about the company. The result was that thousands of priests insured their lives or took shares in it. A specialty was made of small policy holders, and the company also borrowed money from investors at 3 1-2 per cent., payable monthly. By these means they got thousands of small tradesmen and others on their books as creditors, in sums ranging from twenty-five to five hundred dollars. It is estimated that out of at least $3,000,000 by this company. The whole story suggests reminiscences of the insurance concern founded by Montague Tigg as described in 'Martin Chuzzlewit.' Indeed, the melodrama pales before this true story, one side of which is the number of people who have committed suicide through Mme. Humbert. Among them were M. Paul Bernhard, a Paris banker, who advanced her $600,000 and despairing of getting his money back, shot himself some time ago. There was also M. Schotmann, Lille, who advanced the Humberts $1,400,000, and was found shortly afterwards assassinated in a railway carriage. Numerous other bankers have either committed suicide, gone bankrupt or are in prison through their dealings with the Humberts.

It is said that these remarkable people will soon land on this side of the Atlantic, perhaps at Montreal, with some $150,000 in their possession and a magnificent necklace of diamonds, of extreme size and lustre the latter the result of Madame's latest coup. When they are taken back for trial the sensational developments are expected further to amaze the world, as they were on friendly terms with many distinguished people, including the most famous names of France. The French papers are naturally full of the matter and many theories are propounded as to Mme. Humbert's influence, including hypnotism and the 'evil eye.' Anyhow, for the boasting twentieth century. Therese D'Aurignac, now Madame Humbert, was a Toulouse peasant, who after her invention of the rich American, changed her name to D'Abrigmc. She married a son of M. Humbert, the great jurist and sometime French Minister of Justice, while the younger Humbert has been representative of the department of Seine-et-Oise in the Chamber of Deputies. No one doubts but that M. Humbert was at first deceived by his wife, but he must have had the veil pulled from his eyes in the course of twenty years, for that is the astonishing length of time the swindle lasted. As for the safe that was supposed to contain the fortune of $20,000,000, when it was broken open about a fortnight ago all that was found in it was a thousand dollars worth of bonds, a copper coin, an empty jewel case, and a brass button. It was M. Waldeck-Rousseau, who, acting for a client, discovered that no one but Madame Humbert had ever seen the three Crawfords, and that there was no trace of their existence in America. On the strength of this evidence he obtained a preemptory order to have the safe deposit box opened, and when the Humberts found that this could not be prevented, they fled. A dozen times before creditors had obtained orders from the court for the opening of this box, but the Humberts by borrowing afresh had prevented exposure by paying off such dangerous claims.

IT IS A STRANGE STORY

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

The Report of the Special Committee at the Board of Education.

The following is a copy of the report of the Special Committee of the Peterborough Board of Education, that was appointed to enquire into the advisability of introducing the study of Domestic Science and Manual Training into the Public Schools of the Town of Peterborough;—

Gentlemen,—Your Committee appointed by the Board to investigate and enquire into the subjects of Manual Training and Domestic Science, with a view of introducing the same into our schools here, beg leave to report that they visited Toronto, Hamilton and Stratford. While in Toronto, through the kindness of Mr. Wilkinson, secretary of the Public School Board, and Mr. J. L. Hughes, Inspector of Public Schools, your Committee were shown through several schools where manual training was taught. These gentlemen spared no pains to give us every information regarding these schools and the benefit derived therefrom. The boys from the higher classes are given one-half day a week at this subject. The boys seemed to be particularly interested in the work.

Your Committee also visited the Technical School and the Lillian Massey School of Domestic Science. The Superintendent, Miss Norris, took particular pains to explain the working of this school, in all its details. She had two classes working at their different subjects.

At the Central Normal School of Domestic Science, at Hamilton, through the kindness of Mrs. Hoodless, we were entertained at a luncheon prepared by the pupils of the school (a copy of the menu with the cost of each article is attached hereto). Through the kindness of Miss Watson, superintendent of the School, we were present and heard two Public School classes taught their afternoon lesson, the one in cooking and the other in baking.

In Stratford, which is a town similar to that of Peterborough, they have erected a separate building for the purpose of teaching Domestic Science and Manual Training. This building is a two storey brick, 32x52, but should really be 40x60. The Manual Training is taught on the first floor, and the Domestic Science on the second floor. The building is situated just behind the Collegiate Institute building, and cost, complete, $4,500. The cost for equipment for Manual Training was about $400 outside of lathes, and for Domestic Science, first year, was $1,300.

The Instructor in Manual Training is paid $700 a year, and the teacher of Domestic Science $500, and the annual cost for carrying on the work including supplies, heating, caretaking, etc., is $1,800. From this amount the Government grant of $1,000 can be deducted, leaving the annual cost of the school $800. Of this amount, the Public School pays 6-10, the Collegiate Institute 3-10, and the Separate School 1-10. The Government grant last year, being their first year, was $1,800.

There are six classes from the Fourth book of the Public Schools, three classes from the lower forms of the Collegiate Institute, and one class from the Separate schools, giving one lesson of two hours each week, in all about 300 pupils attending.

The school is under the management of a Committee of the different Boards. Your Committee were greatly pleased and impressed by the interest taken by the pupils in their work, and your Committee is of the impression that these subjects should be introduced into our schools at once. We were informed by Mr. Mayberry, the principal of the Collegiate Institute, that the pupils who took the lowest positions in their classes in the general subjects, as a rule, or in the majority of cases, stood first in Domestic Science or Manual Training.

When the boys of a class are taking the lesson in Manual Training, the girls of the same class are taking Domestic Science.

Mr. A. H. Leake, of Ottawa, director of the Macdonald Manual Training Schools, accompanied us on our trip, and gave us a great deal of useful information, and the Committee are certainly indebted to Mr. Leake for his trouble.

After what we have seen, and the information received, your Committee are of the opinion that the Board should take action immediately, and we would therefore recommend that a Committee be appointed to see if suitable rooms could be procured.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Medical Science Advances.

It is not more than half a century ago that physicians considered a surgical operation with its risk, expense and pain as the only cure for piles. To-day it is only the out of date doctors that think of such treatment. It is cruel and extravagant to operate for a disease which is far more certainly cured by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment. You may be skeptical, but for proof you are referred to tens of thousands of cases that have been cured by this famous preparation.

MILLBROOK WEDDING.

Miss Lillian Orr Marries R. H. Newton of Minden.

(Millbrook Reporter.)

The lovely month of June is no sooner ushered in than Cupid's darts begin to take effect. On Tuesday, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. R. W. Clarke, Miss Lillian Orr was united in marriage to Mr. Richard E. Newton, of Minden, a former resident of Millbrook, now head miller in a large concern at Minden. Rev. H. B. Kenny tied the nuptial knot at ten o'clock in the forenoon, only the immediate friends of the contracting parties being present. The Bridesmaid was Miss Ethel Ferguson, and the groom was supported by Mr. Ed. Eakins. The happy couple left on the noon train for Shelburne and other points, intending to take a month's holidays for their honeymoon. The bride was the recipient of many lovely presents from her friends, who while they rejoice with her upon her happy marriage are very sorry to have one so kindly helpful and useful in church and Sunday school work leave their ranks. The choir and Sunday school both gave her beautiful token of their esteem. May their lives be long, happy and serviceable is the wish of their friends here.

A MAY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Mary E. Bate and Mr. Wm. H. Tedford, on May 28th.

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized at 5 o'clock, May 29th, at the residence of Mr. John Bate, Fenelon Township, when his third daughter, Miss Mary E., was united in marriage to Mr. William H. Tedford, the second son of Mr. Robert Tedford, of Harvey.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McMillan of Lindsay, under an arch of evergreens and lilacs, this being the predominating decoration of the house. The bride entered the parlour on the arm of her brother, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Minnie Doube, of Cameron, and was beautifully attired in cream cloth, with trimmings of cream satin and pearl trimming, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried an exquisite bouquet of white roses and lilies. Miss Violet Martin, of Cameron, and Miss Jennie Tedford, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids. They were attired in white organdie and all-over lace, and ribbon trimmings, and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Robert A. Tedford.

After the ceremony, the guests to the number of over 100, sat down to an excellent wedding dejeuner, prepared with the greatest taste.

The presents consisted of a very large number of useful and costly articles. After the supper the evening was spent in social amusements.

Mr. and Mrs. Tedford will take up their residence in Harvey. Their many friends will wish them a very happy and prosperous journey through life.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh was in Toronto on business on Tuesday.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and on motion confirmed.

Mr. R. Curry, was on motion, engaged to sprinkle the main streets at $2.00 per day from now until Oct. 10.

The subject of granolithic walks and crosaings was discussed.

Messrs. Robertson and Cuffe were appointed to find out the best mode of building crossings, and to have one built on Peterborough street from Mr. F. Anderson's shop to the Williams Block.

After consideration of funds available it was decided to engage the Asphodel grader and grade King, Queen and Spring streets as soon as possible, and gravel the same if funds were sufficient, the $50.00 proportioned by the County Council to be expended in this way.

Mr. Ackerman was appointed to look after the cutting of the weeds on the streets. The work of cutting them to be done by Mr. Jas. Jotcham, and to see that all owners of vacant lots be notified to keep the same free of noxious weeds.

The 57th Regimental Church Parade To-morrow.

Promotions—Dragoons Annual Camp—The 14th Field Battery.

The 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, will have a church parade at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to St. John's church, when Rev. J. C. Davidson, the Chaplin of the Regiment, will address them. As this is the first church parade of the season, it is desirable that there should be a good turn out of all ranks. Speaking of church parades, there are many who would like to see a drum-head service some time this summer at one of the town parks. Inverlea Park would be an ideal spot for an out door drum-head service.

The 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons will go into camp at Kingston, on June 24th, under command of Lieut.-Col. David Sutton, Millbrook. The Dragoons will be greatly increased in their strength this year, as the new establishment has been compiled with, but owing to various circumstances there will be a number of officers who will not be with the Regiment during this camp. Amongst these are Major Brown, Capt. Rogers, olborne, Lieut. Haywood, Lieut. Shaw, and Lieut. Price, all of whom are in South Africa. Then there is Vet.-Lieut. Poole, who is holidaying in England. Besides these there is Sgt.-Major Goldie, and a number of non-coms., who are either in South Africa, or are at the Coronation.

The latest Militia General Orders make mention of several changes of local interest. In the Dragoons, Major W. W. Brown and Lieut. Percy Price resign their Commission to enlist in South Africa. Of course, this is ancient history to local military men, but it has just now come out in the orders. Lieut. Shaw, of the same Regiment, is seconded for service in South Africa. Two new commissions have been granted in the 57th, the new officers being Lieut. Dick Watt and Lieut. Langford, the latter a son of Major Langford, who can boast of a long and enviable record with the Rangers.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says ; — "We are pleased to notice by Militia General orders that the headquarters of the 14th Field Battery hav been transferred to Cobourg, and must congratulate the town and the Commanding Officer upon its consumation. This Battery some years since stood with the best in the Dominion, but owing to the fact that many of the other Batteries were provided with new and improved guns and equipment, and this Battery was still equipped with nine pounder muzzle loading guns and hammers, which on account of age (nearly forty years) had become rotten, and were not fit for service. We also noticed the date of manufacture of some of the ammunition waggons was 1854. Very many of the good men of the corps became disgusted and retired, so that for some years past the late Commanding Officer had to contend against great odds. We are pleased to known that all this has been changed. The old guns and equipment have been returned to stores, and there will shortly be issed the latest and most improved pattern of 12 pounder quick-firing B. L. guns, and quick release hammers. Many of the men of the Battery are from Peterborough and neighborhood, and from Clarke, Manvers, Hope and South Monaghan. The officers, N.C. officers, and men, have expressed their satisfaction with the change of headquarters. During the approaching fall new and commodious quarters will be provided for the Battery in the new armoury and gun shed, the plans for which are being prepared by the Chief Engineer of the Militia Department. The personnel and material of the new battery will consist of six officers, 95 non-com. officers and men, 50 horses, six guns and limbers, three ammunition waggons and limbers; one forge waggon and limber and one store waggon. There will be an excellent opportunity for some of our active young farmers, who have good horses, to join the Battery, the pay for a man and team being $32.50, including rations and forage, for twelve days in camp. Cobourg has now become quite a militia centre, being headquarters of 14th Field Battery, strength 101; Cobourg Company Garrison Artillery, strength 100, and 40th Regiment, strength 367."

The Boys' Brigade Piccolo Band, of Cobourg, have received an invitation to play in Lindsay at the big Orangemen's demonstration there, on July 12th. They have started to practice for that occasion. They may also play in Belleville on Coronation Day. The members of the band are thus to be congratulated on the progress they have made. They are without doubt the best band of their age in Canada.

The promotion that has just been made, Capt. W. D. Johnston, of the Dragoons, to that of Major of his Regiment, is a most popular one. There is no more capable officer in the Dragoons than Major Johnston. He has been in command of "C" Squadron ever since the promotion of Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers to the colonelcy of the Regiment, about eight years ago. During the past two camps Capt. Johnston has acted as adjutant, in a highly satisfactory manner. Some years ago he acted for a period as Captain of the R. C. D.'s at Toronto.

The parade to-morrow is a garrison affair. The Veterans, the 3rd Dragoons, the 14th Field Battery and the Cadet Corp are invited.

The offertory at the Military Thanksgiving service at St. John's church tomorrow afternoon will be devoted to the purpose of augmenting the fund for the purchase of new colours for the 57th Regiment.

MEETING THE ENEMY.

Big Ship Combine to Checkmate Morgan's is Organizing.

SIR ALFRED L. JONES AT THE HEAD

The Elder-Dempster Company and Its Allies—Its Head, Sir Alfred Jones, a Man of Marked Ability—Comparative Number and Tonnage of the Ships in the Two Big Trusts.

New York, June 7.—The Herald says: That Great Britain does not contemplate any surrender of her maritime pre-eminence to American shipping enterprise is made clear in cables received yesterday from London. These point to a combination of British shipping interests, which, if effected, will exceed the consolidation recently brought about by J. Pierpont Morgan.

The position of the Cunard Line, the London despatches assert, still remains undertermined, and local agents of that company yesterday continued to profess ignorance of what the home office is doing during these days of steamship merging. But there is a well defined impression among those acquainted with the inside workings of steamship companies that the Cunard Company will not only ally itself with the projected combination, but is likely to form, with the Elder-Dempster Line, the basis of the new combination.

Including, then, the Cunard Line, the new ocean steamship trust will be able to show 208 vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 1,014,490, as against the Morgan combination of 118 steamships, with 881,562 tons. The two great German lines, with their 376 vessels and 1,224,178 tons, have as yet remained free from alliances with either of the Anglo-Saxon rivals, although both have a working agreement with the American combination.

From the best obtainable sources it is believed that the Elder-Dempster Company, with its vast fleet of 110 vessels—as numerous, almost as the vessels of the five lines united in the American combination, will form the nucleus of the projected British syndicate, which persistent and now well-credited reports assert is being planned to maintain England's mercantile sea power, and to oppose, as best it can, the disconcerting invasion of American energy, enterprise and capital.

With an aggregate tonnage of 495,000, the Elder-Dempster Company is said to have obtained as allies the Union Castle Line, with its fleet of 45 vessels; the Allan Line, with its 30 ships, and the Cunard, with its 18 vessels, this last including such pretentious steamships as the Lucania and the Campania.

If it be true, as is now alleged, that Sir Alfred L. Jones is to be selected as the head of the new syndicate, the J. Pierpont Morgan must needs look close to the efficient management of his own syndicate, lest the British combination wrest from it the greater share of profit.

Sir Alfred was but recently knighted for his marked ability, and is reported to be as enterprising and aggressive as is Mr. Morgan. He is now the head of the great Elder-Dempster Company, a line which carries the British flag to more quarters of the globe than any two others which sail under the Cross of St. George.

This company owns or controls the following lines : The Imperial Direct West Indian Mail Service, between London and the British West Indies; the Beaver Line, between Montreal and Liverpool; the Campagnie Belge Maritime du Congo, to the Congo Coast of Africa; the Ocean Transport Company, between Quebec and London; the African Steamship Company, between Liverpool and Maderia, Grand Canary and the west and southwest coasts of Africa; the British and African Steam Navigation Company, between Liverpool and African ports, and the Elder-Dempster Shipping Company, Limited.

The tonnage of the various lines is as follows :

American Combination.	Ships.	Tonnage.
Leyland	46	293,015
White Star	26	250,000
Am. and Red Star	26	186,000
Dominion	8	73,749
Atlantic Transport	12	78,798
Totals	118	881,562
German Lines.	Ships.	Tonnage.
Hamburg-Amer'an	256	668,000
N. German-Lloyd	120	556,178
Totals	376	1,224,178
English Combination.	Ships.	Tonnage.
Allan	30	140 [illegible]
Union-Castle	45	252,2[illegible]
Cunard	18	125,[illegible]
Elder-Dempster	110	495,000
Totals	203	1,014,490

It was pointed out here yesterday that, while it is probable that the British Government will be disposed to lend a strong hand to the new combination in the way of subsidies and concessions, it will still have a hard fight against its powerful American opponent. Mr. Morgan's control of railway lines being a factor that cannot fail to work as disadvantageously to the one as it will work advantageously to the other.

Americans Against It.

London, June 7.—The statements which have recently appeared in the English Press, and which foreshadow the formation of an all-British shipping combination seem to be open to grave doubts.

Judging from careful inquiries made by the Associated Press in the most influential quarters of London almost all of what has so far been printed is not only premature, but inspired, and its purpose is to work toward the realization of the shipping project, which is almost as visionary to-day as it was a year ago.

SOCIAL POSITION

Makes no Difference. Women are All Alike. No Matter What Their Station in Life May Be. All Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If she is one of the favored daughters of wealth,—if she belongs even to the realm of the "well-to-do,"—or—if she belongs to the unnumbered thousands who must work in order to live—the story is just the same; all suffer from about the same cause, and in this suffering "peculiar to women," all reach the same level, and all are of the same family.

When a woman is nervous and irritable, head and back ache, feels tired all the time, loses sleep and appetite, has pains in groins, bearing down sensation, whites and irregularities, she is not "worn out," but feels as if she were.

Such symptoms tell her that a womb trouble is imminent, and she cannot act too promptly if she values her future comfort and happiness.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition.

If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., as thousands do.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells Mrs. Scott How to be Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been for some years a great sufferer and thought I would write and explain my case to you as you had helped so many others. Menstruation is irregular and very painful. I have suffered with painful periods for ten years but the pains grow worse as I grow older.

"I suffer most with my back, lower part of abdomen and left side. I have been flowing all the month and a part of August, not constantly, but will stop for two or three days and then begin again.

"The doctor says I have misplacement of the womb. I have bearing down pains when passing urine, and my abdomen is very badly swollen and sore. Please advise me at your earliest convenience."—MRS. A. V. SCOTT, 21 Page St., Kingston, Pa. (Sept. 30, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I wrote to you asking advice no one could describe my suffering. The doctors said I could not be relieved unless I had an operation performed, but thanks to you and your medicine I got along without having the dreaded operation. I have taken ten bottles of your medicine and am once more well and happy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a fine medicine and a God-send to suffering women. I trust my letter may be the means of bringing many of my suffering sisters to accept your kind aid."—MRS. A. V. SCOTT, 21 Page St., Kingston, Pa. (Jan. 30, 1901.)

Remember Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free, and all sick women are foolish if they do not ask for it. No other person has such vast experience, and has helped so many women.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE MAN WITH THE DAGGER.

The following is from the Hamilton Times:

The course of the Prohibition machine in the recent elections has been such as should put all Liberals on their guard against it in future. The Liberals now owe the prohibition managers nothing, having been absolved from any obligation by the declaration of the war made upon them, and the campaign conducted by the steerers who engaged W. W. Buchanan to do his little do in knifing Grits wherever it was possible to do so. The Liberal press is awakening to the game that the Prohibs. have been working, and it is to be hoped it will keep the matter before the electors. The Ottawa Free Press thus puts the situation;

Probably the prohibitionist fanatics are sorry they did what they did on Thursday. Between them and their allies, the liquor men, they worked great harm to the Provincial Government at the polls. They cannot be surprised if the Government which has done so much in the way of endeavouring to meet them half way, and promote as much as possible the cause of temperance will cease in future to look upon them as deserving of consideration. They assisted Mr. Whitney, who, as is known, has declared he would give them no concessions, and they deserve to receive the cold stare from the Administration. Serves them right if they do. They have proved themselves unreasonable, on more than one occasion, insulting and inconsistent.

It is not very far removed from fanaticism itself to loosely classify all prohibitionists or temperance workers, as fanatics. While there were large numbers who made prohibition a cloak for partizanship of the most bitter character — who used the sacred cause of temperance, and the cause of prohibition, to advance the interests of a party leader opposed to all shapes of temperance reform, there were many honest-meaning persons who were duped into innocently helping to play the partizan game. With the mass of people, prohibition and temperance are a sentiment, strongly held, if you like, but after all a mere matter of feeling. Persons who feel strongly are not apt to reason clearly. Persons of this class were in a sense "roped" into supporting Opposition candidates pledged to support any sort of prohibition, from any source, and many of them are doubtless sorry for the course they took. They helped to strengthen an opponent of prohibition, and helped to injure a Premier who has given the Prohibitionists the only measure of that kind the province ever had, and at the same time provided for the popular approval of such a measure being expressed on that issue alone, a condition plainly in the interests of prohibition and temperance. But some partizans threw the matter into politics, with the result that the temperance cause has received a severe blow. The forces that should be united, in view of the coming referendum vote, are split up, divided, fissured, disorganized, and separated by the feelings of rancour which a political contest always engenders. The Licensed Victuallers' Association itself, could not have devised a more effective way of injuring the cause of prohibition and temperance than the action of the pretended friends of these reforms have done by complicating the cause with the questionable associations of party politics.

IF.

The Opposition figures a majority of one for Mr. Whitney by assuming that certain things will happen.

If the recount confirms in his seat the Conservative who has a majority of two in North Perth, and the Conservative who has four of a majority in Centre Bruce, and

If the recount unseats the Liberal who has a majority of two in Lennox, and the Liberal who has a majority of 9 in North Grey, and Leaving out altogether North Renfrew, which is vacant, owing to the death of Mr. J. W. Munro, who had over 400 majority; thus, Mr. Whitney will have a majority of one.

These interesting speculations might be extended by saying that if the Conservatives had carried four more seats, this would have made a difference of eight, which added to the one would have given Mr. Whitney a majority of nine.

But the recounts in North Perth, Centre Bruce, North Grey, and Lennox may confirm the present holders of the seats. Nothing better than a guess can be made as to how the recounts will affect the situation.—Toronto Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Sir Thomas Lipton is determined to convert the American Cup into a tea-cup. He is building another yacht to compete for the trophy next fall. If Wm. Fife furnishes as good a model of a boat as Sir Thomas is of a true sportsman the latter will brew a cup of his own tea in the American Cup this "trip."

Harper's Weekly says of the late Lord Pauncefote: "We speak of what we know when we say that at that time (at the outbreak of the war with Spain) he was literally our only friend among the representatives of the great powers in Washington." Blood is thicker than water, and in spite of the Anglophobes, who would keep alive old animosities, the race draws nearer together.

The prospects are fair that we shall have an all-British-Canadian fast steamship service that will out-Morgan Morgan. This will, if pending arrangements are effectuated, be an Imperial ship "combine" with steamers of enormous size and great speed equipped as cruisers. It will take more than a Morganatic marriage of shipping interests to put Britannia out of the wave-ruling business.

The Mail and Empire had a tremendous cock and bull story about a London Deputy Returning Officer in the recent election having attempted to bribe an elector to vote. The deputy was arrested, the charge investigated and was found, like the vast majority of the sensational yarns set afloat about bribery and corruption, to be without foundation. The deputy was discharged, no satisfactorily evidence to connect him with a corrupt transaction having been shown.

Lord Kitchener is not only a soldier but a statesman as well. He subdued the Boers by his military skill, and by his diplomatic skill brightened his military reputation by conducting the negotiations for surrender and peace in such a manner as to make friends of foes and establish a permanent pacification that will have more important results than success in the field. His conduct throughout the closing scenes of the sanguinary conflict well illustrates the saying, "peace hath its victories as well as war."

The Galt Reporter remarks: Conservative papers have been pointing to the many doubtful Liberal constituencies. A scrutiny of the returns show that the majorities below 30 are as follows: Liberals—North Grey, 9; Halton, 16; Lennox, 2; North Wentworth, 29. Total, 4. Conservatives—Centre Bruce, 4; Frontenac, 28; West Lambton, 24; North Norfolk, 27; North Perth, 2; Total 5. From this it will be seen there are more Conservative seats hanging in the balance than Liberals.

Bystander," in the Weekly Sun, says that "it seems to be an accepted fact that in the recent election one party was plentifully supplied with money," and hints that this money comes from capitalists expecting favours. All this is not right. If the facts that Mr. Goldwin Smith asserts were facts he should be specific. It is easy to slander public men in general terms and to do so safely without risk of any ill results except a reputation for unfair attack. Such charges should be made definite or not made at all. A definite charge can be disproved or established. The same cannot be applied to a vague, general accusation—it is not subject to either disproof or substantiation.

The New York Journal of Commerce, which does not share the average United States paper's dread of the slum opinion, is emphatic in its commendation of British generosity towards the Boers. It finds in the British attitude reason to hope for better things ahead. The assurance that no tax will be levied to pay for the war it regards as "extremely liberal," and the vote of $15,000,000 to re-stock Boer farms is pure magnanimity. It says "The granting of these terms and their acceptance are alike creditable to Great Britain and to the Boers, and we hope prosperity will speedily follow the establishment of peace." Britain has silenced those who would fain have found cause for censuring her.

It was stated at the Board of Trade Conference at Toronto that there was every probability of Manitoba wheat being manufactured into flour in Minneapolis, Wisconsin, a United States city. Will the Opposition, who claimed the authorship of the Liberal Government's policy, that Ontario logs should be manufactured in Ontario, advocate a like policy in regard to wheat? If Northwest wheat is, as it should be, ground before export, the work should be done in Canada, and where is any part of Canada better suited for this purpose than Ontario, with its unlimited water power? The converting of Northwest wheat into flour would give employment to Ontario capital and Ontario labour.

The New York Times regards the disfranchisement of the rebels in the British colonies, as "the one touch of severity in the terms of the peace." It is not severity. It is necessary precaution. If the rebels were left with the right to vote, they would be a dangerous element in the electorate, a perpetual menace to representative conditions, that might lead to great peril, and, perhaps, actual injury to British integrity, for which so much life has been laid low, and so much money poured out. The Burghers in the Crown colonies of the former Republics will have votes when they prove themselves worthy of representative institutions, but the colonial rebels, if reinstated in their rights as subjects, could vote in an election to-morrow, if one were held, if the peace conditions had not pronounced their disfranchisement.

Poor old Oom Paul Kruger he is a pitiful spectacle. He did his share—the major part—in embroiling the people of whom he was president in a hopeless war. When the evil day came for the fortunes of the Boers, Kruger steals away to Europe, loaded down with the spoils of a long term as president and enjoys himself in Holland, leaving his dupes to fight out the struggle to the bitter end. His conduct belies the characteristics of bravery, which the Boers, who stayed by their duty so conspicuously exhibited. The humblest long-bearded tattered dopper burgher who remained fighting in the field has a far better claim to credit than the self-seeking and dogmatic ex-president who deserted those who trusted him in the hour of sorest need, leaving them, while he luxuriated in a well feathered nest, to writhe in a gory bed.

CANADA TO PAY PART

Deliverance on Trade Conference on Empire's Defence.

RESOLUTION FINALLY PASSED.

Appointment of a Government Railway Commission Approved Of—An Insolvency Law Desired—Subsidies For Colonization Railways—The Question of Canadian Copyright—The Adjournment.

Toronto, June 7.—The conference of the boards of trade of the Dominion was brought to a close about 6.30 o'clock last evening.

On re-assembling yesterday morning, discussion was continued on the motion and two amendments, submitted the day before, on the question of defence.

W. J. Ferguson, Stratford, supported the Peterboro Board's resolution, which had been offered as an amendment.

A vote upon the question was reached shortly after 1 o'clock, Mr. Evans' amendment to the amendment, stipulating, simply, that Canada should provide for the defence of its own interests, was lost, on a standing vote.

Then the Peterboro amendment was put, and it met the same fate.

An amendment by A. E. Kemp and Hugh Blain was afterwards made, and, on division, was also lost.

Mr. Pattullo moved "that this conference suggest that the Government of Canada keep itself in communication on the subject of defence, by correspondence and conference, with the Governments of other British Colonies, and with the Imperial authorities, in order that the development of our policy of defence may more adequately provide for the protection and promotion of colonial interests and contribute in times of common danger to the strength and integrity of the whole British Empire."

This was lost by a vote of 36 to 34, and the main motion was afterwards adopted by 40 yeas and 32 nays, the announcement being received with hearty applause.

The resolution adopted is:

"That, in the opinion of this conference, it is the duty of this Dominion, as an important division of the Empire, to participate in the cost of the defence of said Empire, and, therefore, that an annual expropriation should be provided in the Dominion budget for this purpose, to be expended as the Dominion Government may direct."

Copyright Question.

The question of Canadian copyright was taken up at the afternoon session. In lieu of a lengthy resolution upon this subject from the Toronto Board of Trade, Mr. Thomson submitted the following:

"That this conference respectfully, but strongly, urges the Premier of this Dominion and his colleagues to take up with the law offices of the Crown in England the right of Canada to make its own laws on the subject of copyright, without which its rights as a self-governing colony are incomplete."

Mr. Thomson referred his hearers to the splendid paper by Sir John Thompson upon that subject, just before his death. After reading that no one could doubt but that Canadians had the right to legislate for themselves on this matter of copyright, there was no other logical stand but that we should be allowed to manage our own internal affairs.

J. D. Allen seconded the motion. He said that to refuse Canadians the right to legislate in copyright was to introduce a colonial system of a very offensive form. The present conditions in regard to copyright was intolerable.

After some further discussion the motion was carried with an almost unanimous vote.

John McKay, Sault Ste. Marie; D. F. Burk, Port Arthur; Mr. Ellis, Toronto, and Mr. Dyke, Fort William, next dilated upon the importance of developing our mineral districts, after which a resolution was unanimously carried that the conference would submit that the usual Government subsidies, both from the Dominion and respective provinces, should be granted to approved mineral colonization railways.

Railway Commission.

Hugh Blain then moved the adoption of the resolution of the Toronto board on the subject of a railway commission, as follows:

"That the conference desires to place itself on record as holding the opinion that a properly-constituted commission should be created, with power necessary to deal with any questions affecting the relations of all common carriers to the people."

Mr. Elliott, Galt, seconded the motion, and it was carried without discussion.

Extension of Wires.

Resolutions from five boards of trade upon the question of postal and telegraph communication were then passed without discussion. They all advocated extension of our postal and telegraph communication, as a means for the promotion of trade throughout the Empire.

Deepen the Canals.

On motion of Capt. Donnelly, Kingston, the conference placed itself on record, as follows:

"That, in the interests of the whole Dominion, and to lessen the cost of transportation between the Great Lakes and the seaboard, the canals between Montreal and Lake Erie, and the channel between Montreal and the seaboard, should be deepened, and to urge the Government to continue their good work without delay; and would also give our cordial support to Government assistance to the shipbuilding industries of this country, believing that such help is much needed, and would be of benefit to the country at large."

On the question of insolvency law, the resolution of the Goderich Board was adopted, urging upon the Dominion Parliament to enact an insolvency law at the earliest possible date. A clause was added, recommending that the Dominion Government assemble at some place, say Ottawa, one or more representatives of the different provinces, to assist in drafting such an act, as to provide for the proper management of estates by the creditors, with as small legal expense as possible.

Mr. Dyke, Fort William, submitted a motion, recommending to the Government the importance of additional railway facilities in the country, deeper waterways, longer navigation, extended harbor facilities and increased shipping tonnage. The motion carried.

Metric System Favored.

A resolution, favoring the immediate establishment of the metric system of weights and measures, carried unanimously. Mr. Perrault, Gaspe, wanted a clause, urging upon England to adopt the decimal system of money, but the other delegates thought it would be useless.

A discussion ensued upon the question of marine insurance, introduced by Mr. Dolison, North Sydney, with a view of securing lower rates. It resulted in the passing of a motion to the effect that the question of discriminating rates, re insurance in Canadian ports, be brought to the attention of the Ministers at the coming conference in London.

It was also resolved on motion of Mr. Robertson, St. John, N.B., seconded by Mr. Jarvis, "that, in view of the vast importance of the above objects to the whole Dominion, the members of this conference would earnestly recommend the Federal Government to grant all necessary assistance towards the building up and proper equipment of Canadian national ports."

A few of the other resolutions, the purport of which was more or less embodied in ones adopted, were withdrawn for want of time.

Votes of Thanks.

Mr. Russell, Manitoba, seconded by Mr. Jarvis, St. John, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Board of Trade for their kindness to the delegates. The motion was carried by a standing vote.

President Ames replied.

On adjourning, the delegates joined in the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. W. J. Lang returned from a visit to friends in Galt on Monday.

The elections passed off very quietly here. The results were just as expected. Of all the political orators that came to this part Mr. D. C. Fraser was by far the best. His name will remain fresh in the memory of those who heard him at Fraserville.

Mr. Yule intends organizing a Sunday school here in the near future. We hope he may be successful in the good work.

DR. PITCHER HELPS SUFFERING WOMEN.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Bring Ease and Comfort, Health and Strength to any Pain-Racked, Health-Shattered Women.

There are thousands of women in Canada to whom life is an absolute burden on account of the unceasing ache in the back, the dragging pain in the loins, the side aches, headaches, and weary, worn out feelings which are an invariable accompaniment of kidney troubles.

Many women, too, are suffering from forms of kidney troubles, such as scalding, irritability of the bladder, frequent rising at night, pain and distress in making water, high-coloured urine, about which they are reticient, not caring even to mention the fact to their physician.

To every woman suffering from kidney trouble in any way, Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets come as a veritable boon and blessing. They clear out the clogged up kidneys, cure the backache and urinary trouble, roll away the burden of pain, and give health, strength and energy.

Piercing Pain.

Mrs. Alice Saunders, whose home is No. 55 Bartlett avenue, Toronto, and a picture of whom appears here, gave the following statement of her case: "I take great pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I derived from the use of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. I can now eat or drink anything and no increased action of the kidneys takes place. The pain has left my back entirely. These Tablets are worth their weight in gold to anyone who has kidney trouble. I am feeling better now than I have in a long time. Prior to taking the Tablets I had to give up my work; the pain in my back would be like some sharp instrument piercing through the kidneys. I have had such good results from the use of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I stand ready to recommend them to anybody suffering from kidney or bladder troubles."

"Thought I Would Die."

Mr. Joseph Young, Division street, Welland, Ont., says; "I have suffered from backache and kidney trouble for four or five years. At times I could hardly shift my hands, they were so swollen, and my feet the same. Going upstairs hurt my back so, I thought I would die, and my breath grew awful short. I tried almost everything, with no relief. Black specks floated all around and my eyes were very bad. The pain ran from the small of my back to the base of my brain. I could not sleep lying on my back. I went and got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and they have been a great boon to me. They are just splendid. I can see to thread a needle, and the pain in my head is about gone. All the old feeling of cracking and creaking in the base of the head is gone and the back comfortable. The old spells that came on any time night or day are gone, and I feel like living again. I can work now with comfort, and go up stairs fast with no trouble. I am only too glad to recommend them to everybody. I used to be afraid to turn over at night and could not sleep, and now I am not afraid at all, and can sleep well."

Tender, Sore Kidneys.

Mrs. George Noble, Hunter street, Peterborough, says: "My back for four or five years has given me a lot of trouble, and the kidneys were tender and sore. I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and they have done me a lot of good. I have been able to work right along. They never upset me a minute. I am very glad to be able to give this good word for the medicine."

There is not a woman who suffers from Kidney Compaint but can find prompt relief and a positive cure by using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Then, why suffer any longer?

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a bottle, or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists, or sent by mail, post free on receipt of price. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Company, Toronto, Ont.

HOW TRAMPS TRAVEL.

"Weary Willie" and his Parlor Car—A Word About the Wandering Vagrant and His Checkered Career.

A casual observer might wonder why the rods, bolted through the timbers at either end are placed under freight cars. They are not put there for hoboes to ride on, but to stiffen the floor of the car. Sometimes there are four—two close together on each side—but more often there are six separated by equal distances. At the centre, where the rods are ridden, there is often room between them and the bottom of the car for a man to sit almost upright, though with his head bowed forward, but where there are six rods the hobo usually lies across them like a steak on a gridiron. While the train is moving slowly it is easy, as a rule to drive him off by throwing coal or rocks at him; if it is going very fast there is danger of killing him, and that is likely to get the brakeman in trouble (from ten years to life is customary.) There is one other way of removing a hobo from the rods under a freight, but the brakeman must be a man of steady nerve, quickness and physical strength; also he must know exactly where the hobo is before he comes off the top to get him. Dropping from the train a car or two ahead of the one under which the man is riding, the brakeman has time to brace himself before the car reaches him (the train should be moving only slowly); then he seizes the hobo by the coat collar or by the arms; the motion of the train does the rest, and the hobo is dropped unto the ground. But if the train is going at, say a twenty mile rate, then——.—Leslie's Monthly.

DYSPEPSIA

Is the Most Prevalent and Unpleasant of all Diseases.

Ninety out of Every Hundred People are Suffering With Some Form of Stomach Trouble.

Dyspepsia is generally caused by faults in the food.

Carelessness and indiscretion in eating and drinking; eating too fast or too much, or too little exercise.

In these days of rush and worry, people forget or neglect to pay any attention whatever to their Stomachs.

Hasty meals are gobbled without time for proper mastication, or a thought as to the possible consequences to the digestive organs of such unreasonable and unfair treatment.

But there comes a time when they fail.

There is a limit even to the endurance of these faithful organs.

The symptoms of Dyspepsia appear; Heartburn, Waterbrash, Bloating or Pain in the Chest begin to cause annoyance.

How many invalids can trace the commencement of their physical breakdown to the appearance of these trifling ailments.

It is strange that people will still continue to neglect these early symptoms of Dyspepsia despite the widespread knowledge of their fearful results.

In the light of the unfortunate experience of the tens of thousands who are to-day suffering the pains of Chronic Dyspepsia, is it not the part of wisdom to immediately take steps to correct these symptoms when they first appear.

If they are not corrected, they will certainly leave you a victim of Chronic Dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Chronic Dyspepsia, no matter of how long standing.

But is it not easier and better to check the very first symptom of the Disease?

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a specific. They are compounded from the best digestives known to science.

If taken immediately after each meal, they will digest the food, and every particle of it, and thus give the Stomach an opportunity for rest and restoration.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act directly on the organs of digestion. Toning them up and restoring to them their normal health and vigour.

Was Acquitted.

James Kane of Peterborough, who was arrested a few weeks ago for stealing a pair of boots from an intoxicated farmer at Millbrook, but was let out on bail in order to secure further evidence, was to have appeared here before Judge Benson on Friday for trial, failed to show up, although all the witnesses were present. Kane was said to have gone to Port Hope, and it was thought that he had either got lost amid the hills and dales, or had wiped the Canadian Dust off his boots and gone over to join Uncle Sam. It eventually turned out that he had been in Peterborough, but turned up at the trial here yesterday, when he was discharged.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Hon. J. R. Stratton has donated a gold medal to the Athletic section of the T. A.S., to be competed for as a prize at the field day of sports, to be held on the Separate School grounds on July 1st.

The next game in the City Lacrosse League will be played on Wednesday night next, when the Y.M.C.A. and the T.A.S. teams will play off the game that should hae taken place last Wednesday night. There should be a good attendance, as the recent misunderunderstanding as to the right of certain men to play has only tended to arouse greater interest in the League than before. The match should be started sharp on time.

The T.A.S. team claim that they are going to have the finest grounds of any team in town. They have converted the Separate school grounds into an up-to-date lacrosse field, and they are now going to take out sixteen more trees.

The Athletic Lacrosse team is making arrangements for a game with Millbrook, which will take place at an early date. Cobourg and Lindsay have Lacrosse teams. Why not try and get on a game with either of these?

There are quite a few good stick-handlers who apparently are not identified with any team as yet. Overend and Mowry should be able to catch a place with the best of them.

Cobourg will play in Belleville on Coronation Day.

The Cobourgs will practice hard for their game in Peterborough on Dominion Day. They expect a hard game.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

There were over forty members of the club on the green last evening.

It is proposed to make a field-day of Coronation Day at the green. The President vs. Vice-President match will eb played and luncheon will be served during the afternoon.

The Executive is issuing a neat little folder, containing a list of the personnel of the different rinks and the schedule of games for the next three months.

BASEBALL.

The event of the season in baseball circles will be the grand match on the Nicholls Oval on Monday afternoon between the Boston Bloomers and the locals. Everybody will be there.

The Invincible Baseball team organized this morning, when the following officers were leected;

1st Vice-Pres.—R. A. Morrow.
2nd Vice-President,—T. E. Bradburn.

The Victorias this morning with Muthern in the box defeated the Rosedales in the Triple B.B. League series by a score of 12 to 9.

The Triple League standing is;—

	Won	Lost	To Play
Victorias	3	2	1
Y. M. C. A.	2	1	3
Rosedales	1	3	2

Baltimore and Bailliieboro play at Rice Lake on Tuesday.

The Peterboroughs are playing a Midland League game in Bowmanville today.

Jack Casserley will do the twirling for Cobourg the rest of the season.

GOLF.

The regular fortnightly tea at the links took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended. Mrs. Richard Hall and Miss Laura Davidson were in charge of the tea arrangements, and the details were perfectly carried out.

A number of improvements have been made at the links within the last few weeks, chief amongst which is the sodding of the home green.

Mr. Myles Hamilton, in playing in the Captain's Handicap yesterday against Mr. Jarvis, made his two rounds in 89.

CRICKET.

The Colts Cricket club left this morning for Port Hope, where they will play the T. C. S.

THREE GOOD PIANO SALES.

The Stanley Piano Company Endorsed by the Government.

It is a pleasure to be able to note the special preferences shown for the products of Peterborough manufactures by the general public, but when that preference comes from a high and official source, it becomes more marked and valuable. The Stanley Piano Co. have just filled three important piano orders, two from the Ontario Government and one from Quebec, which seem to justify the claims of the Company that their instruments rank as the best in Canada. One of their finest styles was shipped to the Institute for the Blind, at Brantford, another to the Asylum for the Insane at Hamilton, and a third to the Ladies' Seminary, in St. Jean Point, Joliet, Quebec. In each case the merits of the "Stanley" were critically tested by skilled musicians in competition with a number of other leading makes of pianos, and the fact that our own local "Stanley" was selected in each is not only a high testimonial to the company but complimentary to the town where it is manufactured.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Ladies of the Presbyterian Societies of the District.

THE ANNUAL MEETING HELD.

Large Number of Delegates in Attendance—Numerous Addresses Were Delivered in the Two Days.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society of the Women's Foreign Mission was held in St. Paul's church, on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 3rd and 4th.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The meeting opened at 9.45 on Tuesday morning with devotional exercises, ably presided over by Mrs. Torrance, of Peterborough. Hymn 90 was sung, and the 145th Psalm read Mrs. Dennistoun, Peterborough, and Mrs. Lord, Grafton, then led in prayer. Part of hymn 165 was sung. Mrs. Torrance read a short article on "What to Pray For." Mrs. Roxburgh, Norwood, and Miss Dickson, secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, Peterborough, led in prayer.

Miss Dickson, Peterborough, then welcomed the delegates in a few well chosen words. Hymn 105 was sung. Mrs. Torrance read a paper entitled, "What We Most Need." Mrs. McPherson gave the closing prayer of the devotional exercises.

The president, Mrs. Potter, then took the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting held in Cobourg, were read by Mrs. J. Davidson, and were confirmed by the meeting.

Presbyterial reports were read by Miss. M. Dickson, and many of the delegates from the different places. The only little girl, Olive Roy, made a good beginning by reading the report of the Norwood Mission Band.

The president asked the different secretaries to send in fuller reports in future to the Presbyterial secretary, and urged upon the members to become General Society members, and also to study the new book, called "Via Christi."

Mrs Craick, Port Hope, gave the expense fund account of the treasurer's report, clearly and with full explanations.

A discussion took place as to what should be done with any money left over from the Presbyterial expense fund.

Miss Dickson read a letter from the late Dr. Robinson, telling of the needy condition of several missionaries' families in the Northwest, and suggested that the extra money be spent for Dr. Robinson's needy ones.

Mrs. Craick thought it would be irregular and would be interfering with the work of the Board.

It was suggested by Mrs. Lord that every auxiliary could put in extra clothing marked for these missionaries' children in the box for the Indians.

Mrs. Craick remarked that they as a Foreign Missionary Society could not do this work, as it was really home mission work. The matter was left over for further consideration.

The president spoke a few cheerful words about the grand meeting at London and referred the members to the Missionary Tidings for fuller information.

Mrs. Kannawin, Omemee, gave an earnest, helpful account of much that was said and done at the London meeting, and received a good hearing. The chief thought, "We would see Jesus," was dwelt upon very earnestly.

Mrs. R. R. Hall read the report of the Clothing Committee, with instructions as to the kind of clothing suitable for the Northwest.

The meeting closed with the doxology and prayer by Mrs W. E. Roxburgh.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

The meeting opened at 2.45 with the President in the chair. Hymn 103 was sung. Mrs. Craick, Port Hope, gave the Bible reading from the 40th chapter of Isaiah. The president led in prayer.

The minutes of the morning meeting were read by the recording secretary and confirmed by the meeting.

The President's annual address, always looked forward to with pleasure by the members, was well delivered and appreciated by the audience. The following are a few points from the same: — (1) Words of welcome; (2) Referred to the loss the church has sustained in the death of the Rev. Drs. McKay, Robertson and Grant; also the loss to our own society of one of our Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Sinclair. Practical lessons to us—seek to follow in their footsteps. (3) Increase in all departments of the work. (4) What we should give — talents, money. (5) Prayer, and pray regularly for the missionaries. (6) Read more books—knowledge is power. (7) Giving—story of 12 domestics receiving $10 a month, and each giving $5 a month for the spread of the Gospel. (8) Urged the Society to guide and train the young in the Mission Bands, and made a strong appeal to those who have no bands to start them now.

Hymn 454 was then sung.

An excellent presbyterial report was clearly and carefully read by Miss M. Dickson. This report showed improvement in every department of the work. The present total membership is 707; 530 are members of Auxiliaries and Bands, and 177 of the general society. The average attendance is 366. Total amount contributed by the Presbyterial, $1,854.59, being an increase of $146.24. Five large bales of clothing, valued at $358.11 were sent to the Northwest.

Moved by Miss M. Dickson and seconded by Mrs. Craick, that the report be adopted.—Carried.

The treasurer's report of the receipts received from Auxiliaries and Mission Bands for direct missionary purposes was read and explained by Mrs. Craick.

Moved by Mrs. Craick and seconded by Mrs. Reaves, Campbellford, that the reports be adopted.—Carried by a standing vote.

Miss Dickson, Secretary of the Y. W.C.A., earnestly led the meeting in the dedicatory prayer.

An appropriate solo by Mrs. Mein, entitled "Disciples of Jesus," added to the pleasure and interest of the afternoon session.

Miss White, returned missionary from Indore, Central India, gave a full connected account of the general work in India and her own special work. The following are a few thoughts from the address: Visit to our country making her better fitted to take up the work again in the fall; geography—India really a continent made up of many countries, languages and religions, population one-fifth of the whole globe; work is carried on in three branches, viz: educational, medical, evangelistic; her own work called Mohulla work—caste system serving classes, teaching pupils to read scripture and lead in prayer; Lemana work; marriage; heathen day schools; main object—to bring pupils to Christ; great famine of 1899 — 50,000,000 on relief, practical lessons on love of God, inhumanity of the heathen mothers.

Hymn 451 was sung.

The Mission Band conference opened with Mrs. Kannawin presiding. After the singing of hymn 591, Mrs. Kannawin made a strong appeal on behalf of the missionary work, especially among the young.

In the absence of Miss Duff, Lakefield, her excellent paper, entitled, "The Reflex Influence of Missions," was clearly read by Miss Smith. Miss Van Every, Peterborough, followed with another good paper.

Mrs. J. Davidson, Norwood, then gave a few suggestions on how to study "Via Christ," and called on some of her mission band girls to read short papers on Chapter 1. First paper which aided and prepared the way for the spread of the Gospel in the time of the Roman Emperors, by Mrs. J. Davidson; 2nd, Gregory, the Thaumaturgist, Miss Beatie Finlay; 3rd, Pantaenus, Mrs. Davidson; 4th Causes which led to the Persecutions of the Christians, while all other religions were tolerated, Miss J. Robson; 5th, The Catacombs of Rome, Miss Annie Moffatt; 6th, Early persecutions of the Christians, Miss Eva Patterson.

Mrs. Craick spoke a few words of encouragement and appreciation of the work. After singing Hymn 604 Mrs. Kannawin closed the afternoon session with prayer and all adjourned to the school room to partake of the good things for tea which the ladies of the church had prepared.

TUESDAY EVENING.

The meeting opened with Rev. Dr. Torrance presiding. After singing the 72nd Psalm the chairman read the 35th chapter of Isaiah, and the Rev. Mr. Potter led in prayer.

Dr. Torrance, in a few well chosen words, extended to the delegates a hearty welcome from both congregations, and spoke in the highest terms of the womens work, both past and present.

The excellent report of Miss Dickson, President, was well read by Rev. J. A. Wilson.

After singing Hymn 455, the Rev. A. Gaudier, Toronto, followed with a very forcible and heart-searching appeal for the great missionary work of the present day. His address was based on Elisha's rebuke to Gehazi in ii. Kings, 5, 26. The following are a few points from his discourse: "This is no time for Christians to be spending all their time and energies to pile up wealth for their own personal aggrandisment. That in this age more zeal and self-sacrifice are needed. That time is too precious to be spent in trifles and pleasures, when so many even in our midst are perishing. That there is a great awakening spirit of nation life in Canada, and now is the time to claim this land for Christ, and that in addition, we should look out beyond our own land to the crying need of the heathen world. That the fullness of the times have come. All the doors are open. The heathens are ready for a change. They are losing faith in their own religions, and unless we give them the Gospel they will drift into atheism. And lastly, that we should imitate the zeal of the early apostles and the crusaders. The Holy Land for us is the round globe. While we cannot all be missionaries, we can take of our means and lay it upon God's altar.

This address was an inspiration to all who heard it.

A solo, "Come unto me all ye that labour," sung by Miss Davies, added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Miss White, Central India, addressed the meeting on some interesting facts connected with the work there.

Hymn 452 was sung, after which the Rev. Mr. Campbell, Lakefield, followed with a few practical remarks on the right use of money.

Dr. Torrance then thanked all those who had so ably assisted during the evening, and closed the meeting with the doxology and the benediction.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The Wednesday morning session opened with the president in the chair. Hymn 445 was sung. An interesting and helpful Bible reading on the subject of "Peace" was well conducted by Mrs. McPherson, Peterborough.

The minutes were read by Mrs. J. Davidson and confirmed.

Mrs. Jardine, Omemee, led in prayer. The president spoke a few earnest words to the members about the election of officers.

Miss Dickson prayed that all might be guided by the Holy Spirit in the selection of officers.

Mrs. Dennistoun, Peterborough, then took the chair, and the election of officers was proceeded with, the result being as follows;

President—Mrs. Kannawin, Omemee.

1st Vice-President — Mrs. Potter, Peterborough.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Torrance, Peterborough.

3rd, Vice-President—Mrs. Lord, of Grafton.

4th Vice-President—Mrs. McPherson, Peterborough.

5th Vice-President — Mrs. Reeves, Campbellford.

Treasurer—Mrs. Craick, Port Hope.

Corresponding-Secretary — Miss M. Dickson, Peterborough.

Recording and Literary Secretary—Mrs. J. Davidson, Norwood.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Port Hope.

Mrs. Potter then appointed a committee to look after the clothing;—Mrs. J. D. Tully, convenor, Miss A. Edmison, Mrs. Lang, Miss Lovely and Mrs. Stewart.

Moved by Miss Dickson and seconded by Mrs. Lord, that Mrs. Craick, Mrs. Clarke and Miss Brodie, be the Apportionment Committee.—Carried.

Mrs. Craick moved that the surplus money be placed in the hands of the Executive to spend as they may think proper. Miss M. Dickson seconded the motion and it was carried.

Moved by Mrs. Kannawin and seconded by Mrs. Lord, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Mrs. Potter for her efficient work during the year.—Carried.

Votes of thanks were passed to the pastor and managers of the church for the use of the church; to the organist, Mrs. Mein, Miss Davies and choir; and to the ladies who so kindly opened their homes to the delegates, and to all the speakers for interesting addresses.

Mrs. Kannawin, the new president, then took the chair, and after thanking the ladies spoke a few words of encouragement to the officers to be faithful in the discharge of their duties.

Miss White gave an interesting talk on child widows in India, and showed by several incidents how careful they had to be not to give wrong impressions to their pupils.

Mrs. Dennistoun moved that a letter of congratulation be sent to Miss Greely, president of the Ellengowan Society, who is in her 96th year, and is still able to preside over their meetings.

The motion was seconded by Miss McEwan of Lakefield.

After singing hymn 613, and prayer by Miss Baptie, Lakefield, a very pleasant and profitable meeting was brought to a close.

Delegates were present from Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope, Campbellford, Lakefield, Keene, Grafton, Omemee, Norwood, Baillieboro, Cold Springs, Millbrook, Garden Hill, Havelock. Fifty-two delegates outside of Peterborough were present.

WOMAN'S FORTITUDE

Severely Tried by Ailments Peculiar to the Sex.

Behind the veil of her womanly modesty and fortitude, nearly every woman suffers indescribably from time to time and continues to suffer in spite of all her efforts because ordinary medicine is powerless to do good in such cases. Ordinary medicine may give temporary relief—even a purgative may do that—but the one great medical discovery capable of permanently curing and preventing a return of the ailment is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are not an ordinary medicine; they are not a patent medicine, but the prescription of a regularly practising physician who used them in his private practise for years before they were given to the public under the name of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are the best medicine for man; the only medicine for woman. Mrs. John McKerr, Chickney, N. W. T., says; "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved me many a dollar in doctors' bills. For some years I was greatly afflicted with ailments that make the life of so many of my sex miserable. I tried many medicines but found no relief until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have made me feel like a new person; the almost continuous suffering I endured has passed away and life no longer seems a burden. I know of a number of other women who have been similarly benefitted and I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills worth their weight in gold to those who suffer from female complaints or general prostration."

The happiness of health for both men and women lies in the timely use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act as a nerve tonic and supply new blood to enfeebled systems. They have cured many thousands of cases of anaemia, "decline," consumption, pains in the back, neuralgia, depression of spirits, heart palpitation, indigestion, rheumatism, sciatica, St. Vitus dance and partial paralysis. But substitutes should be avoided if you value your health; see that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on every box. Sold by all dealers or sent postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CURING CLOVER HAY.

In a recent article, says H. V. Hodson, Ontario Live Stock Commissioner, I called attention to the desirability of cutting hay at a comparatively early stage of maturity. In this connection it may be of interest to have some notes from that well known farmer and Institute speaker, Mr. Henry Glendenning, of Manilla, Ont., in regard to his experience with a new plan of curing clover hay. Mr. Glendenning says that he prefers to cut hay when it is in full bloom, or when the blossom contains the greatest amount of honey. Cut in the morning after the dew is off, that which is cut in the forenoon may be raked up immediately after the noon hour, and put in cocks. The mower should not be run later than 4 o'clock p.m., and all put into the barn next day, and well tramped into the mows. This plan can be continued from day to day until all is stored in the barns. Three things must be borne in mind when curing hay by this method;

First,—Do not cut the grass until dry in the morning.

Second,—Do not allow the fresh cut hay to lie on the ground over night, exposed to dew or rain.

Third.—If any hay should get wet with rain, let it stand in the cocks, until thoroughly dry before taking to the barn.

Last season Mr. Glendenning put up some 75 to 80 tons of hay in this way, and reports that it came out of the mows in the finest condition he ever saw. It was as green as when put into the barn, and the leaves and blossoms were all attached to the stalks. It appeared to have dried out without much heating, as all of the alsike blossoms were pink, and the red clover blossoms were from a pink to a light amber colour. If any great heat had developed in the now, the blossoms would undoubtedly have been of a dark brown colour. No signs of mould were visible and the hay was very free from dust. No salt, lime or other preventives were used.

Two of the mows in which the hay was stored are 22x25 feet, with an average depth of 30 feet of hay. These mows are tight floored with double inch boards over basement stables. Another mow is 24x26 feet, with depth of about 24 feet, and the door on the ground.

The outsides of all the mows are of inch boards without battens, with cracks between the boards averaging about 3-8 of an inch, just such as are usually found in an ordinary barn. The sides of the mows next to the drive floor were open. The hay, which consisted of red clover, alsike and a little timothy, was equally good in all parts of the mows.

Mr. Glendenning says he knows of three other farmers who have followed this system for several years, with equal success, and it would seem well worthy of a trial by our farmers generally.

Among the advantages of this method of curing clover are;

1.—The saving of time between cutting and storing in the barn.

2.—The fact that all of the leaves and blossoms, which are the most valuable portion of the plant, are left on the hay, instead of being lost in the field, as is often the case when the ordinary manner of curing is followed.

3.—The hay is much cleaner and brighter than when cured in the old way.

BOERS CHEER KING.

British Government Thanks the Troops in South Africa.

GEN. DEWET MAKES A SPEECH.

Urges the Burghers to Prove Themselves Good Colonists — Kruger and Boer Delegates Guaranteed Safe Conduct Home—Mr. A. J. Balfour Talks on the War and Defends the Government.

London, June 7.—Lord Kitchener, in a deepatch from Pretoria, dated yesterday, announced that the British Commissioners in the various districts report that 1,154 Boers laid down their arms Thursday. Afterwards the Commissioners addressed the Boers, who gave three hearty cheers for King Edward. The best possible relations exist between the Boers and the British, and there has been no hitch in the proceedings anywhere.

THANKS OF THE ARMY.

Lord Kitchener Replies to the Congratulations of the Government.

London, June 7.—The War Office has cabled congratulations to Lord Kitchener on the energy, skill and patience with which he conducted the long campaign in South Africa, and has asked him to communicate to the troops the Government's profound sense of their spirit of endurance, bravery and discipline, and, also, of their humanity, shown throughout the trying period.

Lord Kitchener replied, on behalf of the army in South Africa, tendering its sincere thanks for the congratulations of the Government, which, he was sure, the troops would receive with great satisfaction.

Brother Dewet's Speech.

Vredefort Road, Orange River Colony, June 6.—General Christian Dewet, addressing the inmates of the concentration camp here, explained the circumstances leading to the termination of hostilities, and urged the burghers to do their utmost to show Great Britain what good colonists the Boers can make. The speech made a favorable impression. Gen. Dewet's wife will join the General here to-day.

Boer Delegates May Return.

London, June 7.—The organ of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, The Birmingham Post, said yesterday that, on account of his age and infirmities, the British Government has waived its claim for the acknowledgement by Mr. Kruger of British sovereignty over the Transvaal, and has guaranteed to all the Boer delegates in Europe a safe conduct to their homes in South Africa.

Boer Prisoners Glad.

Hamilton, Bermuda, June 7.—The Boer officers who have been living in the prison camps on the island near here have been allowed their liberty, on parole. Generals Cronje, Wessels, Botha and others were extremely reticent, but they said they were glad the war was over.

BALFOUR ON PEACE TERMS.

Contention That It Might Have Been Secured a Year Ago Is Untenable.

London, June 7.—A. J. Balfour, the Government leader in the House of Commons, in a speech at a Conservative banquet in London last night, referred to the South African war.

"To have acted on the advice of Lord Rosebery and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman," (the Liberal leader in the House), said the speaker, "and bought peace at the price of complete amnesty, would have been to put a premium on rebellion, while to have negotiated with Mr. Kruger and his advisers would have been a fatal mistake."

Mr. Balfour said he could respect the fighting burghers, but not those who had deserted the Republics in South Africa. The contention of the Liberals, he continued, that peace might have been secured a year ago, was untenable because Gen. Botha then demanded independence.

"It would have been absolute lunacy," added Mr. Balfour, "to have granted a representative Government at once, and had we been able to secure peace on those terms there would have been no security for an enduring peace."

Lord Methuen on Churches

Pretoria, June 7.—Lord Methuen has been removed from the hospital to his private residence at Johannesburg. He is beginning to get about on crutches.

Dampness Causes Piles.

Teamsters, drivers, farmers and all persons who are much exposed to dampness and sudden changes in temperature, are especially liable to suffer from piles, than which there is scarcely a disease which brings with it more acute misery.

Mr. John Tuttle, expressman, 107 Stewart street, Kingston, Ont, states: "Like most men who do much driving, sitting a great deal, and often exposed to dampness, I have been a great sufferer from piles. As a matter of fact I had piles for a number of years and tried nearly everything I could hear of in a vain effort to get cured, but only succeeded when I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. The first application of this grand preparation brought me relief from the dreadful itching, burning sensations, and less than two boxes made a perfect and permanent cure. I am grateful for the freedom from suffering, and desire others to benefit by my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment."

You hear of all sorts of treatments being tried in vain as a cure for piles, but never heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment failing. So certain is this preparation to bring prompt relief and lasting cure that it has come to be considered the only positive and actual cure for this dreadful ailment. 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 3 in the matter of fresh air and cooling breezes to the supply city life stingily doles out you'll have a hard time keeping life in the little babe's body this summer. Two things that prevent cholera infantum.

FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE.

Britain's Credit Unimpaired Even After a Costly War.

London, June 7.—Prior to the second reading of the loan bill in the House of Lords, yesterday, Lord Goschen (Liberal, and a former Chancellor of the Exchequer), announced that he desired to say a few words on the financial position of the country. Consols which were now paying only 2½ per cent., stood at 97. Before the conversion of 1888, 3 per cent. consols stood at 101. If they had been converted then, they would have been worth only 82, so that now that stock was really 15 points higher, and that after a costly war, and the borrowing of £159,000,000 ($795,000,000.)

The country might well congratulate itself on a situation which showed such economic stamina, he said.

The Premier, Lord Salisbury, said such words, coming from such a high authority, were very gratifying, and would be widely read.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

WITH THE ORANGEMEN.

A Grant of $200 to the True Blue Orphanage at Picton.

Niagara Falls, June 6.—The Grand Lodge of British America met again yesterday morning. Most of the day was taken up discussing the reports of the different committees submitted. Finance Committee's report contained a recommendation of a grant of $200 to the True Blue Orphanage at Picton, which was endorsed by the Grand Lodge. Dr. Nesbitt, M.P.P., Toronto, chairman of the Correspondence and endorsation of the Grand Master's and secretary's addresses, submitted his report, which was adopted. The Grand Lodge delegates many of them accompanied by their wives, are enjoying themselves around the many points of interest here.

Upon invitation, the British America Grand Lodge visited Grand Lodge of the United States, at Niagara Falls, N.Y. The Canadians, at 5 o'clock p.m., left in trolley cars from their convention hall to the convention hall in the Natural Food Building at Niagara Falls, N. Y., where they were met and welcomed by the grand officers of the United States Grand Lodge, and escorted into the convention hall, where they were accorded Grand Lodge honors. The Supreme Grand Master of the United States, Rev. Mr. Lemmons, in a fervent and patriotic address, welcomed the British-America Grand Lodge to the United States. Grand Master Sproule and other Canadian grand officers responded in feeling terms to the welcome accorded them, after which the Americans banquetted their Canadian visitors at the Cataract House.

ROBBING FARE BOXES.

Wholesale Arrest of Street Railway Conductors in Toronto.

Bernard Babb and his little sister, Hilda, 3 and 5 respectively, were caught on the C. P. R. bridge, just west of Woodstock, Ont., by a freight train. Hilda crawled to safety, but Bernard was killed.

Mr. W. C. Schrieber, well known all over Canada, died Thursday night at his home near Marthaville, Ont. Mr. Schrieber filled many important positions. At one time he was purchasing agent for the G.T.R.

Pleasant Cure for Weak Lungs.

The best remedy for sore, weak lungs, is the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and passage of the breathing organs. It treats remote parts that cough mixtures and sprays can't approach, and kills thousands of germs at every breath. Catarrozone drives away pain, congestion and inflammation; it makes breathing easy and regular, and exerts a marvelous influence on Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Deafness, and Lung Trouble. Catarrhozone cures at once, is delightful to inhale, and simple to use. Price $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure constipation.

Period of Growth.

Children born between September and February are, some authorities state, not so tall as those born in the summer and spring months, and the growth of children is much more rapid from March till August. The extremities grow rapidly up to the sixteenth year, then there is a slow growth till the thirtieth year. The legs chiefly grow between the tenth and seventeenth year.

Comparing the general results, it appears that there are six periods of growth. The first extends up to the sixth or eighth year and is one of very rapid growth; the second period, from eleven to fourteen years, growth is slow; the third period, from sixteen to seventeen; the fourth period shows a slow growth up to the age of thirty for height, up to fifty for chest girth; the fifth period is one of rest, from thirty to fifty years; the sixth period is characterized by a decrease in all dimensions of the body.

What Causes Pain?

Most pains and aches come from of uric acid poisons in the blood, due to deranged kidneys, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, pains in the sides and limbs accompanied by bladder and urinary troubles, are warnings too serious and painful to be neglected. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and specifically on the Kidneys, make them active, vigorous and thoroughly cure these ailments. One 25 cent box of this great kidney medicine will do you a world of good.

His Special Grace.

"Yes," said a teacher in a south side school the other day while endeavoring to explain to her class how the same word may have different meanings, "there is more than one kind of grace. Grace may be a girl's name, and grace means beauty, too; so that when we say a lady or anything else is full of grace we mean that she or it is beautiful in form and in character. Now, there is another kind of grace I wonder who can explain what it is. Freddie, what does your father say when he sits down to breakfast in the mornings?"

"'Oh, gosh, ma, I wish things wasn't always put on the table so sloppy that they spoil a fellow's appetite.'"

A Complete Hospital.

That's what Merrill's System Tonic is. It is one of the most powerful blood purifiers and the best bowel regulator known, besides being a muscular and nerve tonic. Hence it cures a wider range of disease than most medicines. It is skillfully prepared in one of Canada's largest drug stores and is extremely pleasant to take. Price 50c. for three weeks treatment. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

A Good Skin Whitener.

Oatmeal water is an excellent skin whitener, and a good toilet oatmeal may be made by mixing in equal parts very finely ground oatmeal and almond meal, then add a little perfume and pass through a sieve. A teaspoonful of this should be placed in the hand basin and boiling water poured over it. This should be allowed to stand for several hours before it is used, and if the water is required tepid a small quantity of warm water may be added to it.

MANY A PROVERB

long accepted and often quoted, fails to stand investigation. How frequently is it said "You cannot have too much of a good thing." But what about medicine? You know the medicine is good, but you seldom wish the dose were larger; you generally wish it were smaller.

IRON-OX TABLETS

are exceedingly small, but they are also exceedingly effective. They are a gentle laxative. They are a nerve tonic. They cure indigestion.

Corticelli SPOOL SILK

For dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes, which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk. If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk, it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for Corticelli—the Dressmakers' Favourite Spool Silk.

MAKE A POINT

of trying our long Havana filler, Sumatra wrapper 5 cent cigar. Even if you think that no good cigar can be made to sell for 5 cents, smoke one of our latest new brands and be convinced to the contrary.

No doubt there are better cigars—we have at 10 cents and at 3 for 25c—but our 5c is excellent smoking.

Interesting Items From the Village to the North.

At a special meeting of the village council held in the town hall on Monday evening, an agreement was entered into with Messrs. Lillicrap & Tate to the effect that the assessment on the proposed saw mill be one-half rate on property up to $6,000, and over that amount one-quarter.

Messrs. G. W. Hatton and Hughes-Charles were in the village on Tuesday.

A very jolly time was spent on Friday evening at the Craig House when a party of about thirty young people from Peterborough drove to the village and enjoyed a very pleasant evening in dancing. Mr. Craig, as usual, did everything he could for the comfort of the pleasure seekers. The supper provided was especially praised. The party, which was chaperoned by Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Hay was highly delighted with the evening's outing.

The Colts Cricket Team of Peterborough, drove to the village on Monday afternoon and played a friendly game with the Grove boys. The match resulted in a victory for the Colts.

The home of Mr. Thomas Gordon was the scene of a very pleasant event on Tuesday afternoon, when his daughter, Miss Sara, was united in marriage to Mr. C. E. Pentz. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Bastow of Peterborough, in the presence of about 70 guests. The bride looked charming in a gown of white organdie, over satin, with trimmings of satin and Duchess lace. She wore the conventional veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride was attended by Miss Fitzgerald of Ashburnham, and her sister, Miss Nellie. The former was gowned in white, and carried pink roses; the latter wore white over pink and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Both wore pearl crescents, gifts from the groom. The groom was ably supported by Mr. H. Montgomery of the village. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with a profusion of white flowers, the ceremony being performed under a floral arch. The presents were numerous and very beautiful, showing the esteem in which the young couple are held Mr. and Mrs. Pentz left on the 4.15 train for a brief honeymoon trip to Toronto and other western points, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possible derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

JAPAN DOING HER PART.

The English press is rejoicing because Japan is apparently busy preparing herself to be an effective ally for Great Britain. The Japanese programme of 1896, which is now virtually complete, provided for the construction of four battleships, six large armoured cruisers, six protected cruisers, and a number of torpedo craft. It would have assured for Japan predominance at sea in the Far East had not Russia replied with a large programme. But Japan is now going to build four more battleships, two armoured cruisers, four other cruisers, and a host of torpedo-boats. The fulfilment of this programme should fit the Flowery Kingdom to live up to the responsibilities she has assumed in her treaty with England.

MADMAN AT THE THROTTLE.

Thrilling Ride of the Passengers on a Grand Trunk Western Train.

Our readers—particularly railwaymen—will be interested in the following item taken from the Detroit Evening News, the brakeman referred to being Mr. Jack Parker, formerly of Lindsay, and brother of Mr. W. E. Parker, of the Lindsay G.T.R. staff:

Tearing along at the dizzy speed of 60 miles an hour, and whizzing through stations where the train ought to have stopped, was the thrilling experience of the passengers on board the Grand Trunk Western, due at Flint, Mich., a few minutes past 11 each evening. The train came into the station Saturday night at full speed and made no attempt to stop. At this juncture the conductor and brakemen, noticing that something was wrong, applied the emergency brake and the train was brought to a standstill in the yards. Investigation developed the fact that the engineer, Billy Brown, of Port Huron, had become demented, and that the lives of the passengers were at the mercy of a madman.

The train was scheduled to stop at Emmet, Capac, Imlay City and Davidson, but it went through each place at lightning speed and the passengers began to fear that something was wrong. Someone started a rumour that the engineer was crazy, which was too true, and there was much excitement.

The demented engineer's cabmate, the fireman on the flying trip, had a trying time of it. Brown persisted in running the train to suit himself, which was his right under normal circumstances.

The fireman detected symptoms of violence in the engineer's actions, and adopetd the only course open to him. He humoured the demented man so far in persuading him that the train was slowed up at two stations where it should have stopped. It is said the crazy flyer narrowly missed a couple of trains that were pulling into sidings to let No. 5 go by.

Nothing would induce the passengers to again board the train so long as Brown was left at the throttle, and as soon as possible Engineer Cassidy, of the local switching service, was secured and took the train to its destination. Brown was taken to a hospital at Battle Creek. He has always been considered a very careful man, and one of the most reliable in the company's employ.

IN MEMORIAM

Of Annie Devlin, who died May 16, 1902.

Death has called another lov'd one,
Left another vacant chair;
Sent another bud to blossom,
Within Heaven's garden fair.

Darling Annie, you have left us
Broken-hearted, here below;
Yet we know you're watching o'er us,
Safe in your celestial home.

You have gone to meet your sister
On the bright eternal shore;
O may we who now are mourning
Meet you there to part no more.

While you're resting, we are striving,
For the prize so hard to win,
Sweet that rest from earthly trouble,
From this world of care and sin.

Death to us seems so much sadder
When it claims one we have known;
Sad! Why sad, if we remember
She dwells in her happy home?

God has promised, if we're faithful
To Him, on this earth below,
We shall find a place in Heaven,
Where we shall no sorrow know.

Yes, dear lov'd ones, we are waiting,
Watching for the time to come,
Hoping we'll all meet together,
In your happy, heavenly home.

—H. F.

DEAFNESS AND DISCHARGE FROM THE EARS.

There is a widespread belief that Deafness caused by abscesses in the ears with injury to the drum head, is incurable, but the continued success of the Drouet Treatment is a proof that this opinion is wrong. In fact such an unusual number of cured cases are reported in the March No. of the "Supplement" to the "Journal for the Deaf," that those who suffer from defective hearing caused by this form of ear disease, will find this publication of great interest. The case of Mr. C. Hoole, aged fifty years, is a special proof of the success of the Drouet method, as she was completely cured of Deafness, caused by abscesses of the ears, after treatment at a special hospital had failed. Her letter of thanks shows the successful result;

6, Montgomery terrace road,
Shieffield, England,
February 7, 1902.

Dear Sir, — Kindly accept my sincere thanks for benefits received from your treatment. I feel that an expression of gratitude is due to you from me for the restoration of hearing which has been effected by your excellent treatment. Yours faithfully, C. HOOLE.

Those who are interested in deafness and diseases of the ear, nose and throat, can obtain a free copy of the "Journal for the Deaf," with the "Supplement," by addressing the Secretary, Drouet Institute, Regent's Park-Road, N.W., London, England.

Each "Journal" is accompanied by a Patient's Report Form, which enables applicants to receive full particulars for applying the treatment at home. Any advice by correspondence is absolutely free.

STOCK MARKETS.

The Beginning of the End.

New York, June 6th, 1902.—The strike is dragging its way along, and the miners seem to be making no progress in their endeavours to coerce the coal companies. Each day that goes by weakens their position, as their available funds are being utilized in living expenses. The crucial point will probably be reached when the various organizations are appealed to by the strikers for relief. The operators have succeeded in keeping their pumps manned and in operation. The best obtainable information is that the various organizations upon which the men must rely for relief are very low in funds. The large number relying upon these treasuries will speedily exhaust them. It is practically a certainty that the men cannot win. Any interference on their part with the traffic in bituminous coal will do them more harm than good. The strike is approaching the beginning of the end.

N. W. makes a brilliant showing, and is expected to distribute one per cent. at its net dividend period on both classes of its stock. The story of railway prosperity has evidently been an unanimous one. No wonder stocks are so tightly held. Bonds continue to be in active demand. This is one of the most favourable features of the present state of affairs. Earnings continue up to the maximum. It is a market that is trying the patience of brokers and customers alike. Probably the old adage—"all things come to those who wait," is apropos for the holders of stocks. We strongly incline to that opinion.

New York, June 6th, 1902.—Bear attack of yesterday seems to have culminated and with the usual result—expansion of their selling orders bringing the market to a standstill, and no stocks offering permitting a successful covering of short accounts. Money closed at 2 1-2 and 4, last loan, 4 per cent. Total sales, 231,400.

STRAWBERRY WEATHER.

(Toronto World.)

This is genuine strawberry weather, and the first Canadian fruit of the season was received in Toronto Thursday. Of all things that grow in Ontario, nothing is finer, more luscious and more available for all the people than our crop of strawberries. All through Southern Ontario, along the western end of Lake Ontario, through the Niagara district the finest strawberry plants in the world are to be found. Strawberries are so cheap in this province as a general rule, that public, rich and poor, old and young, have the full enjoyment of them for a period of from 20 to 40 days. The berries are home grown, and the cream is the product of Canadian cows, and some day soon the sugar will be refined from the juice of Canadian beets. So it is national.

There is Hope for Even Such as Have Glimpses of the Dark Valley.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Medicine That Saves Life and Restores Lost Health.

A merciful Providence still keeps the spark of life in thousands of wasted and feeble bodies. The fitful, flickering spark will burn with decreased power as the hot days of summer approach. There is still hope for even those who are now catching glimpses of the dark valley. The use of Paine's Celery Compound during the month of June will at once arrest the progress of wasting disease. It will strengthen the weak and inflamed nerves, rid the body of morbid waste material, make the blood pure and give healthy action to the stomach, liver and kidneys. Nervousness, sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles quickly vanish when Dr. Phelps' marvellous prescription is used, Mrs. A. Perry, Port Maitland, N. S., says:

"For two years my system was all rundown, and suffered more than I can describe from nervous prostration and insomnia; at times I almost lost my reason from severe pain at base of the brain. My husband advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound which I did, and the effects were wonderful. I soon began to sleep well, the pain left my head, my whole system was strengthened, and I am now enjoying very good health."

MR. E. M. ELLIOTT WAS RE-ELECTED

President of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

SATURDAY'S ANNUAL MEETING

Mr. H. Garbutt Re-elected Vice President —The Secretary's Report—The Supplementary Meetings.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held in the Town Council Chamber on Saturday afternoon.

The chair was occupied by Mr. E. M. Elliott, the president, and among those who were present were Messrs. W. Collins, secretary, George W. Fitzgerald, Reeve Garbutt, E. T. Milburn, Wm. Brown Jas. Fowler, Thos. Young, John McConkey and Alex. McGregor, Smith; Martin Dorrin, Richard Nurse, Martin S. Crough, and Paul Costello, Ennismore; Jos. Barnard, South Monaghan; R. Q. Dench, Lakefield; and Wm. Matchett, Otonabee.

The president, Mr. Elliott, opened the proceedings by referring to the successful season which they had just closed, and which he claimed was the most successful in the history of the organization. They had held more meetings than on former years, and which had resulted in additional expense. However, he thought that it would be a good idea to hold a meeting at Young's Point, and cancel the meeting which is held in town. There was a balance on hand of $22.87.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report of the secretary, Mr. William Collins, was presented as follows;

To the members of West Peterborough Farmers' Institute;

Gentlemen,—On behalf of the Executive Committee, I beg leave to submit to you for approval, our annual report for the past financial year:

The past year has been one of the best in the history of our Institute. Although our first meeting, or rather Union Excursion, with East Durham and East Peterborough, which was run to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa on June 6th, was not as largely attended as we could have wished, owing to the fact that the weather had been wet for three weeks previous; that the farmers were compelled to forego the pleasure and stay at their work, hence we had a shortage of receipts, amounting to $11.60 as our share.

We had two days' regular meetings, first day at Peterborough, afternoon attendance 53, addresses 5; North Monaghan, night attendance 90, addresses 4. Second day, Lakefield, afternoon attendance 72, addresses 4; night attendance 500, addresses 6.

The speakers were A. Elliott, Galt, and Miss Madock, Guelph. Delegates—Messrs A.E. Silverwood, Lindsay and Thos. Howson, Sprwood.

The supplementary meetings were held, first day at Lakehurst, Harvey, afternoon attendance 16, addresses 3; Hall's Bridge, Harvey, night attendance 50, addresses 3. Second day, Ennismore, afternoon attendance 60, addresses 5; night attendance 300, addresses 6. Third day, Stewart's Otonabee, afternoon attendance 32, addresses 3; night attendance 175, addresses 4.

The delegates were Messrs. A. McNeill, Walkerville, and E. Lee, Stony Creek. We also again secured Mr. Silverwood, whose services had been so highly appreciated at the regular meetings. Also at Ennismore, we had the pleasure to get addresses from such able and willing gentlemen as the Rev. W. T. McColl and his brother, J. B. McColl, M.P., of Cobourg. We must also add that the delegates sent by the Department were of the very first order, and were listened to with marked attention. In March last we had a special dairy meeting, supplementary, but owing to bad state of roads a small attendance of 65, while the three gentlemen who were sent, Messrs. D. Derbyshire, H. Glendenning and L. A. Zufelt, are a guarantee that the subjects treated upon were done in a first class manner.

And our next meeting will be held at Jubilee Point, on Thursday next, a Union Pic-nic along with East Peterborough, East Durham, and East and West Northumberland are also invited. We are to have addresses delivered by Prof. Harcourt, O.A.C., Duncan Anderson, Esq., Rugby, and Andrew Elliott, Esq., Galt. The latter two are not strangers to a great many of you, having been here recently as delegates on the very important question of "Sugar Beets," one of the most important matters that effect us at present, as it is of vital importance to this community to get a beet sugar factory established in our district, which has been shown to be the most favoured place in Ontario, all things considered, quantity and quality of beets, as per test, railways and water wage for carrying, water for manufacturing, cheap power, abundance of lime stone of best quality, we should all endeavour to secure a factory and give one more outlet for the product of the land.

Our membership has not increased in the same ratio as in former years, but at present we have 188 members, the largest we have ever had, but it is not over one-third of what we should have in a county such as ours. We think that our Directors could easily, with a very little effort, get a few additional members in their localities, so as to help along the cause so very important to all the prosperity of the agriculturists, without whom all other callings sink into insignificance as compared with the farmer.

We again ask you to co-operate with your Executive, in order that our Institute may be placed, as it should, among the largest and best in this province.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. M. ELLIOTT, President. WM. COLLINS, Secretary.

June 7th, 1902.

CASES IN COUNTY COURT

Will Open on Tuesday Before His Honour Judge Ketchum.

Four Actions That Will be Disposed of —A Summary of the Same.

The June Sittings of the County Court and the General Sessions of the peace for the County of Peterborough will open at 1 o'clock on Tuesday before His Honour Judge Ketchum. The following cases have been set down for hearing:

REID VS. MIDDLETON.

The Plaintiff is Arthur Robert Reid of town, and the Defendant is James Middleton, of Smith. The action is concerning an alleged infringement of a certain patent known as "The Frost Brand Fence Post."

O. A. Langley, Lakefield, for plaintiff; Roger & Bennett for defendant.

SIMS VS. LANE.

A. E. Sims, plaintiff, is a baker of Peterborough and defendant, Mary Eleanor Lane, trading under the style and name of Lane & Co., is the defendant. Action taken to recover $150 damages for breach of contract, and $49.25 wages, alleged to be owing plaintiff by defendant, who had, according to statement of claim, agreed to employ plaintiff at a salary of $12 per week for twelve months from July 1901, but who, it is alleged, wrongfully, and without just cause, discharged plaintiff in January. Defendant claims that plaintiff was not discharged, as alleged, and that after said alleged contract plaintiff wilfully misconducted himself.

Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, solicitors for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall, defendant's solicitors.

ONTARIO BANK VS. MOORE.

Plaintiff is the Ontario Bank, and defendant is James Moore, a farmer of Asphodel, and defendant Ann Moore, is his wife. Plaintiffs charge that relying upon the representation of Ann Moore, made shortly before May 12, 1902, that she was authorized by her husband to draw $200 as endorsed by his signature, they afterwards paid to her $150, and say that by error and mistake they subsequently paid Jas. Moore the sum of $204.50, when in fact there was only due him the sum of $50. Paintiffs claim that they are entitled to the repayment of the sum of $150, and interest, from the defendant, who is liable.

Defendant Jas. Moore denies that he put his signature to a cheque for $200, and that the defendant, Ann Moore, did not present alleged cheque and plaintiffs did not pay her the sum of $150, as alleged, nor did she sign alleged cheque for $150 and defendants claim plaintiffs are not entitled to recover any of the sum as alleged.

Poumette & McWilliams, solicitors for plaintiffs; J. G. Sherry, Norwood, solicitor for defendants.

KENNY VS. DOXEE.

The plaintiff, Archie Kenny, a cheesemaker of Campbellford, and the defendant is A. Doxee, of Chandos. The action is brought to recover damages to the extent of $150 for alleged breach of contract, claiming that he was wrongfully dismissed from the employ of the defendant. In addition he claims $60 wages alleged to be due him, $11 lent, and interest on $71 from May 11, 1901, until the date of judgment.

In his statement of defence the defendant denies the existence of such a contract, and that the plaintiff left his services voluntarily. He alleges that the defendant was an incompetent cheese maker, but is willing to pay him $45 that he admits is due the plaintiff.

A. L. Colville for plaintiff; Stratton and Hall for defendant.

A WHOLESALE BRIBE.

The Winnipeg Free Press, in discussing the reasons which led such constituencies as Sault Ste. Marie and Algoma to go against the Ross Government, to whom they owe so much, says the result is chiefly due to an audacious proposition, involving wholesale bribery.

The Conservative candidates in Sault Ste. Marie was Mr. Miscampbell, who has long represented a Simcoe constituency in the Legislature, and would be certain to be a member of the Conservative Government should be one be formed in Ontario. Mr. Whitney and Mr. Miscampbell journeyed through these districts and in their addresses commiserated with the settlers on the hardships inseparable from settlement in a new country, which, however, they were careful to charge up to the Liberal Government. They announced that it was their policy, if returned, to permit the settler to own the pine on his farm. This was the bribe that did the business for the Conservative candidates in these constituencies. Should Mr. Whitney, in the course of the next year or so, reach power, he would, of course, be obliged to repudiate this promise; or to fulfil it at the cost of bankrupting the province. In the first place the pine standing on the farms of Algoma is in the great majority of cases no longer the property of the province; it has been sold by public auction, at high figures to lumber companies. Only by compensating them, could the settlers be permitted to make use of the pine. In districts where the pine has not yet been sold by the Government, to change the law that the free grant or the sale of public lands for cultivation carries no right to the standing pine, which has been the rule since the earliest times, would be to deprive the province of its chief source of revenue; and to convert the whole business of colonization in New Ontario into a gambling transaction. At present farms are sold to settlers at the nominal price of 50 cents an acre, where they are not given away freely; it certainly would not be businesslike for the Government to dispossess itself, on these terms, of lands carrying pine worth tens of thousands of dollars.

Mr. Whitney, if returned to power, would not dare to carry out the reckless inducements he has been holding out to the settlers of New Ontario. That he should have resorted to such contemptible tactics for the purpose of achieving power is not in the least to his credit.

THE COAL BARONS AND THEIR SERFS.

The perennial struggle between capital and labour, is raging in a most seriously acute form around the pit mouths of the coal fields of Pennsylvania. It appears that there has been in existence there the worst form of middle age feudalism. The greed of capital seeks dividends as the first consideration, ignoring altogether popular rights, and the rights of labour. Even the rights of labour are contested, and the cool combinations have as a part of their programme the smashing of labour unions.

The Ottawa Journal thus refers to the conditions prevailing in the coal regions; "In the Chicago Record-Herald, one of the great papers of the United States, which combines enterprise with character, a series of letters are appearing from Walter Wellman, a capable and well-known journalist, describing labour conditions in the coal fields of Pennsylvania.

"For years, Mr. Wellman shows by statistics and quotations, the so-called coal barons were the greatest employers of imported contract labour in the country. They strove to institute and perpetuate a system of serfdom by corralling poverty-stricken and ignorant foreigners in their wretched mining towns, where they were compelled to live in the companies' shanties, to trade at the companies' stores, and thus set debt against wages to the continued sacrifice of their independence.

'That each employer was a heartless tyrant does not follow, but tyranny and greed were both promoted undoubtedly by such business methods; and with the monopolizing of the business by great syndicates, the feeling of personal responsibility and of human interest on the part of the employer naturally diminished. While the traffic is actually one in flesh and blood, the single thought is of dividends, and the public has reason to know this as well as the miner. The power acquired is too great to be safely entrusted to any living man or group of men. Just so long as it exists it will be abused, and both the feudalism to which Mr. Wellman refers and the monopoly which exacts tribute from the public ought to be destroyed.

"So far, politicians and governments have shown no disposition to grapple with the great curse of the monopoly of the coal fields, although the expropriation by the state of a few of the many mines would enable competition which would ensure healthy conditions throughout. The sole factor, apart from the general progress of enlightenment, which in the coal fields has tended to elevate the workingmen or to protect the public pocket has been the formation of the labour unions. And so far as observation goes at present, the growth of the strength of the labour unions is the only factor to check the greed and oppressiveness of the coal combine. The combine realizes this; it proposes to "break the unions."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Montreal Herald refers to the guerilla operations which some politicians are continuing now that the main campaign is over. "It must be tantalizing in the extreme," says the Herald, referring to the Conservative party, "to come so near and miss."

Thirty-two gentlemen who were in the last legislature will not sit in the present. There were thirteen of the old members who did not offer for re-election and eighteen suffered defeat. About one-third of the new legislature will be composed of new material, and the most of these new men will be without parliamentary experience. Mr. R. A. Wardell, Wentworth, died between dissolution and the issue of the writs.

In 1901 the number of inhabitants, by Provinces, to each conviction for drunkenness in Canada was as follows;

Ontario	560
Quebec	557
Nova Scotia	332
Manitoba	310
New Brunswick	255
British Columbia	147
Prince Edward Island	428
The Territories	251
Average for Canada	424

Ontario heads the list for sobriety. While the number of inhabitants to each conviction in the whole of Canada is 424, in Ontario it is 560.

Perhaps you have puzzled over the terms of the stock market and bucket shop and wondered what was meant by "Puts and calls." In the stock market a "put" is a privilege bought by an operator entitling him to "put" a certain number of shares at a certain price to the person who sells him the privilege. The person who buys the "put" practically bets that the stock is going down; the seller of the "put" bets that it is not. A "call" is just the reverse; the purchaser obtains the rights to call for a certain number of shares at a certain price, he betting in effect that the stock will rise in price, while the seller bets that it will stand still or fall.

PREMIER ROSS' KINDLY ACT.

(Kingston Whig.)

A kindly act of Premier Ross is spoken of with praise at Glencoe. The bouquet with which he was presented he in return left at the bedside of a dying citizen, a personal friend yet political opponent, John A. Leitch. He has since died, but his hours were soothed by the generous touch of sympathy.

AN AMERICAN INVASION.

The Western Farmer is Moving North for Cheaper and Better Lands.

The Canadian West is going to be filled up with American farmers. Eighteen thousand of them went in last year. Twenty-five thousand more, will be in by the close of this year, and as for the future, the volume of the inflow can be guessed at. But it is bound to increase from year to year, until all available land is taken, and there is a good deal of room yet in the Canadian West.

Stories of this new movement in the centre of the North American continent come from many sources, but chiefly from Alberta and Assiniboia, where the Americans settle. A story from the other end of the route is brought to Montreal by Mr. A. C. Shaw, general agent of the Canadian Pacific passenger department. Mr. Shaw is stationed at Chicago, and it is part of his business to stimulate this movement. He has an opportunity of observing it closely, for most of this emigration filters through Chicago.

The movement from the Western States to Canada is only beginning, said Mr. Shaw this morning. It has been a little slow in starting, but education has been required. The States which are furnishing most of the settlers are Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota. Now, those States are pretty cold in the winter. People who live in them do not object to the cold they have, but they do not want any more. They are aware of the general law that as you go north the cold increases. As Canada is a good many hundred miles north of them, they, have had an idea that the Canadian plains were more fit for polar bears than men. As a matter of fact, the winter climate of Alberta is less rigorous than in the States spoken of. The people of those States are just commencing to find this out. As this disadvantage is being removed from their minds, a big advantage is replacing it. That is, the comparative cost of land.

In Iowa and Minnesota land is worth from $60 to $100 an acre. In Canada land which will produce just as abundantly, costs $5 an acre. Now when a farmer's son decides to marry and settle down, the purchase of a farm of any size at $100 an acre is a pretty big contract. Instead of attempting to do this the young Americans are leaving the American North West behind them and turning to the North, where land is cheap and opportunities are good. Besides this a great many people are selling their high priced lands in the United States and with the capital thus obtained are coming to Canada, where they can obtain and stock large farms and have money left.

The people who go from the western States are the best sort of immigration agents. They write descriptions of the Canadian West, its lands, its climate and its opportunities to the friends they have left behind them, and the result is that those friends, or some of them, join in the procession.

The Canadian Pacific last year gave very cheap excursion rates from the Canadian West to the Western States. This gave people a chance to go back and tell the people what sort of a country they were living in.

If there is a good crop this year you will see an unparelleled rush to Alberta and adjoining territories.

LUMBAGO.

A Nova Scotia man has Found a Sure Remedy.

Claims That Lumbago can be Cured—He Himself had Suffered for 25 Years—Hope for Apparently Hopeless Cases.

Economy Point, N.S., June 8. —Special.—Mr. George S. McLaughlin of this place claims to have found a remedy which will cure any case of Lumbago.

Mr. McLaughlin himself has been a great sufferer with this disease, and has sought relief in very many treatments and remedies.

At last however, he came across a medicine which completely cured him, and which he claims any sufferer from Lumbago should be told of.

He says:—

"I was troubled with Lame Back for 25 years or more. Sometimes it was so severe I could not turn myself in bed.

"A slight cold or hard lifting would bring on a fearful attack and give me awful pain.

"I had tried many medicines and treatments, but never found anything to do me any good until I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My brother, who kept a small grocery store and sold medicines, told me that he had heard that they had cured a great many people of Lumbago, and he advised me to try them.

"I commenced a treatment and in a short time all the pain left my back and it became as stout and strong as ever.

"Wonderful to say I have had no return of the terrible Lumbago since.

"It is now some years since I was cured, and I have said nothing about it, for I was afraid it would come back, and that I would have to keep on using the Pills in order to be well.

"But now I am satisfied it is gone forever, and know that I am safe in making this public statement.

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure any case of Lumbago or Lame Back, for they helped me out and nobody could have it much worse than I had."

A SIMPLE CEREMONY

Surrender Made So Easy That Burghers are Surprised.

4,342 RIFLES SURRENDERED.

Majority of Boers Appear Glad That the War Is Over and That They Can Join Their Families—Peace Celebration at Pretoria in Which 6,000 Troops Take Part—Thanksgiving in London.

London, June 9.—The War Office has received the following from Lord Kitchener, under yesterday's date: "The disarmament of the Boers is proceeding satisfactorily, and good spirit is displayed everywhere. Yesterday 4,342 rifles had been surrendered up to date."

The following formalties are observed when Gen. Botha, Gen. Dewet or any of the Boer commandants accompany the British officer who has been detailed to receive surrenders: The Boer leader goes out to meet a commando, and returns at its head. The Boers who come in are generally dressed in dilapidated clothing but have a smart and soldierly bearing. The Boers who are to surrender are assembled, and the Boer leader delivers an address to his men, urging them to listen to the British officer who has been detailed on this work. The British officer then makes a speech to the men of the commando, in which he informs them of the admiration of King Edward and the British nation for the gallant struggle and the bravery of their people, and promises that the British authorities will do their utmost to help them resettle on their farms. A meal is then provided for the Boers, after which the formal surrenders occur. In many such instances, the Boers have cheered King Edward, and they have sometimes expressed surprise that no army was sent out to receive their surrenders.

The Boers are allowed to retain their horses and saddles, and the majority of them appear to be glad that the war is at an end, and that they will be enabled to join their families.

A striking sign of the altered conditions in South Africa is that Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner, rode from Pretoria to Johannesburg last Saturday, accompanied by only two staff officers.

A few of the Boer women still inveigh against surrender, but the general feeling among them is in favor of making the best of the situation.

Throughout the dominions of the British Empire, especially in the principal towns of South Africa, thanksgiving for the return of peace was held yesterday. Lord Kitchener attended thanksgiving service at Pretoria, at which 6,000 British troops were present.

Three Cheers For the King.

Pretoria, June 8.—The service of thanksgiving for the return of peace was held in the principal square of Pretoria. The sun shone brilliantly, and the sight was impressive.

Outside of the roped enclosure for the troops were gathered many thousands of the townspeople and a goodly sprinkling of Boers, whose demeanor was most respectful. The Archbishop of Cape Town officiated at the service and Lord Kitchener, Gen. Baden-Powell and Lady Methuen and other prominent persons were present. The massed bands of various regiments supplied the music, and the troops and people joined in singing the hymns with wonderful effect. The singing of "God Save the King" and Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional" closed the service.

Lord Kitchener then mounted a dais and called for three cheers for King Edward. The response from everybody assembled in the square was immediate and unrestrained.

THANKSGIVING IN LONDON.

King Edward and Members of Royal Family at St. Paul's.

London, June 9.—The noisy jubilation, with which London has resounded for the last week, was succeeded yesterday by more subdued, although not less impressive, public demonstration of thankfulness for the return of peace in South Africa. The thanksgiving services in London were typical of the services held throughout the Empire, but the presence of King Edward and other members of the royal family at the principal devotional services at St. Paul's in London, and the passing of the royal personages to and from St. Paul's Cathedral, where thousands of British subjects and visitors in London gave thanksgiving day in the metropolis the added feature of a notable historic occasion.

The Blessings of Peace.

The sermon by the Bishop of St. Epney was short and simple, and was preached on the effective text, "The Blessings of Peace." The service was concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

The members of the royal family returned from the Cathedral to Buckingham Palace by way of the Victoria Embankment, and King Edward and the other royal personages received ovations all along the route.

Will Die in Holland.

Brussels, June 9.—Mr. Kruger declares that he will end his days in Holland. The British Government had offered to give him transportation to South Africa, but the old man's grasp in life is short, and his dreams have come to naught.

Arrangements Almost Complete.

Pretoria, June 8.—The arrangements for the disposal of the surrendered burghers are almost complete. No large concentrations will be allowed in the outlying districts owing to the difficulty which might arise in feeding the people. Those burghers who can subsist on their farms will be given ten days' rations and allowed to begin their new life immediately. Those who are unable to subsist on their farms will be permitted to go to their families in the camps and remain until their homes are once more made habitable, and all others will be divided among the various camps.

Federation of South Africa.

London, June 9.—The present aspect of the South African situation is giving great satisfaction to all parties in Great Britain. It is fully recognized that the terms respecting the future government of the new states are so vague that the British authorities will retain complete discretion, and there is no specific demand which the Boers will be able to advance within any definite time.

The impression prevails that the Government has no intention ever to restore the constitution in Cape Colony, which was suspended a few months ago. It is believed that Mr. Chamberlain has a comprehensive plan, which while not correctly described by the term federation will bring all the British in South Africa under closer relationship than in the ante-bellum days. This plan will probably not be announced at present, and the provisional Government will continue for a considerable time.

Boers Want to Go Back.

Denver, Col., June 9.—Twenty-seven Boer refugees in this city have formulated an appeal to the British Ambassador at Washington, relative to their return to South Africa. These twenty-seven speak of the 90 Boers who are in Colorado. They ask that arrangements be made for their return to South Africa, and promise to be law-abiding citizens. The appeal has been forwarded to Washington.

Kruger to Go to Africa

Amsterdam, June 9.—It is reported here that Mr. Kruger has declined the facilities offered by Great Britain for his return to South Africa, but has accepted Queen Wilhelmina's proffer of a Dutch vessel to convey him to South Africa when he decides to return there.

Plot at Pretoria.

London, June 9.—It is reported from Pretoria that on the eve of the peace meeting at Vereeniging, May 15, over sixty arrests were made by the military authorities in Pretoria of persons concerned in an extensive plot. Their program was almost identical with that of the Cordna conspiracy. They were to blow up the Government buildings, the Palace of Justice and Lord Kitchener's residence, and to spike all the guns in the artillery barracks. The report says that lawyers and chemists, and Boer and Dutch prisoners on parole were concerned.

First Before the Court.

The Hague, June 9.—The International Court of Arbitration has been notified of the conclusion of an agreement between the United States and Mexico, to submit to the court the dispute regarding the payment of damages in connection with certain church property in California. If this convention is ratified it will be the first case to come before the court.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., June 9.—David Korry, a Syrian, of Brockville, Ont., was Saturday held for the United States Grand Jury for violation of the immigration law. He is charged with having smuggled four Syrians across the river and sending them on foot 15 miles to Hammond, where they boarded a train for the west.

MR. WHITNEY'S PROMISE.

French-Canadian Representation in His Cabinet That Was to Be.

Montreal, June 9.—Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P., the Conservative leader for this Province, stated, in the course of an address to the Club Morin, that he had gone to the assistance of Mr. Whitney in the recent Ontario election because Mr. Whitney had promised solemnly to put an end to the grievance of which their fellow-countrymen in that Province complained, namely, that they were not represented in the Cabinet, although they form a minority as strong as that in the Province of Quebec. "Mr. Whitney," said Mr. Monk, "undertook to give an important portfolio to a French-Canadian, and the promise he made of his own accord, being convinced that it was an act of justice. In going there I had the conviction of having done something of use both to our fellow-countrymen and to our country." Mr. Monk added that Dr. Reaume, who was elected in North Essex, would be a Minister today had Mr. Whitney been successful.

RESULT OF THE RECOUNTS.

London, June 9.—Recount in East Middlesex gave Dr. Routledge (Liberal) 21 majority.

Stratford, June 9.—The recount in North Perth seats Monteith (Con.) by 2 majority.

Milton, June 9.—The Halton recount gave Barber (Liberal) 25 majority.

Welland, June 9.—Mr. Gross (Liberal) majority, after the recount, is 112.

Recounts to Be Held.

Stratford, June 9.—The Conservatives have demanded a recount in South Perth, where Stock (Liberal) has 71 of a majority, and this will probably be held here on Wednesday. The necessary papers were served on a number of parties Saturday evening.

Hamilton, June 9.—Geo. S. Lynch Staunton, K. C., acting for A. R. Wardell, Saturday applied for a recount of the ballots cast in North worth. Judge Snider fixed next Wednesday at 9.30 o'clock, at the Court House here, for the recount.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and long for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Drowned at Vancouver, B.C.

Toronto, June 9.—News reached the city last night of the death by drowning at Vancouver, B.C., of Stephen Howard Thurston, who for 20 years lived in the East End here. The telegram announcing his death was received by deceased's brother, W. D. Thurston. The message stated that Thurston was riding a horse which backed over a bridge, falling into the north arm of the Fraser River. Deceased was 30 years of age and was born here. He was a member of the Philharmonic Society of Vancouver. He is survived by his mother, father, six brothers and two sisters.

Honored at Their Home.

Quebec, June 9.—At 2.30 yesterday afternoon Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Minister of Justice, and Mr. William Power, M.P. for Quebec West, were honored by the inhabitants of their native place, Sillery, irrespective of creed, race or political opinion, in a special manner. They were presented with addresses and two handsome souvenir gifts as a token of appreciation for services rendered.

SPEEDY SETTLEMENT.

Prospect of President Roosevelt's Efforts in Coal Strike.

MORGAN WILLING TO ARBITRATE

The Vanderbilt Interest, Though, Are Opposing All Concessions to Miners—25,000 Miners in Bituminous Fields Are Now Out, and 10,000 Soft Coal Miners Joined Them in Sympathy on Saturday.

New York, June 9.—Speedy settlement of the anthracite coal strike may be the outcome of conferences now going on in Washington between President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna, to which Carroll D. Wright, the Commissioner of Labor, will be made a party upon his return from Massachusetts, in response to a summons from the White House.

The President has received information that the railroads controlled by J. Pierpont Morgan are disposed to meet the strikers half way, but that they are deterred by tht Vanderbilt interests in the Delaware and Hudson and Lackawanna, who oppose all concessions.

Twenty-five thousand miners are now on strike in the bituminous fields of Virginia and West Virginia. Rioting occurred at Keystone, in the latter State, Saturday, in which a mine boss was killed.

Gains were made by the anthracite miners in Pennsylvania.

At the end of the fourth week of the anthracite the losses are estimated as follows: Loss to miners in wages, $5,185,000; loss to operators in price of coal (normal), $10,408,000; loss to business men in the coal region, $3,200,000; loss to employes other than miners, $1,206,000; estimated general loss outside of coal region to business interests, $2,000,000; total, $21,999,000.

Soft Coal Men Out.

Huntington, W. V., June 9.—Advices from various points along the Norfolk and Western Railroad Saturday are to the effect that almost every soft coal mine along the line is tied up, the miners generally obeying the strike order. Something like ten thousand men are out in that field.

Morgan in Effigy.

Wilkes-Barre, June 9.—J. Pierpont Morgan was hung in effigy in one of the streets of South Wilkes-Barre by a crowd of men and boys Saturday morning. The day marked the end of the fourth week of the strike, and the miners and their employers are farther apart than ever.

Paine's Celery Compound

Positively and Permanently Cures.

It put the System in Perfect Condition to Cope With all Hot Weather Dangers.

During the month of June people should closely attend to their condition of health. Small streams make mighty, rushing rivers; the little ills of life when neglected, frequently bring on maladies that end in death.

The so-called trifles of to-day — weak and deathly feelings, nervous twitchings, debility, sleeplessness, and heavy, dull pain in the head — may in a few days result in dread disease, paralysis, awful paresis or insanity.

This is the time when Paine's Celery Compound should be used by old and young who feel they are not up to the standard of full health, strength and activity. The hot enervating weather of summer will soon overtake the weak, languid, nervous and broken-down. The results will be appalling and fatal to thousands, if the system be not fortified by that best of medicines, Paine's Celery Compound, no other medicine in the world like it for making pure, rich blood, and for bestowing that robust health that can successfully cope with the dangers that have to be encountered in midsummer.

HANDSOME QUARTERS

Of the Stroud Tea Company at No. 366 George Street.

The latest addition to Peterborough's up-to-date business houses is that of the branch store of the Stroud Tea Company, at No. 366 George street. The premises have been fitted up in a very luxuriant manner and all modern conveniences, as to store accommodation, etc., have been introduced. The woodwork is for the most part finished in the natural colour of ash. The ceiling is of the purest white which harmonizes very effectively with the pretty shade of blue on the walls. Plenty of light is admitted during the day by means of the large plate glass window at the front and a sky-light at the back, whilst at night the store is lighted by electricity, very handsome hanging fixtures being used.

The Peterborough branch of the Stroud Tea Company makes the 14th branch that that Company now conducts in Canada and their opening here will be looked upon with much favour by citizens in general as there are few people who do not appreciate such enterprise as the Company has shown by opening up an establishment of the kind in Peterborough. The Company is one of the oldest and most popularly known throughout Canada, having been established in Montreal in 1868, and in succeeding years it has experienced a marked degree of prosperity in its enterprise.

A feature that has for the past 18 years been characteristic of the Stroud Tea Company is that they conduct a premium system on the percentage plan. This has become very popular elsewhere and will no doubt prove to be the same in Peterborough. The handsome display of glassware and China is for the customers to choose from. And this very handsome display of glass and China ware adds materially to the appearance of the store on the inside.

Enabled to purchase direct from the growers in large quantities, the company has become famous for the excellence of its goods, ranging in teas, from Japans to Oolongs, and in coffees, the finest Arabians and Old Government Javas. The Company's foreign agencies enable the saving of the profit to the middleman, and the assurance is, therefore, to use their own words, "Our stock will be full and our prices as close as an honest firm can make them."

The Peterborough representative of the firm will be Mr. W. J. Tarrow, who is well and favourably known to the people of Peterborough, and is quite capable of conducting a business such as he has been placed in charge of.

To inaugurate the business the company will give direct to every customer purchasing a pound of 30c, 40c, or 50c tea on Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 7th, 9th, 10th and 11th, a dainty China cup and saucer, the customer to choose from some eighty pieces. Telephone 181.

Excellent Addresses.

HONOUR TO THE 57TH.

Sgt.-Major Brittain is Winning Honours for the Town.

By a letter received to-day it is learned that Sergt.-Major Brittain, the representative of the 57th Regt. on the Coronation Contingent, was first appointed Colour-Sergeant of the Infantry Company, and has since been appointed drill sergeant. When it is remembered that this company is composed of the picked men of all the Infantry Regiments of Canada, and that nearly all of them are themselves Non-Commissioned officers in their own corps, it is no small compliment to the 57th that its representative is appointed Drill Instructor of the rest.

This appointment seems to indicate that the authorities at headquarters gave the preference to Sergt.-Major Brittain, of the two names sent in to them, with a view of utilizing his services in this way.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Edward McCorry, of Millbrook, is in town to-day visiting his father, Sergt. Fred McCorry.

ANNUAL OUTING

Of the Members of the C. D. A., of Peterborough, to Stony Lake.

The annual outing of the C.D.A., of Peterborough, took place on Saturday afternoon, to Stony Lake. It proved to be one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the club, and should be long remembered by the members thereof.

The party was composed of Messrs. Hal. B. Burnham, Dickson Davidson, W. T. Hall, H. Rush, jr., R. N. Bell, Frank C. Bradburn, Llewellyn Hall, P. O. Dumble, Jim Hamilton, Jack Erskine, A. E. Jackson, and E. S. Clarry. They left here by 'bus at 3.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon for Lakefield, where they boarded the steamer Alert, which had been chartered for the occasion. McCracken's was reached in due time, where the members of the club remained for the night.

Yesterday the party cruised round the lake, visiting many points of interest, including High Falls, Crow's Landing, Jack's Creek, White Lake, Julian's Landing, Juniper, the river drivers' camps, etc. The party arrived home early this morning, delighted with the scenery of Stony Lake, and only wishing that the trip was of longer duration.

Captain White, with his obliging crew, and his trim little steamer, won the praises of the boys.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

To Rev. Mr. Nickle and Mrs. Nickle, of Bridgnorth.

As the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Nickle, of Bridgenorth, returned home on Friday evening, May 30th, after a few day's absence, they were greatly surprised to find that their home was already occupied, as the members of the Zion Epworth League had assembled there to show their love and respect for one, who had laboured so successfuly among them for three years.

As the evening advanced they were again surprised when the president, Mrs. Jas. H. Northey, presented Rev. Mr. Nickle and Mrs. Nickle, with a handsome mantel clock, with the following inscription engraved on it;

"Presented to the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Nickle, by the Zion Epworth League, 1902."

The Vice-President, Miss Laura Allen, read the following address;

Dear Friends, — We, the members of the Zion Epworth League, desire to express our very deep sorrow at your departure from our circle and cannot allow you to leave without expressing our very deep appreciation of your labours on our behalf, and the great esteem in which you are held by the members of our League, as well as by the people of this section.

During your three years of labour among us we, the members of our society, felt that in you were those qualities of faithfulness and true sacrifice which contributed to our successful work as a Christian organization, ever ready to give your unselfish devotion to whatever tended to promote our interests.

As a true pastor, we have learned to regard you and Mrs. Nickle with an ever deepening esteem, which will remain with each other of us, while memory lasts.

Our prayers and best wishes for your future spiritual and temporal prosperity will go with you to your new home.

We trust, therefore, dear pastor, that you and Mrs. Nickle will accept of this clock as a slight token of our esteem with the spirit in which it is given, not because of its financial value, but of the deep regards which it is intended to represent.

We know that our loss will be some others' gain, and we pray that you may ever meet with success wherever the Master may call you to go.

We again assure you of our best wishes, and leave it to Him who is able to protect and guide each one of us to that eternal home, where there will be no more parting but everlasting union.

Signed on behalf of the League.

MRS. J. H. NORTHEY,
President.
MISS LAURA ALLEN,
Vice-President.

Although taken greatly by surprise both Mr. and Mrs. Nickle responded in a very suitable manner, thanking the League for their very great kindness, after which refreshments were served.

The remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse after which the guests separated to their several homes, thinking of the enjoyable evening they had spent together.

57TH REGIMENT AT CHURCH.

They Attended Divine Service at St. John's.

REV. LANGFELDT'S ADDRESS.

The Presentation of the Medals by Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers—Sgt. Green's Record.

The first church parade of the season of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, took place yesterday afternoon to St. John's church, where the members of the regiment were addressed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt. Considering that a great many of the men were out of town yesterday the turn out of the Regiment was creditable and the men looked smart and well.

The Veterans were also in the parade. They were in command of Mr. A. P. Poussette, President of the local Veterans' Association. The Rangers were, of course, in command of Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards. Both bands were in attendance and the parade down George street and over to St. John's church was watched by many townspeople.

The address to the Regiment was delivered by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, and was suited to the occasion. He referred to the late war in South Africa, and said he felt sure that all over the world the news that peace had been proclaimed in South Africa was welcomed, and especially by those who lived under the British flag. Many people at first did not understand the cause of the war, and some even doubted whether England was justified in taking the action she did. But when it was found out that the Boers had failed to carry out agreements made with Great Britain, and that they never respected the rights of the British as laid down in the treaty of 1834, it became clear to all that some action must be taken whereby these people would be taught to respect the British Empire. The signing of the peace terms by the Boer leaders showed that this had been accomplished. Could God, in Heaven, look down in sympathy from His throne, upon that conflict, when so many men have fallen? The speaker cited similar instances from the Old Testatment, and even Christ Himself had become angry at the money changers in the temple, and had ordered their retirement. And would not He also look with a friendly eye upon an army who was forcing a nation to live up to Divine law? British people believed that Christ was their King, and therefore the British nation, by doing what they believed was right in the sight of their Lord, had attained the high standing they enjoyed to-day. British statesmen were Christian men, and a nation that builds its cause on such a basis would stand the test of time.

The speaker then brought his remarks nearer home and referred to the honour the men of the Regiment felt in being soldiers of such an Empire. But how much greater, and with what grander reward would it be, to be a soldier of Him who was King of All? How grand it would be be for each one to realize what it meant to have the peace of God shed abroad in our hearts, and live and fight for him who had said, "Be ye followers of Me."

At the conclusion of the service the men were lined up on the church grounds and Long Service Medals were presented to the following:

Staff-Sgt. Green.
Sgt. Sharpe.
Pte. Harper.
Pte. Blade.
Pte. Mein.
Pte. Crow.

The presentation of the medals was made by Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, a former commanding officer of the regiment as most of the men had served under him.

The presentation of the medal to Sgt. Green was the signal for great applause as it was announced that during his 20 odd years of service he has never missed a single parade. This is an enviable record and one that Sgt. Green may well feel proud of as it only goes to show what a faithful Orderly Room Clerk that the 57th Regiment possesses.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

CRICKET.

The Peterborough Colts sent a team down to Port Hope on Saturday to play T.C.S. II eleven. They were defeated in a close game by 10 runs. T. C. S. went to bat first and made 49 runs. The Colts in their innings knocke dout 39. T.C.S. again went to bat and were retired for 23. Time was called before Peterborough could go in again as the teams agreed to draw stumps at 6 o'clock. Both sides field well, but the batting of the Colts was weak, due no doubt to lack of coaching. However, the boys hope that some of the cricketers will soon begin to take an interest in their welfare and will turn out before the next gam eto coach them a little. The following tells the story;

A cricket team from town will play at Lakefield on Saturday next.

LACROSSE.

Mr. Jack McCabe left to-day for Toronto, where he will join the Toronto University Lacrosse Team, which will go to Baltimore to-morrow to play the Johns Hopkins University team.

The Oshawa lacrosse team is said to be a team of ringers. It is further said that every prominent lacrosse town from Sherbrooke to Vancouver is represented on the team. Anyway they are a speedy aggregation and quite easily turned down a scratch team from Peterborough on Saturday afternoon. The Peterborough 12 was made up of what ever members of the Y.M.C.A. and Athletics that could get away and was consequently rather weak. So much so in fact that the Lake Ontario town succeeded in winning out by a score of 21-2.

There were a number of surprises contained in the results of Saturday's lacrosse games, which were as follows; Brantford, 11, St. Catharines, 1; Woodstock, 7, London, 3; Capitals, 4, Nationals, 3; Cornwall, 12, Montreal, 2; Shamrocks, 5, Tecumsehs, 2.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

On account of the fact of fourteen new players joining the Bowling Club since the rinks were selected three additional skips have been ask to act, viz: Messrs. C. N. Brown, R. J. Frost and O. C. Kirn. A slight change in the re-arrangement of the personnel of the rinks has been necessary and an entirely new schedule has been drawn up to go into operation on June 15th. Those desiring to join who are not identified with any rink should notify the secreatary immediately. A booklet containing a list of the rinks and the schedule of games will be issued this week.

FOOTBALL.

Jock Harty, the well known Queen's College hockey player, passed through the city on his way to the eastern necropolis—Kingston — last evening. Mr. Harty when asked about the chances of football for next season in the Limestone City, would have spoken at length had it not been for a lump which arose in his throat. However, from what could be gleaned from his remarks, Kingston, Ont., will have a team with about the speed of the junior series. Jock says that all attempts to find Guy Curtis have been of no avail and that he fears Guy has shared the fate of the Babes in the Wood. Can you picture Guy enveloped in autumn leaves?—Toronto Telegram.

MISCELLANEOUS.

London despatch: The programme for the coronation tournament, in which boxers and wrestlers from different parts of the world, chiefly America, will compete, was finally agreed on to-day. The contests will be held at the National Sporting Club, afternoon and evening, beginning with the afternoon of June 21, when there will be boxing competitions between representatives of Yale, Oxford, Cambridge and the English public schools. In the evening Spike Sullivan, American, and Jabez White will box for the lightweight championship, and Denver Ed. Martin and Bob Armstrong, Americans, will box for the coloured heavyweight championship of the world. On June 23, Joe Walcott and Tommy West, Americans, will meet for the welterweight championship of the world. On June 24 Frank Erne, American, and Pat Daly, English lightweight champion, will decide the lightweight championship of the world. The final event, June 25, will be a bout between Tom Sharkey and Gus Ruhlin, Americans, both of whom are now training here, the winner to meet the winner of the Jeffreies-Fitzsimmons fight for the heavyweight championship of the world, which will be decided July 25 at San Francisco.

NEW FRENCH CABINET

Made Up Entirely of Radical-Republicans.

THE PLATFORM OF THE CABINET

The Most Anti-Clerical Cabinet Since 1895 —The Humbert-Crawford Swindle to Be Investigated—M. Delcasse Remains as Minister of Foreign Affairs—New Premier Said to Be Cool and Clear-Headed.

Paris, June 9.—The new Ministry to succeed that of M. Waldeck-Rousseau is now definitely formed, and is a solid, homogeneous impersonation of the radical Republican majority of the new Chamber. The Cabinet is constituted as follows:

Premier, Minister of the Interior and Minister of Public Worship, Senator Combes.

Minister of Finance—M. Rouvier.

Minister of Justice—Senator Valle.

Minister of Foreign Affairs—M. Delcasse.

Minister of War—Gen. Andre.

Minister of Marine—M. Pelletan.

Minister of Public Instruction—Senator Chaumie.

Minister of Public Works—M. Marnejois.

Minister of Colonies—M. Dounergue.

Minister of Commerce—M. Trouillot.

The presence in the Cabinet of M. Delcasse insures the continuation of the sound, practical foreign policy pursued by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, who has held office since Nov. 1, 1898, when he succeeded Gabriel Hanotaux.. The retention of Gen. Andre shows that the new Government means to make the army an out and out Democratic-Republican institution, free from the privileges of caste or religion. One of the most important features of the new Cabinet is the acceptance of M. Valle, Senator of the Marne, of the portfolio of justice. Senator Calle, it will be recollected, was the chairman of the famous Committee of Investigation into the Panama scandal, and he to-day is foremost in demanding a rigid investigation to unearth the alleged official accomplices in the Humbert-Crawford affair. In fact, it is understood that M. Valle made such an investigation an absolute condition of his taking office, and his becoming Minister of Justice is regarded as the first step toward the drastic sifting and purification of the French judiciary.

Roughly speaking, the platform of the new Cabinet may be summarized as follows: Financial economy, thorough and severe execution of the law of associations, the repeals of the Falloux law so favorable to the teaching religious orders, the State purchase of railroads, military service for two years, and fiscal reform, probably including an income tax. The opponents of the Cabinet, including not only the Nationalists and Reactionaires, but also the moderate Conservative organs like The Journal des Debats and The Figaro, accuse it of being a Ministry of combat instead of a Ministry of appeasement, as they declare the country had a right to expect after President Loubet's Dunkirk speech. The new Cabinet is probably the most radical and most anti-clerical one since the dreaded radical Ministry of Leon Bourgeois, which caused such loud commotion during its brief existence in 1895, and in which M. Combes occupied the post of Minister od Public Instruction, but the experience during the Third Republic shows that the theory that a radical Ministry is a dangerous one must be denounced.

The new Premier, Justin Louis Emile Combes, a doctor of medicine, a doctor of letters, a Senator of the Department Charente Inferioure, often vice-president of the Senate, and for a year leader of the Senatorial group of the Democratic Left, or the Radical Republicans, is a cool, clear-headed, practical man, endowed with a vast store of common sense, who will complete his sixty-seventh year next September. He is an early riser and an indefatigable worker. He is very active, and a little over 5 feet 3 inches in height, being, with the exception of M. Thiers, the shortest public man of prominence who has held office during the Third Republic. He received his early instruction in the Roman Catholic seminary of Albi. He has been a schoolmaster, and is a foremost authority in all matters of education. He is a frequent contributor to The Revue Contemporaine, in which he has written scholarly articles about Virgil, about Kant's metaphysics, about the philosophy of Saint Augustine, and about Saint Simonism. M. Combes has a good share of the old Jacobin spirit of the French Revolution, tempered by practical ideas of modern requirements, and he is a warm personal friend of President Loubet.

Such is the Cabinet which will make its bow to the chamber on Tuesday, and as new legislatures in France are famous for upsetting new ministries interesting and picturesque events are expected.

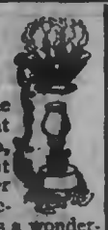
A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Seven Drowned in One Day.

New York, June 9.—A 70-mile-an-hour gale started to blow early yesterday afternoon, succeeding a brisk thunderstorm. It caused considerable disturbance in the shipping of the harbor. Seven people were drowned during the day.

Do You See It?



Look carefully at this little picture. There's a great deal to it. There's a lamp, that makes the heat. Right over it is the vaporizer that holds the Vapo-Cresolene. This Cresolene is a wonderful medicine. It kills most kinds of disease germs, and is a most remarkable healing agent. You simply breathe in the vapor of it, that's all; it goes all through your bronchial tubes, curing asthma, croup, coughs, catarrh, whooping-cough. 11

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.5; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co. 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Robinson, druggist.

FISHING FLEET IN A GALE.

Damage Wrought by a Storm on the Grand Banks.

St. John's Nfld., June 9.—News of the work of the northeast gale which has prevailed along the coastline of Newfoundland since Friday continues to arrive. In scores of harbors the storm has destroyed fishing property and many vessels have been damaged. Other vessels have been driven to sea, and fears are entertained for their safety. The tide here yesterday was the highest known in seventeen years. It is feared that many disasters have occurred on the Grand Banks. The storm was still raging on Saturday.

Dr. Webb Resigns.

New York, June 9.—The Herald says: Officials of the Cramp Steel Company, Limited, of Canada, Saturday confirmed the report that the resignation of Dr. W. Seward Webb, as a director, has been tendered and accepted. His retirement, it was said, had been deemed advisable in view of the collapse of the Webb-Meyer syndicate, May 2 last, which resulted in the failure of three Stock Exchange houses and the loss of millions of dollars by banks and investors. It was denied, however, that the resignation was demanded.

To Convert Italian Debt.

London, June 9.—There is reason to believe that associated bankers of New York, London, Paris and Berlin have just completed the principal arrangements for converting the Italian rentes. Nothing remains but the arrangement of details. The issue will be made early in the year 1903.

Could not do One Day's Work

Without Being Laid up for Two Days Afterward — Languid and Miserable—Cannot say Anything too Good for

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mrs. G. M. Brown, Cobourg, Ont., states: "I was completely run down in health last spring and could not do one day's work without being laid up for about two days afterward. I felt weak, languid and miserable most of the time, and was often blue and discouraged because of my continued ill-health. When in this state I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and did so with most satisfacory results. It built up my system wonderfully strengthened and restored my nerves, and took away all feelings of languor and fatigue. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and hope that others may profit by my experience."

People who are pale, weak and run down and are unable to find anything to build them up would do well to follow the advice of Mrs. Brown and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is bound to do you good, because it puts new life and vigour into the blood and nerves; 50 c a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 4

WHAT SHE WEARS.

Skirts and Bodices—Pretty Fancies. The Sack Model.

Skirts are all trimmed in one way or another, but there is less flouncing on foulard, etamine and taffeta skirts. Laces are so much used, entredeux especially, that, however the design may meander from top to bottom, the skirt lies quite flat and often has no finish to speak of at the bottom. This new feature gives rather an unfinished look to such skirts upon the whole, and when we find a very elaborate skirt trimming carried out most beautifully and observe at the bottom of its long train the most meager little folds of mousseline it does not seem quite harmonious. Besides, one knows that when two or three times worn it will need to be retrimmed, as chiffon in that form becomes shabby almost immediately.

There is nothing to recommend these glove fitting skirt tops for summer fabrics. They never did look well on any figure unless made of some firmer material, such as cloths or silks with a good "body." Fine tucking, well pressed, was the happiest compromise, but the majority now prefer this perfectly plain surface. But fortunately it is quite as much the modish thing to gauge or shirr or have tucks in groups upon skirt tops whenever one looks better with them so arranged.

Bodices repeat the trimmings on skirts in a modified way. Empiecements, tending toward both yokes and collars across the shoulders, are the general finish for tops of bodices, while the sleeves are all full in some way below the elbow. Few spring gowns will introduce greater fullness than is now seen in sleeves, but later the gauzes and nets will be sure to evolve into a greater bouffant style. Belts are running strongly into selfsame materials and trimmings as the gowns, repeating their design very often and at times carrying the color touch, which has been smartly entered at neckband or on the fronts. These belts offer quite a study in this way and show much ingenuity of conception. Neckbands have that well known straight line we have been wearing and remain in accord with belt very much.

Choux of ribbon on the left side of the bodice are seen so often that no fastidious client would care to wear what has been ruined by popularity. Delicate bits of color continue to be introduced upon neckband tops, on the self colored belts and occasionally enter into the sleeves.

Sashes are as modish as ever and tied in a variety of ways. Ribbons or mousseline sashes, which are single at the start from the belt, receive additions which double or treble their fullness toward the bottom. A series of rosettes or loose knots and bows become for many others their downward trimmings. Some of the latest sash trimmings start from the side bodice seams in folds seven or eight inches high, then taper down to the middle of the back, dropping on the skirt into a double knot, the ends hanging straight down close to the bottom of the skirt. For mousseline gowns, especially black ones, the sash ends are very wide and beautifully inset with lace, black when the gown is all black, black and white or all white when the rest of the trimming is of that character.

There is no praise too strong for the new model loose sack coat, with its sudden bias flare below the shoulders in the back, so simple, yet the most distingue wrap one could possibly wear.

There will be much jet as well as mixture of jet and steel seen in costly trimmings and worn in belt ornamentation, buttons, etc.

Pearl buttons and ornaments stand for the light summer gowns in the best of taste.

The costume shown is of sage green veiling and taffeta.—Vogue.

A Man and His Heart.

Once upon a time there was a rich old man who had a heart so weak that its faint beatings could hardly be heard; yet, in the metaphor of our time, that same heart was filled with love for a fair lady.

The lady heard of her wooer's physical and financial condition and looked upon his suit with extreme favor. The result was that they were married.

GRIM COURTSHIPS.

Kidnaping and Murder Still Extant in the Caucasus.

The manners and customs of the people of the Caucasus have not changed to a great extent since the country was subdued by Russia. One of the relics of the good old times to which the Caucasians especially cling is the custom of kidnaping the women whom they desire to make their wives. Recently a case of this kind resulted in a tragic end. A prominent inhabitant of the little Caucasian town of Katuhagan named Ismail Ogli Oki tried to kidnap the sister of his best friend's wife while his friend was absent from home. The girl resisted his attempt to carry her off, aided by her married sister. The baffled lover drew his sword and inflicted dangerous wounds on both the ladies. At this moment his friend returned and, enraged at finding what had occurred, killed Ismail on the spot. Then he cut off Ismail's head and carried it around to show the neighbors what a fearful revenge he had taken.

In the same district a young nobleman desired to marry the daughter of a neighboring landowner and invited the girl with her parents to a grand ball given at his castle. During the evening he found an opportunity of decoying the girl into a secluded part of the house, where she was seized by his men and placed in a carriage. The prince joined her and, in spite of the girl's entreaties, started out to drive to a place where they could be married without much delay.

The girl's father, on finding that his host had disappeared with his daughter, gave chase and, being on horseback, overtook the carriage. He shot the nobleman without ado and took his daughter home. The nobleman, however, had won her heart during the drive, and the girl was reluctant to marry the man of whom her father approved, but the stern parent insisted on the wedding taking place at once. The bride appeared in the church pale, but cool and collected. During the ceremony she drew a dagger and stabbed the bridegroom to the heart. Afterward she committed suicide.—London Mail.

Courtship In China.

A curious custom prevails at Huayning-haien, in Kwangsi. On the fifteenth day of the first month in each year all the young ladies and gentlemen take a walk to the Yenyen mountain. Each damsel carries a little box, which she deposits at the foot of the hill. Any young gentleman desirous of entering the bonds of matrimony may select one of the boxes and take it away with him, whereupon the fair owner of the box makes herself known, and an acquaintanceship is thus formed. Ill assorted matches are not likely to occur, as this custom is observed only among the well to do classes of society.

Mixing His Metaphors.

To Lord Rosebery's famous "spade and wind" metaphor may be added two or three lapses, not all of which are mixed metaphors, perpetuated by Lord Londonderry.

In 1896 Lord Londonderry threw the house of lords into roars of laughter during the debate on the second reading of the Irish land bill by gravely declaring that "this is the reason why you have failed to settle the Irish land question in the future as you have done in the past."

In the course of the same speech he concluded a period with, "This is the keystone of the bill, are you going to kill it?"

Better still was a sentence which he uttered in 1897 when speaking once more on the Irish land question, "That your lordship will see," referring to a quotation he had just made, "indorses up to the hilt what I have said."

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Held in St. St. Luke's Church Yesterday.

The Church was Most Appropriately Decorated for the Occasion—Other Notes of the Parish.

St. Luke's church had a very patriotic appearance yesterday for the occasion of the Thanksgiving service for peace. The church was a mass of flags, above the altar being the Canadian flag, on each side of which the Scotch and Irish flags were draped. The altar was draped with the Union Jack, and on the base of it stood a "Britannia." The pulpit and reading desks were also draped with large Union Jacks, and the picture of the King, which hung on the pulpit, was surrounded with Maple Leaves. In the centre of the altar stood a British shield holding five flags and maple leaves around it. Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons had been in charge of the decorations, and had carried them out in their usual tasteful manner. The church was filled with a very large and thankful congregation. "Now thank we all our God," opened the service, followed by the National Anthem. The lessons, Psalms and prayers were of a special character, expressive of the nation's gratitude to Almighty God for the restoration of peace. The Rector preached from Acts xii, 5, "Peter, therefore, was kept in prison, but prayer was made without ceasing of the Church unto God for him."

Though the case of Peter was very hopeless, and many discouragements surrounded it, yet the early Christians failed not to trust God, and in answer to their prayers God, at the last moment, sent the most unexpected and wonderful delivery. In the late war prayer had likewise been offered to God for deliverance, and at last God answered them by giving us peace. Mr. Langfeldt exhorted his congregation to be truly thankful to God for His great mercy vouchsafed to us in this peace. He referred to the great privilege that St. Luke's had given four young men, one of them — Mr. Percy Price — now for the second time in the campaign, and he hoped and prayed that they would safely return.

The sermon closed with pointing out some lessons from the late war, and urging the people to watch and pray for the establishment of the Kingdom of God and His Christ, when He shall reign for ever and ever.

The Woman's Auxiliary intends holding a picnic at Chemong Park tomorrow, Tuesday. Conveyances will be at the Post Office, Peterborough, and the Town Hall corner, Ashburnham, at 1.30 p.m. Tickets 25c.

The Rector is attending the Synod meetings this week, therefore no Wednesday evening service will be held on June 11th.

The Sunday school and congregational picnic will be held on July 11th to Jubilee Point.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH, OTONABEE.

Zion Lodge of the Canadian Order of Foresters, attended church on Sunday, June 8th, when Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached an appropriate sermon from Jeremiah 49, 11, "Leave thy fatherless children; I will keep them alive, and let thy widows trust in Me."

Mr. Morphet sang during the offertory in excellent voice "The Holy City," Mr. W. Staples being the accompanist. The church was crowded to the doors.

The members of the W. A., of St. Mark's church, intend holding a tea and social in Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, on Tuesday, June 17th. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will give a lecture on "A Trip on the St. Lawrence River," illustrated by limelight views. Admission to tea and lecture, 15c.

On Tuesday, June 15, at 3 p.m., a Thanksgiving Service for Peace will be held in St. Mark's church, when Rev. Mr. Langfeldt will preach a patriotic sermon.

Charming fashions and millinery, designed especially for the summer season, are given prominent place in The Designer for July, but not to the exclusion of other features of feminine interest, such as fancy work, which in this issue embraces "Sofa Cushions," "Toilet Table Chat," "Etiquette Hints," suggestions for the mother, the housekeeper and the gardener. "SomeOutdoor Decorations," by Mary Kilsyth, and "Seaside Frolics," by Dr. Sarah A. French-Battey, give delightful and new ideas to those who wish for closer acquaintance with nature, while patriotism is paid due homage in "July," by John De Morgan, "Menus in Patriotic Garb," by Sarah W. Landes, and "Selections for the Recitationist." "The Late Lamented," by Leigh Gordon Giltner, "A Morning in Midsummer," by Edward A. Morris, "Ralph's Successful Experiment," by A. J. Johnston, and several chapters of Mrs. Ellen Olney Kirk's charming love story, "The Apology of Ayliffe," supply the fiction. The notes on current literature are exceedingly interesting this month. So, too, is "What Women are Doing." The latter department, by the way, beginning with the September number, will be edited by the women readers of The Designer, with monetary reward for those who among them show marked aptness in this novel, entertaining and instructive line of work. Worthy of especial note among the fashion features are Outing Costumes of every description for ladies, and "Summer Apparel for Little Lads."

DEATH TO SAN JOSE SCALE.

Combination That Destroys the Much-Dreaded Pest.

Kills the Insect and Does not Injure the Most Tender Trees—Emulsion of Crude Petroleum and Soap.

Dr. James Fletcher, Dominion Entomologist, has sent the following interesting report to Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario;

The great desideratum in the past has been to discover a remedy for the San Jose scale which would kill the scale but at the same time would not injure the treated trees. Mr. Geo. Fisher, by instruction of the Provincial Minister of Agriculture, with this express end in view, has carried on a most extensive series of experiments and has at last found a remedy which from present appearances seems to meet all requirements. This consists of an emulsion of crude petroleum and soap. This has been applied to all kinds of fruit trees, including the peach, without any apparent injury, and with quite satisfactory results so far as killing the scale is concerned. A feature of this remedy is that it is much cheaper than the whale oil soap treatment, which was the best previously known remedy. It costs four cents to treat a tree with the emulsion, while the whale oil soap costs ten cents. This work done by Mr. Fisher for the Ontario Government I consider to be the greatest advance yet made in this warfare against the San Jose scale, which is by far the worst insect enemy fruit growers ever had to contend with. To sum the matter up the fruit grower is now provided with a remedy which he can safely use on his peach trees and other delicate trees at about one-third the cost of the best previously known remedy, with more certainty of destroying the insect. Besides this, the trees will be left in a condition to withstand further infestation for a much longer time. Added to this it is a remedy which can be safely applied by any fruit grower with an ordinary spraying pump and can be prepared by any one without difficulty and without special apparatus which he can make for himself at home. Another discovery of importance which has been made in the experiments is an emulsion of fish oil and soap, which is equally effective and safe, but which costs 6 1-2 cents a tree. The advantages of this emulsion are that at a cost of two thirds of the whale oil soap we have a mixture which can be easily made at home, which contains the same ingredients in known quantities, which can be varied in accordance with the requirements of the case, and the kind of tree to be treated. It is hoped that further experiments will show that the cost of this remedy can also be reduced.

The fruit growers of America are certainly to be congratulated on the result of these experiments, particularly of the discovery of the crude oil emulsion. It has been for some time known that the crude oil was fatal to the scale but there was considerable danger in using it, and it most certainly could not be recommended for general use by fruit growers. We now have a cheap and effective remedy which all can safely use.

AN ELECTRIC CANAL.

Canada has the Finest, Completest Canal on the Continent.

In this age of marvels the very capacity for appreciating events of great significance is lowered. "Familiarity breeds" not "contempt," as the phrase is, but indifference. The opening of the Soulanges canal on May day was a very remarkable event. Even as a canal work the Soulanges has, or ought to have, great interest to Canadians for this channel cost 86,254,692 up to June 1901, all of which was expended in the last 10 years, and 4 millions in the last 4 years. Its length is 14 miles, in which are 5 locks to overcome the fall or rise in the land from Cascade Point to Coteau Landing, along the course of which run the Cascade, Cedar and Coteau Rapids. The canal is regarded as the completion of the St. Lawrence system of canal navigation.

The chief interest in this splendid work is in its electrical arrangements which are not equalled anywhere. The lock gates, sluices, bridges and lighting through its entire length are operated by and provided by electricity. The gates weighing 60 tons, moving in a body of water, are opened and closed in one minute and the sluices in 45 seconds. Only half the number of men are needed as compared with ordinary apparatus. It is indeed marvellous to see the great lock gates and bridges moved to and fro without any apparent outlay of human labour.

The canal is brilliantly lighted along its whole length so as to be as easily navigable by night as by day. Looking at the Soulanges canal at night one cannot but wonder at the apathy, or worse, of the authorities who keep the entrance to the harbour of Montreal unlighted, so that ocean liners have to remain close to the city all night, wasting time that represents many thousands of dollars each season. "The Electrical News," which describes the opening of this magnificant national work, says, "it is the best specimen of an artifical channel of 15 feet draught yet constructed on this side of the Atlantic." Taking it altogether the Soulanges canal is without a rival anywhere as an engineering work of its character, and, as it was designed, built and paid for by Canadians, it is justly an object of national pride.

TREATMENT OF CONSUMPTION.

Dr. Knopf a Strong Advocate of Sanitaria for Consumption.

Dr. S. A. Knopf, the eminent authority on tuberculosis, visited this week the two institutions of the National Sanitarium Association at Gravenhurst. He addressed the patients and staffs of the two institutions. The doctor holds strongly to the opinion that there is no specific climate that cures consumption. Climate is a help-mate, but nothing more. The patient cured in his own home climate has one hundred times greater chances of staying well than if cured in Colorado or California. The patient does not need to travel long distances to come under favourable influences for arresting and curing this disease. What is needed is the establishment of sanitaria for the special treatment of the disease. Dr. Knopf says that no chronic disease is so curable as consumption. Only in rare instances is tuberculosis transmitted from parent to child. The disease is communicable rather than infectious. It is not dangerous. It can be cured.

Dr. Knopf is an earnest and untiring advocate of the establishment of sanitaria for the poor, and urges that our millionaires stop building libraries, colleges and churches and devote their wealth to sanitaria for the cure of consumption. He says: "The poor should be placed in sanitariums where tuberculosis is alone treated by competent physicians. There they should receive proper food, fresh air, sunshine and good nursing, which would be enough to cure many and would improve the condition of a very large percentage."

STREET RAILWAY BYLAW PASSED

As Soon as the Company Signs the Agreement.

WORK MAY BEGIN AT ONCE.

President Bene Will be in Town on Wednesday When the Deal Will be Finally Closed.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held last evening for the purpose of dealing with the franchise sought by the Radial Railway Company. The members present were His Worship, Mayor Denne Denne, and Aldermen Corkery, Batten, Clinkscale, Morrison, McGregor, Rush, Roger and Shortly.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and dealt with as follows;

From S. R. Armstrong, Secretary-Treasurer of the Water Commissioners, asking that the council authorize the expenditure of $1,000. for the extension of water mains.

Ald. Roger stated that he would prefer to have the commissioners make the expenditure, and come to the council afterwards for an endorsement of the outlay.

Mayor Denne's reply was to the effect that the commissioners would prefer to adopt just such a course as mentioned by Ald. Roger, but they were prevented from doing so by the fact that the Act required them to move in the direction in which they had done.

As this was the first step taken in regard to extension since the town had acquired the waterworks system, it was decided to leave the question to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, the Town Solicitor to give his opinion also in connection with the matter.

From E. M. Elliott, on behalf of the Township Council of Smith, asking for the loan of the old road roller, to be used in levelling the road running north from Water street.—The request was granted.

From the Town Solicitor, stating that the Radial Railway Company had complied with the conditions regarding the preliminary notices concerning the franchise.—Received.

From T. Hurley and Co., regarding the extension of Rubidge street.—Referred to the Board of Works.

ACCOUNTS

were received and referred to the Finance Committee as appended;

STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE.

Ald. Rush and Shortly introduced the bylaw ratifying the agreement with the Radial Railway Company, regarding the transfer to it of the franchise. It received its several readings and was passed, no objections being raised by any of the ratepayers.

As soon as the agreement is signed by the Railway Company the contract will be completed, and work may begin at once.

Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared on behalf of the Radial Railway Company, and stated that the president, Mr. Bene, would be in town on Wednesday, when the deal would be finally closed.

The council then adjourned.

VICTORIA CHEESE BOARD.

762 Boxes Were Offered Monday Morning.

The Board Cleared at 9 1-4c.—Local Instructor to be Engaged.

(Lindsay Post.)

The first meeting of the Victoria County Cheese Board for the season was held Monday morning in Lindsay. President Robertson and Secretary Shine were in their places. Messrs. Flavelle and Fitzgerald were the only buyers present.

Before asking for bids President Robertson said he was pleased to see so many salesmen present, and hoped that the attendance would be good at all the meetings this season. He was glad to see Mr. Fitzgerald, one of the outside buyers, back again, and also Mr. Flavelle, a local buyer. Mr. Whitton had intended to be present, but as he had four miles to drive to the station he might have missed his train. The gentlemen named had been faithful to this Board, and they deserved our thanks. Mr. Bailey, another buyer was suspended last year for violating the rules, and he trusted that an occurrence of that kind would not take place this year. He hoped the buyers and sellers would work in harmony, and that both factories and buyers would make money.

The following factories boarded the number of boxes placed opposite:

Star	56
Cameron	47
Dunsford	70
Mariposa	90
Janetville	28
Omemee	93
North Ops	18
Pine Grove	25
Reaboro	120
Bobcaygeon	85
Maple Leaf	40
Palestine	28
Red Rock	62

On President Robertson calling for bids Mr. Flavelle was the first to respond, offering 9 1-4c. for selections Mr. Fitzgerald did not raise, so Mr. Flavelle called out Cameron, Mariposa, Bobcaygeon, Palestine, Red Rock and Janetville, all accepting. Mr. Fitzgerald then offered 9 1-4c. and secured Star, Dunsford, Omemee, Reaboro, Maple Leaf, North Ops and Pine Grove. This cleared the Board.

Some discussion then followed as to the engaging of an instructor. At last meeting of the Board Messrs. Robertson, Parkins and Lytle were appointed a committee to interview Mr. Derbyshire of the Eastern Ontario Dairyman's Association, relative to the same. Mr. Lytle said he had seen Mr. Derbyshire and stated to him the feelings of this Board relative to the appointment of a local man as instructor. Mr. Derbyshire said if the Lindsay Board commended it a local man could be appointed, and that the Association would give $100 per year towards his salary; the balance could be raised by collecting $10 fee from each factory inspected. Mr. Hall, of the Cambray factory, was the man they had under consideration, and he was satisfied he would make a capable officer. He would make four visits to each factory during the season.

Mr. Staples said he approved of the appointment of a local inspector, but he wanted a man who could perform his duties right.

Mr. Fitzgerald—"Mr. Ward is the inspector for Peterborough county and he gets $100 from the Association and $10.50 from each factory the fifty cents being for board fees. He is giving good satisfaction to the Peterborough Board."

Mr. Flavelle—"The inspector should attend all Board meetings and then they would hear the complaints if any are made."

It was moved by Mr. Staples, seconded by Mr. Braden, that Lindsay Board recommend to the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association the appointment of an inspector. — Carried.

The next sale will be held on Monday, June 23rd.

A FINE DOG POISONED.

The West End is Becoming Notorious—This Time it was Mr. W. Batten's St. Bernard.

Another fine dog has been poisoned in the west end, which portion of the town is acquiring an unenviable reputation for this kind of thing. The victim last night was Mr. Will Batten's magnificent St. Bernard, "Colonel," for which he has refused a hundred dollars on several occasions. "Colonel" was the friend of every youngster in the neighbourhood, and it was only a few months ago that mention was made in the Examiner of his extreme sagacity in refusing to let Mr. Batten's children cross the railway track. "Colonel's" many little friends will join in the hope that a particularly hot corner in Hades will be reserved for the particular dog-poisoner who put this grand old specimen out of the way.

Word has also been received of two more dogs which were poisoned last night.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

The Council of the Township of North Monaghan met as per adjournment of the last meeting.

All the members were present, the Reeve presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were not read.

The committee appointed to estimate the cost of the crib-work and filling in of washout on the Drain Road, reported.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Smith, that Commissioner Revington be, and he is hereby, instructed to provide and crib and fill in the washout on the Drain Road by day labour in the same manner as other work is being performed throughout the township. The Council to supply the timber, etc., and the work to be under the supervision of a Committee consisting of the Reeve and Chas. May and Smith. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Smith, that a committee consisting of Messrs. Madill, Smith and Dobbin meet a committee of Cavan Township Council for the purpose of inspecting and repairing any necessary places on the Cavan boundary road.—Carried.

Bylaw No. 510. entitled a "Bylaw to confirm an agreement with the Peterborough Radial Railway Co., by which the franchise to erect a street railway within the Township and operate the same for a term of years," was introduced and read a first and second time. The third reading of this bylaw was deferred until next meeting of the council.

The clerk forwarded the list of statute labour commutations for each division for the year 1902, as follows; Road Division, No. 1, 403 days, $302-25, less snow shovelling acct., $83.25, total, $219; add bal. not spent, 1901, 75 cents; leaving total of $219.75. Road Division No. 2, 188 days, $141; less snow shovelling acct., $28.25; total, $112.75; less overspent 1901, $10.75; leaving total of $102.00; Road Division No. 3, 222 days, $166.50; less snow shovelling acct, $30.15., total $136.35; add bal. not spent 1901, $4.02; leaving a total of $140.37. Road Division, No. 4, 250 days, $187.50, less snow shovelling acct., $12.50; total $175; add bal. not spent, 1901, $133.90; leaving grand total of $308.-90.

These lists were accepted and ordered to be delivered to the several Road Commissioners.

Council then adjourned until Monday, July 14th, at the town hall, at 1.30 p.m.

The adjourned meeting of the N. Monaghan Court of Revision met on Saturday, June 7th. The following alterations were made to the assessment roll for 1902; B. Kline, assessed part 1 of 8, $500; J. Madill, assessment reduced, $100; N. W. May assessed as occupant; J. Ferguson, assessed as occupant. Mr. R. Lillico, appeared before the council asking for a reduction in his assessment on lot 1 on 11th con, but owing to irregularities in the appeal no action was taken in the matter. The roll was then confirmed and the court adjourned.

OUR NEW COMMANDER.

"Dashing Dundonald" is now commander of the Canadian Militia, in succession to Major-General O'Grady-Haly, who will, however, retain command till July 19th. The new commander of the Canadian soldiers has a splendid record as a fighter. He had experience in North Africa — Nile expedition, 1884-5—but his most luxurious laurels were grown in South Africa. When General Buller took charge of army operations Dundonald was put in charge of the mounted force. After a series of dashing exploits a detachment of Lord Dundonald's mounted troops—a couple of squadrons—was the first to ride into the beleagured city of Ladysmith. His career till the close of "regular" military operations at the capture of Pretoria, was brilliantly successful. The new Canadian commander besides his military qualifications is a great believer in the "citizen soldier," and on this account additionally well qualified to have command of such forces in Canada. The London Times thinks "the Dominion is to be congratulated upon the appointment of so distinguished an officer to command the Canadian Militia," and we Canadians who know the quality of our citizen soldiers think that Dundonald is to be congratulated upon having such first-class soldiers to command.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In an Italian duel one of the parties was wounded on the ear. If these twentieth century duellists want a conspicuous mark they should aim for the mouth.

Accumulated caloric — from the hot political speeches made in it from time to time, may have been the cause of the burning of that venerable old barn, the pavilion, in the Horticultural Gardens, Toronto.

Brockville ratepayers have refused to vote a bonus of $20,000 to a place-hunting hat factory. These ratepayers have level enough heads to go without hats. The ratepayers of Hamilton refused a $50,000 bonus to the Deering Harvester Company. The bonus hunters have a little more trouble than formerly to secure gifts from complainsant corporations.

Last year there were 1,634 railway accidents in Canada—fatal 317, injured 1,317. Of the killed more than half were killed while walking on the track, and of the injured the greater proportion was hurt by jumping from trains in motion and coupling cars. It is safe to say that culpable carelessness and foolhardiness are the cause of nine-tenths of accidents on railways or elsewhere. The fool who rocks the boat is no doubt getting on his flannels for an innings.

Great preparations are being made in Aberdeenshire to celebrate the silver wedding of Lord and Lady Aberdeen. They are both, as we in Canada can readily imagine, very popular, and are untiring in their efforts to benefit the poorer classes, not only in the immediate neighbourhood of Haddon House, but on all Lord Aberdeen's estates. Canadians, who must entertain lasting and kindly recollections of the Earl and Countess when in Canada, ought not to forget them.

The Rev. Sam P. Jones, the sensational Georgia preacher, is doing well financially. He is about to erect a $25,000 business block in Cartersville, and has made other investments of his surplus income that promise to make him independently rich. This would be astounding to "the twelve." Judging from the recent debates in the Anglican Synod, says the Ottawa Free Press, some of the parochial clergy would be glad if Sam Jones would give them his recipe. But the recipe lies in the word "sensationalism."

The loss caused by the coal miners' strike at the end of the fourth week, is estimated at 22 million dollars, distributed between miners, operators in coal, etc. This does not include the loss to the public from the enhanced price of coal. The coal companies deserve all their loss; for, if accounts are true their system of robbery begins with the poor miner in the mines, and ends with the poor consumer, on the surface. No wonder Morgan, the manipulator, is breaking down in health. If the nervous collapse with which the despatches afflict him, came from the workings of a guilty conscience, there would be some hope for him, but it doubtless comes from his mental struggles to organize his schemes of robbery fast enough to suit him. A pestilent plutocracy prepares the soil in which anarchy thrives like a foul weed.

The London, England, cable correspondent of the Globe says that in the matter of a transatlantic, all British-Canadian fast steamship line, "the Dominion Government, by its energy and spirit, is fairly whipping the home government into action in defence of shipping interests." And Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, is the incarnation of this energy and spirit. Speaking at the Boards of Trade conference banquet in Toronto, Mr. Tarte said these golden words, — "We must have a Canadian policy on land and sea. . . . No domination by an organization of railways. . . They shall not invade this country. We shall have a fast line, too, and in such a way, as not in reach of Morgan; and we must have a fast line of freights, too." Tarte is a magnificant optimist, but believes if Canada is to be carried forward she must have the necessary transportation facilities.

WHITNEY, STRATTON, CARNEGIE

The Bobcaygeon Independent in this week's issue, makes the following comments relative to the Opposition leader, and the contests in East Victoria and West Peterborough;

Under a really capable leader, possessed of a moderate amount of initiative talent, the Opposition would have won easily. As it was they went to the country, with the bare request of "Tommy, make room for your uncle," backed by personal abuse of the candidates and tirades on Elgin frauds that were exaggerations scandalously reflective on thousands of honourable men. An unprejudiced perusal of the foremost papers of both parties certainly leads to the conclusion that the campaign of the Opposition was by no means creditable, particularly to a party that boasts of its being a party of gentlemen, and as a consequence the best opportunity of twenty-five years was again lost.

Locally, the contest in East Victoria and West Peterborough was a useless and unnecessary aggravation among neighbours and an expense to the country and candidates. Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Carnegie each possess the confidence of the electorate and should have been returned by acclamation. Much has been said about Peterborough getting Government aid and Victoria none. This journal is in a position to, and does deplore the fact that the people submit to a system of partyism that renders it impossible to conduct the affairs of the province, without a certain amount of partyism. It is however the rankest kind of hypocrisy for leaders of that partyism to rail at others for doing what they certainly would do, and did for a quarter of a century in another field. When the Conservatives had the loaves and fishes in their possession did a Liberal get a ghost of a show of as much as a sprat or a crumb of a loaf? Liberal politicians are not any more encumbered with wings than their Conservative confrercs, and are not supplying ammunition to their enemies, or balm to their opponents. These two ridings might well have been spared the contest and so have ameliorated the severity of partyism in a manner that would have been beneficial to both ridings. A small clique in Peterborough, influenced by jealousy, ill-will and personal self-interest, determined otherwise, and the two ridings were thrown into a useless turmoil that will leave its evil taint for many a day

As the Government has been sustained on the general appeal, it is entirely likely that they will be further sustained in any bye-elections, and when the Assembly meets next winter Hon. Mr. Ross will be found to have a good working majority.

"BYSTANDER" ON CREED CHANGES.

(Bystander in Weekly Sun.)

The Presbyterians in the United States have effected a revision of their creed by "dulcifying," to use Johnson's phrase, those parts of the Westminster Confession which are repugnant to our present ideas of God and shocking to our humanity. It does not seem certain that this process will have the desired effect. Each of the old creeds is consistent in itself, and embodies a theology which formed a harmonious whole, summing up the beliefs of a bygone age. No explanatory or apologetic comments were needed by the fervent sectaries of those days. They meant precisely what they said, and to make it mean anything else by glosses is hardly honest. The farmers of the Athanasian Creed meant what they said when they doomed to everlasting perdition anyone who failed to believe the whole of their dogmatic creed, and to read their declaration with a mitigating gloss is only to add prevarication to dogmatism. What is Calvinism without Predestination? A Presbyterian congregation has gone over bodily to the Episcopal Church. No wonder, if Presbyterianism disavows or explains away the dogmatic system upon which it was founded, and in which the peculiar force of the Calvinistic character had its source. The Episcopal Church offers the attraction of a venerable hierarchy, a solemn liturgy, and all the allurements in the way of ceremony, costume, music, and flowers which Ritualism has recently imported. Nor does it make any troublesome exactions on a layman's belief. Presbyterianism has no historical or aesthetic attractions. Its stern code of doctrine has been its life. One cannot help thinking that the wisest, as well as the easiest, way is to let the old creeds alone, leaving each minister or members of the Church to make such use of them as he conscientiously can; but no longer to require subscription as an ordination test. An educated and inquisitive congregation will not now listen to a man who is not free to speak the truth.

Seized With Cramps Acute Indigestion

More Evidence to Prove That Indigestion of the Worst Kind can be Cured and Cured Permanently by

More people suffer from indigestion and its accompanying ills, such as constipation and deranged kidneys and liver, than from any other class of disease. The use of digestants, pepsin, bismuth, etc., sometimes gives temporary relief when the trouble is confined to the stomach, but the most serious form of indigestion is that which affects the intestines and is attended with constipation, kidney pains and cramps.

That Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is the most effective treatment for this dreadfully common affliction is now generally known, and we here quote a letter from a Peterborough lady, who gives her experience for the benefit of other sufferers.

Mrs. R. Beard, 225 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"About two years ago I became subject to cramps, which were caused, I was told, from acute indigestion. I was so bad that I would be laid up for a week at a time. These attacks came on periodically and distressed me greatly.

"I then began using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, and have found them a wonderful medicine. They have entirely prevented a recurrence of my trouble, corrected the derangement of my digestive organs and made me feel like a different person."

You need not lose time and money in experimenting with new and untried medicines. You know that Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills are backed by almost a life long experience of the great physician and receipt book author. They have proven their superiority in scores of cases in every community. Ask your friends about them. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 5

A FIENDISH CRIME.

Narcisse Falardeau Loses Both Legs and Will Probably Die.

Montreal, Que., June 9.—Narcisse Falardeau is at the Notre Dame Hospital, probably fatally injured. Both of his legs are cut off a little below the knees and there is a deep gash in his forehead. From the ante-mortem statement, which he made to Judge Lafontaine at the hospital, it appears that he was walking along Water street, when he was attacked by four men, one of whom struck him on the forehead with a club, knocking him unconscious. He was aroused by a freight train, which passed over his legs, cutting them off. In the meantime, he had been robbed of $15. He could not identify his assailants or the money, but the detectives are looking for the highway robbers. Falardeau is 51 years old, and had come from Laval, Montmorency County, on his way to Hull, where he had obtained employment in Eddy's Mills. He will probably die.

STEEL RAILS AT THE SOO.

Americans Undersell Canadians to the Extent of $7 a Ton.

Ottawa, June 10.—Mr. F. H. Clergue the commercial magnate of the "Soo" was here yesterday. He states that the steel plant established there is now in active operation, and turning out 500 tons of rails per day. In a few days this will be increased to 600 tons. The company, during the present season, will supply the government with 85,000 tons of steel rails. They have booked altogether Canadian orders to the amount of 100,000 tons. Asked if they were making any foreign shipments, Mr. Clergue replied in the negative, adding that the Canadian business would keep them busy for some time to come. As to the price of steel rails, Mr. Clergue stated that the American ironmasters were underselling in the Canadian market to the extent of $7 per ton, in the hope of killing Canadian competition.

Anarchy Bill Passes.

Washington, June 10.— When the House met yesterday, the motion of Mr. DeArmond to recommit the anti-anarchy bill, with instructions to strike out Section 3 which made the killing of foreign ambassadors and ministers, punishable with death; and Section 13, which creates the legal presumptions, in all prosecutions under the act that the officers to be protected by its provisions are engaged in the performance of their official duties as the offence is committed, was considered. The motion was lost, 71 to 125.

The passage of the bill was then voted upon. Mr. Lahman (Texas) demanded the ayes and noes. The bill was passed, 175 to 88.

TO PITCH OF MADNESS

Terribly Horrified Crowd at the Chicago Hospital Fire.

NINE MEN AND 1 WOMAN KILLED

Some Burned to Death—Thirty Persons Injured—An Inebriates' Sanitarium—Some Patients, Strapped to Their Beds, Could Not Escape—Heroic Bravery Which Saved the Lives of Over 25 People.

Chicago, June 10.—Nine men and one woman were killed, and about 30 persons were injured in a fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed the sanitarium conducted by the St. Luke's Society, at the corner of Wabash avenue and 21st street. By far the greater portion of the patients received in the institution were those seeking cure from the drink habit, and those who were addicted to the use of drugs. When the fire broke out, there was on the fifth floor a number of patients suffering from delorium tremens, and some who were deranged by drugs. Several of these were strapped to their beds, and it was found impossible to save them, so rapidly did the fire spread through the building. The fire originated in the basement of the building and spread rapdily to the supper storeys, through the elevator shaft. The flames were caught by the draught in the elevator shaft, and carried upward with a roar.

As the cry of fire rang through the building, patients sprang from their beds, and before they could be prevented several had jumped from the windows to the pavement.

The fire department was on the scene within a few minutes, and, as the windows were filled with people shrieking for help, the firemen devoted their first efforts to save lives, and allowed the fire to burn. While this was the means of saving a large number of people, who were carried down the ladders by the firemen, it gave the fire such headway that there was almost no chance for those on the upper floors of the building to make their escape, and those who were not suffocated were killed or badly injured by leaping from windows.

A scene that wrought to the pitch of madness the great crowd that gathered around the building was enacted at a fourth storey window, on the north side. Across this window was a heavy wire screen, and on the outside of the screen were iron bars running parallel to the sill. The space between these bars was too small to allow the passage of even a small boy, and behind them were gathered a crowd of men whose numbers were afterwards found to be between 25 and 30. The escape in other directions was impossible, for the fire filled all the halls and was steadily eating its way toward the window, at which the men were standing. The one chance for life for that crowd of men lay through that screened and barred window. The man closest to the screen tore and tugged at it in a vain effort to tear it from its fastenings, and more behind them fought madly to get close enough to the screen to fasten their fingers in it. So fiercely did the prisoners pull at the screen that from the street below were plainly visible tiny streams of blood, that trickled from lacerated fingers and hands and flowed over the window sill. A number of the men in the window were in straight jackets and manacles, and these, not being able to help themselves or others, were the wildest of all in their frantic efforts to break through the bars.

The crowd in the street watching the desperate situation of the men behind the screen was simply an insane mob. They shouted all sorts of commands and directions at the men and gave orders to the firemen, who were doing all that men could to get through the bars from the outside. As the flames came steadily towards the men, the people in the street jumped up and down and screamed in helpless rage. It seemed as though nothing could be done, and that all of the men would die within six inches of freedom.

That any of the men escaped at all is owing to the work of W. E. Davis of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a patient in the institution. He induced the men to cease their disconnected pulling at the screen and to unite in their efforts. After many attempts, during which many of the frantic men were trampled upon by their fellows, two bars were torn away and a path to safety was opened.

Then a new danger assailed the prisoners. The crowd behind, hearing that the way was open, pushed forward with such haste that those near the window were nearly forced through to meet death on the sidewalk. The men at the windows fought to keep their places until the firemen could raise ladders, and the men in the rear, some of whom were already being burned by the flames, fought to get to the window. The first man through was Dr. A. C. Anderson of Chicago. No ladders were in front of the window, and Anderson's one hope was to reach the platform of a window just west of where he was. He hesitated for an instant, then sprang for the fire escape, clutched it and was saved.

The next man through the window was G. S. Gott of Lavergne, Ill. Anderson was so much exhausted that he was not able to drag Gott after him, and Gott was so badly burned that he was not able to make the leap himself. He crouched to the window sill, while the men on the inside clamored for him to jump.

Clinton Osborne, a real estate dealer of New York, was the third man. He crawled out beside Gott, and told the men inside to grasp his feet. This they did, and, telling Gott to take hold of his wrists and drop over the window sill, Osborne, hanging head downwards, swung Gott to and fro until he had acquired sufficient momentum, and then swung him up and on to the landing of the fire escape, where Dr. Anderson seized and held him.

And he and Gott then formed a chain, Gott holding to the fire escape and Anderson tightly held by Gott with one hand reaching out towards the window, so that the men one by one as they crawled through were able to take one step on a ledge and make a short leap to the platform of the fire escape, down which they made their way to the ground. Twenty-five men made their escape in this manner and when the last one passed under the iron bar the building was a furnace close behind him. Anderson said that there were several men lying on the floor overcome by smoke when he left and they all perished. It is doubtful if enough of their bodies will he found to enable them to he identified.

While Anderson, Gott, Osborne and their companions were making their escape on the north side of the building, thrilling scenes of rescue were enacted in front of the building on Wabash avenue and in the alley at the rear.

One Person Killed.

Saratoga, N.Y., June 10.—One person was killed, three injured persons are in a hospital, and eight are reported missing, by a fire here early yesterday, which destroyed property, the value of which is estimated at $300,000.

50 Families Homeless.

Michel, B.C., June 10.—A disastrous fire here yesterday destroyed 24 houses, leaving 50 families homeless, some barely escaping with their lives. The loss to the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company is about $50,000. Ten cars were also destroyed. The wind was blowing a hurricane from the east.

The Girl and the Pimple.

Newspapers contained last year the account of a girl who committed suicide because she had a pimple on her face. Merrill's System Tonic from its blood purifying and blood strengthening qualities cures not only pimples but blotches of all kinds, also scrofula, eczema, and salt rheum. Three weeks treatment only 50 cents.

Mirrors.

A historian has it that as early as four centuries before Christ metal mirrors were in such common use among the Romans that any maidservant could have as many as she could hang at her girdle, which probably accounts for the fact that they gradually fell into desuetude among ladies of the higher classes and led to the introduction of substitutes. It is hardly to be supposed, however, that it was this fact which induced some ingenious person so to cut and burnish the inside of drinking cups as to reflect the face of the drinker many times in a highly warning manner.

In addition to the small hand mirrors which it used to be the particular duty of some unfortunate young slave to hold before her mistress, there were panels of stone set in the walls and so highly polished as to serve as mirrors. It was this use of dark stone that first suggested the use of glass for reflecting purposes, which, according to Pliny, was first manufactured at the glass works of a gentleman named Sidon. Black glass was first used; afterward clear glass with black foil on the back replaced it. Pliny tells us all about this, and from this time on no mention is made of glass mirrors until the thirteenth century, when a Franciscan monk, Johannes Peckham, speaks of mirrors, not only of polished marble and steel, but also of glass covered with lead on the back.

NO SECRET BOER COMPACT.

Mr. Balfour Denies That Kitchener Offered Inducements to Surrender.

London, June 10.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, under yesterday's date, announced the surrender, on Saturday and Sunday of 2,500 rifles, of which 448 were handed in by Cape Colony rebels. The remainder were principally from General Dewet's men. The British commander added that the cheers given by the Boers for King Edward were hearty.

The suggestion that Lord Kitchener, with the connivance of the home Government, entered into a secret compact with the Boers to induce them to surrender, was denied by the Government leader, A. J. Balfour, in the House of Commons yesterday. Mr. Balfour declared that, so far as the Government were aware, no pledges and no assurances were given by Lord Kitchener, which had not been published.

The Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, answering a question regarding the agitation for the suspension of the constitution of Cape Colony, said he had received a petition from 42 members of the Parliament of Cape Colony in favor if its suspension, and had awaited the observations of the Cape Minister on the subject. An act of the Imperial Government, he added, was required before the constitution could be suspended.

Boer Against Boer.

Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, June 9.—A strong contrast to the good feeling between Boer and Briton is the bitterness existing between the burghers who are surrendering under the peace terms and those Boers who surrendered during the campaign. When the Boer leaders came to Bloemfontein, previous to the conclusion of peace, they curtly refused to shake hands with those who had previously surrendered. The general belief is that relations between these two classes of Boers will be embittered for a long time.

These Boers Were Ghouls.

Ottawa, June 10.—Trooper Hamen of this city, in a letter to his parents, states that, after the shooting of Corporal Knisley and Private Day, and the capture of their four comrades, the Boers stripped the dead, and nailed Knisley's distinguished service medal and South African ribbon to the hero's naked breast.

CANADIAN CASUALTIES.

Woodmore's death is the second reported on the Cestrian, Pte. Higgins having been reported the day the ship reached Cape Town.

Cape Town, June 8.—Dangerously ill: June 7, Elandsfontein, 2nd C.M.R., 723, Clement Guest, Roseland; 205, William Bell, Hamilton; 602 Harry Hyde, Charlottetown; all enteric fever.

Nelson Price, reported dead, does not appear on the nominal roll, but the name, George Orlie Price of St. John, N. B., appears as connected with the Medical Hospital Corps.

NIAGARA JUBILATES.

Takes a Half Holiday and Celebrates Restoration of Peace.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 10.—The old historic town of Niagara gave a fitting peace celebration yesterday. The afternoon was observed as a half holiday, and a procession was formed of the school children, numbering about 250, firemen, volunteers and Town Council, headed by the town band, which paraded the streets and proceeded to the town park, where patriotic songs were sung, after which a program of sports was held, consisting of bicycle races, running races and a baseball game between the Parks of St. Catharines and a team from Fort Niagara, N. Y., which was won by the latter by a score of 12 to 7. In the evening another parade took place and proceeded to the park, where speeches regarding the South African war were made by E. A. Lancaster, M.P., Major James Hiscott, ex-M.P.P., and Mr. W. W. Wright. At the close of the speeches, the crowd, numbering about 4,000, marched to the common, where a huge bonfire and fireworks were held, after which a band concert was held in the park, which lasted for about an hour, and the crowd dispersed at about 11.30, feeling well satisfied.

Kitchener's Brother in America.

San Francisco, June 10.—Among the passengers from the Orient arriving Sunday was Col. Kitchener, brother of Lord Kitchener.

The Argos Off For Henley.

Toronto, June 10.—The Argonaut Rowing Club's eight, who will compete at the Henley Royal Regatta, will leave Toronto this afternoon for New York, whence they will sail on Wednesday for Liverpool. Lou Scholes of the Dons, who is entered in the race for the Diamond Sculls, will also leave by the same boat. The eight are as follows: Wright, stroke; Mackenzie, No. 2; Duggan, No. 3; Mason, No. 4; Hambor, No. 5; Kent, No. 6; Parmenter, No. 7; Hardisty, bow; Bastedo, cox; Doherty, spare; Strange, spare.

In Place of Lord Minto.

Ottawa, June 10.—Chief Justice Sir Henry Strong was sworn in yesterday morning as Administrator of Canada during the absence of Lord Minto.

Canada Reduces Duties.

Mexico City, June 10.—The Department of Foreign Relations has received notice from the Mexican Consul-General in Canada that the Canadian Government has conceded a considerable reduction of the duties on coffee imported from this country. Coffees were formerly 10 cents a sack and are now 1 cent. The Canadian Government is showing a desire to promote direct trade with this country.

Just Right for a Hot Day.

Does this hot weather do you up? Then for that fagged out feeling try a bottle of Merrill's System Tonic. It puts new life and energy in the body and makes one feel equal to their duties. As a muscular and nerve tonic and a blood regulator, this medicine has no equal. Price 50 cents per bottle of 50 doses at Ormond and Walsh's drug store. Descriptive pamphlet free.

Struck by a C.P.R. Train.

Toronto, June 10.—Robert Graham was brought into the city on a C.P.R. train last night and removed from the Union Station to his home at 1 Huron-street, in the police ambulance. Graham is a driver for the Model Bakery, and was passing over a crossing near Cooksville last evening when his wagon was struck by a C. P. R. passenger train. The vehicle was demolished and Graham was thrown some distance, sustaining severe injuries to his back and head.

Will Get Together

Ottawa, June 10.—The Railway Committee heard yesterday the application of the C.P.R. and other railways, for right to joint use of the C.P.R. trucks. Eventually, it was agreed that all parties should get together and endeavor to frame a mutually satisfactory arrangement.

A King For Peace.

Paris, June 10.—The Figaro yesterday printed a despatch, dated at Turin, Italy, which says a rumor is current there that King Victor Emmanuel intends to issue a proposal for disarmament, in conjunction with the Czar of Russia.

Hot Water in Volcano.

Kingston, June 10.—Scientists who ascended Soufriere, heard the rumbling and sputtering of boiling water within the volcano.

Sulphur From the Sky.

Halifax, N.S., June 10.—A P.E.I. despatch says half an inch of pure sulphur fell at Cape Wolf Sunday night.

Edgar D. F. Geen, who died suddenly while at work in the warehouses of Evans & Son, Toronto, was a son of a well known Belleville druggist. He was 21 years of age, and had been subject to fits of fainting and dizziness, thought to be the after results of enteric fever which he suffered from while a member of the first Canadian contingent in South Africa. He will be buried with military honors.

ANGLING CLUB OUTING.

The Boys From the C. G. E. Have a Good Time.

The first outing of the C. G. E. Angler's Club, took place on Saturday afternoon, about thirty members responding to the roll call. Armed with poles, clubs, grappling irons, etc., the party boarded the steamer Myrtle for Rice Lake.

The sail down the river was most enjoyable. Pleasant weather and buoyant spirits combined to make the crowd a most enviable one. Reminiscences of bygone days were indulged in, when by the aid of a bent pin or nail on the end of a piece of grocery twine tied to a clothes pole and clad in a cow's breakfast and trousers supported by half the regulation buttons, some enthusiastic member would tell of his landing fish varying in size anything between a gold fish and a shark. When at last Jubilee Point was sighted a mighty cheer went up, which was followed by a mad rush for tackle, etc., but for a superhuman effort on the part of the commodore something not on the programme might have been the consequence.

When at last order was restored, embarkation in canoes was proceeded with, and away we sailed out on the blue waters of Rice Lake. The finny tribes could not have been expecting our visit for they were there in plenty, and some 200 were gathered in by our crafty aggregation. The most remarkable catch of the day was the landing of four twelve pounders in three minutes by our "Four Jacks."

The return trip was also very much enjoyed, and the members can look back to the day as one never to be forgotten. The only accident of the day occurred when about eight miles from town. We ran out of fuel and had to resort to the burning of the fish scales to keep steam up. We reached home about 11 p.m.. Luncheon was served on board the boat. The cook fulfilled his duties to perfection and the club are to be congratulated on securing the services of such an artist.

The club have to thank Mr. Dan Foley, the proprietor of the Jubilee Point Hotel, for his kindness in allowing them the use of his ice house while at Jubilee.—Com.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Edward Phelan Passes Away.

The entire community will be shocked and grieved to learn of the comparatively sudden death of Mrs. Edward Phelan, which took place last night at her family residence, corner of Stewart and Simcoe street, under particularly sad circumstances. For some time past Mrs. Phelan has been suffering from rheumatic ailments. About ten days ago her husband, Mr. Phelan, was taken ill with a severe cold, from which he is still suffering, and confined to his bed. Mrs. Phelan's devoted attention to caring for her husband, taxed her strength too far, and she herself became seriously ill. A consultation of physicians was held and everything that medical skill could do to avert the fatal end, was done, but in vain. Mrs. Phelan passed away last night at midnight.

In the death of Mrs. Phelan there passes away one of the oldest and best known citizens of Peterborough. The deceased lady was a native of Cork, Ireland, where she was born about seventy years ago. Most of her life has been passed in Peterborough. When three or four years of age she came to this country with the family of her father, the late John Sullivan. She was united in marriage to Mr. Phelan fifty years ago; indeed, one of the sad features of her illness and death, and an illustration of the uncertainty of human calculations, is the fact that for some time recently Mr. and Mrs. Phelan and their family have been discussing arrangements for the celebration of their golden wedding anniversary next month.

Mrs. Phelan was perhaps the most widely known lady in the district. She has been associated with her husband in a capacity which brought her in contact with the public for nearly half a century. As she is perhaps the best known, she is also the best respected and held in the highest esteem. There are hundreds who have enjoyed her hospitality, in the past, who will remember her with respect, amounting to affection. Her house was made a home to them, and the memory of countless acts of kindness will mingle pleasant recollections with the sadness her sudden demise has brought. Mrs. Phelan's disposition, her charitable instincts and her warm heart found expression in many acts of kindness and beneficence. She was a faithful member of St. Peter's and was unusually, though unobtrusively active in promoting its interests. A faithful wife, an affectionate mother, a warm-hearted friend, a kind neighbour, she will be missed and mourned in a score of ways, by hundreds whose lives have been brightened and made happier by her influence and active kindness. She was a home maker, both for her husband and family, and for hundreds whom business relations brought her in contact with, and the entire community, while mourning her demise, will remember with respect a life lived on lines of devotion to duty, and in such a way as to bring larger happiness to those who were brought within range of its influences.

Mrs. Phelan leaves behind her a husband and three sons — Mr. Harry Phelan, town; Rev. C. J. Phelan, of Young's Point, and Mr. Walter Phelan, at present of Toronto. Other relatives of Mrs. Phelan living are her sisters, Mrs. Atchison, of Le Roy, N. Y.; Mrs. P. J. McCauley, Trenton; Mrs. John Corkery, Hamilton township; and Miss Maggie, an unmarried sister, living with a brother, Jeremiah Sullivan, in California.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning, June 12th, at 9 o'clock.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

The T. A. S. and the Y. M. C. A. Will Will Come To-gether To-morrow Night.

LACROSSE.

The Y.M.C.A. team, or certain gentlemen connected with the management of that team, are expressing themselves indignantly over an item that appeared in these columns a week ago, regarding Frank Trollope. One gentleman connected with the management of the team, states that he was told by one of the Executive that Trollope would never have been thrown out had it not been for the item that appeared in the Examiner.

The Examiner did not say whether or not Trollope was a professional. It merely pointed out that there was some doubt as to his amateur standing and that it was better to have the matter cleared up at once, one way or the other, before the two teams came together on the oval; otherwise there might be a repetition of last Wednesday night's fracas, when several hundred spectators were disappointed because the McDonough matter remained in an unsettled condition. This appears to be a reasonable ground to take, and one that was for the protection of the public.

The executive met and decided that Trollope should not play, holding that he had professionalized himself by receiving money while acting in the capacity of physical director.

The Executive did not discuss the matter at any length, it is said, but appeared to be quite satisfied that they knew the facts of the case. Now for any member of the Executive to say that the Examiner's item was the cause of their action, appears to be absurd in the extreme. They decided that Trollope was a professional, and they knew the facts of the case long before the matter was referred to in these columns, but still, according to the Y.M.C.A. management they would have allowed a professional to play in the series, and run the risk of professionalizing the remaining 23 men. The only thing that saved them was the Examiner's item! We have more confidence in the members of the Executive than to believe that they would have allowed such a proceeding.

The Examiner is booming no team in particular, and would cheerfully have published any correspondence regarding the Y.M.C.A.'s version of the McDonough matter, had it been brought into the office, as was the case in regard to other letters that were published favourable to the contention of the T.A.S.

A full practice of the Athletics is called for this evening on the old P. A.A.A. grounds.

THE COUNTY COURT.

It Opened at one o'clock To-day Before His Honour Judge Ketchum.

The County Court of the County of Peterborough opened at 1 o'clock to-day before His Honour Judge Ketchum. The following representatives of the bar were in attendance. Mr. W. A. Stratton, K.C., R. M. Dennistoun, R. E. Wood, G. M. Roger, A. L. Colville, Campbellford; George S. Sherry, Norwood, and O. C. Langley, Lakefield.

The Grand Jury was sworn in as follows:

Cornelius Young, merchant, Lakefield, foreman.
M. Doran, farmer, Ennismore.
Thos. Greystock, farmer, Otonabee.
Wm. Hatherly, farmer, Otonabee.
W. Halcome, farmer, Belmont.
Dawson Kennedy, farmer, Ennismore.
Andrew Laidlaw, merchant, Peterborough.
J. K. Moore, farmer, Smith.
A. E. Micks, merchant, Peterborough.
Robert Tudhope, Jr., farmer, Asphodel.
George H. May, farmer, Otonabee.
Thos. Greaves, farmer, Douro.

His Honour addressed the Grand Jurors, congratulating them upon the freeness of crime in the County and touching upon the old subject of the need of a House of Refuge. He hoped that before long the Legislature would pass legislation compelling counties to erect houses of refuge. His Honour made a rather lengthy reference to the peace settlement in South Africa, which he said the jurors might pass their opinion upon.

The jurors then returned to their room.

"NATIONAL PROSPERITY."

Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil Delivers an Interesting Address on This Subject.

The regular business meeting of the George street Epworth League was held last evening. Preceding the business of the evening an excellent address was given by Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil, on the subject, "National Prosperity." Mr. Sorsoleil was listened to very attentively as he drew comparisons between the great nations of the world, and forcibly pointed out the chief elements and factors in the production of true national prosperity.

The Society has issued its summer programme in the form of tablets of different tints, with a neat and attractive cover, and some very interesting meetings may be expected during the coming months.

Next Monday night the League will hold an ice cream social, for which they have been fortunate in securing the services of an orchestra, and a most delightful evening is assured.

LOCALS DEFEATED BLOOMERS

The Lady Ball Tossers Visited Peterborough.

The Score was 14 to 8—A Good Sized Crowd on the Nicholls Oval—Great Excitement.

The Boston Bloomers visited Peterborough yesterday. They came, saw, but did not conquer. They were defeated by the local ball tossers by a score of 14-8, but Danny McCabe's nine were more than once made to hustle by the combination of female agility that they were up against. The Bloomers drew a great crowd. Their circus-like pictures that have been posted upon the bill boards throughout the country proved a great advertising medium, and many people from the surrounding country took in the event. The Bloomers are so modest that they won't allow any person to see them bat, and catch, and coach and steal bases unless they pay for it, so they carry with them a canvas wall 20 feet high and sufficiently long as to encircle the entire diamond and leave space enough to hold several thousand spectators. The entire outfit with its little flags flattering from every post resembled a circus when viewed from a distance and the exhibition that was given inside could compare favourably with the amusement that is provided at an ordinary side show. The diamond looked beautiful, encircled with the white canvas wall. To the northeast side of the home plate the grandstand was situated and it contained a representative gathering of the townspeople. The proportion of ladies to that of gentlemen appeared about equal and they grew very enthusiastic at times. Their sympathy appeared to be with the visitors and the brilliant plays of the fair ball tossers never went unapplauded. Mr. Fred Whitcroft umpired. Fred did the best he could under such trying circumstances. Everyone conversant with baseball knows what it is to have nine men calling an umpire down for his decisions. The only difference was that on this occasion the umpire had nine women to please—yes, the umpire's task did not appear any too easy at the start.

The Bloomers went to bat first. Calia Brown being the first up. She did not reach first, nor did Lucy Hall or Carry Nation who followed her. Miss Carry was a great favourite and was the recipient of all kinds of bouquets from the crowd. She played left field and caught everything in sight. When Miss Carry dashed in amongst a crowd of men to get a ball that went out of bounds, they scattered as if they feared that they weregoing to be tommyhawked. She was also a splendid coach and when she made the false run from third to the home plate in order to fool Danny the audience cheered wildly.

The Bloomers had a splendid infield but their centre and left field was somewhat weak. They were, in fact all a little weak in the batting and this is where the home team excelled. The play of the day on the part of the visitors was certainly the cannon ball catch of "3rd base woman," Lila Emmet. It was hot enough to burn the hands off an ordinary woman, but Lila stayed with it and retired the side. Maud Wilson pitched a great game and was caught by Richardson "the only man on the team!" The Peterborough men played very good ball and allowed the visitors several points that they might not have been forced to allow them.

The score was as follows:

THE HALTON RECOUNT

Returning Officers and Electors Complimented.

BARBER'S MAJORITY INCREASED.

The Five Blue-Pencil Ballots Counted For Dr. Nixon—Mr. Cameron Holds West Huron by 21 Majority—The Conservatives Abandon the South Perth Recount—No Changes Elsewhere.

Milton, June 10.—The recount of the votes cast in Halton at the recent election, commenced here on Saturday last before his Honor Judge Gorham. Mr. Barber, Liberal, was represented by Messrs. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., and W. I. Dick; Dr. Nixon, Conservative, was represented by Messrs. J. W. Elliott and E. W. Boyd. The ballots cast in the Townships of Esquesing, Nassagaweya and Nelson, and the villages of Georgetown, Acton and Burlington were gone through on Saturday, leaving the Township of Trafalgar, Towns of Milton and Oakville for Monday. The recount was concluded yesterday, and the result was as follows:—Barber, 3,270; Nixon, 3,248. This gives Mr. Barber a majority of 22, or three over the previous count. The much-talked-of ballots marked with blue pencil, were five in number and were all counted for Dr. Nixon. The judge stated that the deputy returning officers deserved a great deal of praise for the excellent way in which they discharged their duties and that they appeared to be so anxious that nothing could be said against the way they counted the ballots that it might almost be said they leaned against the interests of the Reform party in favor of the Conservatives. He was pleased with the clean, well-marked ballots, and said it spoke well for the intelligence of the people of old Halton.

Result in Centre Simcoe.

Barrie, June 10.—The recount of ballots cast in Centre Simcoe, took place yesterday before Judge Ardagh and resulted in reducing Mr. Davidson's majority from 52 to 44. Mr. Davidson was represented by Messrs. C. E. Hewson and Donald Ross. Mr. Thompson, who was present, had the assistance of Mr. Haughton Lennox, M. P., and Mayor Boys. In Barrie, Mr. Davidson gained one, reducing the Conservative majority here to 98. In Brentwood, Mr. Thompson gained one, and in New Lowell he added three, while Mr. Davidson lost one. At Wyebridge Mr. Davidson added one and Mr. Thompson two. At No. 1 Flos Mr. Davidson lost one and at Grenfel Mr. Thompson gained one. The judge allowed a cross inside a circle, single strokes instead of crosses, and where there was a cross opposite one name and a single stroke opposite the other, he allowed the ballot to the former. Mr. Davidson lost several ballots through voters writing name on ballot. The bestmarked ballots were in Tiny Township where there is a large French population. The total vote was: Davidson, 1,857; Thompson, 1,813.

West Huron Majority 21.

Goderich, June 10.—The West Huron recount was concluded at 6 o'clock p.m. yesterday, and the Liberal majority is now declared as 21. Mitchell, Conservative, gained 4 votes all through, and Cameron, Liberal, 2, a net gain of 2 for the former. The gains for Mitchell were 1 each in No. 1 Goderich, No. 4 Ashfield, and Nos. 2 and 3 West Wawanosh, and Cameron gained 1 each in No. 1 Clinton and No. 2 East Wawanosh.

This Recount Off.

Stratford, June 10.—Judge Barron has set down Wednesday for conducting the recount in South Perth. All proceedings, however, have been dropped, as the Conservatives demanded the recount under a misapprehension, believing that Mr. Stock's majority was only 41, whereas it is 71. There will be no recount.

Recount in East Hastings.

Belleville, June 10. — The East Hastings recount was begun at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and continued, barring an hour for lunch, till evening. No irregularities were found to that time. The prospects are that the recount will not be concluded till some time this afternoon. No material change has been made, so far.

Count in Muskoka.

Bracebridge, June 10.—The official count for Muskoka was held here yesterday. The total vote for Dr. Bridgeland, Liberal, was 2,091; for A. A. Mahaffey, Conservative, 2,004; majority for Dr. Bridgeland, 87.

Day of Rejoicing.

Ottawa, June 10.—The Government has issued a proclamation, enjoining the observance of June 26 as a day of general thanksgiving and rejoicing throughout Canada.

A MINERS' BOYCOTT.

Country Around Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Effectively Unionized—Negotiations to Settle the Big Strike.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 10.— The weapon of the strikers, from now on it is said, will be the boycott. It is understood among the strikers that there is to be no violence, but that the boycott shall be utilized to the fullest measure. Already it is almost impossible for non-union men to make any purchases. Merchants refuse to serve them.

An employe of the Deleware and Hudson Company refused to obey the strike order and continues at work. His brother, a cripple, and school teacher, has been informed by the School Committee that he must give up his school unless his brother quits work. Two other brothers and a sister have been discharged from the places where they were employed.

A committee waited on the School Board of the village of Plains, near here, and demanded the discharge of Miss McCaa, who has an uncle who is working as an engineer in pumping out one of the mines. The committee also demanded that all other teachers who have relatives at work be dismissed summarily.

The entire country about here has been unionized, and this makes the boycott more effective.

Negotiations For Settlement.

President Mitchell left here yesterday for New York, where he will meet Carroll D. Wright, the United States Commissioner of Labor, at the Manhattan Hotel. He expects to return to this city this morning.

Mr. Mitchell went to New York at the request of Mr. Wright with whom he was in communication yesterday. Mr. Wright, it is believed, will directly represent President Roosevelt. According to Washington despatches, Mr. Wright, and Senator Hanna, have had a conference with the President during the last two days on the strike situation in the anthracite field.

Whether Mr. Wright carries a plan for peace, is not known at this time.

A Fatal Duck Shoot.

Onion Lake, N.W.T., via Qu'Appelle, June 10.—Sunday afternoon, while James Dufresne and Benjamin Patnaude, both aged 15 years, were out duck shooting, Dufresne accidentally shot Patnaude, the entire charge entering the unfortunate lad in the left side of the back. He was immediately taken home, and Dr. Matheson called; but nothing could be done and he died at midnight. Two years ago, the same lad shot a brother of deceased, but he recovered.

BEFORE THE GALE

BY COLIN S. COLLINS

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

In his fury Bert Moore called the wrath of heaven down upon the Beaconsville Dramatic society, which alone seemed responsible for the misery which had overtaken him, and when he had exhausted his supply of anathemas he buried his face in his hands and reviewed the whole wretched business.

Bess Ainsworth and he had been engaged for a year when the Dramatic society was formed, and the pretty little cottage which was to be their home was almost paid for when "Lorna; or, Alone In New York," was produced at the Beaconsville Opera House before "a large, cultured and appreciative audience," as The Weekly Clarion described it. Bess' vivacity and melodious voice, together with a faint trace of natural dramatic ability, had fairly captured the house. Again quoting The Weekly Clarion: "The role of Lorna could not be improved upon. Its interpretation by Beaconsville's Bernhardt was a surprise even to her most ardent admirers."

The sensation produced by his sweetheart filled Bert's mind with uneasiness and stifled his pride in her accomplishments. It filled the mind of T. Haworth Burnside with new schemes and ambitions.

T. Haworth Burnside's card in the dramatic papers announced that he was "at liberty." They did not add that the company with which he had opened the season had stranded at Morgan, the county seat, twenty miles from Beaconsville. Those of its members who had the fare to Chicago counted themselves blessed and started at once for the midwest haven. Those who lacked the price, Burnside among them, fell back upon their wits and wrote to their nearest friends for assistance.

It was just at this time that the Beaconsville Dramatic society had determined to produce "Lorna." Burnside, with well feigned reluctance, agreed to postpone his engagement with a Chicago stock company to coach the amateur Thespians of Beaconsville. This would pay his board a few weeks, and then perhaps something better might turn up.

The inspiration came with Bess Ainsworth's success. He again postponed his start for Chicago and cultivated the acquaintance of his "star" and her unsophisticated aunt. He fascinated them with his experiences on the road and his acquaintance with great men and women of his profession and kept Bess well supplied with dramatic publications. He coached her so assiduously that she had no time for walks through the autumn woods with Bert or for long talks in the front room, with its embroidered tidies and wax fruit. She lost interest in the pile of household linen which had been slowly gathering for a year, and when Bert talked about the little cottage she replied with quotations from Shakespeare.

In the meantime Burnside had written to the manager of a repertory company headed toward Morgan as follows:

If you can make room in your company for a good light comedian and an ingenue, I can fill the bill for you. You know me. The girl is a darned pretty amateur, a bit gawky, but is improving under coaching, and she's got a tidy bit of money, which would come in handy if we struck hard lines up in Wisconsin. Let me hear from you.

And from the manager came this:

Never mind if she is a bit gawky if she has the dough. Grey has been playing light comedies for me, but as he's been hitting the pipe again I'll give him two weeks' notice, and you and the girl join us at Morgan. We play there one night, the 17th.

Burnside naturally did not read the letter to Bess. He told her that he had an opening in view for her, holding off the truth until the 16th, when he laid the proposition before her. Of course, if she were going on the stage she must do it in the most romantic fashion. She should run away, and the papers would ring with her story. It was the only way.

They left the next morning. Bess sobbing and laughing together at the last moment on her aunt's shoulder and leaving a hysterical message for Bert. When she was famous, he should come to her in New York—Paris perhaps—and they would be married and live happy ever after. Bert listened to the message grimly, said some bitter things to the now thoroughly frightened aunt and stormed back to his stuffy shop.

Of one thing he was convinced—Bess cared nothing for the crafty Burnside. And with Burnside it was Bess and her money as a bait for the manager. Bert knew this somehow, though he had never seen a line of the correspondence between Burnside and the manager. His little sweetheart's head was turned, but her heart was loyal to him.

And, having thus settled the question in his own mind, Bert was quick to act. Trains to Morgan? Just one a day, and the runaways had boarded that. Livery rig? A fierce storm had arisen, the first of the year, and the phlegmatic proprietor of the Palace stables refused to rent a team. Good horseflesh was not to be risked in the face of such a storm.

Bert was desperate. He rushed up the street, and the keen wind from the east struck him full in the face. With it came an idea—he would skate up the river to Morgan. The furious eastern gale would fairly carry him to his beloved.

* * * * * * *

Three hours later a strange figure, swathed in a fur coat edged with small icicles and hung with sleet, staggered into the Ashland hotel at Morgan.

"Is Miss Bess Ainsworth stopping here?" came to the clerk in gasping tones. The astonished man nodded.

"I want to see her right away."

He strode up to the parlor, and when Bess entered he stood shivering and haggard in the dim light.

"Bert"— she exclaimed, then stopped awkwardly.

He seized her hands.

"I had to come, Bess, to save you from a life you would hate. I've—I've risked my life to do it, Bess, and you won't refuse to go back with me?"

She hesitated, then stretched out both hands.

"Bert, dear, I'm—glad—you came."

But it was not until they had been hurriedly married by the nearest justice and had taken apartments at a hotel far removed from the stopping place of the Empire Comedy company that Bess opened her heart to her husband.

"Oh, Bert, it wasn't at all what I expected! We had a rehearsal the first thing. The girls whispered and made fun of the way I read my lines. That horrid manager—h-hugged me— Oh, Bert, don't look like that! I pulled right away from him, and I heard one of the men say that Burnside had found another easy mark. Now, what did he mean by that?"

"I'm sure I can't imagine," answered Bert, with well assumed innocence, but a few minutes later he asked in the most casual way whether she had given Burnside her money to take care of.

"Oh, no!" she replied. "Aunt told me to be sure to sew it in my underskirt pocket. I just lent him enough for our fare and to get his wardrobe out of the express office."

"Express office is good," murmured Bert under his breath, then aloud: "Never mind, little woman. We can afford to lose that ten times over. The gale saved my railroad fare, too, you know."

NINE MEN DROWNED.

Were in Their Bunks When Str. Geo. G. Hadley Cut Whaleback in Two—New Accident Occurred.

Duluth, Minn., June 9.—The whaleback steamer Thomas Wilson, Capt. Cameron, master, was cut almost in two by the steamer George G. Hadley, Capt. Fitzgerald, master, a half mile south of Duluth Canal Saturday, and nine men, mostly of the night crew, who could not get out of their bunks before the vessel sank, perished.

The victims are: Aaron Trips, cook; — Frank, second cook, Superior; James McDougall, oiler, West Superior; James M. Frazer, oiler, Manitoulin Island; Joseph McGraw, wheelsman, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; John Campbell, lookout, Greenleaf, Mich.; John Carey, deckhand; William Roebuck, fireman, Port Hampton.

The Wilson was coming toward the canal, and the Hadley going out, both loaded

Just before reaching the canal, and, when about opposite the Wilson, the Hadley was given orders by a tug to go to Superior. Immediately, she sheered off for the Superior entry, and crashed directly into the Wilson.

The Wilson went down so quickly that the next instant after the collision her crew could be seen throwing off their clothing and jumping into the water.

In the interval before she sank, she seemed to be supported entirely by the Hadley's prow which was sticking through her plates.

The plunge released the Hadley and the latter swung back with a tremendous jerk. As the whaleback went beneath the water, she spouted like a submarine explosion from the compression of air in her.

The life-saving crew picked up the men in the water.

The Wilson was loaded with ore, and belongs to the Pittsburg Steamship Line, the fleet of the United States Steel Company. The Hadley carried coal.

Spoiling a Joke.

That proverbial denseness attributed to the Englishman in the presence of a joke or a funny story was well exemplified in a yarn spun by Nat Goodwin. The actor said that while in England he was entertaining a party of London friends—exceptionally clever fellows, too, as Englishmen go—in a cafe near the Duke of York's theater. Assuming a reckless and despondent sort of air and manner, Goodwin suddenly remarked: "Well, boys, wine, women and song are ruining me, that's certain. I've got to reform. I'm going to begin at once, and in order to do so have decided to give up singing."

"'Twas an old joke," said Goodwin, "but I thought the Englishmen might think it was funny. But they never cracked a smile."

After Goodwin had gone to his hotel one of the party turned to a companion and said: "I say, it's funny about Goodwin, don't you know. If he wants to reform, why don't he stop drinking? Conceited ass, too, don't you know, for he really can't sing a little bit."—New York Times.

A Familiar Name.

In the homes of Canada and the United States, there are few names more familiar and none more reverently spoken of than that of Dr. A. W. Chase, the great physician and receipt book author. He is blessed for the suffering he has relieved and the diseases he has cured; his remedies are used and endorsed by the best people in the land; they are popular because they cure when others fail.

IRISH AND SCOTS HELPED.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—It is a matter of regret to me that, at the present time when the whole Anglo-Saxon race are rejoicing because of the restoration of peace in South Africa, that almost all the Clergymen who from their pulpits yesterday referred to the victorious termination of the struggle which has now happily closed, referred to it as an "English" triumph and a war brought to a successful conclusion by the bravery, courage, valour and prowess of the army of "England." In the church which I have the honour of attending it was the same "England" did this, and "England" did that and "England" did everything, and nobody else did anything toward the building up of the British Empire. I am ready to concede, as every person who possesses the least knowledge of the matter must concede, that Englishmen have done a great deal toward making the British Empire what it is to-day, the most powerful nation that has existed since the world began. But, sir, I maintain that during the past two and a half centuries Irishmen and Scotchmen have done their share in placing Britain in the proud position which she occupies to-day. If the British flag is respected on every sea, and British subjects are protected in the enjoyment of their rights in every clime, it is because the bravest of Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen, in the years that are past, fought side by side in the battles that have been fought and won in defence of the British nation, constitutional freedom and the propagation of Anglo-Saxon civilization.

It is only necessary for me to mention a few instances to show that Irishmen and Scotchmen as well as Englishmen have acted no inconsiderable part in the development and upbuilding of the Empire. At the beginning of the nineteenth century, for nearly twenty years went on a stupendous struggle between Napoleon and the Great Powers of Europe, but in all that time, and among the multitude of men who met the forces of France in battle, only two names emerge which the world cares to remember, those of Horatio Nelson, a Scotchman and the most famous and able of British admirals, and the Duke of Wellington, an Irishman who alone was able to overthrow the greatest military genius of modern times. Time and space will not permit a lengthy reference to the victories of Lord Wolsley and Lord Charles Bersford in Egypt; Lord Kitchner in the Soudan and South Africa; Lord Roberts, Sir George White, Gen. Kelly-Kenny, Gen. Pole Carew, Gen. Wynn, Gen. Knox, Gen. Hart, Gen. Clery, Gen. Wauchope, Gen. McDonald and other brave Irishmen and Scotchmen who have distinguished themselves in the war which has just closed in South Africa. We could also give a long list of British statesmen and diplomatists which Ireland and Stotland have produced and who have proved themselves the redeemers of their country and the bulwarks of the British nation.

Thanking you, sir, for your indulgence, I beg to subscribe myself,

HIBERNIAN.

STOCK MARKETS.

Encouraging Features.

New York, June 7th, 1902.—Considerable good news has come out in the past 48 hours, calculated to strongly demonstrate the strength of the current market position. C. & N., in declaring an extra dividend upon both issues of its stock, is a most encouraging feature. This Company is probably one of the most conservative in Wall street, as far as extra disbursements are concerned. An extra dividend disbursement by the North-west means the ability to maintain it. We do not bring this fact forward as a special bullish argument upon C. & N., North-west, but to illustrate the existing conditions of all the western grangers. R. I. shows net earnings of 10 per cent. for its entire issue, including the new stock for the fiscal year. Union Pacific is earning at the rate of 12 per cent. Its dividend period comes in August, and an extra distribution is certainly expected. Atch. is earning full 10 per cent. upon its common stock. St. Paul is doing equally well, in fact so are all of western roads, and all this with a short crop of corn that had to be reckoned with. Mop. shows earnings of nearly 10 per cent. Growing crop reports are now with us, and the crop promises at present to be one of the best ever harvested. L. N. is sure to raise its next semi-annual dividend. All these forces are bound to work in the direction of an extremely active and buoyant summer market. The Morgan interests are also committed in the immediate future to an introduction of new steamship combinations, securities to the public. An advancing and active market is essential to crown the operation with success. The heavy stock holdings by the insiders at present is evidence of what they expect to accomplish. A complete analytical review of current situation certainly warrants the above conclusions though it was no particular bearing upon quotations for to-day or to-morrow. We cannot but feel the utmost confidence in the market future for the summer months. We anticipate great activity and an excellent period for money making in Wall street market. This is a preparatory period. Buy stocks now.

The dealings were extremely light, and some evening up for the week for the week for room traders contracts.

The radius of fluctuations were confined to about one-half point. The total dealings of about 55,000 shares for the day illustrates the extreme inactivity and it is impossible to draw any definite conclusions from this day's trade.

We reiterate our belief that the awakening of the market will be in the direction of better markets.

The Danger Period for the Nervous and Brokendown in Health is Rapidly Drawing Nigh.

Paine's Celery Compound

Banishes all Symptoms of Disease and Nourishes the Nervous System.

Paine's Celery Compound has saved thousands of people from nervous prostration and collapse brought on through sleeplessness, weakened nerves and impoverished blood. The great medicine has made thousands well. It has conquered weakness and ill health when everything else has failed.

This is the time when nervous debility and nervous prostration begin to manifest themselves. The coming hot weather will only add fuel to the fire of suffering and disease.

If there is mental depression, loss of energy, lack of vivacity, dullness of the eyes, blanched cheeks and lips, confusion in the head, defective memory, love of solitude—all these are direct indications of coming nervous collapse, and call for the immediate use of that nerve-feeder, strength-giver and blood-enricher, Paine's Celery Compound. This Heaven-sent prescription is a peerless remedy for your dangerous troubles. Mrs. A. Legault, St. Andre street, Montreal, says:

"I would have been a lost woman had I continued six months longer in suffering. Headache, insomnia, nervous prostration and loss of memory made up my troubles, and I feared they would lead to insanity. The doctors treated me, but I did not get any better. My friends advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle gave me little relief, but the second began to work miraculously on my nerves. I continued using the Compound, and after taking nine bottles I can say I am positively cured."

ENNISMORE'S ANNUAL PICNIC.

The Same Annual and Satisfactory Success.

Fine Weather—Large Attendance—Good Financial Outcome and Charming Social Success.

At one time yesterday it was feared that the clerk of the weather, who has not been behaving himself very well lately, would vent his ill temper upon the Ennismore picnic with a deluge of dampness, but he suddenly changed his mind, the clouds rolled away, and the day developed into ideal picnic weather. Therefore, the beautiful Tara Grove was thronged with visitors, and hundreds of horses were stalled in the bushy thickets which fringe the part of the Grove devoted to picnic purposes. It is estimated that there were fully 1500 persons present, chiefly from Ennismore, though other parts sent large contingents. The heart of the popular parish priest, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, was cheered by the welcome presence of many of his old parishioners from Young's Point and Lakefield, a circumstance which shows that when he withdrew his bodily presence he did not take his popularity with him. He was also cheered by the presence of a splendid turn out from Ennismore, which showed that he had gained a high place in the esteem and affection of his new parishioners, although he has been so short a time amongst them. The surrounding townships, Smith and Emily, were represented, and Peterborough sent out a strong contingent. In fact all places convenient and all shades of religious faith, were represented, showing that a spirit of tolerance and mutual helpfulness, such as should mark every well regulated community, prevails.

Among the clergy present were Rev. Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, and late parish priest of Ennismore, Rev. D. O'Connell, chaplain of St. Joseph's Hospital, Rev. Father O'Leary, Fenelon Falls, Rev. Father John O'Brien, Peterborough. Of course Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was present, and one might, without irreverance, say, omnipresent, because he seemed to be, like Sir Boyle Roche's bird, everywhere at once, welcoming visitors, looking after their comfort, and superintending the workers, who, however, didn't seem to need looking after, so well did they attend to the work that was necessary to make the picnic what it was, a most gratifying success.

In a central position was erected a platform, provided with two violins and an organ. The younger, lighter hearted and lighter heeled portion of the company, didn't take long to find out what this platform was for, and all the time it vibrated to the pulsating tread of twinkling feet in the merry mazes of the dance. For the children, swings and other amusements were provided. A refreshment booth also furnished interior refreshments.

A railed-in space contained the tables and these were the only unhappy things on the ground, for they fairly groaned with the weight of good things with which the culinary experts of Ennismore had piled them so plentifully that it seemed, if the "five thousand" of the Scripture parable had happened along they could have been bountifully fed.

After the feast of material good things, followed

THE FEAST OF REASON.

The diligent dancers were for the moment deposed and a little speech-making brought on. Rev. Father McColl, acted as chairman and in a very happy manner referred to the pleasure it gave him to be again among his old parishioners, and the hearty reception given him showed that he still has a warm place in their affections. The speeches were brief and of a chiefly congratulatory character.

Mr. D. O'Connell was pleased to be with them, and congratulated Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and the people of Ennismore upon the success of their annual pic-nic.

Mr. E. B. Stone complimented the lades of Ennismore upon their capital cooking and bountiful provision of food. The political atmosphere had cleared and he was glad to see the people, in spite of political differences, settling down and working together to promote the good of the country.

Mr. Wm. Rudkins was pleased to see the pic-nic favoured with fine weather so that full opportunity could be given to show how high a place Rev. Father Fitzpatrick held in the esteem of his flock and of the community generally.

Mr. J. H. McClelland told some pleasant stories, praised the bill of fare and referring to the proclamation of peace, showed that the spirit of unity and good feeling that followed was well represented that day on the grounds by the presence of so many persons of differing religious faiths.

Mr. T. M. Hunter, North Monaghan, said it was his first visit to an Ennismore picnic, but his experience and the pleasure he enjoyed would not let it be the last. He congratulated the township upon its good bridge, it's good highways and it's good crops.

Mr. G. M. Elliott spoke of the pleasure it gave him to help make Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's pic-nic the success he was glad to see it was. Canada occupied a foremost position in the Empire and before the world to-day, and that good name was laregly due to the farmers who by the help of the Government had been helped to produce the splendid food supplies the British market demanded.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, who was received with especial cordiality, expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present, particularly on the grounds of the generous treatment he had received at the hands of Ennismore. He owed a good deal to Ennismore, as well as to the kindness of the people of West Peterborough generally. He was glad to be present in aid of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's picnic. It was the duty of every church member, without regard to denominational lines, to do all he could to advance a good cause. While the clergy looked after the spiritual interests of their flocks, the politicians were charged with the duty of assisting to promote their material welfare. After a tribute to the good work and self-sacrifice of the ladies, Mr. Stratton said he was glad to see all denominations represented there that day. It showed the good feeling that existed, and should exist, in every country. The only rivalry that should exist should be the effort to see which could do the most good to the community. Canadians could worship at different altars and yet unite on common grounds to promote the public good. He was glad that Canadians were contented and prosperous. He did not know of a more prosperous, contented, and more happily situated people than Canadians. When the King was crowned he would be the ruler over an empire at peace. Mr. Stratton congratulated Rev. Father Fitzpatrick upon the popularity he enjoyed; it was only the natural consequence of the qualities he possessed, which brought him respect and affection. He hoped Ennismore would continue to prosper and that the good feeling that was shown there that day would also continue, for it was such feelings of good will and fellowship operating upon different sections of the community, that went to build up the citizenship of the country, and and make it united and prosperous. He hoped the picnic would yield a good financial outcome for the advancement of church interests meant benefitting the entire community.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, in a few concluding remarks, returned his thanks for the generous patronage that had made his first picnic in Ennismore so gratifying a success. He thanked the speakers and all others who had contributed to the success accomplished. He was particularly well pleased to see so many present from his old parish, Young's Point and Lakefield, and also many from Peterborough, Emily and other townships. He spoke warmly of the kindness he and the parish had in times past received from Hon. Mr. Stratton.

With cheers for Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, the speaking programme was concluded, and the platform was again given over to the dancers.

During the day there was run off an interesting programme of

SPORTS AND GAMES.

The following are the prize winners;

Quoit match—G H Giroux, 21; James Mahoney, 16.

Running long jump—P Malloy, 17 feet 6 inches; M O'Connor, 17 feet 4 1-2 inches.

200 yards race—P Malloy; T Coughlin.

Bicycle race—T Coughlin; G Meehan.

Though the contests were keen there was the best of good feeling, and the excellent order throughout the day was a noticeable feature of so large a gathering.

It would be a serious omission not to note the fact that the picnic this year was under the auspices, subject of course to the control of the popular parish priest, of St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society, an organization which has a membership roll of about 250.

Altogether the Ennismore picnic for the year 1902 was a pleasant social and financial success, the proceeds totalling the handsome sum of $700.

ARMOUR'S HILL

Was Taken by the 57th Regiment Last Night—The Orders.

There was a very good turn out at the regular weekly drill of the 57th Regiment which was held last night. The regiment was under the command of Major J. W. Miller and the parade slate showed an attendance of about 160 of all ranks. The band of the regiment was not in attendance but the bugle band was on hand and tore off a number of rousing selections. The regiment marched down George street and was watched by many. The line of march was down George street to Hunter and east on Hunter to Ashburnham. Armour's Hill was again taken. The bugle band and a man from each company was detailed to defend the hill and in the attack about 800 rounds were fired off. The men advanced in skirmishing order and performed their part excellently.

The regiment returned to the drill shed at about 9.30 o'clock, when the following orders were read:

Headquarters, Peterborough.
June 10, 1902.

Orders by Lieut.-Colonel E. B. Edwards, Commandant 57th Regiment, P.R.

No. 1. Detail of duty for week ending June 17th, 1902; Captain for week, Captain Hayes; next for duty, Captain Clegg; Subaltern for the week, Lieut. McWilliams, next for duty Lieut. Bradburn.

PRAISEWORTHY SERVICE.

Col. McMillan is performing a praiseworthy public service in stirring up public opinion in Ontario, and in the Old Country, to the value of the unsettled lands in the older provinces, especially in Ontario. In a recent address to the Wellington county council, he threw out a valuable suggestion as to having a responsible person in each county to whom intending immigrants might write concerning unsettled or improved lands. Mr. McMillan put it this way;

A system should be devised, the Colonel said, to protect those desirous of investing their money here in agricultural pursuits, against the impositions liable to be practiced upon them by land speculators, whose object, unfortunately, is in many cases to take advantage of their credulity and fleece them unmercifully in transactions touching the purchase of land, as has been the case in numberless instances coming under his notice within the past few years.

One case in particular that he was familiar with, which actually took place in that very county, resulted in suppressing the desire on the part of a number from England to come here. It was in that of an Englishman who came out with eight or ten thousand dollars, and who, unfortunately for him, fell into the hands of one of these speculators, who sold him a lot at perhaps twice its current value. This was not all, but the stranger reposing implicit confidence in the man with whom he was dealing, relied upon him to see that he would be secure to the title. The purchase money was paid to the speculator in gold sovereigns, but there was a mortgage outstanding against the property which he undertook to remove out of the amount he received. The unfortunate victim, believing that he had done this, went on the land with his family, and commenced courageously to improve the farm, and in doing so applied the skill he acquired by farming in England. He laid out the balance of the money taken with him in the purchase of superior stock and other farming appliances, and when he thought he was on a fair way to prosper and encouraged by his new surroundings, to his great surprise, inside of a year he found the mortgage had not been removed, and in consequence of this he was obliged to write home to his friends to come to his relief, which they did by sending him the money required to liquidate the mortgage. And he was out $2000, with the vague hope of recovering it some time from the unprincipled speculator, who instead of paying off the incumbrance as should have been done, applied the money to his own use, and left the innocent purchaser to cope with the party holding the mortgage.

It can well be imagined the report this Englishman would send home to such of his friends as were disposed to come here as he did to better their condition. His letters would be calculated to convey the idea, under the circumstances, that the entire population of Canada were prepared when opportunity offered to impose on strangers. In fact this transaction, when reported abroad, was of a nature to cast a cloud on the integrity of the whole Canadian people, similar to that which we entertain with respect to the gambler or speculator operating on Wall street. Transactions similar to this have in numberless instances taken place in mostly every part of our fair Province within the past decade, and it is quite likely they are still indulged in by the unprincipled and selfish class, whose instincts are on a plane with their sordid propensities.

It is now in order to invoke the best minds of our people in order to stamp out such impositions and prevent their repetition, if we are to take advantage of the opportunities now open to us. And for my part I would strongly suggest that a suitable and qualified referee should be appointed in every County in the Province, whose duty it would be to protect the stranger when coming here to settle amongst us by advising and otherwise assisting him to invest his money to best advantage, and thus inspire his confidence in both the County and the people.

In every County in Ontario there are such sterling and upright men as our own Mr. James Laidlaw, whose character stands proudly untainted without reproach, with a practical knowledge and mature experience to enable them in their respective Counties to give accurate and reliable information touching the character, quality and value of land suitable for agriculture, and who would convey this to any strangers seeking such information. He could also advise the stranger as to the manner in which he would be secure in his title in case of purchasing.

The names and addresses of such persons could be extensively advertised in the three Kingdoms that those wishing to come here could write to them for such information as would be required. By this means the unprincipled speculator would be prevented from practicing the impositions referred to, and obliged to give way to those whose tone for honestly would be in keeping with the sentiments of the citizens of this prosperous and grand Province.

BEET SUGAR PRODUCTION.

The development of our grain areas has been slow compared with the progress of the western States, but in the matter of sugar production we are holding our place. We need not expect that six million people shall make as much sugar as seventy millions, any more than that the six millions should eat as much sugar as the seventy millions, but it is a satisfactory thing that the industry in Canada is following close on its development south of the line. The consumption of sugar in the United States increased from 1,272,000,000 pounds in 1870 to 5,313,000,000 pounds in 1891, or from 33 to 68 pounds per capita, and of the quantity consumed that year close on one billion pounds, or more than one-sixth, was of domestic production. Of the domestic product, one-third was from beets and two-thirds from cane. There are now 48 beet-sugar factories in the United States, and of these seventeen are situated in Michigan as a result of the liberal aid granted by that State. There are ten factories in the States bordering on the Pacific coast, and nineteen in the middle and western States. The capacity of these factories varies from 350 to 3,000 tons per day.

The production of sugar beets has given a new usefulness to the soil, and has afforded greater scope for an advantageous policy of rotation by the farmers. It has in many places greatly enhanced the value of farm land, and has brought some land into profitable use that had formerly been uncultivated. Climate is, of course, a factor in sugar beet production, as in all lines of agriculture, but the Canadian possibilities have been tested and proved already. In Southern California the beet seed is planted from the first of January to the middle of April, and a factory there is able to commence operations about the middle of June, and run continuously till about the first of December. Our seeding time is regulated by the climate, and confined to the months of April and May, thus allowing the factories to commence in the fall and run till the crop is used up. The pulp residue makes a good fodder, and can be fed when fresh, or allowed to ferment in silos. There is also a lime cake by-product from the refining process, which makes a good fertilizer. The Ross Government has taken means of establishing the industry on a sound basis in the Province, and American financial journals in discussing the beet-sugar outlook find it necessary to include the Canadian factories in their calculations.—Globe.

BOY PRO-BOER A SUICIDE.

Shoots Himself Through Grief at His Friends Surrender.

Vienna, June 11.— Overcome by grief at the surrender of the Boers, Leopold Winkler, a school boy, 13 years old, shot and killed himself yesterday in his parents' house. Winkler last year formed a band of his school fellows, who were pledged to support the Boer cause. Accompanied by a couple of companions, Winkler started for the Transvaal, but his flight was intercepted and he was brought home. The boy left a letter saying, "I maintain my oath unto death, and remain true to the Boer standard."

Removing the Wire Fences.

London, June 11.—The correspondent of The Times at Bloemfontein says the surrenders in the colony are proceeding satisfactorily. One of the first signs of the era of peace is the removal of the barbed-wire fences between the blockhouses, which is going on everywhere. These rolls of wire will doubtless be given at a valuation to the Boers to replace their fences. The correspondent hopes the blockhouses, especially the stone ones, will not be destroyed, as they are quite a feature of the landscape, like the great towers of Scotland and Martello towers on the south coast of England, and are historical monuments worth preserving.

Victoria Cross For a Canadian.

Brockville, Ont., June 11.—Mayor Harrison has received a letter from Dr. Carron, now in South Africa, in which he states that Horace Robinson, of this town, was recommended for the Victoria Cross for conspicuous bravery while serving with Brabant's Horse.

Winifredin at Cape Town.

Ottawa, June 11.—A cable was received at the Militia Department yesterday, announcing the arrival at Cape Town of the Winifredin, with the second detachment of the 3rd C. M.R. Twenty-seven horses were lost on the voyage.

Giant Bank Trust Formed.

New York, June 11.—The North American Trust Company, with a capital of $2,000,000 and a surplus of $2,600,000, is behind one of the most gigantic combinations of capital ever attempted in the country.

This is a banking trust to be known as the American Bankers' Corporation, which is to own and control national banks in fifty of the largest cities in the United States.

Included in this list of financial centres will be New York, Chicago, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Buffalo, San Francisco and the capitals of the several States.

Sufferers From Itching Piles.

Who Found Quick Relief and Lasting Cure in the Use of

If you could read a few of the letters which come to these offices from persons who have been freed from the miseries of itching, bleeding or protruding piles, you would soon realize the marvellous power of this wonderful preparation. Here are two sample letters which show the heartfelt gratitude of cured ones:

Mr. John Tuttle, expressman, 107 Stewart street, Kingston, Ontario, states: "Like most men who do much driving, sitting a great deal, and often exposed to dampness, I have been a great sufferer from piles. As a matter of fact, I had piles for a number of years, and tried nearly everything I could hear of in a vain effort to get cured, but only succeeded when I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. The first application of this grand preparation brought me relief from the dreadful itching, burning sensations, and less than two boxes made a perfect and permanent cure. I am grateful for the freedom from suffering, and desire others to benefit by my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mr. H. Kelly, Cobourg, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching piles, and can truthfully say that it has entirely cured me. Only persons who have endured the torture of itching piles can have any idea of what I suffered. Dr. Chase's Ointment brought me prompt relief from the misery, and has made a thorough cure. I am thankful for this remedy, because it has made life worth living. I cannot say enough in recommendation of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has no worthy rival as a cure for piles and itching skin diseases. It is possessed of certain powers over these ailments which imitators are unable to reproduce. You can be absolutely sure of Dr. Chase's Ointment bringing relief and cure. It is backed by the testimony of the best people in all parts of Canada; 60 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 6

Shunting Engine Killed Him.

Toronto June 11.—Thomas Guerin, a boilmaker's helper, employed in the Grand Trunk Railway shops, was struck by a yard engine yesterday at noon and died in the Emergency Hospital, where he was taken in the police ambulance. Guerin was 24 years of age, and lived at the home of his brother, at 300 Dufferin street. He came to Toronto from Peterboro about a year ago.

Guerin was crossing the tracks to Spadina avenue, when he was run down. He waited to allow a freight train to pass, and in walking behind it was struck by the shunting engine. His left arm was badly crushed, and he received fatal internal injuries.

THE BIG COAL STRIKE

Labor Commissioner Wright Concludes His Investigation.

GOT FACTS FROM BOTH SIDES.

Says He Has Secured the Information He Desired and That He Will Report to President Roosevelt at Once—Advises the Soft Coal Men Not to Strike—Quiet Day at the Mines.

New York, June 11.—The Journal says: Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright, the President's personal representative, has finished, in this city, the investigation ordered by Mr. Roosevelt into the real causes of the coal strike.

The belief gains strength that Col. Wright's mission has disclosed facts that will justify action by the Attorney-General under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

Colliery No. 5, in Nanticoke, has become an armed camp. It is manned by 85 coal and iron police, and non-union pump men began yesterday to clear the shaft of water.

Facts that Commissioner Wright obtained are: That nearly all the anthracite coal fields are owned by eight railroads. That these corporations have, as carriers from mine to tide-water, ruined individual operators. That the people of New York, one hundred miles from the mines, are forced to pay all kinds of prices for coal that costs less than $3.50 to deliver here.

The information sought was obtained in two interviews which occupied, in all, but four hours. Monday night at the Manhattan Hotel President Mitchell made a presentment of the miners' side of the controversy.

Late yesterday afternoon in the offices of the Delaware and Hudson Company, President Oliphant of that company, and Presidents Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading, and Thomas of the Erie Company, discussed the strike from the standpoint of the operators.

Speaking last night, Mr. Wright said: "I have practically completed the official investigation," he declared, "and will present my report as quickly as possible to President Roosevelt. I have secured the information I desired, and was treated courteously by the representatives on both sides of the controversy. It will not be necessary for me to go to the coal fields, and I cannot say anything concerning the mass of information in my possession. I will spend the evening with friends, and will hold no more conferences."

Speaking of the prospects of a general strike of the miners, Commissioner Wright expressed himself as follows: "If the soft coal men who have signed contracts should strike, by so doing they would be violating their agreement and thus put their unions at a decided disadvantage and forfeit the sympathy of the public. This action would put the unions on the defensive in every arbitration that would follow the outbreak. None of the strikers thus far were bound by contracts."

President Mitchell did not return to Wilkes-Barre until last evening. He left on the 5.55 p.m. train in the company of Secretary R. M. Easley, in the rooms of the National Civic Federation. The secrecy maintained by the pair led to the belief that some sort of a settlement was being arranged, but Mr. Mitchell, before leaving town, asserted that there was nothing in the story. He said that during the day he had simply attended to his correspondence and had talked over the long distance telephone with his lieutenants in the strike centres of Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Mr. Easley confirmed what President Mitchell said, but added that the Civic Federation would only be too happy to be the means of effecting a settlement of the trouble in the coal fields.

Quiet Day at Mines.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 11.—There is no change in the situation in this region from either the viewpoint of the miner or the operator. It was a very quiet day. Notwithstanding the efforts of strike leaders to keep their men from committing acts of violence, there continues to be acts of lawlessness which are rather annoying to the companies.

If You Are Limited in the matter of fresh air and cooling breezes to the supply city life stingily doles out you'll have a hard time keeping life in the little babe's body this summer. You can go a long way toward supplying these essential conditions by adding a drop of Powley's Liquified Ozone to baby's food; you sterilize the food in that way and keep the little one's stomach in a healthy condition. Two things that prevent cholera infantum.

We give you these suggestions because they are valuable to you. Just as valuable as baby's life in some cases. Of course we expect to profit by selling you a bottle of Powley's Liquified Ozone. If you didn't profit by taking it we wouldn't be in business very long, however.

THE APPEAL FROM LENNOX.

Ballots Are to Be Examined by an Appeal Judge—Case Set Down For Saturday Next—Other Recounts.

Toronto, June 11.—Saturday next may possibly decide whether Mr. S. Madole or Mr. T. C. Carscallen represents the constituency of Lennox, the two candidates at present, as the result of the recount, having a tie vote. The ballot boxes were received at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning, along with the protests of the candidates, both of whom appeal against the decision of the County Judge of Lenhox and Addington, W. H. Wilkinson.

Mr. Carscallen appeals in respect to ballots Nos. 405, 2,470, 4,004, 4,032, 4,064, 5,256, 5,288 from the decision thereon, and Mr. Madole appeals from the ruling decisions, allowances and disallowances of the ballots on the recount, and from the result thereof. Mr. Madole's appeal means that all the ballots will have to be gone over and explained by the Judge of the Court of Appeal.

The appeals have been set down for Saturday next at Osgoode Hall, and Mr. Justice Maclennan will preside.

The recount was resumed at 8 o'clock and will not be concluded till to-day. Meaford town and the townships of Derby, St. Vincent and Keppel constitute the remainder of the riding, and in these are nineteen rejected ballots.

It is thought here that, though the result will be close, Mr. McKay will retain a majority.

SENTENCE OF BRUNET

To Spend Six Months in Jail for Election Corruption.

DEMAND OF PUBLIC CONSCIENCE

That Electoral Corruption Must Be Stopped—Text of the Judge's Severe Arraignment of the Prisoner at the Bar—Why He Would Not Inflict a Fine Instead of Imprisonment.

Montreal, June 11.—Arthur Brunet the broker, who pleaded guilty to fraud and corrupt practices in connection with the St. James' election, appeared for sentence yesterday in the Court of King's Bench. The room was crowded with politicians and lawyers, and a great deal of interest was taken in the case. When Chief Justice Lacoste asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon him he replied with a scarcely audible negative.

Court room was packed yesterday when Sir Alexander Lacoste took his seat, and Brunet who had pleaded guilty to all three counts of the indictment, was called to the bar.

"The public conscience," began the Chief Justice, "has for a long time been crying out against corruption. I have been asked to impose a fine, but this would be the triumph of money. Society must understand that there is a place where money does not count, and that is in the British courts of justice. If it were otherwise, the rich and the poor would not be on the same footing before the law. The rich would be able to pay his fine and the poor would go to jail.

"During the election frauds you have acted in such a cynical manner that would indicate a great lack of moral sense. It is now time, therefore, that the public should understand that everyone is equal before the courts of justice. Your crime has been attributed to your youth and inexperience, yet the papers in this case seem to prove that you have had an extraordinary experience. The first offence of which you are guilty is that of corruption, and although the law imposes six months as the maximum penalty, I condemn you to four months. The second is of a much graver nature. You have prompted different persons to vote under false names, and consequently to perjure themselves. The maximum penalty is two years, and the minimum three months. I will give you six months. The third offence is still more serious. You have prevented the free administration of justice, and although the maximum penalty is two years, I condemn you to six months.

"However, as these may be considered one offence, and, in consideration of the petitions which I have received, I will allow the three sentences to run concurrently, and instead of serving 16 months you will be free in six."

Mrs. Celina Mallette, who had impersonated voters, and committed perjury during the recent municipal election, was also sent down for six months.

PETERBOROUGH BOY KILLED.

Thos. Guerin met His Death in Toronto.

Was a Son of Mr. Adolph Guerin of the South End—How it Occurred.

(Globe.)

Thomas Guerin, a boilermakers' helper, employed in the Grand Trunk's shops, at the foot of Brock street, Toronto, was run down and fatally injured by a shunting engine about noon yesterday. He left the shop to get his dinner and walked down the track a short distance, apparently intending to cross to the water front. He waited to go behind a moving freight train, and after it had passed he stepped in front of the light engine which was backing in the opposite direction. It knocked him down and he was terribly injured in the head and upper portion of the body. The ambulance removed him to the Emergency Hospital, but he died soon after reaching that institution. Internal injuries, it is thought, caused his death, but the facts will be made known at the inquest which Coroner Johnston has called for to-morrow afternoon.

Guerin was 23 years of age and resided with his brother Adolph at 300 Dufferin street. He was unmarried, and came to Toronto from Peterborough.

The deceased was a son of Mr. Adolph Guerin, who resides in the south end of the town. He went to Toronto about a year ago.

AN INFANT'S BODY FOUND

In a Sawdust Pile This Morning.

A NEWLY BORN BABE

With its Head Severed From the Body —An Inquest to be Held.

The body of a female infant was found this morning in the sawdust bank, just east of the Dickson Company's saw mill, at the foot of London street. The body was that of a newly born infant, but it was headless and there was no sign of the head of the child to be found.

The body was noticed by Mr. Matthew McMahon, an employee of the Dickson Company, when he was on his way to work this morning. He immediately notified the Chief of Police, who informed Coroner Gray of the affair. The body was then, in accordance with the Coroner's instructions, removed to the undertaking establishment of Mr. D. Belleghem, and an inquest has been ordered for this evening.

The body of the child was enclosed in a small box and had a covering of a sheet over it. The box was laid on the ground, or sawdust, but was not covered up, and how long it has been there is not known, although it is stated that it was seen on Sunday last.

The authorities have yet no idea as to where the body came from, but the inquest which will open at 8 o'clock to-night will likely bring something to light.

THE COUNTY COURT.

Judgment Given in Kenny vs. Doxee —The Presentment.

The County Court is still in session before His Honour Judge Ketchum. The only case so far disposed of is that of Kenny vs. Doxee. Judgment was given in favour of the plaintiff, Archie Kenny, for $119.25.

THE PRESENTMENT.

At noon to-day the Grand Jury brought in the following presentment:

We, the Grand Jury, beg leave to submit the following report;—

We desire to congratulate your Honour and the County upon the absence of crime, as shown by the fact that there are no criminal cases before the county court to engage our attention.

While we welcome your Honour to Peterborough, we would express our regret at the circumstances which make your presence necessary, namely, the ill-health of His Honour Judge Weller, who is thereby rendered unable to discharge the duties he has fulfilled so efficiently in the past, and we trust that in the near future his health will be fully restored.

We would also desire to reciprocate Your Honour's congratulations upon the restoration of peace by the termination of the war in South Africa, a fact that should bring rejoicing throughout the Empire, and bring to the late Republic the blessing of good and stable government, such as we enjoy in this favoured country, which we are proud to regard as the best country in the world.

We have examined the jail premises, and find everything perfectly in order, but regret to note the presence of one or two persons who are guilty of no crime, and therefore should not share the penal confinement of criminals. One of these is a person partially paralyzed and fitted for hospital treatment, and another of unsound mind, who should, we think, be cared for in a proper asylum, and another who we believe is able and should be made to work. The number confined in the jail at present is nine.

We also visited the House of Providence in Ashburnham, where shelter is given to 56 persons, of which 33 are advanced in years and 18 are children, all apparently well cared for.

We also visited St. Joseph's Hospital and found there 26 patients, all well and properly cared for.

In the Nicholls Hospital we found 17 patients, also all well and properly cared for.

We would also strongly recommend and urge the necessity of providing a County House of Refuge for the shelter of those poor and infirm persons, who, for lack of proper accommodation, are compelled to mingle with criminals in the county jail, and we would suggest that the adjoining counties unite in building and maintaining at some convenient point, a suitable institution, where these poor and infirm people can be properly cared for.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CORNELIUS YOUNG,
Foreman.

His Honour addressed the Grand Jurors briefly in reply, after which they were dismissed.

CONCERNING MR. KENRICK.

What the Brantford Courier Says of a Minister Well Known Here.

The Brantford Courier of June 9th contains the following item concerning Rev. U. B. Kenrick, who is in charge of St. John's church, Brantford during the summer:

"The day appointed for national thanksgiving was well observed in St. John's church yesterday. The morning service of Holy communion was well attended, the Rev. C. B. Kenrick's sermon showing that the Holy Eucharist was the highest act of thanksgiving that could be offered. In the evening special hymns and psalms were rendered and the anthem "Fear Not O Land, be Glad and Rejoice," was very heartily sung. A very able and patriotic sermon was preached on the causes for thankfulness which we as Canadians and christians feel. The great dangers that are now passed. The glorious liberty enjoyed by those under the British flag. The showing to the world of a united empire, etc., and that now that God has given us the victory we should show our thankfulness by united missionary effort, were the chief subjects touched upon. There was a large congregation, and all seemed to greatly appreciate the new order of services and the ministrations of so able a man as the Rev. C. B. Kenrick."

T. C. S. SECOND BEAT COLTS 2ND.

Yesterday's Cricket Match on the Nicholls Oval.

LACROSSE MATCH TO-NIGHT.

The Y. M. C. A. and the T. A. S. Will Come Together—Bowling-on-the-Green.

Trinity College School II Cricket Eleven, visited Peterborough yesterday and succeeded in defeating the Colts II by a score of 81 to 47. The citizens of the town are only awakening to the fact that cricket is taking a great boom among the younger boys, and a visit to the Nicholls oval during the progress of one of the matches is most interesting. The boys are making very good progress, but they are badly in need of coaching, and it is a pity that some of the old timers do not interest themselves more in this regard.

There were quite a few spectators up to see yesterday's game, however, and all were well pleased with the class of cricket put up. The locals were defeated yesterday, but it is a singular fact that the two players on the T.C.S. team who ran up the highest score were George Rogers and "Dug" Hammond, two Peterborough boys. In the first innings, the score stood 35 to 18, in favour of T.C.S. and at the finish the visitors lead by 81 to 47. For the locals, Keele has 8 runs to his credit; Stapleton and Wood, 7.

At the conclusion of the game the boys were very hospitably entertained by the residence of Mr. D. J. Lundy, corner Aylmer and Dalhousie streets.

The score was as follows;

LACROSSE.

There should be a large attendance at the Nicholls oval this evening to see the game between the T.A.S. and Y.M.C.A. teams. Considerable rivalry exists between these two fwelves, and a red-hot game is expected to-night. An effort should be made to have the match start promptly on time.

BASEBALL.

The Elms of Ashburnham defeated the Y.M.C.A. by a score of 14 to 0 Tuesday evening, June 10th. Harold Crane umpired to the satisfaction of both teams. Battries—Swanson and Gillespie for the Elms; Sager and Metheral for the Y.M.C.A.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD.

The Regular Monthly Business Meeting Held Last Night.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Young Mens' Guild of St. Andrew's church was held last night there being a good attendance of members.

Routine business was taken up, during which the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution reported. The report was adopted.

Further arrangements were made regarding the annual pic-nic of the Guild, which will be held on Coronation Day, June 25th, and will, of course, be made one of the events of the season in connection with the Guild.

Mr. Walter Reid was present last night with his gramophone and delivered a number of popular selections.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, of St. Paul's church who was present made a few remarks.

A number of young men of the Guild have moved out of town of late and on Tuesday next Mr. Will Miller intends leaving for Detroit where he will reside in future. Amongst others who have left Peterborough lately and who were identified with the work of the Guild are Messrs. Reg. Adams and Willis Garrow. A resolution of regret at their departure from town was adopted.

The meetings of St. Andrew's Young Mens' Guild are very interesting and are open to all those who may desire to attend.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

A Proposal to Enlarge the Boundaries of the Conference.

At yesterday's session of the Bay of Quinte Conference at Napanee, Rev. Dr. Saunders asked, in a report of the St. James' Church fund, that a general effort be made to reach the full quota of promise in each circuit, and also supplement, where possible, any amounts already paid. Mr. Ed. O'Flynn, Madoc, is reappointed Treasurer for this fund. The Conference will meet in the Simcoe street church, Oshawa, next year. The statistics of Conference show a considerable decrease in membership in a total of forty thousand. There was, however, a decided increase in all the funds. The total value of church property is one and three-quarter millions of dollars. Great effort was made by Conference to overcome the financial burden upon ministers and funds from weak circuits. The report of the sustentation fund committee provoked a prolonged discussion. This is a fund made to help weak circuits. Finally its provisions were enunciated so unmistakably that next year no field of labour will be helped that has not applied therefor through all legal channels.

The following are the principal changes in stations: Wm. Coombe, Shannonville; W. S. P. Boyce, B.D., Morven; H. T. Lewis, B.A., Hallowell; W.P. Rogers, B.A., Demorestville; Geo. Nickle, Baltimore; M. E. Wilson, B.A., Brooklin; A.C. Wilson, Pickering; E. A. Tomkin, Sydney; G. W. Clarke, B. A., Little Britain; Wesley Elliott, Woodville; A. J. Terrill, B.A., Cambray; N. D. Drew, South Monaghan; J. E. Robison, Bethany; H. B. Rowe, Queensboro'.

Queen Alexandra's Gracious Plan.

London, June 11.—The Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur F. Ingram, D.D., has announced that Queen Alexandra will provide a "tea" for 10,000 female domestic servants, in celebration of the coronation. Dr. Ingram adds that Her Majesty, in discussing the matter, said it seemed to her that without some such special arrangement the maid-servants would be a class of people who would be quite left out of the celebrations. Each servant will also be presented with a medal bearing on it the heads of King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

THE FASHIONS.

Chiffon veils hemstitched in heavy embroidery silk of another color are a coming novelty.

The feature in the summer goods is the silky finish and the openwork striping in the weaving.

Filet lace of a deep ecru shade makes a pretty edge on flat shoulder collars of plaited linen batiste.

Parisian and home dressmakers have made a specialty this spring of simple pretty blouse and shirt suits of linen and duck in delicate colorings.

Stylish outing hats of stitched linen are simply trimmed about the crown with a softly folded band of linen batiste, with a large rosette of the same at the left side.

One of the coolest and prettiest hats of the season is made of white lilacs, so natural one can almost smell the fragrance, with a few leaves, and the crown of the hat of white tulle.

The fashionable milliners have discarded Irish crochet lace this season, but the dressmakers have not, and either as entire trimming or in combination with other lace it appears on the majority of the season's handsomest models.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

Portrait jewelry has a goodly following, and cameos are an increasing delight to many.

White enamel flower brooches, with diamonds as centers or as dewdrops, pleasantly suggest the dainty toilets of summer.

A double row of pearls finishes the edge of a beautiful shell comb, and below this on the shell is a raised ribbon design in brilliants.

An attractive and unusual watch fob for a lady consists of five tourmalines of different light colors, square cut, delicately mounted in gold and linked together.

Rock quarts figures charmingly in the handles of fine parasols, and beautiful agate balls are another favorite. Golden dragons and snakes coiling around wood sticks represent still other effective motifs.

SHORT STORIES.

No less than 185 species of butterflies are found in Mexico and Central America.

Brooklyn's health department is going to stop the sale of dangerous "headache cures."

Paul Revere's house in Boston, from which he started on his famous ride, is now an Italian bank.

Although ordinary wood alcohol is a poison, Ohio is the only state which prohibits its sale on that account.

The total increase of population in the Dominion of Canada, including the gain by immigration as well as by natural increase, has fallen from 839,000 in the decade ending 1880 to 506,000 in that ending 1901.

Just Right for a Hot Day.

Does this hot weather do you up? Then for that fagged out feeling try a bottle of Merrill's System Tonic. It puts new life and energy in the body and makes one feel equal to their duties. As a muscular and nerve tonic and a blood regulator, this medicine has no equal. Price 50 cents per bottle of 50 doses at Ormond and Walsh's drug store. Descriptive pamphlet free.

Odd Titles of Rulers.

Among the seventy-one titles of the sultan of Turkey are "Abdul Hamid, the Eternally Victorious," "the Eternally Smiling," "the Eternally Invincible," "Distributer of Crowns to the Heroes Seated on the Thrones" and "Shadow of God on Earth."

The shah of Persia has also many pompous titles, among them being "Luminous Star of the Firmament," "The One Star That Gives Light to the Terrestrial Planet," "Pivot of the Universe" and "Magnetic Center of the Globe."

The funniest title, however, is borne by the ruler of Ava, a small kingdom on the borders of Afghanistan. This monarch signs all his decrees as follows: "Signed and sealed by the king of kings, whom all the world should obey, because he preserves life in all human beings, because he regulates the seasons, because he is the father of the sun and because he is the king of the twenty-four umbrellas."

In order to convince the skeptical that these are no unmeaning words twenty four umbrellas are always kept in the king's private closet.

FLOOR COVERINGS.

THE RUGS OF MANY NATIONS AND THEIR APPROPRIATE USES.

Eastern Prayer Rugs—Our Navajo Products—Inexpensive Jutes and Cottons—Domestic Smyrnas That Suit Slender Pocketbooks.

During the past twenty-five years a considerable change has been effected in America in the treatment and furnishing of floors, says The Delineator, which proceeds to indicate some of these as follows: The first really popular knowledge that America had of the value of oriental floor coverings was gained at the centennial celebration of 1876. The leaven has been diffused and has increased ever since until it has created a widespread interest in the history and manufacture of these rugs, with an intelligent desire for their ownership.

America may take a distinctive position in rug weaving from the productions of the Indians in the west. The value of their work becomes better known and more appreciated each year. The Navajo race produces the best examples of rugs, and it is said they learned their art from the Pueblos. The blaze of color with which the Indians adorn themselves appears also in their rugs, as their original use was a blanket or dress. The patterns vary from simple parallel lines to complex figures that picture, as those of the oriental weaves, the legends and mythology of their tribes. One of the practical points of the Navajo rug is its imperviousness to water, it being beaten solidly together in the loom.

The rag carpet of our early settlers has been revived in an artistic form by using strips of cloth dyed in different tones of one color, with occasional bits of corduroy or velvet. Another recent industry is a rug weaving settlement in New England, in which the rich tones and fine designs of antique rugs from the east are closely copied.

The Japanese jute and cotton rugs meet a temporary need where effect is desired without any very lasting quality. The foreign dhurry rugs of cotton are original in design and unusual in color. Though recently brought to America, they already find imitators.

Our domestic smyrna rugs serve the need that is so often demanded by a slender pocketbook. The designs are rough copies of the Turkish, sometimes woven through to make the rug reversible.

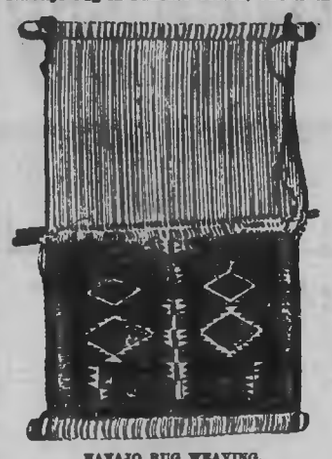
A grade higher and with increasing improvement in the color and designs are the rugs made in strips of wilton or axminster that do not show the seaming.

Beginning with the hall, one may select from the orient any of the Turcoman rugs, with their dark, rich coloring, heavy pile and shaggy surface, and a hamadan (Persian) strip on the stairs.

For the living room are any of the small rugs from the Caucasian family or the lighter weight soumachs, sometimes erroneously called cashmeres. Wilton or brussels carpets in rug designs and colors are also serviceable in the living room and the library.

The feraghan (Persian) rug in its large size and with its characteristic chints figure repeated all over is the ideal choice in a dining room. Its cheaper substitutes are the three piece axminster and the wilton rugs of American make, the English brussels-like rug or a rug made from a good brussels carpeting.

The floor of the den, or men's sitting room, should be distinctively masculine in treatment. Beginning here with a Navajo rug in sunrise colors, one is inspired to continue the walls of the room in pumpkin yellow, to finish the woodwork in fumed or green oak and to add a gradual assortment of Indian articles.



NAVAJO RUG WEAVING.

The summer porch and the decks of pleasure craft are other fields in which the Navajo rug may be a supreme success.

Advice.

"What would you say," began the voluble prophet of woe, "if I were to tell you that in a very short space of time all the rivers of this country would dry up?"

"I would say," replied the patient man, "'Go thou and do likewise.'"

SEWING ROOM HELPS.

Short Cuts in Ways and Materials. Handy Things From the Shops.

The steady going "house mother," to quote a German phrase, continues to split her white darning cotton and uses it to mend her fine towels and table linen, forgetting that it is meant for cotton goods, and because of the roughness of its fiber she is apt to tear fresh holes in the worn textile as she draws the thread back and forth. Or, knowing that fine French embroidery cotton is smoother, she uses that to reconstruct the broken warp and woof, and because of the countless stitches needed to cover the lost ground she gives herself work that is tedious and wearisome to the eye and produces a darn very pretty in itself, but very conspicuous indeed on the glossy surface of the linen.

Better far than either of these, presenting their advantages and lacking their faults, are the soft skeins of flax that can be found where lacemaking materials are sold. These threads are firm, yet soft, and being of pure linen are more suitable for linen work. They come in different degrees of fineness and when chosen of the right grade yield the very best results. After laundering the re-enforcement of a frayed part strengthened with the flax is quite invisible, and the darn that covers a hole or joins the edges of a rent is scarcely perceptible if properly done.

For white sewing, usually the most tedious of all sewing, there are many helps. Very practical are the ready made yokes and sleeves for infants' long and short slips and gowns. It requires very little time to attach to one of these sets the plain hemmed little skirt with its front and back gathered at the top, and little hollows cut under the arms, but except for the buttons and buttonholes nothing more is needed to complete the garment.

These yoke sets come made of tucked lawn and cambric and are also found in all over embroidery. They are finished neatly and are edged at the throat and wrists with narrow lace or a frill of embroidery. One may even save making a hem if, instead of plain material, one buys the lawn that comes with a hemstitched border along one side and costs only a few cents more. These little yoke sets are specially convenient when the infant's long dresses are cut down to short ones.

The finishing of white work consumes much time, necessitating not only double seams, but often fells that require basting and careful fitting. The foregoing are among sewing room helps enumerated in Good Housekeeping.

A Windy Tale.

Because the umbrella is the most unpopular article in ordinary use the announcement that it is doomed to go will be of universal importance and gratification. It is by means of small boxes containing compressed air that the umbrella is to be superseded. These boxes are made to fit inside any hat, having a small tube adapted to the center of their summit, says the Scottish-American. By the simple pressure of a button placed at the side of the hat the compressed air may be allowed to escape from the tube, and by a most ingenious arrangement instead of flowing upward it is made to expand all round, like those fountains which form like a ball. The rain falling on the compressed air is of course compelled to rebound according to the well known laws of gravity and resistance and, as it does with the umbrella, falls around the happy possessor of this most useful contrivance. After the rain is over another touch at the button deprives the compressed air of its outward expansion.

Their Loss Our Gain.

"Women have no sense of humor," said he.

"That is a dispensation of Providence for which the men should be truly thankful," she retorted. "Providence deprived women of a sense of humor that they might not notice how preposterously absurd the men are when they're in love."

EMPIRE FREE TRADE.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach on the Colonial Conference.

GRAIN TAX FOR REVENUE ONLY

Chancellor of the Exchequer Speaks of a Possible Zollverein of Great Britain and the Colonies—Former Would Be Willing to Make Some Sacrifices For the Benefit of the Latter.

London, June 10.—During the debate on the Finance Bill in the House of Commons yesterday, the grain tax came in for much criticism. Sir William Vernon Harcourt (Liberal), demanded to know whether the Government intended to tax, as a war revenue measure, pure and simple, or whether it was intended to be a lever to aid in the negotiation of preferential treaties with foreign countries.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, replied that the grain tax was imposed for revenue only; but he absolutely, without prejudice, to the discussion which would take place between the colonial Premiers in London and which he hoped would have good results in promoting free trade between this country and the colonies altogether, disclaimed the interpretation that the Canadian Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had put on the grain tax.

He did not see why free trade with the colonies should involve increased duties on the part of foreign nations, "but," the speaker added, "if we could have free trade with the colonies even some sacrifices in that direction might be made."

Tide is Turning this Way.

Toronto, June 10.—After five years absence abroad, as Dominion Emigrant agent, Alfred Jury, has returned to this city. Mr. Jury will be the guest of his son at 31 Sunnyside avenue for the next 60 days, when he will return to his post at Liverpool In an interview yesterday, Mr. Jury said: "This is an era of commercial and industrial development generally, and it is a physical impossibility to prevent Canada reaping a large share of the prosperity incident to the situation. On the whole, Canada is in a position to receive larger benefits from present world events than any other section of the globe. In England, the temper of the populace is one of great enthusiasm toward Canada."

Merrill Challenges the World.

Merrill, the druggist of Brantford, offers $1000 to anyone who will make a better cure for constipation than Merrill's System Tonic. This medicine is not a simple cathartic but a positive and pleasant to take cure for habitual constipation. In this way it cures constipation, impure blood and nervous troubles. 50 doses price 50 cents at Ormond and Walsh's pharmacy.

Fox's Wit.

The following is one of the many stories told about Charles James Fox, the English statesman and orator:

Mr. Hare, envoy to the court of Poland, occupied rooms in the statesman's "diggings." He was a great personal friend and indeed a man of very similar tastes. They were each the objects of continual inquiry on the part of tradesmen and others. One day Fox, looking out of the upper window, descried two men watching the house and waiting. With a genial smile, he shouted, "Pray, gentlemen, will you tell me, are you Fox hunting or Hare hunting today?"

The bailiffs were so tickled that they went away.

Snakes Used by Charmers.

Cobras are selected by the so called snake charmers of both Egypt and India for their performances. The Egyptian charmers sometimes pretend to change the serpent into a rod, and, according to Geoffrey St. Hilaire, this appearance can be induced by giving a strong squeeze to the animal's neck, which induces a convulsive rigidity from which the animal soon recovers. It need hardly be said that the snake charmers always carefully extract the fangs of the snakes they use.

Death Superstitions.

Death superstitions are rife in the West Indies. To the people there everything out of the ordinary is a "sign." In Cuba a person with a sore or wound of any kind will not look upon a dead person, fearing that the spot will become incurable. The rum used in washing a dead body is, however, regarded as a sure cure for all eye troubles. If the light from a candle or lamp falls on the face of the dead, death will shortly come to him or her who was carrying the light.

A Familiar Name.

In the homes of Canada and the United States, there are few names more familiar and none more reverently spoken of than that of Dr. A. W. Chase, the great physician and receipt book author. He is blessed for the suffering he has relieved and the diseases he has cured; his remedies are used and endorsed by the best people in the land; they are popular because they cure when others fail.

American Coal Production.

New York, June 9th, 1902.—The United States Geological Survey Reports the production of coal in this country for 1901 as amounting to 292,240,758 tons, valued at nearly 350 millions. This is an increase over the preceding year of nearly 25 million tons, and in value over 40 million. The increase was largest in Penna. anthracite. The ensuing benefits accrueing being to the credit of railways that mine anthracite. It accounts to a great degree for their increased net earnings for the past year. It also issues a continuance of these increases, with accompanying enhancement in values. Our coal production last year was 70 per cent. more than Great Britain's, seven times that of Austria Hungary, and eight times more than that of France.

A country's coal output, from time immemorial, has been the indication of its prosperity and of its commercial rise, and if all American coal known to exist is in sufficient quantities to last over 500 years, at its present rate of consumption, the future of American coal stocks is most bright. No other class of securities proffers greater possibilities and likelihood of steady enhancement in values. Advantage should be taken of current situation to purchase them at "strike prices." Industrial and commercial conditions are comprehensively summarized by Bradstreets, its weekly trade review for current week goes on as follows "Crop prospects are really brilliant, railroad earnings are enormous, despite the small grain tonnage. Bank clearing are heavy,, notwithstanding the speculative dullness and failures are fewer in number than in recent preceding years."

The ending of the Boer war will shortly stimulate export business in manufacturers. The next few months will see a drift downward in price of food products. It will modify the attitude of restless workers checking the tendency towards a strike epidemic.

Hazelton, June 9th,—Unable to obtain fireman and pump runners. J. S. Wentz & Co. will permit the Hazelbrook Colliery to be flooded. Coxes and Stockton colliery is reported to be filling with water, owing to force. Committee of citizens went to Mauch Chunk to-day to protest against the stationing of deputies at the Yorkton collieries by Sheriff Gombert, of Gombert Co. Sheriff Jacobs has been appointed by Cox Bros. and to furnish protection to non-union men in their mines.

New York, June 10th. — Bradstreet's weekly statement of the world's available supplies of grain shows the following changes; wheat east of the rockies, dec., 2,609,222 bushels; Europe and afloat, dec., 2,000,000; world's dec., 4,609,000 bushels. U. S. corn increase, 648,000 bushels; oats, dec., 738,000.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 10th.—The Susquena Coal Company, with 800 men guarding its works, started the pumps this morning.

Sctanton, Pa., June 10th.—The big mining companys are planning to get their most productive washeries in the Lackawanna region going this week.

Gathered Here and There.

New York, June 10th. — Market dullness continues yet. Indicattons are not lacking, reflecting the general prosperity of country, and the likelihood of a still higher range of values in the immediate future. A statement is in course of preparation by the Northern Securities Co. which will show that roads combined in that Co., namely, the Great Northern and North Pacific, have earned for their fiscal year fully twenty millions more than they did one year ago. This is certainly a most encouraging and gratifying showing. every road in the country is maintaining wonderful earnings, most of them in excess of last year, and they are comparing at present with the top notch reports of one year ago. Great roads reports no signs of diminution in business, offering and hazard opinion that business will be large for a long time to come. The U.S.S. Co. is sold away ahead into next year. Over 3,000 tons of iron pipe were exported by the National Tube Co. from its McKeesport plant—an increase of nearly 50 per cent. over the Co.'s exports for April 1st. The National Tube Company is one of the subsidiary companys of the U. S. S. corporation. The American Steel and Wire Co., from its Pittsburg and other Penna. plants, forwarded last month nearly 7,500 tons of wire and wire nails to fill export orders. This product was taken by Australia, South Africa, Europe, China and Japan. The home demand is also voracious as ever, and shows every indication of continuance. The crops are all making excellent progress, and experts state that they are in the very very best condition. Statistical figures show that if only 60 per cent. of the corn acreage turns out well we will have a bumper crop. If it all does well, we will have the greatest corn crop on record, and mark the high water mark figures up enormously above any reached heretofore. It is to be hoped that no outside interference will be permitted to enter the strike situation. It will be best for all concerned, even the men, if it be fought to a finish.

PRETTY JUNE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Mr. John E. Roxburgh of Norwood to Miss L. E. Meharry of Town.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Meharry, No. 190 London street, was the scene of a very interesting event at four o'clock this afternoon, it being the occasion of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Letitia E., to to Mr. John E. Roxburgh, of Norwood. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of the George street Methodist church, assisted by Rev. F. D. Roxburgh, Smithville, brother of the groom, in the presence of sixty or more of the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride who was given away by her father, was handsomely attired in a gown of white taffeta, trimmed with point lace and chiffon. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride was attended by Miss Annie E. Locke, of Belleville, who wore a gown of pale blue organdie and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Gerald Roxburgh, of Norwood.

The wedding march was played by Miss Lila Meharry, cousin of the bride.

At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony the wedding party sat down to a sumptuous dejeuner, and the newly married couple will leave at 7.30 o'clock this evening for Norwood, where they will in future reside.

The bride is well known to a large circle of friends in Peterborough, and the beautiful array of presents she received, testified to the esteem in which she is held. The groom is one of Norwood's rising young business men, and is a son of Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, of that place. He, too, is very popularly known to many Peterborough people, all of whom will join in wishing him and his bride many years of happiness and prosperity.

A HEAVY COAL BILL.

Ontario Government Must pay big Prices This Year.

The advance in the price of coal due to the miner's strike falls heavily not only on the householder but on the province, which keeps house on a somewhat large scale. The Government recently decided to award the contracts for the supply of coal for the various public institutions to the lowest tenderers, but the lowest range was from 15 cents to a dollar a ton higher than the prices of last year. This year tenders were asked before the increase at the mines, and it is believed that the contractors would to-day hardly care to put in the prices they did some weeks ago. The Provincial Secretary's Department has awarded the contracts, subject, of course, to the usual changes in case of unsatisfactory guarantors., believing that the prices quoted are as reasonable as they can hope to obtain in the near future, as the coal is required for the institutions. Between 30,000 and 40,000 tons of soft and hard coal and screenings, are consumed in the various institutions under the control of the Provincial Secretary's Department, and it is estimated that the increased price will make a difference of $26,000 or $30,000. The coal must be purchased out of an appropriation made before there was any intimation of a probable increase in price, so that the officers have a difficult situation to face. The prices vary greatly in the different places where the institutions are situated. At Orillia, for instance, where rail freight is a factor, the price of hard coal in 1900 was $5.50, while in Toronto it was in that year $4.85. This year the lowest tender in Orillia is $6.10, while screenings have advanced from $3.43 to $3.89. At the Central Prison, Toronto, hard coal was $4.87 last year, and this year it will be 53 cents more. At the Mercer hard coal last year cost $5.19, and this year it will come to $5.65. The department paid for soft coal screenings at the Mercer last year $2.54 a ton. This year "run of mine" is being used instead of screenings, but if the same coal had been used the difference would have been 46 cents.

None of these contracts has, of course, been finally executed, and, owing to possible differences between the department and the contractors, as to conditions of delivery, etc., it may be necessary to fall back on the next lowest tender in some instances, but in any event the prices will be materially higher than in previous years.

The highest class tobacco only is used in the manufacture of "DARDANELLES," an absolutely pure Egyptian cigarette. Packed in silver, cork and plain tips. Sold everywhere, 15 cents per package.

WAS THE BABE MURDERED?

Post Mortem Examination by Dr. Young.

LAST NIGHT'S INQUEST.

Two Witnesses Were Examined and an Adjournment was Made Until Monday Night Next.

The inquest to inquire into the cause of death to the infant child that was found yesterday morning in the sawdust pile near the Dickson Company's mill at the foot of London street, opened at 8 o'clock last night before Dr. Gray, Coroner. There were only three witnesses examined, after which an adjournment was made until Monday night next. The evidence last night, was such as to show that the child was at least five days old before it met its death, and that its death was due to having been struck on the head by some blunt instrument which one of the witnesses said may have been an axe.

The Coroner's Jury was empannelled as follows:

F. W. Miller, foreman; Bruce Hutchinson, F. M. Cobb, Ben Cooney, Henry Newton, John Savigny, Wm. Kindred, Warren Hall, John Sym, J. M. Brooks, Robert Bradburn, Wm. McGregor, Ezra Good and Robert Brown.

The first witness called was Chief Rossel, who told of having first seen the body of the child Wednesday morning in the sawdust pile on the Dickson Co's premises, between the tail race and the river channel. It was in a small box which also contained a paper of May 29th, a pillow slip, a piece of cotton, and a piece of quilt. The box was wrapped in a sheet and quilt. The box and contents were then moved to the undertaking establishment of Mr. D. Belleghem where it still remains.

Mr. Frank Eano of Mr. Belleghem's undetaking establishment, gave evidence along the same lines as the Chief. He had, according to the instructions of the Chief, removed the box and contents to the undertaking rooms where it now is and it was the same body as had just been viewed by the Coroner's Jury, and by Dr. Young, who performed the post mortem examination.

Dr. Young who performed the post mortem examination, was called and submitted in writing the following:

Peterborough, June 11, 1902.

The report of the post mortem examination upon an unknown female child held at Belleghem's this day.

The body was headless. The length 12 inches; weight 3 lbs; well nourished. Decomposition had set in. The lower jaw was broken in many pieces. The tongue was there. The skin separated upon the slightest touch from the body. The lungs were so much decomposed that it was impossible to tell if the child had breathed. The heart was so much decomposed that I could not make sure if the opening between the upper cavities had closed or not. The stomach was empty. The bladder was empty. The rest of the organs were normal, but more or less decomposed. There was some material in the intestines, which might be digested food. The navel showed signs of having been separated. It was about a seven and a half month's child. I am unable to state the cause of death.

In addition to the above, Dr. Young stated that it was his opinion from the conditions he observed, that the child had been struck from behind with a blunt instrument, which may have been an axe or some other heavy instrument. He said the child had probably been dead eight or nine days, which he would judge from the amount of decomposition during the present state of the weather. When asked if the child had lived for any length of time after having been born, Dr. Young stated that the condition of the navel would show that the child had lived about 5 days.

Coroner Gray corroborated what Dr. Young had said in this regard.

An adjournment was then made unto Monday night next. Crown Attorney Wood was present last night and looked after the Crown's interests. The police are not saying much about the matter, but they feel certain they will be able to make some disclosures before another week.

Stockholders in the Mines and Railways Are Said to Be Working to Aid the Coal Strikers.

New York, June 12.—Although neither John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, nor the coal road presidents, who are in direct charge of the coal strike, seem to be aware of any move in the direction of a settlement of the strike, and agree in denying that any such move is being made, information from sources that cannot be disregarded indicates that negotiations are on foot looking toward a settlement.

It is said that both financial and the termination of the strike in political interests of the most important character are at work with view, and that satisfactory progress is being made. The National Civic Federation has nothing to do with these proceedings. So far as it was possible to learn, they are being conducted by the interests which hold controlling quantities of the stocks of the coal carrying railroads. What is being done is being guarded with the utmost care, but it is said that the result, if favorable, will be made manifest within the next week.

In short, stockholders in the mines and railways are working to aid the coal strikers.

Riots in the Mines Again.

Wilkes-Barre, June 11. — Sheriff Schadt of Lackawanna County, at the head of a force of deputies, hurried yesterday morning to the William A. Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company at Duryea, where a mob of riotous Indians gathered for an attack upon the mine. He reached there in time to stay the attack, but the size of the mob is growing and its temper is increasing.

For three days and nights there has been attacks upon the mine and several watchers and workers were injured. The riot fever has increased so rapidly that even with the sheriff on the ground there is fear of trouble.

Later, when the danger of an attack is over, the sheriff will make several arrests, having obtained the names of many leaders.

HONG KONG CONTINGENT.

Fine Looking Body of Men Have Reached Montreal.

Montreal, June 12.—Major Chapman, commanding the contingent from Hong Kong, Capt. James and Lieut. Armstrong called on Mr. Robt Kerr, passenger traffic manager of the C. P. R. yesterday morning and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the Canadian route from the East. One of the officers had been by the long route and stated that the Canadian route was much superior. The Hong Kong contingent, 83 in all, is a fine-looking lot of men, the Sikhs being especially fine soldiers. One of the most prominent is Sub-Major Surdar-Khan, who has a fine record in the Boxer war. The contingent will be reviewed here today.

Tunis, June 12.—Sidi Ali, the Bey of Tunis, died yesterday morning.

Tunis, June 12.—The son of Sidi Ali, Mohammed, was proclaimed Bey yesterday afternoon.

Anchored to Death.

St. John's, Nfld., June 12.—Peter Carroll, aged 79 years, disappeared from his home yesterday. Last night his body was found in the harbor. There was a rope around his neck with several pieces of iron attached to it. He had become despondent of late.

Origin of Dunning.

During the reign of Henry VIII. there lived in Lincoln, England, a famous bailiff named Joe Dun. Joseph was very clever in the management of his business and so dextrous in annoying those who refused the payment of an account with which he had been intrusted that "to set Dun on him" or "to Dun him" became common advice to the owner of a bad debt. To this personage we owe what to not a few people is the most disagreeable word in the language.

WE WANT CAPITAL.

The Detroit Journal says that the return of the Ross Government also means much to American capitalists who have invested money in Canada. That Government has pursued a policy of leasing its pulp lands in concessions for a term of years, on condition that mills were built and operated. Mr. Whitney, the Conservative leader, contended that these lands should be sold outright at public auction, claiming that the Government would realize more in that way than it does under its present system. The capitalists who are working these concessions—and the majority of them are Americans — have been uneasy for the past few months, fearing that were Mr. Whitney returned he might proceed to sell these lands, the present holders having no claim on them apart apart from their agreement with the Government. There can be no doubt that Government by the Liberal party being assured for another term, more American capital will find its way into Ontario. That means the financial and industrial progress of the province, the development of its still untouched resources.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Opposition begins to find recounts of no 'count.

The little Englanders, individuals and journals and the perennial pessimest, have blown up Buller and the Boer irreconcilables are credited with wanting to blow up Kitchener.

In London, the Less, the other day a wedding was celebrated on the lawn. It will be an interesting question for the gossips whether or not a grass bride gives better promise of being a grass widow.

The results of the recounts, generally favourable to the returns of the Deputy Returning Officer, disprove the claims of hysterical Opposition journals as to the "machine" character of the late contest.

The people of Toronto who have been robbed of seats—the strap-holders—will naturally regard the robbing of the Street Car Company by the conductors as a sort of retributive justice.

It is understood that Mr. Whitney has promised Mr. Resume, member-elect for North Essex, a Cabinet position as representing the French Canadians. The disappointed member, the Ottawa Free Press thinks, regard Mr. Whitney as a reaume-ancer of a very satirical kind.

The Opposition claims a majority of the popular vote in the recent elections. But it happens that the Ontario Legislature is represented by constituencies, not by plebiscites. The Opposition has to face facts, not theories, and the facts give the Ross Government a majority of four in the Legislature—and the majority of members elected goes.

Many Opposition journals are claiming that the Ross Government was defeated in the recent elections. Officials of the late Boer Republics in South Africa, whom the peace puts "out of a job," are claiming that the Imperial Government was defeated. But the Ross Government is in power, and the Imperial Government is in possession of the late Republics. A moral victory is not a negotiable commodity.

Toronto claims to be the centre of light and learning, but it will have to explain why school buildings have to be closed from lack of means to make necessary sanitary improvements. Mayor Howland wants to unload Toronto paupers upon provincial institutions, and now the council, under his leadership, refuses the School Board money enough to keep the schools open.

Some of the Opposition journals are apparently deriving much comfort from what they call a popular majority cast for the opposition in the recent election. An apparently "popular majority," remarks the Ottawa Free Press, was in evidence for the Liberal party at successive general elections during the Tory regime at Ottawa, but it was then belittled as unworthy of consideration by the other side.

The Galt Reformer remarks: "Our Conservative confreres would be better employed trying to reduce the price of coal than endeavouring to curtail the Government's majority." If they could effect a reduction in the price of coal it would be welcomed, irrespective of party, but it is to be feared that the Conservative newspapers would be up against as hard a proposition in trying to influence the coal barons as they are in endeavouring to refute the facts of the recent electoral contest.

LENNOX IS LIBERAL.

Kingston Whig.

The first round has been fought in the legal bottle by which the Conservatives hoped to overturn the Ross Government. There were several constituencies in which the majority was small, and the Opposition reasoned that these offered opportunities for electoral surprises.

The argument ran thus; The returning officers in the elections were Liberals; there were rejected ballots; the marks indicated doubt as to the mind of the electors; the Government must get the benefit of the doubt.

"Eminent jurists," according to the World, had had the nature of these rejections under discussion, and they had decided that a recount would lead to several changes and to the certain reversal of some results.

Lennox was so sure for the Conservatives that they had no hesitation whatever in claiming it. It had only two to come and go upon, and these two disappeared on the recount. The tie had to be settled by the returning officer, and he made very short work of it. Of course he will be considered a very bad man by the Tories, but he has acted as they would have acted under similar circumstances.

The first knock out is a serious one for the Opposition. With it fades away some of the dreams in which they have indulged. As Lennox has gone so other of the constituencies will go, and the second condition of the Whitney party will be worse than its first.

RICE APPEAL REFUSED.

Little Doubt Now That the Convict Will Be Hanged.

Ottawa, June 12.—The Supreme Court yesterday morning refused the application of T. C. Robinette, K.C., Toronto, for leave to appeal from the decision by the Ontario Court of Appeals in the case of Fred Lee Rice, convicted of murder. Rice will now have to suffer the death penalty unless Executive clemency is shown, which is highly improbable.

A Bear in Thornbury.

Thornbury, Ont., June 12.—A bear weighing 150 pounds was shot in town last evening by Major Edward Rorke and Alderman M. Snetsinger. Bruin had evidently wandered down from the Blue Mountains. He made his way into a garden in the heart of the town, when the sportsmen discovered him with a fatal ending for the bear. A bear has not been shot in Thornbury for 45 years.

Important Improvements and Alterations in the Passenger Train Service of the GRAND TRUNK RY. SYSTEM.

It has been rumoured for some time past that the inauguration on June 15th of the summer passenger train service on the Grand Trunk Railway System, would be marked by important new features. The details of the service have now been sufficiently advanced to permit of information regarding it of a preliminary character being furnished to the public. It is evident that the progressive policy introduced by the present management of the Grand Trunk is to be continued. Many of these improvements in the way of additional trains, have been under careful consideration for some time past and have now only become possible as a result of the substantial growth of traffic in the districts concerned throughout which the new facilities will be greatly appreciated. While Ontario will benefit chiefly, the advantages will not be confined to that province. A brief statement of the new and altered service follows;

MONTREAL AND NEW YORK

It is usual for the Grand Trunk, in connection with the Delaware & Hudson in the summer to add to the passenger service one train between Montreal and New York, in each direction, over the balance of the year. This summer, instead of one, two trains will be added. Last fall 40 minutes was clipped off the time between the two cities; commecning June 22nd (a week later than the general change) a further reduction of 30 minutes will be made, the night express which now leaves the Bonaventure station at 7.40 p.m., being put back to 8.10 p. m., daily. The other trains will depart from Montreal at 7.20 a.m., 10.15 a.m., and 6.30 p.m. Trains will arrive at Montreal from New York at 7.15 a.m., 3.20 p.m., 8.20 p.m. and 9.35 p.m. The 8.20 train will leave New York at 10 a.m., making practically a ten hour run to Montreal.

MONTREAL, PORTLAND AND OLD ORCHARD BEACH.

The night express will leave Montreal at 8.00 instead of 8.30 p. m., daily, and will arrive at Portland at 6.40 a.m., instead of 8.00 a.m. Through sleeping and parlour cars to Old Orchard will commence June 22nd.

PORTLAND AND LEWISTON, MAINE.

Two additional train each way, leaving at 7.00 a.m., and 5.20 p.m., will be put on between the above cities.

MONTREAL AND ST. HYACINTHE.

The local train from Montreal at 5.15 p.m., will run daily except Saturday and Sunday. A new train will leave Montreal on Saturdays at 1.45 p.m.

MONTREAL AND QUEBEC.

A new day train will leave Quebec, (Pount Levis) at 7.45 a.m., and arrive Montreal at 1.00 p.m.; also leave Montreal at 4.15 p.m., and arrive Quebec, (Point Levis) at 10.15 p.m., daily except Sunday.

MONTREAL AND TORONTO.

The fast "International Limited" will leave Montreal daily at 9.00 a.m. and reach Toronto at 4.40 p.m., and Detroit 9.30 p.m., ten minutes earlier, and Chicago 7.20 a.m., as at present. The night express trains will leave Montreal at 8.00 p.m., except Sunday and 10.30 p.m., daily. A new express will leave Toronto at 9.00 p.m., except Sunday, and the 10.00 p.m., express will leave Toronto 10.30 p.m., daily, reaching Montreal as now, 7.30 a.m. The fast day express will continue to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m., and reach Montreal at 6.00 p.m., daily

BELLEVILLE AND BROCKVILLE.

The mail train which leaves Toronto at 8.00 a.m. necessarily passes stations between Belleville and Brockville at mid-day. In order to give an earlier service in this district a new local train will leave Belleville at 7.00 a. m. and arrive Brockville at 10.00 a.m. except Sunday. A new local train will also leave Brockville at 5.00 p.m. and arrive Belleville 8.00 p.m. except Sunday.

TORONTO, MUSKOKA, NORTH BAY, ETC.

A new fast train will run solid between Buffalo (Lehigh Valley Station) via Niagara Falls, Toronto and Muskoka Wharf to Burks Falls, making direct connection at Allandale for Penetang and all Georgian Bay resorts; at Muskoka Wharf for the magnificent new Royal Muskoka Hotel, and all other resorts on the Muskoka Lakes; at Huntsville for the Lake of Bays district and at Burks Falls for Magnetawan River points. This train, composed of vestibule coaches, parlour and cafe cars of the newest and most elegant description in which meals and refreshments at any hour may be obtained, will leave Toronto at 11.20 a.m. except Sunday. Passengers from Toronto for the Muskoka Lakes will not be carried on this train, as an additional new train for their accommodation will leave Toronto except Sunday at 10.45 a.m. and run direct to Muskoka Wharf. The southbonud Muskoka Express will reach Toronto at 4.20 p.m.

NEW NIGHT EXPRESS SERVICE TO AND FROM MUSKOKA, NORTH BAY, ETC.

A new night express will leave Toronto daily at 11.15 p.m. It will carry a sleeping car for Muskoka Wharf as well as North Bay. Passengers in the Muskoka Wharf sleeper can remain in it until about 7.00 a.m., when steamer leaves for all principal points on the lakes including the "Royal Muskoka." A new night express will also leave North Bay at 8.45 p.m. This train will pick up sleeper from Muskoka Wharf daily and arrive Toronto 7.00 a.m. Passengers will be able to leave all principal points on the Muskoka Lakes in the evening and breakfast at Toronto next morning. Special arrangements will be made so that passengers desiring to spend Sunday on the Lakes will be able to leave Royal Muskoka at 8.00 p.m. and reach Toronto Monday directly connecting for Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago and all principal points in the United states. It is believed that this double daily service will immensely increase the popularity of the "Highlands of Ontario" and attract thousands of additional tourists and health seekers from all parts of the country, but particularly from the Southern and Eastern States where already our beautiful northern waters are so greatly appreciated.

A new train will be run each way between Collingwood and Allandale, except Sunday, affording a mid-day service to and from Toronto.

A new train will be run each way between Orillia and Allandale south in morning and north in evening, giving direct connections for and from Hamilton, Toronto, etc.

DETROIT AND LONDON

At present, trains from Detroit arrive at London 10.00 a.m. and 10.20 a.m. To better serve the district the 10.20 a.m. train will run later leaving Detroit 12.40 (Eastern Time,) instead of 9.00 a.m., arriving London 4.20 p.m., where direct connection will be made for all Eastern and Northern points.

SOUTHAMPTON, WIARTON AND OWEN SOUND LINES

New trains will be added and changes made in other trains that will afford afternoon connections for, as well as earlier arrival on these branches from Toronto, Montreal, etc.

HAMILTON AND PORT DOVER

The morning service from Port Dover and the evening train from Hamilton will be changed from mixed to passenger trains. The evening train from Hamilton will also start later connecting with fast trains from Toronto at 4.50 p.m., instead of requiring departure from Toronto at 2.10 p.m., as at present.

Many other minor changes will be made and the public are advised to consult ticket agents and procure copy of the new time tables when they have occasion to travel after Saturday next.

THE QUEEN'S TASTE.

Her Majesty Wants a Table Made From Jasper Conglomerate if Possible.

London, June 9. — An interesting incident occurred at the Imperial Institute at the private view of the colonial gifts, and the colonial exhibition, by the Queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales. Her Majesty while inspecting the Canadian minerals, was much attracted by a beautiful specimen of jasper conglomerate, which was found at the Bruce Mines, Ontario, and she expressed her desire to obtain a table of this mineral and enquired as to its cost. Mr. A. K. Stuart, the official in charge of the mineral section, immediately rose to the occasion, and assured Her Majesty that the people of Canada would be only too delighted to present her with a table as a coronation gift. There may, however, be some little difficulty in finding a good specimen of this mineral sufficiently large for the purpose intended.

TIME LIMIT IS JULY 10

Rebel Surrenders Must be Made By That Date.

COL. LYNCH IN BRITISH JAIL.

The M.P. Who Fought With the Boers Was Arrested and Charged With High Treason—Captured On Arrival From France—Arraigned at Bow Street and Remanded—Bail Refused.

Cape Town, June 11.—An extraordinary issue of The Official Gazette, published to-day, fixes July 10 as the limit in which Boers or rebels who surrender will receive the benefit of the peace terms.

All rebels surrendering before that date will be merely disfranchised for life, and will not be subject to trial or punishment. Exception is made in the case of field cornets and justices of the peace, who may be tried and fined or imprisoned, but they will not be executed.

Rebels who hold out after July 10 will be subjected to the extreme penalty for high treason.

The Boer commandoes that are arriving at Pretoria bring reports of fresh and striking instances of fraternization between the Boers and British troops. The surrender of a commando at Balmoral, Transvaal, was followed by a big "sing song," in which the Boers and the "Tommies" joined in singing "Rule Britannia." The British soldiers stationed at the blockhouses between Balmoral and Pretoria, in some instances, held up the trains and proffered coffee and tobacco to their late enemies.

Former Secretary Reitz, who was a member of the late Transvaal Government, has brought in the only ambulance left in the north, and a Cape cart loaded with documents, including a number of bank notes, which were printed in the field, and some gold sovereigns.

The Boers generally hold unfavorable estimates of their foreign allies, except in the case of the Americans who fought with them, and these, they declare, to be crafty and great fighters.

In the course of a conversation on the foreigners who had fought on the Boer side, a prominent commandant said: "All the Germans are fit for is to give horses sore backs."

Commandant Fouche, in supervising the surrender of various Boer commandoes at Aliwal North, said the Boers had been good citizens of their own country, and they would be equally good citizens under the British Government. He hoped the next time they fought it would be side by side.

A proclamation has been issued, substituting a tax of 10 per cent. net on the profits of mining operations for the 5 per cent. tax that was imposed by the late Volksraad.

CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON.

Col. Arthur Lynch, M.P., For Galway, Who Fought With the Boers, Arrested at New Haven, England.

London, June 12.—Colonel Arthur Lynch, who fought with the Boers in South Africa, and who in November last was elected to represent Galway in the House of Commons, was arrested yesterday morning on his arrival at New Haven, from Dieppe, France. Colonel Lynch, who was accompanied by his wife, was brought to London and was afterwards taken to the Bow Street Police Station.

Subsequently Colonel Lynch was arraigned at the Bow Street Police Court on the charge of high treason and was remanded until Saturday, June 14, after formal evidence of his arrest had been presented.

The prisoner, who was described on the charge sheet as a "journalist," sat in the dock apparently unconcerned until the Magistrate asked him if he had anything to say in reply to the charge. The Colonel, who is tall, erect and of military bearing, then arose, grasped the iron railing in front of the dock, hesitated and finally almost inaudibly replied; "No, sir."

Colonel Lynch, who did not apply for bail, was taken to the cells. When he was searched nothing but a small sum of money was found on his person.

The Irish Nationalists in the House of Commons yesterday heckled the Ministers on the subject of the arrest of Col. Lynch. They wanted to know why the Colonel had not the same right to surrender as other burghers. The Government leader, A. J. Balfour, replied tersely: "He is not a burgher."

John Redmond, the Irish leader, and J. G. Swif MacNeill (Nationalist) then turned to the Secretary of State for Home Affairs, Mr. Ritchie, and asked him why he had not fulfilled his Ministerial duty in informing the House of Col. Lynch's arrest on the charge of high treason.

Mr. Ritchie denied that it was his duty to so inform the House, but when the Irish members appealed to the Speaker, William Court Gully, the latter upheld the Nationalists' contention that the usual practice was to inform the House of Commons of such an incident through the Speaker. Further questions were ruled out of order and the subject was dropped.

Lieutenant-Colonel John Philip Nolan (Nationalist) applied yesterday afternoon for the release of Colonel Lynch on bail, but the Magistrate said he had no power to grant the request.

Burghers in Singing Mood.

London, June 12. — A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria Tuesday, announces that Van Tonder's and Van Heerden's commands, having with them 403 rifles, have surrendered near Ventersdorp Camp, Southwestern Transvaal. At a concert, subsequently, the burghers sang "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the King." Further surrenders of 619 rifles and 23,000 rounds of ammunition were also announced.

Canadian Dies at Sea.

The same message also states that E. C. Redswell and J. W. Sale of the 2nd C.M.R. were dangerously ill of enteric fever, the former at Pietermaritzburg and the latter at Klerksdorp. Redswell has been previously reported. He enlisted at Medicine Hat. Sale enlisted at Revelstoke, B.C.

Where Royalty Dined.

London, June 12.—A crowd of several hundred persons, including a number of American sightseers, had gathered outside of the house of the United States Ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, on Carlton House terrace when the King and Queen arrived there at 8.45 p.m., yesterday. Their Majesties drove to the Ambassador's residence in what is known as a "town carriage," without riders in red livery.

The visit of King Edward and Queen Alexandra to Ambassador and Mrs. Choate was one of the most interesting incidents of the present reign, and all London was talking of it last night.

BRITISH-CANADIAN LINE.

Cunard Company, It Is Said, Will Not Join It.

London, June 12.—The newspapers here continue to discuss the British shipping combine, as though the project had assumed quite tangible shape. The Westminster Gazette intimated yesterday that the Cunard Line will not join in forming the proposed Canadian-British line, and it says the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, favors subsidizing the latter project, rather than the Cunard plan, which is more specially directed against the Morgan shipping combine. According to The Westminster Gazette, the capital of the Canadian-British line, will be £10,000,000 ($50,000,000), of which £8,500,000 ($42,500,000) will be expended on six 25-knot vessels and a dozen freight steamers. Including £200,000 ($1,000,000) subsidy from Canada, the promoters, it is added, anticipate a total subsidy of £500,000 ($2,500,000), besides an Imperial guarantee of interest on the capital amounting to £300,000 ($1,500,000) yearly. The Westminster Gazette further asserts that the negotiations for a guarantee of the interest on the capital are so far advanced that the only point at issue is whether it shall be 2½ per cent. or 3 per cent.

We shall cultivate relations and friendships which have been happily developed or renewed and which are facilitated by community of origin, proximity or similarity of institutions and history. Respectful of others' rights, we shall devote ourselves to maintaining intact the moral and material patrimony of France."

TRADE RESOLUTIONS.

Those of Recent Conference Presented to the Premier.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S REPLY.

Frankly Told Deputation That He Was More Interested in Trade Than in War and Would Give Resolutions Very Careful Attention—The Preferential Tariff Motion in Detail.

Ottawa, June 12.—A joint deputation from the Boards of Trade of Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa waited upon the Premier yesterday afternoon and presented to him the resolutions passed at the recent congress in the Queen City.

The Premier's Reply.

In reply Sir Wilfrid Laurier said:—"I may frankly tell you, gentlemen, that I receive the resolutions with very great respect, and I shall give them all the attention which they deserve, coming from so important a body as that which was assembled the other day in Toronto, and to continue to be frank, I may as well tell you at once that I am more interested in the question of trade than in the question of war." Sir Wilfrid then drew attention to the resolution in favor of appointing a commission to inquire into and report upon preferential trade and quoted the text of the motion. He went on to say:—"It is asked in this resolution that a commission be appointed. That seems to be not unreasonable, but it would have been expected in Great Britain at all events — that some information should be given as to corresponding concessions which Canada would be ptepared to make. It is urged here that trade in Canada would be stimulated by a preference on the part of Great Britain, but I see no reference as to what Canada is prepared to do in that direction. I would like to know how far the Canadian people, represented especially by the Manufacturers' Association, would be prepared to go in that direction. Can you, Mr. Munro, give me any information?"

Mr. Munro, who is President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in answer to the Premier, said:—"Not very definitely, sir. The feeling, I think, prevails pretty generally that if there was a higher tariff we should thereby be able to give a much larger preference to Britain."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—If the British Government give us a preference, to what extent would the Canadian people or the Manufacturers' Association be disposed to forego the customs duties that we levy against British goods? That is the question which may be asked of me.

Mr. Munro—Say probably 50 per cent. upon our tariff, whatever it may be. A tariff to suit the wants of Canada and probably give the British community one-half.

Sir Wilfrid—Do I understand, then, that you would not give tariff for tariff? I do not think the British people are ready to adopt a customs tariff of 50 per cent., or anything like it. If you have 50 per cent. you cannot expect them to adopt 50 per cent. upon your account.

Mr. Munro—I am sure the Canadians are not yet prepared for tariff for tariff.

Sir Wilfrid—Well, I am very glad to know that. I will know where we are when discussing these questions. The Premier dismissed the deputation with a renewed expression of pleasure at having been given the resolutions.

Could not do One Day's Work

Without Being Laid up for Two Days Afterward — Languid and Miserable—Cannot say Anything too Good for

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mrs. G. M. Brown, Cobourg, Ont., states: "I was completely run down in health last spring and could not do one day's work without being laid up for about two days afterward. I felt weak, languid and miserable most of the time, and was often blue and discouraged because of my continued ill-health. When in this state I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and did so with most satisfacory results. It built up my system wonderfully strengthened and restored my nerves, and took away all feelings of languor and fatigue. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and hope that others may profit by my experience."

People who are pale, weak and run down and are unable to find anything to build them up would do well to follow the advice of Mrs. Brown and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is bound to do you good, because it puts new life and vigour into the blood and nerves; 50 c a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 4

T. A. S. WON FROM Y. M. C. A.

Last Night's Splendid Game on the Oval.

THE SCORE WAS 4 TO 3.

About 300 [illegible] witnessed the 2nd [illegible]—A Good [illegible].

[illegible] attended the lacrosse [illegible] Nicholls Oval last night [illegible] team after a hard fought game defeated the Y.M.C.A. team by a score of 4 to 3. It was the second game in the city league series and the event attracted a great deal of interest. There had been a lot of speculating amongst the lovers of Canada's National game as to the relative strength of these two teams, and both twelves were pretty confident of winning out. Perhaps, however, the Y.M.C.A. had their confidence slightly shaken by the removal of Trollope from the lacrosse arena and owing to the fact that Anglesyc, who is ill, was unable to play. It is certain that the "Y's" were weakened considerably by the absence of these two men, but notwithstanding this fact they played a plucky game throughout and for the greater part of the evening they looked like winners.

The Y.M.C.A. team have a splendid home. Their work was neat, cool-headed and effective, and their combination play told the tale of careful coaching. Best, Robertson and Foreman play a smooth clean game and have good support in Wally Robinson and Oscar Dumble. "Bob" Frost played at point and proved himself a tower of strength. He was supported by Smith at cover and Galley at 1st defence field. Jack McDonald at centre played a brilliant game.

The T.A.S. team was in excellent condition and played with great determination, and when at half time the score was 3 to 2 in favour of their opponents it only served to inspire them further and they put on an additional spurt. Jack McDonough at cover point was a familiar figure and his weight told effectively when put to test. McCoy is a beautiful stick handler and made some very effective dodging and passing. The play was for the greater part of the game free from roughness, although towards the close matters were developing rather too excitingly. Smith was put out of business by having his nose broken, but this was the only casualty of the evening.

Mr. R. M. Glover officiated as referee in a highly satisfactory manner.

The teams were as follows:

Y. M. C. A.		T. A. S. goal
Wainright		Dorris point
Frost		D'Russia
	cover point
Smith		McDonough
	1st defence

NOTES.

McGrath's clever running was a feature of the game and drew forth much applause.

Mr. Joe Picord was field captain for the T.A.S. team and Mr. Horace Ayers acted in a similar capacity for the "Y" team.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien was an interested spectator last night.

There were quite a number of ladies in attendance. There is no reason why there should not be several hundred ladies present at each one of these matches.

Foreman is an old British Columbia player, in fact there is nothing old about him, but he played on the Vancouver team at one time.

Best, who played inside home for the "Y", learned the game in Brantford.

Bill Crowley was into the game with the same enthusiasm as he exhibits on the football field.

GROCERS EARLY CLOSING.

A Movement is Contemplated to Close Grocer Shops at 6 p. m. the Year Round.

A movement is under discussion in regard to a proposal to close grocery shops at 6 o'clock p.m., every evening throughout the year, excepting, presumably, Saturday nights, and the nights preceding holidays. It is said that so much does the proposal find favour with grocers, that they are all but unanimous in favour of the change. There seems to be few objections to the early closing, and many in favour of the change in regard to the merchants themselves and their employees. With proper co-operation on the part of the purchasing public, all necessary buying can, as a rule, be conveniently arranged to be done before six o'clock. Then the merchants and their employees can close the shop and have the rest of the night to themselves. It is doubtful, taking the year round, whether the hour or so of business after six o'clock under the present system, pays for the trouble and added expense, of light, fuel, etc. To make the movement successful, there must be co-operation on the part of the public, and unanimity among the grocers themselves. In order to get some idea of public sentiment, the Examiner will be glad to publish letters on the subject. These letters should be brief — on the principle of early closing — and to the point, so that, if desired, as many as possible may be used.

COUNTY COURT.

ONTARIO BANK VS. MOORE.

This case, which has occupied the attention of the County Court since 4 p.m., on Tuesday, was concluded last night, when the jury gave a verdict in favour of the Ontario Bank.

Much interest has been taken in the case by our local professional men, as it was conceded that a vital principle of banking was at stake — that of the reliability of documents and books. The main facts were that the defendant, Jas. Moore, in April, 1900, deposited $200 in the Ontario Bank, Peterborough; in May, 1900, Mrs. Moore applied at the bank for the money, but was informed that her husband's signature would be necessary to its withdrawal. The teller drew out a cheque and made a mark showing where it should be signed, and handed it to Mrs. Moore to procure the signature. Shortly afterwards Mrs. Moore again appeared at the bank with the cheque, not signed, however, but endorsed. The bank officials thinking it was the evident wish of Mr. Moore that his wife should get the money, paid Mrs. Moore $150, which she said was all that they then required on a cheque signed by Mrs. Moore for her husband and herself, to which was attached the endorsed cheque of Mr. Moore. In October, 1901, Mr. Moore called at the bank and asked for his $200, which through an error was paid to him a second time on his assurance that he had never drawn any part of his deposit. Upon discovering the error the bank immediately wrote Mr. Moore, when both he and Mrs. Moore denied the signatures of the cheque he endorsed and of the cheque she signed.

This was the ground of the action to recover $150 wrongfully paid defendant twice.

The bank proved the genuineness of several signatures of both Mr. and Mrs. Moore and then tendered expert evidence to prove that the disputed cheques were signed by the same parties. Mr. W. H. Shaw, an expert from Toronto, was the principal witness in this regard, and his evidence was demonstrated by crayon drawings before the court.

The bank in this case did not express any wrong intention on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, but the evidence showed in several instances where the memory of both was at serious fault. This was the view evidently taken by the jury — that they had drawn the money and had forgotten the fact.

The bank was represented by their solicitor, Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., The defendant was represented by Mr. Sherry, Norwood.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—There will be a large excursion from Bethany to Idyl Wyld, per G. T. R. and City of Peterborough on June 20th.

—George street Epworth League will give an ice cream social, Monday evening, June 16th. Good programme. Orchestra in attendance. Tickets 15c., two for 25c. 1d

—A lady lost her gold watch in town on Wednesday afternoon, and would be exceedingly grateful if the finder would leave same at the Examiner office, where a reward will be given.

—The Chief has received another anonymous letter. No attention will be paid to them unless the writer sends in his name. The name will not be divulged to anyone under any circumstances.

—Many complaints are made that the present June weather is unseasonably cold. How short our memories are! We have had weather a good deal like the past ten days, for about sixty years. At the Meteorological Observatory, Toronto, there is a weather record going back sixty years. According to this the temperature of the past ten days of the present June is a fair average of the weather for the first part of June for three score years.

The Style of Hair Worn

Is an important factor to produce a younger and refined face and a well-shaped head to any lady or gentleman. He has Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches in every length and shade, that he will gladly adjust on any lady's head free of charge to prove this. LACROSSE.

Tommy Wilkinson, the old Orillia player now with New Westminster, writes that the team to play for the Minto Cup will be nearly the same as came east two years ago, and is playing just as fast ball. The Westminsters have already played three games this season, defeating Vancouver at Vancouver by 13 to 2, Victoria at Victoria, 12 to 1, and Nanaimo at New Westminster, 25 to 0. It's a great country for rain, but the boys turn out to practice rain or no rain, and are fast rounding into condition. They leave for Montreal on Thursday, June 17th, so that they will be well rested and in good condition when they meet the Shamrocks.

A practice of the Athletics is called for this evening on the Nicholls Oval. A full attendance is requested.

CRICKET.

The Colts' eleven will play the Grove team on the oval on Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2.30 o'clock sharp. The boys are asked to turn out in anticipation of the event.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. T. J. Forsyth to Miss Lottie Kavanagh.

A very pretty and interesting event took place at St. Joseph's church, Douro, on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Lottie Kavanagh, daughter of Mr. Richard Kavanagh, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. T. J. Forsyth, of Dummer. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Keilty.

The bride looked beautiful in a costume of castor taffeta cloth, trimmed with silk and applique. She wore a white picture hat, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Moher, of Peterborough, who was attired in a suit of fawn, wore a cream picture hat, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. S. J. Grisdale performed the duties of best man. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the residence of the bride's father, where about seventy guests partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner. The bride was the recipient of many useful and costly presents. The day was most enjoyably spent in dancing and other amusements, after which the happy couple left for their future home in Norwood, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

ENJOYABLE SPRING OUTING

On the Beautiful Kawartha Lakes.

It Makes a Pleasant Early Summer Trip—Radiant in the Beauty of Spring.

To the lover of Nature, the restless-hearted ones, weary of being shut in, tired of the long monotony of winter, the Kawartha Lakes, radiant in all the fresh beauty that spring with lavish hand has bestowed upon them, extend an invitation that at this period of the year is hard to resist.

The limpid waters sparkle invitingly as the steamer glides swiftly along; the shores rise from the lake in all the green glory of early summer; Nature is at her best, having awakened radiant, from her winter's sleep, and water and shore alike present a picture of unrivalled splendour.

Standing upon the bow of one of the steamers plying on these lakes, as she glides smoothly across the dancing waters, the cool, refreshing breeze cannot fail to clear one's brain of all the cobwebs that winter's enforced confinement has allowed to gather; one drinks in the balsam-scented air that has come from the wilderness of the north, and every sense responds to the pure joy of living.

The sultry slumber of summer has not yet stolen over the lakes and woods; the water seems alive, rejoicing in its newly acquired freedom; the trees, with foliage profuse, the shores like verdured terraces, all extend an invitation, insidious, sensual; an invitation to fling open the doors of one's heart and let all the life of the lakes and rivers and forests enter in; an invitation to regard Nature as a companion, who awaits one with open arms, and bids you to remember that

"Life slips its tether,
When good fellows get together—
In the fellowship of Spring."

For the facilities of such an outing ask G.T.R. agent for Trent Valley Navigation Co's pamphlet showing their excellent boat service, and take your choice.

LAKEFIELD.

Interesting Items From the Village to the North.

The curler's excursion to Bobcaygeon on June 4th was very liberally patronized. The Steamer Empress reached Bobcaygeon in time for dinner, returned to Burleigh for supper, and reached home about 10 o'clock, when the crowd dispersed, after spending a most enjoyable day on the water.

Two excursions from Peterborough passed through Lakefield on Thursday; the Olympic Club on its annual outing to Burleigh Falls and the Historical Society, which went to Lindsay per Str. Ogemah, and thence to Peterborough by train.

NORTH GREY LIBERAL

The Recount Leaves Mr. McKay's Majority at Five.

WHERE FOUR VOTES WERE LOST

On the Whole the Ballots Were Clean and Well-Marked — The Total Vote Cast—Recounts in North Wentworth and East Hastings Do Not Change the Result—An Appeal in East Middlesex.

Owen Sound, June 12. — The recount of the ballots cast in the North Grey election which began before his Honor Judge Morrison, Tuesday morning was concluded yesterday afternoon, the result being, Mr. McKay's majority of 9, as declared by the returning officer, was reduced to 5. In Owen Sound, Mr. Boyd gained 1, making his majority here 138. In Sydenham Mr. McKay's majority was reduced by one. In Sarawak Mr. Boyd gained three, but lost three in St. Vincent. In Keppel, Mr. McKay gained one, but lost two in Derby and one in Meaford. In going through the ballots of No. 9 polling division, St. Vincent, it was discovered that four ballots counted for Mr. Boyd by the deputy returning officer were marked for both candidates, a very light cross, which could be discovered only on the closest scrutiny, and which the deputy returning officer and scrutineers had apparently not seen, appearing after Mr. McKay's name. These were thrown out by the Judge. On the whole the ballots were clean and well marked, the changes in the count resulting chiefly from the allowance by the Judge of a number of ballots marked in the small column to the left, and which had been disallowed by the deputy returning officer. The total vote was:—McKay 2,919; Boyd, 2,914.

North Wentworth Recount.

Hamilton, June 12.—The North Wentworth recount took place yesterday before Judge Snider, who occupied about six hours in a careful scrutiny of the ballots. The result of the recount left the majority for Thompson exactly where it was when announced by the returning officer, 31. The Judge's figures are: Thompson 1,526; Wardell 1,495.

East Hastings Recount.

Belleville, June 12. — The East Hastings recount was finished yesterday morning. Judge Lazier's official decision was that Mr. Russell, Liberal, received 1962 legal votes, and Mr Richardson, Conservative, 1926, giving a Liberal majority of 36, a reduction of 17 from the returning officer's figures.

An Appeal in Middlesex.

London, June 12.—An appeal has been made on behalf of Captain Robson against the finding of Judge Edward Elliott, in the recent recount of ballots cast in the East Middlesex election, in which Dr. Routledge, the Liberal candidate, was declared elected by a majority of 21. The appeal is laid under section 129 of the Ontario Election Act.

Mussolino Gets Life Sentence.

Lucia, Italy, June 12.—Mussolino, the notorious Italian brigand, was sentenced yesterday to imprisonment for life. This is the brigand who has 12 murders to his credit, and whose trial has brought out the sentimental side of the Italian populace. The courtroom has been crowded daily, for months, and women have fairly doted on the murderer. Fations have sprung up, divided by opinions as to his guilt. The general opinion is that, although he is a deep-dyed villain, he has more of the old Roman in him than any of his fellow-countrymen. He is a Caesar, who was born 20 centuries too late.

Premier Barton May Come.

Toronto, June 12. — Secretary Youngs of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association received intimation yesterday that Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of the Australian Commonwealth, had replied to a cable sent him by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that he would most likely accept Canada's invitation to pass through this country on his way home from the coronation, and, in that event, would take pleasure in attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers in Halifax, on Aug. 13 and 14. Arrangements are in progress for the annual meeting in question.

COLONIES' VIEW TO DECIDE.

British Government Will Give No Pledge at Present.

London, June 12.—A lengthy discussion preceded the vote on the Grain Tax clause Tuesday. The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman; Sir William Vernon Harcourt (Liberal) and others of the opposition, bitterly denounced the duty, chiefly because, they declared it meant the thin end of the wedge of the policy of free trade within the British Empire and of protection pure and simple.

Mr. J. Austen Chamberlain, son of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, and Financial Secretary of Treasury, declared that the Government had no intention of giving any definite pledge regarding preferential relations with the colonies until the ministers heard what the colonial Premiers had to say on the subject.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, denied that the grain tax was intended to be a prelude to preferential duties and denied that the duty was protectionism.

Will Keep Tax on Coal.

London, June 12.—In the course of the debate on the finance bill in the House of Commons, yesterday, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, said he was not opposed to the principle of a graduated income tax, and added that he would consider the suggestion to refer the matter to a committee of experts.

Replying to a motion, providing for the abolition of the export tax on coal, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said he could not possibly entertain it, since the coal exports for the first five months of the present year had been the highest on record.

Your Summer Vacation.

If You are not in a Condition of Health to Enjoy it Thoroughly, PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND Will Send You off Happy and Joyous.

In every city and town of the land, young and old are already arranging for the "summer vacation" to the seaside, mountains or rural resorts.

Some will leave full of health and vigour; others, suffering from nervous prostration, sleeplessness, headaches, backaches, sideaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and blood troubles will drag themselves off in the vain hope that a change of air and scenery will secure for them a certain measure of relief and comfort. Such hopes are vain and foolish. The cause of weakness and sickness should, without delay, be attacked at home, before trusting oneself to the many discomforts of popular resorts.

If Paine's Celery Compound be honestly used this month by the ailing, rundown, weak and nervous, they will find that in a few short weeks they will be enabled to leave for a vacation with a surprising amount of new vigour and strength, fitted to enjoy themselves, and at the same time be a comfort to those with whom they may associate.

We would urge the necessity of immediate efforts to secure the necessary strength for the enjoyment of a true summer vacation. Paine's Celery Compound will assuredly give you happy results. Try it.

TO FIGHT FILIPINOS.

American Recruiting Officers Enrolling Returned British Soldiers.

New York, June 12.—A special cable to The Herald from London says: It was stated in the lobby of the House of Commons yesterday that an officer of the United States army was at the present time in London, enrolling recruits for service in the Philippines from the ranks of seasoned soldiers who are now returning from South Africa. The matter next week will be mentioned in the House of Commons in the form of a question by one of its members.

DAINTY LACEWORK.

Useful General Hints For Beginners and a Pretty Doily Design.

In this day of lacemaking one accumulates bits of braid that may be satisfactorily utilized in making small lace doilies similar to the one shown in the illustration. They may be very effectively used on table or sideboard, especially under glassware. They also give a very dainty appearance to a toilet table and if desired may be lined with colored silk of the shade that predominates in the decoration of the room in which they are used, says The Designer, which presents the accompanying among a number of dainty doily designs, together with the following hints on lacemaking in general:

In sewing the braid to the pattern small back stitches should be taken in the open edge of the braid on the outer edges of all the curves. This keeps the extreme outer edge of the braid exactly and securely in place and keeps it from curling over upon itself, as it otherwise would be almost sure to do. Some lacemakers use embroidery hoops while filling in the stitches. To follow this method baste the braid on the pattern, whip the inside curves of the braid and draw down smoothly before it is stretched in the hoop. Great care should be used in handling while at work or the lace will become soiled and worn around the edge of the frame.

Some prefer to baste one or more thicknesses of stiff paper under the pattern to keep it in place while at work. A clean muslin cloth basted or pinned over the part that is not being worked on will keep the lace from becoming soiled and worn. If it is a large piece of lace, it should be so protected to preserve its freshness.

If a sharp pointed needle be used in filling in the stitches, the threaded eye should pass through the work first, with the sharp point resting on the thimble. This avoids splitting the threads or fastening the lace to the pattern.

In basting on the braid all knots and fastenings should be left on the under side of the pattern. They will greatly interfere with the work if left on top. Lace that requires frequent turning should not be finished at the edge with picot braid.

The design shown is a very dainty little doily made of two kinds of braid. All the points are filled with brussels net points. Sorrento wheels fill the spaces between the braids.

The triangle at the center is filled with the rosette stitch, made in the following manner: Pairs of close parallel threads are carried across the space at regular intervals. These are crossed at right angle by a second set of threads, making small squares. Twist a thread several times around the small squares to make a foundation for the rosette. Work over this with a close buttonhole stitch, then secure the thread firmly and cut.

To Wash Brown Linens.

Nothing equals hay water for washing the natural tinted brown linens now so fashionable. Boil enough hay to color the water perceptibly, pour a pint or more of boiled starch in with it (after the hay has been strained out) and rub the dress without using any soap. Rinse, adding more starch to the rinsing water if desired, and dry in the shade.

For Summer Resort Use.

This gown, designed for the sunny days of the approaching season and to fulfill a very useful purpose at a dressy summer resort, could hardly be beaten. The foundation is of a tender ecru, and the lace is made with a pattern all over it in black velvet applique, which is most effective. The sketch shows the mode of making, and the belt is of the prettiest chine ribbon possible let into a tasteful buckle.

THE REFERENDUM.

Methodist Conference Passed Report and Will Work to Carry It.

Toronto, June 11.—At the evening session of the Methodist Conference, now in session here, yesterday, F.S. Spence presented the report of the Temperance Committee, which was passed with but one amendment, without much discussion. The report expressed gratitude for the favorable position of the temperance cause throughout the Dominion, and hailed with pleasure the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of Great Britain, affirming the right of a provincial legislature to enact a large measure of prohibition, thus opening the way for further useful temperance legislation. Regarding the referendum the report stated: "Whatever differences of opinion there may have been or may be regarding the referendum and its onerous conditions, and the action of those who supported or opposed it, our present duty is clear. We must unite in a more energetic and determined effort than we have yet made, to win on Dec. 4 next, a great victory for the cause of righteousness and humanity. If we do our full duty in earnest prayer, in thorough organization and in strenuous action we shall certainly make the referendum redound to the great advancement of this sacred cause and the upbuilding of righteousness and peace."

The report also named the following as delegates to the Council of the Dominion Alliance and annual convention of the Ontario branch of that body: Dr. Graham, Alex. Mills, Rev. H. S. Matthews, Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener. Said a druggist to-day, "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Whole Caravan Murdered.

London, June 11.—The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Express says in a despatch, that a report has reached there from Constantinople to the effect that Arab tribesmen have massacred a caravan of wealthy merchants in the desert at a point 100 miles from Koweit, in Asiatic Turkey. According to the Constantinople report, only 20 persons out of the 500 who composed the caravan, escaped.

Penn—Why, if he takes after his father, he'll be a lightweight, of course.

THE BRITISH FINANCES.

Revised Financial Statement Shows Less Expenditure.

REVENUE ESTIMATE ALSO BETTER

Expenditures Are Now Estimated at $176,359,000 As Compared With $193,109,000 Before Peace Was Proclaimed—Revenue Will Be Increased by $4,650,000—Sir Michael's Speech Recalled.

London, June 11.—A Parliamentary paper issued yesterday presents the revised financial statement for 1902-03. t is estimated that the expenditure will total £176,359,000 ($881,795,000), and that the revenue will amount to £152,435,000 ($762,175,000). The deficit will be met out of the proceeds of a consols loan of £29,920,000 ($149,600,000), leaving £5,996,000 ($29,980,000) available for contingencies and the redemption of part of the national debt.

When delivering his budget speech on the 14th April last, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the Chancellor of the Exchequor, estimated the total expenditure for the financial year at £193,109,000, made up of £129,159,000 for ordinary expenditure, £45,450,000 for war, and £18,500,000 to bring home troops, etc. The estimate than given of the revenue was £147,785,000, leaving an estimated deficit of about £45,000,000.

BEING INTERPRETED.

Preference For Colonial Products to Be Given by Britain.

London, June 11.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's remarkable speech in the House of Commons Monday night is accepted as foreshadowing the British Ministry's attitude, in view of the coronation conference, disclaiming entirely Sir Wilfrid Laurier's interpretation that the new wheat and flour duties were imposed for purposes of Imperial protection. Moreover, it is not the policy of the British Government to impose duties as against foreign nations in order to give the colonies advantage of the duties, but where duties are imposed for British revenue purposes, as was the case with last year's sugar and coal duties and this year's cereal duties—and possibly next year with a timber tax—the British Government may, after consultation with colonial Premiers, be induced to exempt colonial produce in the interests of inter-Imperial trade.

Thus, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach seems to have succumbed to Mr. Chamberlain's contentions, having been led to do so by the expectation that the colonies would show a desire to take a more direct share of the cost and responsibility for Imperial defence.

The Liberals oppose this as masked protection.

The conference will open on Wednesday, July 2.

Passed the Committee Stage.

London, June 11.—The grain tax clause of the budget passed the committee stage in the House of Commons yesterday by 279 to 193 votes.

A Familiar Name.

In the homes of Canada and the United States, there are few names more familiar and none more reverently spoken of than that of Dr. A. W. Chase, the great physician and receipt book author. He is blessed for the suffering he has relieved and the diseases he has cured; his remedies are used and endorsed by the best people in the land; they are popular because they cure when others fail.

CIGARETTE NUISANCE.

Out of a Public School Class of 25 it was Found That 14 Smoked Cigarettes.

(Kingston News.)

A deputation consisting of five ladies and four gentlemen waited on the city council last night in reference to the present very prevalent custom of minors purchasing and using cigarettes.

The Children's Aid Society, the Board of Education, Public and High schools, city physicians, and the W.C.T.U. were, according to Rev. A. Laird, who spoke first, represented in the committee. They wanted the sale of cigarettes to be licensed. The city council had power to do this. The tobacconists were in favour of a license bylaw to apply not only to cigarettes, but to a certain extent also to cigars and tobaccos. The law was being broken at corner grocery stores very largely.

Principal Ellis, of the Collegiate Institute, claimed it was the duty of the council to control those who were not capable of controlling themselves. At present cigarettes could be sold at news stands and candy stores. He would not recommend for any position of trust any boy that used cigarettes.

Dr. Isaac Woods said: "The use of cigarettes has a very injurious effect on boys. We physicians in this city are very frequently called upon to treat mere boys, who are regularly using cigarettes. One week ago I had one come into my office. He was in a wretched condition and I had to tell him to give up his work. The use of cigarettes has rapidly increased in Kingston. Three boys smoke them now where one did two years ago. From a medical standpoint I say that the use of them has a very injurious effect on boys."

The Mayor said the council was certainly indebted for the able representation of the question given. The request would have the fullest consideration. The memers of the Finance Committee will consider the matter in detail and report.

FORTUNE UNCLAIMED.

Hermit Dies in LosAngeles, Leaving $142,000.00—Nobody Knows of Relatives.

A despatch from Los Angeles, says: A fortune of $142,000 cash waits the heirs of an old man, who passed under the name of Charles Hill, and who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital two weeks ago. About three weeks ago, the man, who was between 75 and 80 years of age, applied at the hospital for accommodations. He was taken in. He paid for all the services rendered. When it was found that he could not recover he was asked to tell the names of his relatives, in order that they might be notified. He replied that he had not a relative on earth.

He died and was duly buried. In his clothing was found $2,000 in currency. Further investigation by the public administrator disclosed a key to a private box at the Union Bank of Savings. The box has just been opened, and in it were found several large packages of currency, aggregating $140,000.

The old man had lived here several years in a modest sort of way, at lodging houses and restaurants, but had no intimates, and no one can be found who knows anything of his antecedents.

POINTERS FOR YOUNG MEN.

If the concern where you are employed is all wrong, and the Old Man a curmudgeon, it may be well for you to go to the Old Man and confidently quietly, and kindly tell him that he is a curmudgeon. Explain to him that his policy is absurd and preposterous. Then show him how to reform his ways, and you might offer to take charge of the concern and cleanse it of its secret faults.

Do this, or, if for any reason you should prefer not, then take your choice of these, Get out or get in line. You have got to do one or the other—now make your choice.

If you work for a man, work for him!

If he pays you wages that supply you your bread and butter, work for him—speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institution he represents.

I think if I worked for a man I would work for him; I would not work for him a part of the time, and then the rest of the time work against him. I would give an undivided service, or none.

If put to the pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

If you must villify, condemn, and eternally disparage, why, resign your position, and when you are outside curse to your heart's content. But I pray you, so long as you are a part of an institution do not condemn it. Not that it will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part, you disparage yourself.

More than that you are loosing the tendrils that are holding you to the institution, and the first high wind that comes along you will be uprooted and blown away in the blizzard's track—and probably you will never know—why. The letter only says, "Times are dull, and we regret there is not enough work," etc.

Everywhere you find these out-of-a-job fellows. Talk with them and you will usually find that they are full of railing, bitterness and condemnation, that was the trouble—through a n spirit of fault-finding they got themselves swung around so they blocked the channel, and no longer being a help. They were out of harmony with the concern, and no longer being a help, they had to be removed. Every employer is constantly looking for people who can help him; naturally, he is on the lookout among his employees for those who do not help, and everything and everybody that is a hinderance has to go. This is the law of trade—do not find fault with it, it is founded on Nature. The reward is only for the man that helps, and in order to help you must have sympathy.

You cannot help the Old Man so long as you are explaining in undertone and whisper, by gesture and suggestion, by thought and mental attitude, that he is a curmudgeon, and his system dead wrong. You are necessarily menacing him by stirring up discontent and warm envy into strife, but you are doing this: You are getting yourself upon a well-greased chute that will soon give you a quick ride down and out.

THE HARVEST.

What we Sow, That Shall we Also Reap.

If we err Punishment is Sure to Follow—Carelessness or Neglect of our Bodies Always Succeeded by Suffering.

It is an unalterable law of Nature that sin is always punished.

One of the first duties of man is to care for his body.

If we violate this law, Nature is sure to visit us with swift and sure punishment.

Sometimes a man or woman inherits the seeds of Disease, which in spite of all care will blossom into harvest of sickness and suffering some time during his life.

But oftener by ignorance or wilful carelessness he sows the seeds of Disease himself.

Perhaps no organ of the body suffers more from this ignorant or indifferent neglect than the Stomach.

Great meals of indigestible food, often poorly selected and poorly prepared, are forced down without a thought as to the Stomach's ability to properly digest the heavy load.

Drinks too hot or too cold are swallowed with never a care as to the probable effect on the Stomach.

We eat too fast; we eat too much; we over-load and over-tax the Stomach, until it is no wonder that this faithful servant sometimes cries out in the voice of Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bloating or other symptom—"Oh! Give me a little chance to rest."

Having sown the seeds of Disease by this neglect, what harvest may we expect?

Pain in the Chest after meals; feeling of weight and discomfort, Bloating, Coated Tongue, Loss of Appetite, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Heartburn, Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Skin Eruptions, Constipation, Foul Breath, Sallow Complexion, Melancholy and Irritability.

Truly an awful harvest.

How may all this be avoided?

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have satisfactorily answered that question in thousands of cases.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will instantly relieve and permanently cure any case of Stomach Trouble.

GEORGE MUNRO GRANT.

Ready to Change, So Long as His Course Ran True to the Pole-Star Principle of His Life.

A thrill of tender regret went through all Canada when the word was given out that Principal Grant is dead. He was a preacher and something more, a university president and something more, a Presbyterian clergyman and something more, a Canadian citizen and something more. It was that something more that made him great, declares "J.A.M.," in Toronto Star.

We are standing too near and the shadow of loss is too deep for us to judge aright his character or estimate the value of his contribution to the great world's life and thought. His nature was so richly and so variously endowed, his interests were so numerous and so widely separated, and his activities so seemed, in each department, to be a man's full task, that almost no one knew the fulness of his strength or the range of his powers. When one recounts the many things he did, and with what strength and skill he did them all, when one marks out the many points at which he touched the life of Church and State, and thinks how vital that touch was, one does not wonder that men of all classes and creeds are saddened by the news that Principal Grant is dead, and go on their way silent awhile, as those who have met a personal loss.

By men who did not know him, or who could not appreciate his worth, Principal Grant was called a politician. Had he been so he would have been a lesser man but he would have had a larger following. A politician would have taken pains to conciliate the crowd, to have covered his own tracks, and to have seemed consistent with himself. Principal Grant did none of those things. He had the far vision of a statesman and the spirit of a born leader of men, and he knew how to make contending currents co-operate to some great end, but he was ready to change his opinion with the changing days, so long as his course ran true to the pole-star principle of his life.

Principal Grant was a preacher, a teacher, a publicist, but the monument of his lift is the university of which he was the guide and head. It has many times been said that he was the only university president that Canada has known. He gave us a new notion of what presidency means, and he illustrated for us what a university can do. Without endowment, without equipment, without students, without prestige, and almost without friends, Queen's University a quarter century ago was a despised and forsaken place. Today it is counted among the most vital forces in the intellectual life of this continent, and it can command from its students and graduates an enthusiasm for service and sacrifice impossible to any other university in Canada. Does anyone ask why?

A country's greatest wealth is not in things, but in men. Canada is rapidly growing rich in material wealth, but the men who stand for life's best things are falling one by one, and in their fall is our greatest loss. Only slowly are we learning the national value of great men. Our impulse is to kill our prophets and stone them that are the sent ones of God, and only when it is too late we learn their worth, and to make atonement we build their sepulchres. Canada will not come to greatness unless she counts great men among her greatest gifts. The name and work of Principal Grant are a legacy Canada well may prize.

STOCK MARKETS.

American Strikes.

Carroll D. Wright has just issued an article on American strikes, which we quote from as follows:

There have been no notable strikes until 1877, after which year the greatest labour wars of the century occurred. The first took place on the B. and O. in W. Virginia. The Penn. was the victim of a most extraordinary strike, accompanied by violence and gatling guns, in Pittsburg in 1877, the loss being over 3 1-2 millions. The next great strike was that of the telegraphers in 1888. This was followed by a memorable controversy. The most far-reaching and expensive strike was in 1894 at Chicago. The most thrilling and dramatic was at Homestead in 1892, in which pitched battles occurred between armed deputies and entrenched strikers. In 1894 the Pullman strike paralyzed international commerce, and was brought to a close not so much by police or troops as by courts. As far as magnitude is concerned 1894 may be called the high water mark, being emphasized by the Lehigh Valley, Great Northern and other strikes, and the so-called strike of steel men, in which the men lost more than $4,000,000 in wages, while the company lost comparatively nothing. There are no real strike statistics prior to 1880. The present strike is based upon a recognition of the Miners' Union and not upon a question of wages. It narrows down to the point, shall the workers or the owners dominate the business policy and methods of running the business. There is little if any public sympathy with the men, and violence would destroy every vestige of it. It seems as it were a certainty that the men were destined to lose and it will be infinitely better for all parties concerned if outside intereference can be avoided and the battle fought to a finish. To compromise in any way through outside mediation or otherwise will leave the vital point at question unsettled and be the cause for future trouble. We trust it will go to a finish.

FEEL NO BITTERNESS.

Commandant Kemp's View of the British Terms and War's End.

HOW THE BOERS WERE DECEIVED

Marked Bitterness Shown Against France and Germany—War Unnecessarily Protracted Owing to Hopes Held Out by Press of Those Countries—Surrenders Up to Wednesday Numbered 10,225.

London, June 13.—Despatches from Mafeking state that Commandant Kemp, Gen. Delarey's trusty lieutenant, surrendered there Wednesday. Kemp looks worn, and has aged considerably. He was a clerk in the Mining Commissioner's office before the war, and now intends to take up farming.

He said his command, consisting of 1,900 men, surrendered at Doornkop, June 6. A few men were still out, but they were coming in yesterday. He had been averse to yielding, but recognized the opinion of the majority.

"We did our best," continued the Commandant, "and must therefore be satisfied. As Lord Kitchener said, no shame is attached to our giving up. We were outnumbered. We might have continued fighting for another couple of years, but with no certainty of success. I am quite satisfied with the terms and have no ill feeling against England.

"I think there will be no bitterness in the future.

"We shall get on all right together. I expected to win, and only quite recently realized the hopelessness of our cause. I have given the burghers my reasons for yielding. One reason was that the eastern part of the Transvaal had no foodstuffs whatever. West Transvaal, however, had enough food for two years more.

"Regarding the concentration camps, I saw the local camp this morning, and am quite convinced now that everything is in good order."

Many of the Boers who have surrendered were dressed in well made sheepskin clothes. The men, as a rule, were in remarkably good health and were cheerful.

HOW BOERS WERE DECEIVED.

Some Now Show Marked Bitterness Against France and Germany.

Pretoria, Wednesday, June 11.—In all, 10,225 Boers have surrendered up to date. Many are youngsters of 11 years old and upward. The majority of them are under 30, though some of the burghers who have surrendered are septuagenarians.

General Dewet says the youngsters were his best fighters and frequently held positions after the old burghers had cleared out.

The Boers of the Orange River Colony are handing in only a small percentage of their ammunition. They explain that they used most of it in hunting game since the peace agreement was signed.

Addressing the surrendered Boers at Kroonstadt, Orange River Colony, General Elliott said the only wish of King Edward, his Government and the British people was to help the burghers and get them back to their farms as soon as possible. The King the General added, telegraphed congratulating the burghers on the good stand they made. This announcement was greeted with lusty cheers for the King and for Lord Kitchener.

Reports from all the districts say that the burghers are increasingly friendly. The only bitterness observable among the leading Boers here is against France and Germany. They declare that the war was protracted unnecessarily owing to hopes held out by the French and German press. Some of the Boers are so incensed that they have expressed the hope that some day they will fight on the side of the British against one of these powers.

The anticipated friction between the surrendered Boers and their former comrades of the national scouts has not materialized to any extent.

The Boers admit that they received ammunition through Portuguese territory.

A casualty list issued by the War Office shows that four men were killed in a fight 36 miles east of Fraserburg, Cape Colony, on June 3, three days after the conclusion of peace.

Commandant Kemp and a number of Boers have surrendered at Mafeking. Commandant Kemp says that he is reconciled to the new situation.

Royal Commission to Investigate War.

London, June 13.—The War Secretary, Mr. Broderick, announced in the House of Commons yesterday, that it was the intention of the Government to appoint a small Royal Commission, and institute a general inquiry into the South African war.

Tod Sloan in Prison.

Paris, June 13.—Tod Sloan, the American jockey, was sentenced yesterday to two days' imprisonment and a fine of ten francs for driving an automobile at an excessive speed. He was fined five francs each on two minor counts. Sloan was sentenced to a fine of eight francs last year for a similar offence.

New York Farmers.

Outside of the business of supplying New York city with milk, the farmers of New York state have an investment of $43,450,000 in cows and a corresponding amount in dairy farms and fixtures, the total being not less than $150,000,000.

CORONATION PROGRAM

Their Majesties Will Return to London Coronation Week.

RECEIVES COLONIAL PREMIERS.

A Great Procession Through London on the 27th June, Immediately Following the Coronation—The Review Off Spithead June 28—A Rehearsal in Which Their Majesties Get Their Bearings.

London, June 13.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra were engaged yesterday in what was practically a rehearsal of the coronation ceremonies.

Accompanied by Princess Victoria and a suite, Their Majesties drove to Westminster Abbey. There they were quietly received by the Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, and Chief Butler of England, who escorted Their Majesties through the Abbey, and, in order to prevent the possibility of a hitch in the proceedings of Coronation Day, all the details of the procession and ceremonial were explained to them.

The royal visit to the Abbey was accomplished very quietly, few persons about the building were aware of the presence of Their Majesties.

The final court of the season will be held at Buckingham Palace today. Their Majesties will then go to Windsor, and will not return to London until coronation week.

The program of functions for coronation week is as follows:

Monday, June 23—Arrival in London of the royal representatives; dinner at Buckingham Palace and reception of the suites.

Tuesday, June 24.—Their Majesties will receive the special foreign envoys and deputations to the coronation and give a state dinner at Buckingham Palace.

Wednesday, June 25—Reception of the colonial Premiers and other envoys; the Prince of Wales will give a dinner party at St. James' Palace to the Princes and envoys.

Thursday, June 26—The coronation.

Friday, June 27—The procession through London, which will be a military pageant some two miles long, representing every portion of the British dominions. In the evening Their Majesties will attend a reception at Lansdowne House.

Saturday, June 28—The royal party will leave London for the naval review.

Sunday, June 29—Dinners to the foreign princes by their respective ambassadors.

Monday, June 30—Their Majesties return to London, gala performance of opera.

Tuesday, July 1—Garden party at Windsor Castle.

Wednesday, July 2—Departure of the foreign princes and envoys; Their Majesties dine at Londonderry House.

Thursday, July 3—Their Majesties attend the reception of Indian princes at the India office.

Saturday, July 5—King Edward's dinner to the poor.

DOMINION COAL AND STEEL.

Annual Meetings Held in Montreal Ratified the 99-Year Lease.

Montreal, June 13.—Both the Dominion Coal and the Dominion Iron and Steel Companies held their annual meetings here yesterday, and both ratified the 99-year lease of the Coal to the Steel Company.

At the Steel meeting, 210,000 shares out of 250,000 voted in favor of the lease, and 150 shares against.

At the Coal meeting, 140,000 shares out of 180,000 voted aye, and none was recorded against the agreement. H. M. Whitney remains in the directorate of both companies, but resigns the presidency, being replaced in both cases by James Ross, who is the president of both corporations. Hon. Geo. A. Cox and Hon. L. J. Forget are elected vice-presidents of both the Coal and the Steel. C. Shields is the second vice-president of the Coal Co. and general manager. W. B. Ross was also elected secretary of the Steel Company, and John Mackay, secretary-treasurer of the Coal, and treasurer of the Steel Company. The directorates remain as before, except that Hon. George A. Cox is added to the Coal Board.

The reports of both companies were read and adopted.

Boxed Each Others Ears.

Vienna, June 13.—There was a scene of wild disorder in the Reichsrath yesterday during the debate on the Danube navigation agreement. Herr Schoenerer, a leader of the Pan-German party, and Dr. Wolff, another leader of the same party, exchanged insults, and finally boxed each other's ears.

Drowned at Kenmore.

Ottawa, June 13.—John McIntyre, a young man, aged 22 years was drowned at Kenmore on Tuesday night. He was in bathing, and, being unable to swim, got out of his depth, in 12 feet of water.

America Too Fresh.

Victoria, B. C., June 13.—In the Legislature, last evening, a resolution was passed, resenting the passing of an act by the United States, in effect that, unless a modus vivendi, prohibiting the killing of seals, be secured at the opening of the pelagic season, 1902, authority will be given to kill all the male and female seals, with the exception of ten thousand females and one thousand males. The Dominion Government is urged to act.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The British soldier is reckless of his own life when seeking "the bubble reputation, e'en in the cannon's mouth," but the British railway managers are exceedingly careful of the lives of the public. The British are called slow but they have a way of "getting there." They are not slow, however, in their railway traffic. The country is a veritable network of railway lines and hundreds of trains are run at a teriffic speed, but with the least accidents of any country in the world. In Canada last year there were 18 persons travelling as passengers, killed out of the 18,385,172 passengers carried on the railways of the Dominion. That is to say there were 18 persons killed by causes connected with the running of trains. By way of contrast. The report of Rt. Hon. Gerald Balfour, President of the British Board of Trade, for the year 1900, furnishes an extraordinary tribute to the carefulness of British railway administration. It shows that accidents on trains did not cause the death of a solitary passenger during the year. This is all the more remarkable when it is remembered that the number of passengers carried on British railways in the year reaches the tremendous total of 1500 millions, a number equal to the total population of the world.

One remarkable feature of the recent election contest was the persistent, and, as events proved, senseless howl, raised by Opposition journals and orators about the "machine." This was kept up during the contest and afterwards the cry was again raised. Opposition journals threatened recounts, and asserted that these would result in unseating Liberal candidates, for the deputy returning officers, being Liberal appointees, it was claimed that they would strain a point in making their returns to give the Liberal candidates favours in the matter of counting ballots, which the judge, in case of a recount, would reverse, with the result that where the majority was narrow, the Opposition candidate would be elected. There have been several recounts, but in no case have the returns made by the deputies been reversed. This a proof that the deputy returning officers did their work carefully and honestly. If they had, as the Opposition journals practically asserted they would do, practiced "machine" methods, the judges, some of them politically hostile to the Government, would have discovered anything "crooked" in making the returns. The Opposition die hard, and their efforts to let themselves down lightly is natural.

AS TO GERRYMANDERING.

The Mail and Empire and The Brantford Courier refer to the Reform "gerrymandering" of Ontario, and seek to establish a sort of set-off to the iniquitous gerrymanders made by the Dominion Conservative party in 1882 and 1892. Here in South Brant we know something of what these iniqities amounted to—as do also the people of Haldimand, of North Brant, the Norfolks, the Wentworths and all the neighbouring constituencies. On the other hand, what man hereabout can tell us of any Reform gerrymander?

The Conservative Government at Ottawa, in framing the Redistribution bill of 1882, practically abolished municipal boundary lines. It threw together sections of two, three or four counties having no interests in common, and it so carved up the political map of Ontario as to make it unrecognizable. Three ends only were kept in view. One that of legislating men like Hon. William Paterson out of Parliament; a second that of concentrating the Liberal majorities of different adjoining counties into Liberal "hives," thus wasting hundreds of Liberal votes, and the third that of making all other ridings hopelessly Conservative.

The Ontario Government, on the other hand, in framing its measure of 1884, kept five points in view: 1, To increase the aggregate membership as little as possible; 2, in no case to break down county boundary lines, 3, not to divide townships or other municipalities; 4, always to move in the direction of equalising the population where changes were made; 5, not to aim at destroying the seats held by members of the Opposition. Upon this latter point but two members were placed in a minority—Mr. Ermatinger, the member for East Elgin, by the change of St. Thomas from the East to the West riding, and Colonel Grey of West York, who was placed in a minority of but three votes, while in every case the change proceded in the direction of equalization.

Contrast this record of the Ontario Government with the discreditable work of the Ottawa Government in 1882. The unit of representation of the whole province for Dominion purposes was 20,905. Out of 52 constituencies there were left 31 under the average of 20,905.

26	under	19,000
22	under	18,000
14	under	17,000
9	under	16,000
5	under	15,000
3	under	14,000
1	of	12,423

There were also left—

11	over	21,000
9	over	12,000
6	over	28,000
4	over	24,000
7	over	25,000
5	over	26,000
2	over	27,000
1	over	28,000

Take an illustration. South Oxford before the gerrymander had a population of 24,732; after 24,778, an increase of 46. It was also left with a population 3,873 greater than the average or unit of representation. In order to accomplish this the boundaries of three counties were broken down, the town of Tilsonburg and the township of Dersham were detached from South Oxford and tacked on to North Norfolk, and the townships of Burford and Oakland were taken from South Brant and added to South Oxford. Why all this overthrowing for an increase of only seven votes?

The gerrymander of 1892 was a repetition of the same sort of thing on a smaller scale. There is no parallel for such rascality to be found in Ontario politics, and the Ross Government treated its opponents with a fairness they did not deserve when in the Redistribution bill of last session it refused to take the opportunity which was then presented of giving the Conservative party a dose of its own medicine.—Brantford Expositor.

BISHOP SPALDING ATTACKS WOMEN.

In a sermon before 2,000 visitors at the National Conference of charities and corrections, the Rt. Rev. John Lancaster Spalding, Roman Catholic Bishop of Peoria, Ill., laid the responsibility for three-fourths of the sin and depravity, the crime, and indigence and poverty of America at the door of the women of the country.

More than half the audience at the Light Guard Armory were of the fair sex and they joined the men in applauding Bishop Spalding to the echo.

"The women in our homes decide how we shall build and furnish our houses," said Bishop Spalding. "They determin what we shall eat, and wear, and read; they select our friends and even decide the important questions of religion. They put words of the native tongue into the mouths of the children, and influence them powerfully in their growth to manhood and womanhood.

"If the woman of the land were more large minded, more thoughtful, more intelligent, three-fourths of the depravity, and sin that curse present day life would dissappear. The seat of the development of the child is in the home. To her man must leave the training of the boys and girls that are to be fathers and mothers of the future. Shall women be false, ungrateful and traitorous to the trust that man has reposed in her?

THE BEET ROOT SUGAR INDUSTRY.

Its Possibilities and its Bearing Upon National Interests.

The Extent of its Manufacture on This Continent—Ontario's Beginning—Ontario the Pioneer Province in Beet Root Sugar Production.

The enormous annual consumption of sugar in the United States and the war which has been engaged between the interests engaged in its manufacture, says The New York Commercial, has brought this industry prominently before the public during the last few days.

A statement recently issued by the treasury bureau of statistics regarding the sugar consumption of the United States shows that the amount has grown from 1,272,426,342 pounds in 1870, to 5,313,987,840 pounds in 1901, or from 33 to to 68 pounds per capita in that time. Of the amount consumed last year, 985,568,640 pounds, or more than one-sixth, was produced in the United States; 852,205,760 pounds, or about another one-sixth, was produced in the insular possessions, while the remainder, amounting to 3,476,213,440 pounds, or about two-thirds of the total consumption, represented imports of the commodity.

Of the 985,568,640 pounds of sugar produced in the United States in 1901 about one-third was from beets and two-thirds from cane, and of the 599,774,613 pounds of sugar imported, 484,344,004 pounds came unrefined.

The abolition of the European beet sugar bounties ultimately must compel those countries to seek other markets than the United States for the sale of their raw products, and it seems more than probable that the refiners of cane sugar will in time look to the culture of beets as an industry on which they must figure and in which it will be to their benefit to become interested. The annual statement of the American Beet Sugar Company furnishes ample proof of the advance which has been made by the beet sugar industry in this country. In 1890 the domestic production of beet sugar was 357 tons, and in 1901 it had increased to 124,859 tons, a gain in 20 years of nearly 350 per cent.

There are now 52 beet sugar factories in the United States and Canada, each having a daily capacity of from 350 to 3,000 tons. Of these, 17 are situated in the state of Michigan, 15 in the west, 4 in the middle west, 10 in the states bordering on the Pacific coast, 2 in New York state and 4 in Canada.

A list of the Michigan factories, with their location and daily capacity follows;

Land in the location of a well conducted beet sugar factory becomes very valuable. At Rocky Ford, before the factory was located there, land could be had for about $40 to $60 an acre. To-day it is readily saleable at from $200 to $300. There is not a house to rent in Rocky Ford, although some 700 have been built during the last two years. In Oxnard and Chino the same state of affairs exists.

No industry has come to the country which has meant so much to our agricultural success as the culture of the beet and the manufacture of sugar therefrom. Its benefits are felt by all branches of trade—the coal mines, the coke ovens, the limestone quarries, the manufactories of bags and barrels, the producers of lubricating oils, the blacksmith's shop the manufacturers of chemicals and chemical instruments, the railways, the labourers and the merchants.

From the time that the beet seed is planted, until the standard, granulated sugar is produced, the beet sugar industry is of intense interest. In Europe best seed is produced just as carefully as our fine stock in this country is bred, and in the near future, the United States and this country will unquestionably take up in a most intelligent way the growing of acclimated seed, which will produce a far richer beet than the seed that is now imported.

NORTH GREY RECOUNT

The Sensational Charges Made By the Conservatives.

LITTLE FOUNDATION FOR THEM.

How the Four Ballots in No. 9, St. Vincent, Were Marked and How They Were Discovered by Counsel at the Recount—Judge Morrison Says the Ballots Were Not Tampered With During Recount.

Owen Sound, June 13. — The exparte statement by the counsel for the Conservative candidate, Mr. Boyd, in the North Grey recount, concluded here Wednesday afternoon, has caused a good deal of excitement here, but an enquiry into the circumstances shows that the inferences and innuendoes were far more serious than the facts. The trouble arises from four ballots cast in polling subdivisions No. 9 of St. Vincent, which is in the farthest part of the riding, about 26 miles from Owen Sound The ballots were all marked plainly enough and properly for Mr. Boyd in the space to the right of his name, but in addition they all bore a small cross in the compartment containing the name of Mr. McKay, the Liberal candidate. These latter marks were so illegible that Judge Morrison, before whom the recount was made, passed them unnoticed. Mr. Geo. H. Watson, K. C., counsel for Mr. McKay, passed them as good on a first examination, and it was only on a re-examination by him that two of them were discovered. The other two were found on a very careful scrutiny by Mr. W. D. McPherson, who acted for Mr. Boyd, in conjunction with Mr. E. A. DuVernet. Yet, in the statements that appeared in the reports in the Conservative papers yesterday, the inference was boldly drawn that the ballots must have been good when counted by the deputy returning officer on the night of the election, and had afterwards been tampered with and spoiled. Curiously enough, too, there is evidence to show that the Conservatives themselves knew there were some spoiled ballots among those of this division. The only fair ground for the suspicion that the ballots were tampered with, as Judge Morrison himself held, is the fact that four of them occurred in the one polling subdivision, and against that is the fact that prohibition feeling is now high in that section, which might induce voters who felt strongly regarding it to spoil their ballots, and the further fact that from the general appearance and location of the secondary marks no two of them appeared to have been made by the same hand.

The Disputed Ballots.

When the Township of St. Vincent was reached, Mr. Boyd said: "We'll find some ballot-switching in this township." Judge Morrison counted the ballots: Boyd, 29; McKay, 40; just as the deputy returning officer had counted them. Mr. Watson looked them over as they were passed to him and saw nothing wrong. Then, to test the count, he went over them a second time, and it was on this second scrutiny that he discovered two of the four spoiled ballots. Mr. DuVernet, counsel for Mr. Boyd, remarked confidently that there were probably more of them, and Mr. McPherson took the ballots to look them over. This he did very carefully, and found the other two. It was argued by Mr. DuVernet that the Judge could not overrule the decision of the deputy returning officer with regard to these ballots; that he must pass them as good ballots because the deputy returning officer had done so. The Judge held that he must not count them, as he had found and discarded them as spoiled. He said there was a strong suspicion amounting almost to a certainty, that the ballots had been tampered with.

Judge Morrison was seen last night by a Globe reporter and was asked for a statement of his remarks in exact terms. He said the matter was still sub-judice, and that therefore he did not feel at liberty to say anything. Rebarding the suggestion in The Mail, however, that the ballots had been tampered with during the recount, when it had been found that McKay's majority had been reduced to two, Judge Morrison said:- "There was not at the recount any suspicion, nor was any suspicion expressed, nor was there any possibility of ballots being tampered with during the recount."

A Trustworthy Officer.

The returning officer for the riding, Mr. R. McKnight, was interviewed, and he said:—"The deputy returning officer at polling subdivision No. 9, St. Vincent, was Mr. John H. Carson, of St. Vincent. He is one of the most intelligent farmers of the township. Since 1878 I have held nine elections, and in the seven of these of which St. Vincent was a part of the riding, Mr. Carson, or some member of his family, has acted at a deputy returning officer. No family in the township had bore a higher reputation than they. If I had to single out from the 54 deputy returning officers those of the most undoubted ability and integrity Mr. Carson would be among the first."

Prince Edward Re-Count.

Picton, June 13.—The recount in Prince Edward was concluded last night. The Liberal candidate, Dr. Currie, had his majority cut from 123 to 116.

Seized With Cramps Acute Indigestion

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

More people suffer from indigestion and its accompanying ills, such as constipation and deranged kidneys and liver, than from any other class of disease. The use of digestants, pepsin, bismuth, etc., sometimes gives temporary relief when the trouble is confined to the stomach, but the most serious form of indigestion is that which affects the intestines and is attended with constipation, kidney pains and cramps.

That Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is the most effective treatment for this dreadfully common affliction is now generally known, and we here quote a letter from a Peterborough lady, who gives her experience for the benefit of other sufferers.

Mrs. R. Beach, 225 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"About two years ago I became subject to cramps, which were caused, I was told, from acute indigestion. I was so bad that I would be laid up for a week at a time. These attacks came on periodically and distressed me greatly.

"I then began using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, and have found them a wonderful medicine. They have entirely prevented a recurrence of my trouble, corrected the derangement of my digestive organs and made me feel like a different person."

You need not lose time and money in experimenting with new and untried medicines. You know that Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills are backed by almost a life long experience of the great physician and receipt book author. They have proven their superiority in scores of cases in every community. Ask your friends about them. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 5

The Virtues of Cold Water.

Lord Bulwer-Lytton was a profound believer in the efficacy of the water cure for everybody, but in particular for overworked literary men. Whenever he was tired out and felt the need of recuperation he would go to a water cure establishment for a few days, drink water in unlimited quantities and be sweated and soaked until he had lost half a dozen pounds in weight. When he felt sufficiently reduced, he would go back to business or pleasure, generally with a horrible cold, but under the conviction that he had been greatly improved by the treatment. He even wrote a pamphlet or book on the subject, in which he assumed the ground that water would cure anything if a man only took enough.

A Great Favor.

The clergyman was in his study on a Saturday night when a visitor was announced, and there entered one of his mine working parishioners, who, having cautiously looked round to see that there were no listeners, addressed his clergyman with an air of grave, mysterious importance: "Mester Whitworth, you've been very kind to my ould girl when she wor sick so long abed, and I want to do you a good turn, and I can do you a good turn. There's going to be the gradeliest dog fight in this place to-morrow, and I can get you into the inner ring!"—Dean Hole's "Memories."

WILL MITCHELL FAIL?

President of United Mine Workers of America Told That He Will Fail—A Fight For Life.

New York, June 13.—Failure has marked the termination of the last efforts to end the coal strike, and there is now no prospect that the difficulty will be settled until either the operators or the miners acknowledge that they have been beaten.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has been informed, and it is said convinced, by men in whom he has much confidence, that the strike can end only in the failure of the miners, and that his prestige as a leader must suffer. He has been asked to try to induce the miners to accept the wage scale which prevailed last year, and to go back to work. He has been told that under no circumstances will the operators make any concessions, and that they are determined to fight to the end.

There is no chance of interference in the strike by the Federal authorities. President Roosevelt is helpless under the law.

It is expected by the operators that the backbone of the strike will be broken by the middle of July.

They say that their reports indicate that the miners are already disintegrating, and that, as many of them were opposed to the strike in the beginning, some of them will apply for work soon.

Tragedy of a Strike,

Pawtucket, P.I., June 13.—Tanner Patterson, aged 12 years, was shot and probably fatally injured yesterday by deputies guarding a Union Traction Company's car. Patterson was in a crowd of strikers and sympathizers, who stalled a car on Main street.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Lord Strathcona's $20,000 Donation—The Statistics of the Church.

Toronto, June 13.—In the reports that were presented at yesterday's session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was one announcement that evoked considerable applause. It was included in the report of the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund of the western section, and said the committee had received from Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the handsome donation of $20,000 towards the fund, and the promise of an additional $5,000 if the full sum aimed at was obtained, providing for annuities of $400 to those ministers who have been 40 years in the ministry.

The sessions were largely attended yesterday, many more delegates having arrived.

Church Statistics.

Dr. Torrance, in presenting the report of the Statistical Committee, called attention to the fact that clerks of Presbyteries did not exercise the care necessary in preparing the reports of membership and finances, for presentation to the Assembly. As a result, the committee found it impossible to procure accurate reports. In 1899 there were about 30,000 single persons not connected with families in connection with the church. From figures obtained, there were only 20,926 last year, a decrease of more than 9,000. The number of congregations and mission stations numbered 1,781, an increase of 373 over the previous year, while the ministers on rolls of Presbyteries numbered 1,198. There were 783 self-supporting charges, and 203 augmented charges. The families numbered 118,114, an increase of 4,968. Reckoning that each family numbered five persons, there would be a population in the church of close upon 600,000. Dr. Torrance pointed out that the census gave the total number of Presbyterians as 800,000, leaving 200,000 still accounted for by the church. The total number of communicants were 219,470, while in 1875 at the union of the churches, there were only 88,228, and showing an increase of 5,799 over the number of last year. Eleven thousand and two hundred and fifty-nine were admitted on profession of faith, 8,709 on certificate. The accessions numbered 19,968, and the removals 14,225, of whom 7,471 were by certificate and 6,754 by death or otherwise. There were 11,868 baptisms, of whom 1,129 were adults. In 1875 there were 5,312 and in 1901 they numbered 7,539. The stipend paid by the congregations or colleges amounted to $1,052,691, an increase of $25,649 over the previous year. There was a total average on stipend of $11,716. The contributions for all purposes amounted to $2,957,489.

The church was crowded to the doors at the evening service, when a number of highly interesting addresses were delivered by clergymen well qualified to speak on the situation of home missions in the great Canadian Northwest. The moderator was in the chair.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possible derive from them. A nugget may be worth twenty dollars, but you don't know it until it is tested and weighed.

A piece of gold stamped by the mint is worth exactly what it is branded.

A common shoe may be worth what is asked for it, but you don't know till you wear it and find out. It may be Goodyear welted and it may not be.

A "Slater Shoe" branded with makers' name and price in a slate frame is worth exactly what the makers say it is.

They know its value. They put a coupon on it telling the leather it is made of, the wear it will give and how to care for it.

Regulations of Interest to Householders.

In Woodstock the bylaws have been amended to enable owners of lots where the sidewalk is placed outside the line of trees to sod or sow grass in the portion of street within the sidewalk adjoining such lot, also the portions between the sidewalks and the curb. They are obliged to keep the boulevard adjoining their lot free from thistles and noxious weeds and keep the grass cut and trimmed to the satisfaction of the Parks and Trees Committee. The boulevards may be protected by a fence of a nature such as the committee may prescribe. The boulevards may not be constructed in streets where they will be of inconvenience to the travelling public. Any boulevards already constructed within the provisions of the bylaw are to be considered proper boulevards. LACROSSE.

The Ottawa Citizen speaks the truth when it says that the day for the field captain in a lacrosse match has long since waned. A field captain is neither ornamental nor useful, but essentially a nuisance, and a stumbling block to good lacrosse. Take for instance the incident in last Saturday's match, when Pluck Martin tried to side-step a Shamrock player, but only succeeded in colliding with him. Field captains are no more needed in lacrosse than they are on the football field. Fancy a field captain in a game between Ottawa City and Ottawa College. Why, they'd surely murder a field captain.

Port Hope has five Peterborough players signed this season and they are trying to have Miles McDonough reinstated. And as Miles only did what Sox Clark did, there's no reason why Miles should not get back in the game.—Telegram.

Saturday started the lacrosse ball all over Canada and never was there so much interest in the national game. From coast to coast the admirers of the greatest summer sport that men play are figuring "dope" on their favourites, praising the winners and finding excuses for the unlucky who fail. There always must be a loser and it is the greater virtue to accept defeat in a sportsmanlike spirit and go back with the intention of doing better next time. In lacrosse as in everything else, it is the team that stays to the finish that wins championships. It is not pleasant to lose a game that should have been won but if the lesson is taken to heart there is not likely to be a repetition of those mistakes that mean defeat. The season has only begun and there will be many reversals of form before it is closed.

The London News says:—"The executive of the London Lacrosse Club are determined that the locals shall be strengthened by all means, and that at the earliest date. They appear to be satisfied from the championship game with Woodstock on Saturday last that several weaknesses in the line-up existed and that these should be remedied at the earliest possible moment. Already they have strings on seven new players, said to be the best, and six of them are expected in the city to-day. At a meeting of the executive Tuesday, Capt. Leddy, announced to the players that they would have to brace up in their work or the inevitable would happen. They will be given until Saturday to show improvement, failing which the ax will fall.

The next match of the city league series will be played on Wednesday evening next, when the T.A.S. and the Athletics will come together.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team intend going to Orillia on Wednesday.

The Young Torontos play their first C.L.A. game on Saturday against Port Hope.

A full attendance of all Y.M.C.A. lacrosse players is asked for this evening at Nicholls Oval at 7 o'clock sharp.

GOLF.

The draw in the second round of the Captain's Handicap has been made and the following gentlemen will play the second round which must be finished by Saturday evening, June 21st. The match is a holes competition, and the competitors who have received handicaps will find the schedule giving the proper holes on which the strokes are to be taken, posted in the Club House. The draw in the second round is as follows;

C. H. Bradburn vs. S. Ray.
J. H. Burnham vs. R. M. Hamilton.
R. M. Dennistoun vs. winner Neill vs. Crane.
Winner Neill vs. Terrill, vs. P. Campbell.
C. E. Brown vs. A. H. Stratton.
Winner Fair vs. Davidson, vs. E. G. Patterson.

CRICKET.

The senior game that was to have been played in Lakefield to-morrow between Peterborough and Lakefield, has been declared off.

Uxbridge seniors will likely play here on Tuesday next.

The Grove team of Lakefield will play the Colts here to-morrow.

BASEBALL.

The Midland League games scheduled for to-morrow are Port Hope at Bowmanville, and Cobourg at Oshawa.

T. A. S. ATHLETICS.

A meeting of the Athletic Section of St. Peter's T.A.S. is called for this evening in the Society's hall. A full attendance is requested, as matters relating to the field day of sports on July 1st will come up for consideration.

ROWING.

Professional rowing must be dead. Here it is three months short of a year since a championship race was rowed at Rat Portage, and yet we hear of no other match. Looks as if you would have to bonus a man to go against George Towns. When old Ned Hanlan held the championship one was always assured of a race, but since that time has elapsed we have to warm our heels and hope for race day to come round. Gaudaur held the championship and waited for a race until he was tired of it, when one fine day Towns bobbed up serenely, and you all know the result. Now it looks as if we would have to wait an eternity before we see or even hear of a contest coming off. In these days it takes as long to arrange and draw up articles for a boat race as it does for a championship prize fight.—Toronto Telegram.

THE EARLY CLOSING.

The Movement is Being Favourably Received by all Concerned.

An item appeared in yesterday's Examiner, regarding a movement that is on foot to have the grocery stores of the town close at an earlier hour the year around than at present. The Examiner stated that it was 6 o'clock that th epromoters were advocating. This is incorrect, as it should have read 7 o'clock. The proposal to close the grocery stores of the town every night at 7 o'clock, excepting of course on Saturday evenings, and the evenings preceding holidays, is one that is being heartily endorsed, not only by the grocers themselves but by the purchasing public as well. There is, it is stated, only one grocery store in the centre of the town that has not fallen into line, and the remaining grocers are hopeful that the new movement will eventually be successful. As before stated in these columns, with proper co-operation on the part of the purchasing public, all necessary buying can, as a rule, be conveniently arranged to be done before six o'clock. Then the merchants and their employees can close the shop and have the rest of the night to themselves. It is doubtful, taking the year round, whether the hour or so of business after six o'clock under the present system, pays for the trouble and added expense, of light, fuel, etc. To make the movement successful, there must be co-operation on the part of the public, and unanimity among the grocers selves.

The County Court of the County of Peterborough is still in session before His Honour Judge Ketchum.

The case of Sims vs. Lane was concluded yesterday afternoon. The plaintiff was Mr. A. E. Sims, a baker of Peterborough and the defendant was Mary Eleanor Lane, trading under the style and name of Lane & Co. Action taken to recover $150 damages for breach of contract, and $49.25 wages, alleged to be owing plaintiff by defendant, who had, according to statement of claim, agreed to employ plaintiff at a salary of $12 per week for twelve months from July 1901, but who, it is alleged, wrongfully, and without just cause, discharged plaintiff in January. Defendant claims that plaintiff was not discharged, as alleged, and that after said alleged contract plaintiff wilfully misconducted himself.

FARMERS AT JUBILEE POINT.

Annual Outing of the Farmers of the District.

SOME PROMINENT SPEAKERS.

About 1400 People Were in Attendance—Sports Were Run off—Was a Great Success.

The annual pic-nic of the Farmers' Institutes of East and West Northumberland, East Durham and East and West Peterborough was held yesterday to Jubilee Point, and there is no exaggeration in saying that it eclipsed anything ever held under the same auspices in the past. There were about 1,400 people on the grounds drawn from all points of the compass, all were enthusiastic in their praise of the excellent management of every detail, and the committee that had the affair in hand were congratulated on all sides.

The City of Peterborough, with over 200 on board, left Wolfe street wharf a few minutes after 8 o'clock, followed half an hour later by the North Star, carrying about 100 people. Both boats called at the several landings along the route until Jubilee was reached about 11.30.

By this time the other boats were in sight coming from various points on the lake. The Water Lily with palace barge arrived from Trent Bridge, Hastings and Robin's Landing, loaded to the water's edge; while the Rainbow with barge from Keene, Birdsall, Curtis' Point, Harwood and Gore's Landing, added about 400 more to the already large crowd.

Dinner was now ready and Mr. Dan Foley's catering abilities received a severe test, but he had made ample provision, and was equal to the occasion, and although dinner was not concluded until a late hour, every one spoke in flattering terms of the excellent meals they had received.

A splendid orchestra in the pavillion supplied music for dancing and the dance hall was well patronized from the time the boats landed until the last whistle called them away.

About 2.30 the speeches were begun. The old platform being in a rather dilapidated condition the speakers assembled on the platform of the hotel, and addressed the large gathering on the sugar beet question. All received a very attentive hearing.

Mr. E. M. Elliott, in the absence of Mr. Birdsall, took the chair, and after expressing regret at the non-arrival of Prof. Harcourt, and Mr. Birdsall, went on to state that last fall there had been considerable agitation over the sugar beet question, and it afterwards had appeared to receive a check, but the check had only been the means of spurring them on, and he hoped that before another year we would have a successful sugar beet factory established in Peterborough. He then called on Mr. T. E. Bradburn to address the gathering.

Mr. Bradburn on rising, stated that he had not come down with any idea of making a speech, but he thought that the sugar beet industry would be a good thing for the country. He spoke of the test that had been held in this vicinity a year ago, which demonstrated that we had the proper kind of soil for the successful raising of the beets. He was sending out circulars to all the farmers within a radius of 10 miles, setting forth the advantages of a factory being established here, and asking them to guarantee a sufficient acreage to operate a 6,000 ton factory.

Mr. Andrew Elliott, of Galt, was the next speaker. He congratulated the various Institutes on the success of the pic-nic, and thought it a grand thing for the farmers to meet together in a social way and learn one from another. He could remember when the cheese industry was in its infancy, the difficulties they had experienced, but what a business had been built up by the united efforts of the farmers, and he was certain that if they would embrace the opportunitity now afforded to establish the sugar beet industry it would be as successful as the cheese had been. Land around Galt had increased in value 20 per cent. since there were prospects of the establishment of a sugar factory. Unless the farmers were willing to guarantee a sufficient quantity of beets it would be impossible to get capitalists to invest their money in a factory. He said the land of Canada was adapted to the growing of the beets. It did not require a sandy land as many supposed, but a sandy or clay loam, rich and mellow, thoroughly drained and cultivated, and he was sure that under these conditions with proper cultivation ten acres of beets would produce a greater profit than fifty acres of oats. In concluding a very able speech, he exhorted the farmers to look into the matter, and seize this golden opportunity while it was passing.

Many questions were asked by farmers who were present regarding seed, price, etc., all of which were very satisfactorily answered by Mr. Elliott.

Mr. Anderson of Rugby, was the next speaker. He stated that he had not enjoyed a picnic so much for over 40 years, as the sail down the beautiful Otonabee river had reminded him so strongly of the picnics of his boyhood days in the Highlands of Scotland. He dwelt at some length on the increased revenue from the export trade in hams and bacon during the last ten years, and he felt sure that the sugar beet industry would prove as profitable. The farmers of Canada could make as much money out of the beets as the farmers in the State of Michigan could, on account of the superior manner in which they cultivated their land, and he had asked the farmers of Michigan when he was there how the sugar beet crop compared with the potato crop as a money maker. Potatoes then were worth 28 and 30 cents a bushel. They all said that from what they had seen they would not raise another bag of potatoes to sell at that price. He then explained in a very plain and thorough manner how the land should be prepared for the successful raising of sugar beets. Mr. Anderson was sure that sugar beets would average $65 per acre—a profit of $31 above above every expense.

Mr. Honey, of East Northumberland, thought we would soon have a good Government, and therefore the prosperity of Canada would continue. (Laughter.)

Mr. Riley, of Norwood, hoped to go into Michigan this fall, and would be better prepared to speak on the sugar beet industry next winter.

Mr. Carlow, of East Northumberland, said he had experimented with sugar beets for two or three years, with good results. He was too far distant from Peterborough, but would favour the establishment of a factory in the vicinity of Warkworth.

This brought the speeches to a close, and three rousing cheers were given for the King.

On account of the short time left only a portion of the sports were run off. These were hotly contested and resulted as follows;

Running hop, step and jump — F. Harris, Gore's Landing.

Running long jump — F. Simpson, Hiawatha.

Putting shot — "Scotty" Duncan.

Boys' race, under 12 — 50 yards — Lewis Wedlock, Norman Campbell, J. Doherty, Leo McNicholl.

Much disappointment was felt in the absence from the list of speakers of Professor Harcourt. However Mr. Harcourt arrived in Peterborough on the noon train and drove to the Point, arriving there about 15 minutes after the speeches were over.

Mr. Stubbs had his gramophone at the Point. He placed it on the City of Peterborough on the wharf, and entertained the people who assembled on the hillside.

Mr. Wm. Collins, the energetic secretary of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute, received warm praise for the excellent manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

TO ASSURE SOCIAL REFORMS.

Member of French Chamber of Deputies Favors Disarmament.

Paris, June 13.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, M. Bussiere urged the Government to firmly carry out the Radical program and introduce measures tending to the separation of church and state, and a progressive income tax, and the partial purchase of the railroads by the state.

M. Jaures, on behalf of the Socialists, declared that they would collaborate with the Republican and Reform policy. They wanted a reduction of the heavy burdens imposed by the maintenance of the army and navy.

The Minister of Finance, M. Rouvier, here interposed, saying: "We intend to make economies in all the services."

M. Jaures said he was pleased by the Government's promise to vigorously enforce the law of associations, but he regretted that the powers of the clergy were not further curtailed, and hoped that the reduction of the period of military service to two years would be the first step in the formation of a militia system.

M. Jaures suggested that France take the glorious initiative in disarmament. The question of Alsace-Lorraine, he asserted, could not stand in the way.

M. Jaures concluded, amid cheers from the Socialists, by asserting that disarmament was the best means to assure social reform.

REVOLUTION IN GLASS MAKING.

Thousands May Be Thrown Out of Work by New Machine.

Pittsburg, June 13.—Machines that are expected to revolutionize glass-making and do away with the labor of thousands of workmen and for the patent rights in which $10,000,000 is said to have been offered, were put in practical operation yesterday at Alexandria, Ind., by the American Window Glass Company. Twelve of the machines, which will make unnecessary the services of blowers, gatherers and snappers, have been installed.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

The steamer Manchester arrived Thursday at Halifax from Harve with 250 immigrabts, chiefly Syrians and Italians.

The rebel force which has been investing Kwei-Lin, capital of the Southern Province of Kwang-Si has been defeated by the Chinese Imperial troops.

The French fisheries on the Grand Banks are a complete failure. The fishermen at St. Pierre have been unable to procure bait, because of the stringent laws. A hundred French vessels are lying at St. Pierre helpless, and awaiting bait.

Three Barques Wrecked.

East London, Cape Colony, June 12.—The Norwegian barque Atbara, from Hamburg March 18 for East London; the Swedish barque Aurora, from Gefle Oct. 15 for East London, and the German barque Eliz Link, from Bremer Haven about Feb. 1 for East London, have been wrecked during a heavy southeast gale. All the crew of the Atbara were drowned, except the captain, who was got ashore. The crews of the two other vessels were saved. The coast is strewn with wreckage and portions of the barques' cargoes.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Ten-Year-Old Boy at Wallaceburg Worked Under Electric Light.

Wallaceburg, June 13.—Nelson Wood, the 10-year-old son of George Wood, blacksmith, was killed by lightning here last evening. A terrific thunderstorm passed over the town between 7 and 8 o'clock. Mr. Wood was working in his shop at the time. His son and another boy were near the vise bench, over which hangs an electric light. The lightning apparently followed the wires in, burnt out tht lamp and struck the boy down instantly. The other boy, who was on the other side of the vise, was uninjured.

Shoot All That Breathes.

Homer, N. Y., June 13.— Private Bert Maynard of Homer has returned from four years service in Cuba and the Philippines, and he was welcomed home with a public parade and bands, flags and red-fire accompaniments.

Maynard says that during the raids on the Island of Samar, he said he had orders to shoot everything that breathed.

A Wasted Compliment.

Lily—You don't mean to say you have broken with Fred? Why, I heard him say only yesterday there wasn't another girl in the world like you.

Minnie—That's just it; much as to say I'm a freak. I'll never speak to him again.

HOW SOLDIERS CAN DIE.

Bravery of the British Under Destructive Fire by the Moors.

When Lieutenant Egerton of the British battleship Powerful and one of the best of the younger officers was directing one of his guns against the enemy in South Africa one leg and one foot were carried off as he lay on the sand bag parapet watching the effect of the fire, says a writer in M.A.P. "There's an end of my cricket," he said simply. He was carried to the rear with a cigar between his teeth and died soon after.

Spion Kop saw some of the most memorable instances of the cool good humor with which wounds and death were received. Captain Muriel was shot through the cheek while he was handing a cigarette to a private, but he continued to lead his regiment until a bullet crashed through his brain. Scott Moncrieff went on after three bullet wounds. It was not till he was hit the fourth time that he was disabled. An even more remarkable story was that of Grenfell of Thorneycroft's. When he received his first shot he cried, "That's all right; it's not much." A second wound made him remark, "I can get on all right." The third shot killed him. Buchanan Riddell, the colonel of the King's Royal Rifles, was shot by a bullet through the head as he stood up to read a note from Lyttleton, his general. When poor Tait was hit on the advance to Kimberley—he had one wound already just barely healed—he exclaimed, "They've got me this time."

But perhaps the death which impresses one most in all the long and glorious list is that of Lord Airlie. He was shot down in a shower of bullets from a hidden body of Boers just after his men had finished a splendid and successful charge. A few moments before he had said to a sergeant, who, drunk with the poison of battle, had probably burst forth into some characteristic oaths, "Pray, moderate your language." The next moment a bullet had sped through his heart.

The Field of Bannockburn.

Most of the historic spots in Great Britain and on the Continent are carefully prepared for the tourist. Tablets tell the facts in the case, and the ruins are all tagged. There is small chance for dreaming or giving the imagination play where guides show one just when to thrill.

It is for its entire absence of trappings and stage setting that the field of Bannockburn is worth more than all the labelled marvels to be seen on a foreign tour. Bannockburn is fortunate in having no facilities of transportation. It is not easy of approach. A tramcar from Stirling takes one the first two miles, to St. Minians, but after that there remains a half mile to walk to the battlefield. No elaborate description in large type tells that the scene has finally been reached. The only means of identification is a flagstaff to mark the spot where Bruce planted his standard. But for the rest there are just rolling hills, covered over with barley and oats. It is all as productive and unpretentious as some useful tract without memories.

A traveler, not so long ago, who had expected to find barrenness, remarked to a laborer harvesting on the flank of the hill that falls away to the English position, that the murderous work of six centuries ago had not cursed or blighted the region.

"On the contrary," returned the Scot, as he looked over the fertile fields, which had once been the graveyard for an army, "The Englishers, they make good crops."

So Sweetly Innocent.

He had been to the boarding school to pay a surprise visit to his daughter, his only child. He had parted from her, proud to be the parent of such a handsome maiden, pleased with the innocence of budding womanhood. The principal accompanied him to the door.

"Madam," he said, with deep feeling, "I owe you much for the manner in which you have reared my child since she has been under your care. When I notice the contrast between that innocent maiden and some of the girls of her age who have not had the advantage of such strict supervision, I feel that I have indeed done wisely in placing her in your charge."

"And how proud you must be," said the principal, glowing with satisfaction, "to be the father of so large and devoted family."

"Large — devoted!" gasped the proud parent, "What do you mean?"

"Devoted to each other," said the principal. "No fewer than seven of Clara's brothers have been here during the past three weeks to take her out and she is expecting another tomorrow."—London Tit-Bits.

FIRST BLOOD SHED.

GENERAL DEWET'S NEPHEW TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCE.

Adolph Dewet's Says He Lost the First Blood Shed in the Boer War and Tells How It Happened—Says the Boers Were All Prepared When the Outbreak Came.

Adolph DeWet, a nephew of the Boer general who was captured and deported to Bermuda, and who subsequently escaped, told in New York the story of the first blood shed in the long war.

Since his escape the young Boer general has been making a desperate effort to make enough money to take him back to South Africa. He is a manly, intelligent young fellow, tall, straight, broad shouldered and muscular. He can talk in four languages. He is an electrical engineer by profession. You might mistake him for a college graduate.

It was at the end of a long talk that he spoke of his wounds. "Only twice," he said, "was I much hurt. Once was when I got that bullet in my foot and was caught. The other time—well ,that was funny, now I come to think of it. I suppose I lost the first blood that was shed in the war. You see, we Boers were all prepared for the thing when it came. Our plans were all laid. The first thing we did, you remember, was to ship all Englishmen out of Johannesburg. We began the very day war was declared.

"My folks lived in a suburb of Johannesburg. As soon as I heard that the war was on I took my rifle and went into the city. I had no more than reached there when I met an Englishman. He had an old musket with bayonet fixed. I stopped him, and he stopped me.

"'You just hand over that gun, young fellow,' says he.

"'Not much,' I says. 'You come with me to the railroad station. We're going to send you all packing.'

"With that we had a scuffle. Of course I might have shot him or he me, but you must remember that up to that time not a blow had been struck. It would have seemed like murder to me. I suppose he looked at it in the same way. So we just scuffled. In the mixup he stuck his bayonet into the calf of my leg. Then I hit him between the eyes and laid him out. I took away his old musket. What do you suppose he did then? Why, he gave me his shoulder as we walked down to the station and carried the guns. Every few minutes he would say: 'Sorry I jabbed you, young fellow. Does it hurt much?' We hadn't got used to killing each other then."

This was his story of an incident which might well find place in history—the first blood spilled in a war which has made the world shudder.

"When I went home that night," says young DeWet, "my old mother made an awful fuss. She put me to bed and bathed and bandaged my leg, crying all the time until I felt like a baby. The hole healed up in the course of a week or so, and when I started to join Joubert's commando she made another fuss. My father only said: 'Let the young whelp go. He'll have to learn it sooner or later. Go on, Adolph.'

"Six months later, when I came back for more clothes and a day or two of rest, mother drove me out of the house with a broom.

"Why are you not fighting with the other men?' she asked. 'Go back and stay until you have driven the ruineks into the sea.'

"That was the cry of all our women."

The King's Wild Boars.

Although the herd of wild boars formerly kept at Windsor is broken up and dispersed, there is no likelihood of that particular strain dying out. It is just about a year ago that the King sent a pair of these wild swine to the Zoological gardens, and the female has now farrowed. The litter numbers five, and all the young ones are doing well. On a recent Sunday they were a great source of attraction to the numerous visitors, many of whom found it somewhat difficult to believe that the quaintly striped little pigs were the progeny of the dusky-colored animals in the same pen. The wild swine deposited in the gardens by the King belong to the Indian species (Sus cristatus), closely allied to the European form, but slightly larger, and differing somewhat in the characters of the molar teeth. They are also much bolder, and will charge at anything when enraged. It will be remembered that, a few years ago, two Eton boys raided the wild boars' den at Windsor, and, armed only with iron-pointed sticks, succeeded in killing a boar. When the fact became known, inquiry was made, and the culprits acknowledge their guilt to the head master. The late Queen, when asked what punishment should be inflicted, would not hear of their being punished, and declared she was proud of such brave boys. Both justified the Queen's estimate of their courage; they served in South Africa, where one gave his life for his country.

Old London Signs to Reappear.

The decision of the Lombard street bankers of London to celebrate the coronation of King Edward by reviving their ancient signs is likely to result in converting that home of money changes into a picturesque thoroughfare, says The Newcastle Chronicle. Some of these signs are quaint, and there is quite a store of interesting lore and legend associated with the origin of at least a large proportion of them. Among them are the halbert and hart, the ram, two bells and siren, bellows and bull, three angels, Bible and crown, fox and fleece, golden anchor, golden key, golden bottle, golden cross, three golden balls, and many others, there being upward of 100 altogether. These devices are to be shown by means of electric light during the coronation week, but the idea is to keep the signs up permanently, and there is no question that they will be a welcome relief to the somewhat too sombre stone fronts of the large banking houses.

CANADA AND ART.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Pregnant Words on the Subject.

During the course of his reply to the address presented to him before the House closed, together with his portrait by Forbes, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after regretting the departure of that great Canadian artist from the Dominion, said:

For my part, it is with some regret I acknowledge that perhaps the Government might have done more than it has for the encouragement of native artistic talent. There is a scheme which I have long had in my mind, which might serve to encourage Canadian artists. Perhaps if we were to propose some time in the near future to have these walls adorned by paintings repeating Canadian history and commemorating the names of Canadian artists, such a proposition would meet with universal favor. (Applause.) I venture to hope that if the Government brings forward such a proposition my friend Mr. Borden, for whose presence I am especially grateful, will find it possible to second such a motion. Some two hundred years ago the Government of the French monarchy instituted a way of encouraging native talent by establishing le Grand Prix de Rome, under which prizes are given to the best students in painting, sculpture, architecture and music. They are sent to Rome for four years, there to study the art to which they are especially to devote themselves. Perhaps this would be too ambitious a scheme for young Canada to undertake. But if something of the kind were proposed I think the Canadian people would respond generously.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Soapsuds Are Valuable.

Few persons knew how very useful soapsuds prove when employed as manure. Applied to the roots of vines, fruit trees, roses, etc., they impart a vigor and a rapidity of growth which are perfectly surprising. No one who is so lucky as to have a garden should waste this valuable form of manure. It is an excellent plan to have a large tub and put the soapsuds and dirty water into it till required upon the garden.

Carlyle Would Talk.

Professor Blackie said of Carlyle: "I admired his genius. But how he would talk, talk, talk, and give nobody a chance to put in a word! One night I actually shook him. His wife had been trying all the evening to say something, but there was not the smallest chance. I took hold of him and shook him, saying, 'Let your wife speak, you monster!' But it was of no use."

The Girl and the Pimple.

Newspapers contained last year the account of a girl who committed suicide because she had a pimple on her face. Merrill's System Tonic from its blood purifying and blood strengthening qualities cures not only pimples but blotches of all kinds, also scrofula, eczema, and salt rheum. Three weeks treatment only 50 cents.

A Much Dreaded Fly.

The man eating fly of Central America inhabits the low lying coast regions and is much dreaded by the natives for the fearful results which follow its sting. Naturalists call it Lucilia hominivora. The average specimen is about a third of an inch long. It has a big head, with the eyes on top. Its cheeks are a golden yellow, its abdomen dark blue with purple bands, its legs black, its wings unusually big, and they produce a continuous and loud buzzing when in motion.

The person bitten by this fly gets a disease called myiasis. It generally begins with an itching of the nose; then that organ swells and bleeds, next it becomes ulcerated, and in these ulcers may be found the larvæ of the fly. The whole face becomes swollen; erysipelas sets in, followed by meningitis and death. One man I knew, said a traveler in that country, shot himself after he had been bitten rather than face the tortures he knew were certain. Cure is difficult. Subcutaneous injections of chloroform sometimes do good, but as often fail. One man I heard of was cured by lemon juice injected into his blood.

A Sinecure.

Mrs. Flynn—An' phwat's yer son Moike doin' now, Mrs. Casey?

Mrs. Casey—Shure, Moike ain't doin' annything, Mrs. Flynn. He's got a government job.

The desire to get something for nothing makes men pay something for nothing.

CANADA IN ENGLAND.

The Wolverhampton Exhibition a Great Success—The Dominion's Success in This Peace Triumph.

The Art and Industrial Exhibition at Wolverhampton was recently opened by the Duke of Connaught.

The site of Wolverhampton's latest and best Industrial and Art Exhibition is West park, which, possessing many natural advantages, and being quite close to the town, has readily lent itself to the charming designs of Messrs. Walker and Ramsay, of Glasgow, who have decidedly opened out a new field in the way of exhibition architecture. The whole of the main building forms a crescent. In this will be found an Industrial hall, the Canadian Pavilion, and the Machinery hall, the main front being an open arcade which has been prettily arranged as a tea terrace, and from which a charming view of the grounds and large lake meets the eye. The main entrance has been recessed and decorated with a bold stencil in color, while the towers, which are some 120 feet high, are capped with highly ornamental lanterns. Quite a novel feature is a musicians' gallery placed over one of the entrances, which will be used for band performances in wet weather. In the Industrial hall local manufacturers have made a remarkably good show of the industries of Wolverhampton and the surrounding towns. They range from expensive and elaborate silver work to musical instruments, iron work of every description, cycle making, dress goods, looms worked by electric motors (also a local industry), and a fine show of locks and safes by Messrs Chubb. There are in addition industrial exhibits from India, Japan and Denmark. Our own colony of Canada has deservedly a a building to itself, and fills it nobly, says Lloyd's Weekly. In the Machinery hall, some 350 feet by 150 feet there are boilers of quite a new type, which will be used to generate the steam for the motor power necessary in the exhibition, both for lighting and driving the machinery. Mammoth engines, dynamos, motors, weaving looms, lathes, ventilators, warming and lighting appliances, and many machine tool and other exhibits are shown in actual work. Some labor-saving machinery by Messrs. Alfred Herbert, of Coventry, is especially worth notice. There are a large concert hall and two commodious restaurants, so that recreation and refreshment may help to a fuller appreciation of the merits of the exhibition. The grounds, which are particularly worthy of notice, will be lighted up at night by electric and gas light, the large lake, on which there are a number of motor launches and swan boats, which are driven by a water bicyice arrangement, both being also profusely decorated with fairy lights. The attractions consist of a new spiral railway or toboggan and a large water chute; while on the lake has been planned a new fairyland river. The Fine Art section contains a selection of pictures by the old masters, most notably fine specimens of work by Gainsborough, Sir Godfrey Kneller, Hogarth, Sir Peter Lely, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Constable and Turner, a collection of prints of Japanese art and a case of Renaissance jewelery, lent by the South Kensington Museum. These are on view in the Town Art gallery in Lichfield street, and do not form a part of the display in the exhibition grounds. Mr. H. A. Hedley, who successfully managed the Glasgow Exhibition, is at the head of affairs, and with the help of Mr. J. H. Cundall will, if first appearances prove anything, be quite as successful at Wolverhampton.

A Familiar Name.

In the homes of Canada and the United States, there are few names more familiar and none more reverently spoken of than that of Dr. A. W. Chase, the great physician and receipt book author. He is blessed for the suffering he has relieved and the diseases he has cured; his remedies are used and endorsed by the best people in the land; they are popular because they cure when others fail.

Animal Intelligence.

Elephants are among the most severely drilled of animals. Their intelligence does not have free play in consequence. But all English trainers agree that there is a great difference in capacity between them and that some will learn and remember a lesson far more quickly than others.

Cats have very "level" brains and are too self centered and self contained as a rule to show the distinctions which exist between them. Their strongest instinct is toward a kind of domestic comfort not exactly shared with human beings, but enjoyed in their company, to which the cat perfectly adapts itself. Yet there are misanthropic cats which make no secret of their dislike and contempt for mankind in general, only come into the house under protest and would prefer to sleep in a coal cellar to taking their nap in good society. These are the exceptions in the cat world, but every one has met with them.

Birds are usually regarded as possessing brains in "classes," not as individuals, the origin of the belief being probably the fact that birds of one species usually build exactly the same kind of nest. The generalization is not correct. The same species may have brains of all capacities.—London Spectator.

THE IMPERIAL LIMITED.

Description of the Great Trans-continental Trip.

A very complete and handsomely illustrated folder has just been issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway under the title of "Across the Continent by the Imperial Limited." Besides containing a rich fund of general information concerning the various popular and healthful resorts along the line of our great trans-continental route, a most interesting account is given of the picturesque regions through which the Imperial Limited passes. The photogravures are exquisite samples of the illustrator's art and give an excellent idea of the famous sights in the great mountain ranges in the West. The trip across the continent is described as follows:

From Montreal the train speeds up the great Ottawa Valley, past the political capital of the Dominion, and on through the lumbering districts of Ontario to the rugged north shore of Lake Superior, whose sinuous coast line is followed for 200 miles amidst attractive scenery, with this greatest of all inland lakes, and its countless clustering islands which fringe the shore almost constantly in view. Beyond Fort William, at the north-western extremity of the lake, lie the almost unbroken forests of New Ontario, a land of resourceful agricultural and mineral wealth. The largest body of water skirted west of Superior is the Lake of the Woods — the northern part of which is a labyrinth of islands outrivalling in number and symmetry those of the St. Lawrence, a place of historic interest, having been named in every treaty between Great Britain and the United States, the starting point for the international boundary line. Upon entering Manitoba the country becomes more open, and at the crossing of the Red River of the North is Winnipeg, the half way house of the continent, a prosperous city of nearly 50,000 people, and multiplying industrial interests—the gateway to the great fertile prairies of Western Canada, from which last year were garnered 110,000,000 bushels of grain. The beauty of "prairie land" is at its best when the wheat stands ripe, and on every side sweeping away and lost at the horizon, are the waving yellow fields of grain. In the early summer the broad expanse of verdure is hardly less pleasing to the senses. This is the region into which settlement is pouring, and thriving towns and villages, with immense grain elevators, indicate the great progress that has been made. West of the Wheat Belt are the ranches of the cattle kings, whose vast tracts are reticulated with the trails and marked with the wallows of the vanished bison, which a quarter of a century ago roamed here in untold numbers. After the plains come in wonderful and startling contrast the wildest and most magnificent scenery in the world — a region described by Whymper, the conqueror of the Matterhorn, as "fifty or sixty Switzerlands rolled into one." The Imperial Limited winds in and about the base of the foothills which completly shut off the prairies behind, and by a tortuous way enters into the folds of the mighty Rockies. On every hand are gigantic, towering peaks, whose summits are hid in the clouds. Turbulent mountain streams foam down the forested slopes, falling in cascades from great heights, and losing themselves in roaring torrents that tear rocky channels in wild canons. After the Rockies come the Selkirks, whose snowy crags glisten and gleam in the bright sunshine. Vast fields of snow and ice lie among the summits; dizzy precipices overhang deep gorges; and pathless forests of pine and cedar and balsam clothe the mountains down to the narrow valleys, through which and along the mountains' ledges, the railway runs. Wonderful is the gorgeous colouring of this sea of mountains. The snowy, cloud piercing peaks, the dense green forest slopes, the dazzling purple of the mountain folds, the sombre shades of yawning chasms, the sparkling crystal waters, the clear blue of mid heaven, make a rare picture of grandeur and magnificence. Paralleling the Selkirks is the Gold Range, in and beyond which is the winsome lake region of British Columbia. Farther west the roads leads through the Great Canon of the Fraser, down which the angry waters of the northern mountains swirl and roar impetuously on their mad race to the sea, and skirts the picturesque shores of Burrard Inlet to Vancouver, the Pacific Coast terminus of the over-land run—97 hours from Montreal.

ARE YOU ENGAGED?

The Old-Time Question to Probationers for the Ministry.

The Hamilton Conference yesterday approved of memorials to the General Conference, endorsing proposals to limit the pastoral terms to four years, to admit women to all the courts of the church, and to strike from the examination of candidates for the ministry, the question, "Are you engaged to marry?"

The Style of Hair Worn

Is an important factor to produce a younger and refined face and a well-shaped head to any lady or gentleman. Prof. Dorenwend, who will be at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Saturday, June 14th, until 4 p.m., can demonstrate this to anyone calling on him at his show rooms. He has Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches in every length and shade, that he will gladly adjust on any lady's head free of charge to prove this. Don't fail to see him. It is his only visit to Peterborough this season. Saturday, June 14th, until 4 p.m.

THE ANNUAL EVENT.

The coming event of the season proves to be that of the anniversary of the opening of the Y.M.C.A. building, when the Ladies' Auxiliary will do themselves proud in entertaining the members who always patronize this event. The programme itself saying nothing of the refreshments, which will be served, is a foregone conclusion that the public will enjoy a rare treat. Those who will assist on the programme will, include Miss Belleghem, Miss Hall, Miss Davies, Mr. Legg, Masters Vernon Morphet and Herbert Mowatt and Mr. Gillogley, of Toronto, who will entertain with humourous solos, while instrumentals will be given by Miss Bradd and Mr. Stanley with the Apollo. Remember the date is Tuesday evening, June 17th, and the admission is but ten cents. Come and meet your friends.

INFORMATION WANTED.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — I have a slight smattering of Latin, but not enough to settle a little question that has sometimes puzzled me. I would like to use your paper to ask some of the High School masters, or some other classical expert, to explain to me this conundrum. We often hear, or read, the expression, "The consumption of sugar in Canada is, say, 25 pounds per capita," meaning of course 25 pounds per head of the population. Now, why is the plural, capita, used? Why is the Latin form per heads, and the English form per head? It is perhaps a little thing, but we are all more or less grown up children and anxious to know the why of things. Will somebody kindly explain?

Yours truly,
QUERO.

EARLY SHOP CLOSING.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir, — I write in response to your invitation to say that I am heartily in favour of early closing of grocery stores, and for my part, I will do all I can to make it possible. By a little arrangement I can buy all I want earlier in the day, and give the clerks penned up all day a little leisure to enjoy our beautiful summer evenings. Then the poor horses and boys that drive the delivery waggons, they will not be kept out to all hours, and the horses will not be so apt to be over-driven. People have to eat so much and there will be just as much buying with early closing, but it will be done earlier in the day. Being a woman I have no vote in elections, but I vote for early closing with both hands.

Yours sincerely,
HOUSEKEEPER.

STOCK MARKETS.

N Y strength in Mop still ascribed to a combination of buying by Gould interests for the Standard Oil crowd. The move in the Wab and Kt seems to be largely sympathetic. Some room traders professed to trace some connection between the strength in GW and Kans City Southern. The rally in Canadian Pacific was based upon the possibility that the conference of Colonial premiers in London might result in all-British through route to the east and Australia with the Canadian Pacific as the American link. There were profit taking in spite of the issue of scrip for preferred dividends.

An attempt to assassinate Mine Supt. Thomas, of "William A" Colliery, from ambush is reported. He left the works on a locomotive to go to his home and when 300 yards from the breaker, was fired upon by several men who were concealed behind the bushes. Ten shots were fired but the locomotive was going at such a speed that it was soon out of range.

We believe it pretty close to the time to purchase some Missouri Pacific stock. This stock has been stagnated around par for many weeks past now and begins to show indications of preparing for quite an extended rise. The spring wheat crop shows the best with two exceptions for 15 years past. The corn outlook is probably the best ever known at this time of year. Last year corn along the Missouri Pacific was almost a total failure, yet the road continued its marvellous display of increased earnings. This year with conditions as now promised the Missouri Pacific will be one of the banner expanders, as far as earnings are concerned. The road could lose all of its surplus, have its earnings fall off 25 per cent., and still be able to pay its dividend. The stock at present is ludicruously cheap. Last year it sold at 120; it should go even better this year. The greater Missouri Pacific system is rapidly being formulated, and the Missouri Pacific will be its back bone and head centre. This fact will also tend to increase the earning power of the road and fasten its individuality upon its territory. With powerful allies thus accumulated it will place itself in an impregnable position. The country through which it runs is still increasing in population and diversity of its business pursuits. This also tends to solidify the line as a permanent money maker. We are tremendously bullish upon Mop and believe it to be one of Wall street's greatest bargains.

Mr. Seward, the editor of the coal trade Journal says the men are getting extremely dissatisfied and are desirous of getting back to work. This tendency will increase as the days go by and it is his opinion that the strike will shortly fall of its own weight owing to this fact.

Spring wheat shows a condition of about 75 per cent; this is unusually high. The outlook is excellent, and the cereal markets are consequently weak. The bad news of the past five weeks has been poured in steadily yet the market refused to record any decline. Its next move will be in the upward direction. It should start this month. The abolition of the war tax which goes into effect July 1st will be a powerful bull factor.

LOOKS LIKE A STRIKE

Toronto People May Have to Walk On and After Tuesday.

STREET RAILWAY AND EMPLOYES

The Refusal to Recognize the Men's Union by the Company Has Brought About a Crisis—Men Favor a Fight —Tuesday Street Cars May Not Be Running in Toronto.

Toronto, June 14.—Matters between the Toronto Street Railway Company and its union employes have now reached an acute stage, and it is extremely probable that a strike will result. The men may go out at any time after to-day, just so soon in fact, as a strike can be ordered by the International Union, and the Chairman of the Executive Board of the Amalgamated Union Mr. Daniel Dilworth of Detroit, is now in the city with power to order a strike.

The position taken by the Street Railway Company is clearly defined in a statement given to the press today by Mr. William Mackenzie, President of the company. Mr. Mackenzie says:

"The company has refused to meet a committee of the union to discuss the several resolutions which were passed by the union on May 31. If the company's employes have any grievances and will send a deputation of employes representing them as a body, or if any of the employes have grievances and wish to come to the company individually, the company will be pleased to consider, as it has always done in the past, their representations, whether they refer to wages or to other conditions of employment.

"For some time past I have been making investigations in reference to the wages of employes. A year ago last fall a substantial increase in wages was granted by the company, and I have been endeavoring to find out whether the wage scale then established fairly represents the wages now paid to employes working under similar conditions. I had about completed my investigations when a letter was received from the union, asking for recognition of the union, the reinstatement of a man who had been discharged from the company's services for good cause, and other matters which complicate the situation."

A letter was also sent yesterday by Mr. Keating, the General Manager of the company, to Mr. James Barber, Secretary of the Toronto Railway Employes' Union stating practically what is contained in the statement of Mr. Mackenzie, and pointing out that the company is a non-union company, and will not deal with the union as a union.

This letter of Mr. Keating's brings matters to a crisis. It is a positive refusal to recognize the union, and the men have no alternative but either to withdraw their demand for recognition or go out on strike. It is the general impression that they will adopt the latter course.

The Street Railway Company officials say that approximately they have 950 employes, and they express confidence that a large number of these men will remain loyal to the company. Last year, when an increase of wages was desired a committee from the union waited upon the company, and were told to go back, call a mass meeting, and come again, as the accredited representatives of the employes. The committee did so, and were treated as employes and the result of the conference was a new wage scale. The company say that the position they take now is exactly the same as the position they assumed last year.

The Toronto Railway Employes' Union was organized on August 23, 1893, and incorporated on April 26, 1897. The union here is Division No 113 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America.

It is understood that the important demands made upon the company by the men are two in number. First for a uniform wage, which the men place at 25 cents an hour, but regarding which they are prepared to negotiate with a view of arriving at a satisfactory settlement, and, second, for the recognition. It is stated by them that about 900 employes out of a total of 1,000 belong to the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, and the request for the recognition of the union is made in order that representatives of the association may treat with the company as such.

It is a matter of general knowledge that the most bitter street railway strikes in the last few years have occurred as a result of a conflict between the employers and the employes for union recognition. The Toronto Railway Company has heretofore not recognized the union because until recently fully as many men were non-union as there were in the union ranks. A very active propaganda has been carried on recently, however, with the result that, according to the statement of the local organizer, nine-tenths of the working force is represented in the present difficulty by Mr. Dilworth.

A report is current that the police will receive instruction within the next few hours to arrest nearly every conductor for participation in the "digger" steal. The company officials will not deny or affirm this report. The friends of the men assert that they have a neat little surprise for the company if they are forced to strike.

The union men claim to have over 800 members out of the 1,000 employes of the company in Toronto. The most important part of the organization, as far as tieing up the plant is concerned, is in the machinists. They say the men who handle the big engines and control the power are with them and will go out with them. The company may be able to fill a motorman's job and yet not be able to get on short notice a force of men to handle the intricate machinery of of the power houses.

"In any event there will be no strike before Tuesday morning." This was the positive announcement of Organizer James McDonald, after a meeting of the Grievance Committee of the union last night. The committee met with National Representative Dilworth and Organizer McDonald at the quarters of Mr Dilworth at the hotel. The meeting lasted two hours. At its conclusion Mr. McDonald gave out this statement as an official expression on the local situation:

"It looks very much like we will have to call the men out. In any event that will not be considered until a midnight meeting Monday night. We are now awaiting the letter Manager Keating of the company has mailed us relative to our request that he meet a committee of the union. We understand, unofficially, that the letter contains a refusal to treat with the union. If that is the case we will, to-morrow, send a second letter within ten minutes after the receipt of this letter, explaining that the union must be recognized.

"That is the real issue now, all others having been outweighed by that consideration. We do not want to be in a hurry about this matter, but if Manager Keating fails to make a reply to our request to-morrow that he meet a committee of the men for Monday midnight, at which the question will be put to a vote, and a majority will rule. In this case there is not a member of the union, and we have more than 800 members out of the 1,000 employes, who will not favor a strike under thos circumstances. In fact, if the company maintains its present attitude a strike is inevitable. Our call will not only take out every member of the union, but many who are not members. I have a number of men now following me around to be taken into the union, but we have not the time to devote to that sort of thing at present. It is ridiculous for the company to contend that they have a force ready to take the places of these men. There is not a force of twenty men in training with the company now, in fact, there are not as many now as usual, for some reason or other.

"I can say the union was never in better shape to stand a strike. There is no danger of the men giving out very soon. The strike benefits are but $5 weekly, but the international organization is very strong, and the means will be amply provided to carry on the strike. We can win without any trouble. We know that Roadmaster Nix was around among the men to-day asking them if a strike came, how they would stand, and I know that he was told absolutely by all but two men he asked that they would stand by the union. Out of all the men at a North Toronto barn, but three could be found who said they would not go out. Not a single member of the union has been found thus far who refused to declare that he would abide by the union's decision."

Another side of the case, however, does not verify the rosey aspects of the case for the street car employes. From company sources, it is learned that recruiting stations have been opened in many parts of Ontario, and if the men should strike to-day the company feels confident that the traffic on the lines would not be disturbed. In fact, the roadmaster's office is constantly entertaining requests from old employes who desire to get back into the service. If this class of employes is secured, of course, the cars could be operated without possible interference. The company insists that this is the correct phase of the case.

DECLARES STRIKE COMPLETE.

Attempt Made to Start the Pumps in Some Collieries Unsuccessful.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 14.—Late Thursday night an attempt was made to start the pumps in the collieries of the Susquehanna Coal Company at Nanticoke, but the engineers quit work almost in a body.

President Mitchell said yesterday that the strike was complete. He repeated his assertion that the suspension in West Virginia is nearly complete.

PREMIER ROSS DEPARTS.

Has Gone to England to Attend the Coronation.

Toronto, June 14.—Hon. George W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, left for England yesterday morning to represent this Province at the coronation of King Edward VII. on June 26. He was accompanied by his son, Mr. George W. Ross, jun., and they left by the 9.45 train on the Canadian Pacific for New York, whence they sail to-morrow on the Etruria. His son, Mr Duncan Ross of Strathroy; Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education, and acting Premier, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, and a number of other personal friends were at the station to bid the travelers farewell and bon voyage. Premier Ross expects to return to Canada about the first week in September.

Passing of Indispensables.

Only those who have to go to the depths of long disused trunks when moving time necessitates renovation and the sifting of belongings realize how much of what one clings to as indispensable becomes absolutely useless when laid by for a time. Pictures prized for one reason or another, souvenirs that fail to recall anything but inconvenience, letters that one couldn't bear to burn, odds and ends that one was sure to want, all become as trash in the repose of the stored trunk and are sacrificed without a qualm when moving time comes around to make room for other things that will last their little day and then find the same end.

Seventh Century Needlework.

Before the end of the seventh century needlework was carried to great perfection in convents, where it was used for the embellishment of the church and the decoration of priestly robes. Artists did not think it beneath their dignity to trace the patterns used for embroidery in their natural colors. A certain religious lady, wishing to embroider a sacerdotal vestment, asked no less a personage than St. Dunstan, then a young man, but already noted for his artistic skill and taste, to draw the flowers and figures which she afterward worked in gold thread.

Simple Words.

There are a certain number of simple words in the English language that will express the greatest thoughts, and great men use them. To be incomprehensible may be a sign of knowledge. It may also be the sign of an intellectual snob. The world is not moved by men and women who talk in an unknown tongue.

DIVISION COURT CHANGES.

Proposal to do Away With Bobcaygeon, Omemee and Woodville Courts, and Transfer Victoria Road Court to Kirkfield.

At the General Sessions of the Peace last Tuesday in Lindsay, the following notice was read and proclaimed by the Clerk, immediately after the Judge had delivered his charge to the Grand Jury;

"Take notice that an application will be made under the 15th section of the Division Courts Act, to alter the boundaries of the Division Courts in the Co. of Victoria, to abolish Divisions, Nos. 3, 4, and 7, and add the territory comprised in said Divisions to the other Division Courts to be established in the County as follows;

"Division No. 1.—To consist of the Townships of Ops, Emily and that part of the Township of Fenelon lying east of the Scugog River and south of Sturgeon Lake, the villag eof Omemee and town of Lindsay. The court to hold its sessions and have its office in the town of Lindsay.

"Division No. 2.—To consist of the township of Mariposa and the south part of the township of Eldon, including lots 1 to 7 in each concession of said township, and the village of Woodville, the court to hold its sessions and have its office in the village of Oakwood.

"Division No. 3.—To consist of that portion of the township of Eldon not included in division No. 2, and the townships of Bexley, Carden, Dalton, Laxton Digby and Longford. The Court to hold its sessions in the village of Kirkfield, where the office of said court shall be kept.

"Division No. 4. — To consist of that portion of the township of Fenelon not included in Division No. 1, and the townships of Somerville and Verulam, and the villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls.

"And further take notice that on said application all orders and resolutions heretofore passed with respect to the establishment of the Division Courts of the said County of Victoria, may be set aside, altered or modified by the Board appointed under the said 15th section of the Division Courts Act.

Dated at Lindsay this 10th day of June, A.D., 1902.

The 15th Sec. of the Division Courts Act says that the County Court Judge, the Sheriff, the Warden of the County and the Division Courts Inspector may from time to time alter the number, limits and extent of every division, and shall number the divisions beginning at the number one. The section goes on to say that no such alteration shall be made unless public notice has been made and proclaimed at the next previous sittings of the Court.

The meaning of all this is that some time before the December sittings an application will be made to the above gentlemen to make the changes proposed in this notice. Public notice will be given of time and place of the meeting at which an opportunity will be given for any person interested to present and urge his views upon the question, whether they are in favour of or opposed to the proposed change.

The effect of the proposed changes would be to do away with the Court at Omemee, and add the territory now served by it to the present Lindsay division; to do away with the Court at Bobcaygeon and send the people who sue and are sued at that village to Fenelon Falls; to do away with the Court at Woodville, and send all people living south of the eighth range of lots in Eldon, and in the village of Woodville, to Oakwood; to change the seat of the Court now held at Victoria Road to Kirkfield and add to the territory of that Court all that part of Eldon lying south of its present limits and north of the seventh range of lots.

DEATH OF BRUCE WILBERT DANCEY.

(Picton Gazette.)

At twenty minutes to one o'clock, on Saturday, the hand of death plucked from life's garden Mr. Bruce Wilbert Dancy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Dancy, in the nineteenth year of his age, and whose career, thus far, had given promise of his being a useful worker in the Master's vineyard. In December last he was taken with malaetas diabetes, and despite the efforts of the most skilled physicians could not be rescued from its deadly grasp. Few are the boys of the present day, growing up surrounded by the many vices and pitfalls, who do not err from the path of righteousness; but of Bruce it can be said that he had a higher ideal of life than the mere frivolities of a wicked world. He was a Christian young man, a member of the First Methodist Church, and one of its Sunday School teachers. He was a member of the C.O.F. fraternity, under whose auspices he was laid to rest. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 3 p.m., and was very largely attended. Owing to the absence of the Rev. Mr. Shorey, Rev. R. H. Leitch, pastor of the Main street church conducted the funeral service.

The Sunday School children of the First Methodist church formed a part of the funeral cortege, and at the cemetery assembled around the grave and beautifully sang two verses of "Shall We Gather at the River." The services throughout were most affecting. The floral offerings were large and most beautiful, among which were—a wreath from the C.O.F.; a cross from the First Methodist church Sabbath School; a wreath from the Y. M.C.A., of which he was a member; and an anchor from I. N. Waite and employees.

The bearers were Messrs. Charles North, Ed. Houck, Herbert Hare, Fred Pulver, Clarence Miller, and Hartwell Ilsey.

Among the relatives and friends in attendance at the funeral, from a distance, were: Mr. S. Henry, of Fowler's Corners; Mrs. T. Lytle, of Peterborough; Mrs. James McLachlan, of Norwood; Mrs. Wm. Hopkins and Miss B. Thompson, of Belleville.

Toronto People May Have to Walk On and After Tuesday.

STREET RAILWAY AND EMPLOYES

The Refusal to Recognize the Men's Union by the Company Has Brought About a Crisis.—Men Favor a Fight —Tuesday Street Cars May Not Be Running in Toronto.

Toronto, June 14.—Matters between the Toronto Street Railway Company and its union employes have now reached an acute stage, and it is extremely probable that a strike will result. The men may go out at any time after to-day, just so soon in fact, as a strike can be ordered by the International Union, and the Chairman of the Executive Board of the Amalgamated Union Mr. Daniel Dilworth of Detroit, is now in the city with power to order a strike.

The position taken by the Street Railway Company is clearly defined in a statement given to the press today by Mr. William Mackenzie, President of the company. Mr. Mackenzie says:

"The company has refused to meet a committee of the union to discuss the several resolutions which were passed by the union on May 31. If the company's employes have any grievances and will send a deputation of employes representing them as a body, or if any of the employes have grievances and wish to come to the company individually, the company will be pleased to consider, as it has always done in the past, their representations, whether they refer to wages or to other conditions of employment.

"For some time past I have been making investigations in reference to the wages of employes. A year ago last fall a substantial increase in wages was granted by the company, and I have been endeavoring to find out whether the wage scale then established fairly represents the wages now paid to employes working under similar conditions. I had about completed my investigations when a letter was received from the union, asking for recognition of the union, the reinstatement of a man who had been discharged from the company's services for good cause, and other matters which complicate the situation."

A letter was also sent yesterday by Mr. Keating, the General Manager of the company, to Mr. James Barber, Secretary of the Toronto Railway Employes' Union stating practically what is contained in the statement of Mr. Mackenzie, and pointing out that the company is a non-union company, and will not deal with the union as a union.

This letter of Mr. Keating's brings matters to a crisis. It is a positive refusal to recognize the union, and the men have no alternative but either to withdraw their demand for recognition or go out on strike. It is the general impression that they will adopt the latter course.

The Street Railway Company officials say that approximately they have 950 employes, and they express confidence that a large number of these men will remain loyal to the company. Last year, when an increase of wages was desired a committee from the union waited upon the company, and were told to go back, call a mass meeting, and come again, as the accredited representatives of the employes. The committee did so, and were treated as employes and the result of the conference was a new wage scale. The company say that the position they take now is exactly the same as the position they assumed last year.

The Toronto Railway Employes' Union was organized on August 23, 1893, and incorporated on April 26, 1897. The union here is Division No 113 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America.

It is understood that the important demands made upon the company by the men are two in number. First for a uniform wage, which the men place at 25 cents an hour, but regarding which they are prepared to negotiate with a view of arriving at a satisfactory settlement, and, second, for the recognition. It is stated by them that about 900 employes out of a total of 1,000 belong to the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, and the request for the recognition of the union is made in order that representatives of the association may treat with the company as such.

It is a matter of general knowledge that the most bitter street railway strikes in the last few years have occurred as a result of a conflict between the employers and the employes for union recognition. The Toronto Railway Company has heretofore not recognized the union because until recently fully as many men were non-union as there were in the union ranks. A very active propaganda has been carried on recently, however, with the result that, according to the statement of the local organizer, nine-tenths of the working force is represented in the present difficulty by Mr. Dilworth.

A report is current that the police will receive instruction within the next few hours to arrest nearly every conductor for participation in the "digger" steal. The company officials will not deny or affirm this report. The friends of the men assert that they have a neat little surprise for the company if they are forced to strike.

The union men claim to have over 800 members out of the 1,000 employes of the company in Toronto. The most important part of the organization, as far as tieing up the plant is concerned, is in the machinists. They say the men who handle the big engines and control the power are with them and will go out with them. The company may be able to fill a motorman's job and yet not be able to get on short notice a force of men to handle the intricate machinery of of the power houses.

"In any event there will be no strike before Tuesday morning." This was the positive announcement of Organizer James McDonald, after a meeting of the Grievance Committee of the union last night. The committee met with National Representative Dilworth and Organizer McDonald at the quarters of Mr. Dilworth at the hotel. The meeting lasted two hours. At its conclusion Mr. McDonald gave out this statement as an official expression on the local situation:

"It looks very much like we will have to call the men out. In any event that will not be considered until a midnight meeting Monday night. We are now awaiting the letter Manager Keating of the company has mailed us relative to our request that he meet a committee of the union. We understand, unofficially, that the letter contains a refusal to treat with the union. If that is the case we will, to-morrow, send a second letter within ten minutes after the receipt of this letter, explaining that the union must be recognized.

"That is the real issue now, all others having been outweighed by that consideration. We do not want to be in a hurry about this matter, but if Manager Keating fails to make a reply to our request to-morrow that he meet a committee of the men for Monday midnight, at which the question will be put to a vote, and a majority will rule. In this case there is not a member of the union, and we have more than 800 members out of the 1,000 employes, who will not favor a strike under thos circumstances. In fact, if the company maintains its present attitude a strike is inevitable. Our call will not only take out every member of the union, but many who are not members. I have a number of men now following me around to be taken into the union, but we have not the time to devote to that sort of thing at present. It is ridiculous for the company to contend that they have a force ready to take the places of these men. There is not a force of twenty men in training with the company now. In fact, there are not as many now as usual, for some reason or other.

"I can say the union was never in better shape to stand a strike. There is no danger of the men giving out very soon. The strike benefits are but $5 weekly, but the international organization is very strong, and the means will be amply provided to carry on the strike. We can win without any trouble. We know that Roadmaster Nix was around among the men to-day asking them if a strike came, how they would stand, and I know that he was told absolutely by all but two men he asked that they would stand by the union. Out of all the men at a North Toronto barn, but three could be found who said they would not go out. Not a single member of the union has been found thus far who refused to declare that he would abide by the union's decision."

Another side of the case, however, does not verify the rosey aspects of the case for the street car employes. From company sources, it is learned that recruiting stations have been opened in many parts of Ontario, and if the men should strike to-day the company feels confident that the traffic on the lines would not be disturbed. In fact, the roadmaster's office is constantly entertaining requests from old employes who desire to get back into the service. If this class of employes is secured, of course, the cars could be operated without possible interference. The company insists that this is the correct phase of the case.

DIVISION COURT CHANGES.

Proposal to do Away With Bobcaygeon, Omemee and Woodville Courts, and Transfer Victoria Road Court to Kirkfield.

At the General Sessions of the Peace last Tuesday in Lindsay, the following notice was read and proclaimed by the Clerk, immediately after the Judge had delivered his charge to the Grand Jury;

"Take notice that an application will be made under the 15th section of the Division Courts Act, to alter the boundaries of the Division Courts in the Co. of Victoria, to abolish Divisions Nos. 3, 4, and 7, and add the territory comprised in said Divisions to the other Division Courts to be established in the County, as follows;

"Division No. 1.—To consist of the Townships of Ops, Emily and that part of the Township of Fenelon lying east of the Scugog River and south of Sturgeon Lake, the villag eof Omemee and town of Lindsay. The court to hold its sessions and have its office in the town of Lindsay.

"Division No. 2.—To consist of the township of Mariposa and the south part of the township of Eldon, including lots 1 to 7 in each concession of said township, and the village of Woodville, the court to hold its sessions and have its office in the village of Oakwood.

"Division No. 3.—To consist of that portion of the township of Eldon not included in division No. 2, and the townships of Bexley, Carden, Dalton, Laxton Digby and Longford. The Court to hold its sessions in the village of Kirkfield, where the office of said court shall be kept.

"Division No. 4. — To consist of that portion of the township of Fenelon not included in Division No. 1, and the townships of Somerville and Verulam, and the villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls.

"And further take notice that on said application all orders and resolutions heretofore passed with respect to the establishment of the Division Courts of the said County of Victoria, may be set aside, altered or modified by the Board appointed under the said 15th section of the Division Courts Act.

Dated at Lindsay this 10th day of June, A.D., 1902.

The 15th Sec. of the Division Courts Act says that the County Court Judge, the Sheriff, the Warden of the County and the Division Courts Inspector may from time to time alter the number, limits and extent of every division, and shall number the divisions beginning at the number one. The section goes on to say that no such alteration shall be made unless public notice has been made and proclaimed at the next previous sittings of the Court.

The meaning of all this is that some time before the December sittings an application will be made to the above gentlemen to make the changes proposed in this notice. Public notice will be given of time and place of the meeting at which an opportunity will be given for any person interested to present and urge his views upon the question, whether they are in favour of or opposed to the proposed change.

The effect of the proposed changes would be to do away with the Court at Omemee, and add the territory now served by it to the present Lindsay division; to do away with the Court at Bobcaygeon and send the people who sue and are sued at that village to Fenelon Falls; to do away with the Court at Woodville, and send all people living south of the eighth range of lots in Eldon, and in the village of Woodville, to Oakwood; to change the seat of the Court now held at Victoria Road to Kirkfield and add to the territory of that Court all that part of Eldon lying south of its present limits and north of the seventh range of lots.

Attempt Made to Start the Pumps in Some Collieries Unsuccessful.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 14.—Late Thursday night an attempt was made to start the pumps in the collieries of the Susquehanna Coal Company at Nanticoke, but the engineers quit work almost in a body.

President Mitchell said yesterday that the strike was complete. He repeated his assertion that the suspension in West Virginia is nearly complete.

PREMIER ROSS DEPARTS.

Has Gone to England to Attend the Coronation.

Toronto, June 14.—Hon. George W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, left for England yesterday morning to represent this Province at the coronation of King Edward VII. on June 26. He was accompanied by his son, Mr. George W. Ross, jun., and they left by the 9.45 train on the Canadian Pacific for New York, whence they sail to-morrow on the Etruria. His son, Mr. Duncan Ross of Strathroy; Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education, and acting Premier, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, and a number of other personal friends were at the station to bid the travelers farewell and bon voyage. Premier Ross expects to return to Canada about the first week in September.

Passing of Indispensables.

Only those who have to go to the depths of long disused trunks when moving time necessitates renovation and the sifting of belongings realize how much of what one clings to as indispensable becomes absolutely useless when laid by for a time. Pictures prized for one reason or another, souvenirs that fail to recall anything but inconvenience, letters that one couldn't bear to burn, odds and ends that one was sure to want, all become as trash in the repose of the stored trunk and are sacrificed without a qualm when moving time comes around to make room for other things that will last their little day and then find the same end.

Seventh Century Needlework.

Before the end of the seventh century needlework was carried to great perfection in convents, where it was used for the embellishment of the church and the decoration of priestly robes. Artists did not think it beneath their dignity to trace the patterns used for embroidery in their natural colors. A certain religious lady, wishing to embroider a sacerdotal vestment, asked no less a personage than St. Dunstan, then a young man, but already noted for his artistic skill and taste, to draw the flowers and figures which she afterward worked in gold thread.

DEATH OF BRUCE WILBERT DANCEY.

(Picton Gazette.)

At twenty minutes to one o'clock, on Saturday, the hand of death plucked from life's garden Mr. Bruce Wilbert Dancey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Dancey, in the nineteenth year of his age, and whose career, thus far, had given promise of his being a useful worker in the Master's vineyard. In December last he was taken with malletas diabetes, and despite the efforts of the most skilled physicians could not be rescued from its deadly grasp. Few are the boys of the present day, growing up surrounded by the many vices and pitfalls, who do not err from the path of righteousness; but of Bruce it can be said that he had a higher ideal of life than the mere frivolities of a wicked world. He was a Christian young man, a member of the First Methodist Church, and one of its Sunday School teachers. He was a member of the C.O.F. fraternity, under whose auspices he was laid to rest. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 3 p.m., and was very largely attended, Owing to the absence of the Rev. Mr. Shorey, Rev. R. H. Leitch, pastor of the Main street church conducted the funeral service.

The Sunday School children of the First Methodist church formed a part of the funeral cortege, and at the cemetery assembled around the grave and beautifully sang two verses of "Shall We Gather at the River." The services throughout were most affecting. The floral offerings were large and most beautiful, among which were —a wreath from the C.O.F.; a cross from the First Methodist church Sabbath School; a wreath from the Y. M.C.A., of which he was a member; and an anchor from I. N. Waite and employees.

The bearers were Messrs. Charles North, Ed. Houck, Herbert Hare, Fred Pulver, Clarence Miller, and Hartwell Illsey.

Among the relatives and friends in attendance at the funeral, from a distance, were: Mr. S. Henry, of Fowler's Corners; Mrs. T. Lytle, of Peterborough; Mrs. James McLachlan, of Norwood; Mrs. Wm. Hopkins and Miss B. Thompson, of Belleville.

THE RECOUNTS.

Ther has been a great out-cry raised on acc unt of alleged tampering with ballots in North Grey as revealed by the recount, which resulted in confirming Mr. McKay, Liberal, in his seat by a majority of five. Stress was laid upon four ballots plainly marked for Mr. Boyd, but on close scrutiny revealing small indistinct crosses in Mr. McKay's compartment of the ballots. The reference to this matter in another column, will show that it is pretty certain that these peculiarly marked ballots escaped the notice of the deputy in summing up the ballots. They were counted for the Conservative candidate though there *is reason to believe that the Conserva*tive scrutineers observed the little crosses but said nothing about it, as the deputy returning officer had failed to notice the marks and had counted the ballots for their candidate. The Mail and Empire and other Opposition papers made a great out-cry about these ballots, but there seems to be no foundation for the charge that they were tampered with after the returns had been made. In regard to the recounts, generally, they have shown that the deputy returning officers, all around, have acted fairly in discharging their duties; though in all cases they have not observed all the formalities required by the election law there has not been revealed any conclusive evidence of a desire or attempt to make dishonest returns. In view of this wholesale charges of ballot frauds, it is interesting to note that at the conclusion of the Halton recount Judge Gorham, who conducted it, said that the deputy returning officers deserved a great deal of praise for the way in which they had discharged their duties. This tribute to their efficency and straight-forwardness offsets and neutralizes the clamourous charges made as to ballot frauds and constitutes a deserved tribute to the course of the numerous deputy returning officers whose actions came under scrutiny in the numerous recounts.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Recounts do not cost anything, says the Stratford Beacon, except the lawyers' fees, which each side has to pay for itself, so that the fishing expedition on which the Conservative party has entered in a number of constituencies where the Liberal majority is fifty and under is an innocent sort of amusement which, if it pleases them, does nothing worse than cause annoyance to the other side. They may have hoped to unearth some crookedness on the part of election officials, but if so they have so far been disappointed. Probably they judged the officials by what they would do themselves under similar circumstances.

Guelph Mercury: So far as the recounts have gone they have made no change in the figures of the deputy returning officers. One thing which they have served to show is that the officials did their work honestly and efficiently. In connection with the Halton election there was a good deal of talk for a few days after the election about crookedness at the Oakville poll, where a blue pencil had been used on some of the ballots. The recount establishes the fact that the five ballots so marked were all counted for Dr. Nixon, the Conservative candidate. So fairly was the work performed, and so distinctly were the ballots marked as a whole that Judge Gorham felt impelled to compliment all concerned upon the manner in which they had discharged their duties.

London, June 14.—The progress of the discovery which Sig. Marconi said he had invented a highly sensitive magnetic detector of eletcric waves, by means of which it was possible to read about thirty words a minute. Seventeen Atlantic vessels and forty vessels of the British navy carried permanent installations. The Campania and Lucania were collecting about £60 per voyage from passengers for wireless mesasges to friends on land.

THE RECOUNT IN NORTH GREY.

Conservative Charges Were Sensational.

A CAREFUL INVESTIGATION.

Irregularities Very Greatly Magnified.

Interview With the Parties Interested—Conservative Candidate not Defeated by Irregularities—Deputy Returning Officers Count Fair.

(Special Despatch to the Globe.)

Owen Sound, June 12.—The ex-parte statement by the counsel for the Conservative candidate, Mr. Boyd, in the North Grey re-count, concluded here yesterday afternoon, which appeared in the Mail and World to-day,, has caused a good deal of excitement here, but an enquiry into the circumstances shows that the inferences and innuendoes were far more serious than the facts. The trouble arises from four ballots cast in polling sub-divisions No. 9, of St. Vincent, which is in the farthest part of the riding, about 26 miles from Owen Sound. The ballots were all marked plainly enough and properly for Mr. Boyd in the space to the right of his name, but in addition they all bore a small cross in the compartment containing the name of Mr. McKay, the Liberal candidate. These latter marks were so indistinct that Judge Morrison, before whom the recount was made, passed them unnoticed. Mr George H. Watson, K. C., counsel for Mr. McKay, passed them as good on a first examination, and it was only on a re-examination by him that two of them were discovered. The other two were found on a very careful scrutiny by Mr. W. D. McPherson, who acted for Mr. Boyd, in conjunction with Mr. E. A. DuVernet. Yet in the statements that appeared in the Mail and the World, the inference was boldly drawn that the ballots must have been good when counted by the deputy returning officer on the night of the election, and had afterwards been tampered with and spoiled. Curiously enough, too, there is evidence to show that the Conservatives themselves knew there were some spoiled ballots among those of this sub-division. The only fair ground for the suspicion that the ballots were tampered with, as Judge Morrison himself field, is the fact that four of them occurred in the one polling sub-division, and against that is the fact that prohibition feeling is now high in that section, which might induce voters who felt strongly regarding it to spoil their ballots, and the further fact that from the general appearance and location of the secondary marks no two of them appeared to have been made by the same hand.

JUNIOR JUDGE'S JURISDICTION.

But to begin the story at the beginning: Comment has been made upon the fact, as if there was something irregular about it, that the appointment for a re-count had been taken out by Mr. McKay, the successful candidate, before the junior County Judge, and that an appointment for a second re-count to-morrow had been issued by the Senior Judge, Judge Creasor. Judge Creasor, in a statement to the Globe reporter to-night, said that Mr. DuVernet had held that the junior Judge had not authority to hold a re-count, the senior Judge being available, and had asked him to issue an appointment. Judge Creasor said that he himself did not hold that view, and had argued against it with Mr. DuVernet, but to protect Mr. Boyd against the possibility of an irregularity, and the expiry of time within which a re-count could be applied for, he had issued the appointment, with the understanding that the re-count would not be held unless there was obtained a mandamus ordering it from a higher court. The re-count before him, he said, would not go on to-morrow. Both Judge Creasor and Judge Morrison were formerly Conservative, and there is no suggestion by Mr. Boyd or his representative that Judge Morrison showed any partiality towards the Liberal candidate. On the opening of the re-count objection was taken by counsel for Mr. Boyd that Judge Morrison had not jurisdiction to hold the re-count. Judge Morrison held that he had jurisdiction to hold the re-count, mentioning that he, as junior Judge, had on different former occasions held re-counts, and that in many instances throughout the province recounts had been held by the junior Judge, and citing various statutes which gave jurisdiction to both senior and junior County Judges.

A WIDE RULE ADOPTED.

The Judge adopted a wide rule so as to give every possible chance for giving effect to the intention of the voter, the result being that the number of votes polled for both candidates was increased by the re-count, many of the rejected ballots being counted for one or the other candidate. The loss through the deputy returning officer having improperly counted ballots were few. In Owen Sound, Mr. Boyd gained six, while Mr. McKay gained five. In Sarawak Mr. Boyd gained four, while Mr. McKay gained one. In Derby Mr. Boyd gained three and Mr. McKay one. In Meaford Mr. McKay lost one. In Sydenham Mr. Boyd gained one. In Keppel Mr. McKay gained four and Mr. Boyd three. In St. Vincent Mr. Boyd lost three. The total net result being that Mr. McKay's majority was reduced from nine to five. The townships were taken up in the re-count in the order of their number. At noon on Wednesday Mr. McKay's majority was reduced to 2. There was no adjournment for luncheon, the count continuing until the re-count was concluded, shortly after 2 o'clock. It was about noon that the ballots for polling sub-division No. 9 of St. Vincent were counted. There was no suggestion by the Judge or the parties on either side that the seals on the ballot box, or on the envelopes containing the ballots had been tampered with. As the custom is, the Judge counted the ballots, passing those marked for the Conservative candidate to the counsel for the Liberal, and those marked for the Liberal to the counsel for the Conservative.

THE DISPUTED BALLOTS.

When the township of St. Vincent was reached, Mr. Boyd said, "We'll find some ballot switching in this township." Judge Morrison counted the ballots, Boyd, 29; McKay, 40; just as the returning officer had counted them. Mr. Watson looked them over as they were passed to him and saw nothing wrong. Then, to test the count, he went over them a second time, and it was on this second scrutiny that he discovered two of the four spoiled ballots. Mr. DuVernet, counsel for Mr. Boyd, remarked confidently that there were probably more of them, and Mr. McPherson took the ballots to look them over. This he did very carefully, and found the other two. It was argued by Mr. DuVernet that the Judge could not overrule the decision of the deputy returning officer with regard to these ballots; that he must pass them as good ballots because the deputy returning officer had done so. The Judge held that he must not count them, as he had found and discarded them as spoiled. He said there was a strong suspicion, amounting almost to a *certainty, that the ballots had been tam*pered with.

Judge Morrison was seen to-night by a Globe reporter and was asked for a statement of his remarks in exact terms. He said the matter was still sub-judice, and that therefore he did not feel at liberty to say anything. Regarding the suggestion in Mail, however, that the ballots had been tampered with during the re-count, when it had been found that McKay's majority had been reduced to two, Judge Morrison said: "There was not at the re-count any suspicion, nor was any suspicion expressed, nor was there any possibility of ballots being tampered with during the re-count."

A TRUSTWORTHY OFFICER.

The returning officer for the riding, Mr. R. McKnight, was interviewed, and he said:—"The deputy returning officer at polling subdivision No. 9, St. Vincent, was Mr. John H. Carson of St. Vincent. He is one of the most intelligent farmers in the township. Since 1878 I have held nine elections, and in the seven of these in which St. Vincent was part of the riding, Mr. Carson, or some member of his family, has acted as a deputy returning officer. No family in the township had bore a higher reputation than they. If I had to single out from the 54 deputy returning officers those of the most undoubted ability and integrity Mr. Carson would be among the first. In my instructions to the deputy returning officers I gave those out of town until Tuesday, June 3, to return their ballot-boxes. Mr. Carson returned his on Tuesday morning. I asked him why he was so late, and he said his horse had gone lame." There has been some discussion of the fact that *Mr. Carson did not swear to his re*turn. Regarding that, Mr. McKnight said:—"The poll book being in the ballot-box, I could not see that the return had not been sworn to, as appeared in the re-count. Both Mr. Carson and his clerk signed the oath, but omitted to attest it to each other. Two or three other deputy returning officers made the same omission, and it is something that occurs in every election." Mr. W. H. Wright, counsel for Mr. McKay, said, when interviewed this evening, that the Judge acted at the recount as a deputy returning officer would have done in counting ballits at his polling subdivision. In going over the ballots from polling subdivision No. 9 of St. Vincent the Judge did not notice the rejective ballots, and it was only in his second scrutiny of them that Mr. Watson discovered two of them, and and the others were detected by Mr. McPherson upon a further search of the ballots. It was, therefore, very clear, as Judge Morrison had said, that the deputy returning officer might have passed the ballots as they were. Mr. Wright further stated that the general appearance of the marks in McKay's division of the ballots led him to conclude that no two of them could have been made by the same voter. His conclusion was that the ballots had been spoiled by the electors who had cast them. A further evidence of this, he said, was the fact that the Conservatives seemed to know before the ballot-box was opened at the re-count that there was something wrong with more than two of the ballots, and he thought it was fair to infer that the Conservative scrutineers at No. 9 St. Vincent had detected the spoiled ballots, but as the deputy returning officer counted them for Boyd had said nothing at the counting of the poll.

Another incident pointed strongly to this view was narrated to The Globe reporter by a gentleman who was a witness to it. Mr. W. S. Middlebro, President of the Conservative Association of North Grey, with a number of others, was listening outside at the open window of the Judges' chambers to the argument on these four ballots. Some one asked him what poll they were at, and he replied that he could not make out, but afterwards he heard that four ballots were in dispute and a desoription of them, and he then stated that he would bet he knew the poll they were discussing, that it was Cape Rich Ward of St. Vincent, which was a fact.

THE LIBERAL MEMBER.

Mr. McKay, when asked to-night to make a statement regarding the four ballots and the published stories of corruption, said:—"The statement in to-day's Mail that Judge Morrison 'expressed the utmost reluctance' to declare me elected is absolutely untrue. The fact of my election did not depend upon four ballots in dispute, belonging to No. 9 St. Vincent. Even if Mr. Boyd were allowed these four ballots, I would still have a clear majority of one, concerning which fact there was no dispute. The Mail report is therefore not only untrue, but as absurd as is the suggestion in the last paragraph of the alleged special from Owen Sound, that on appeal Mr. Boyd will have a majority of nine, Judge Morrison's decisions in the re-count were eminently impartial, and will, in my opinion, stand on appeal. Regarding the four ballots as to which reflections have been made, the suspicious circumstance is pointed out that all belong to the one poll, but the unquestioned standing and excellent reputation of Mr. Carson, the deputy returning officer in this polling division, render it absolutely impossible of belief that he would be a party to any irregularity or wrong-doing."

Mr. Boyd was not in town to-night and could not be seen. From inquiry made here it appears that the deputy returning officer, poll clerk and scrutineers at No. 9 St. Vincent were residents of the municipality. Mr. Carson, besides being a farmer, is an apple exporter, and all the members of his family, as well as himself, are people of substance, and among the most highly respected in the riding.

Human Hollowness.

If we look on the doings of a man with a merely worldly eye and pierce below the surface of character, we are apt to feel bitter scorn and disgust for our fellow creatures. We have lived to see human hollowness, the ashes of the Dead sea shore, the falseness of what seemed so fair, the moldering beneath the whited sepulcher, and no wonder if we are tempted to think "friendship all a cheat, smiles hypocrisy, words deceit," and they who are what is called knowing in life contract by degrees as the result of their experience a hollow distrust of men and learn to sneer at apparently good motives—that demoniacal sneer which we have seen, aye, perhaps felt, curling the lip at times.—Robertson.

"The Lady or the Tiger?"

Once, referring to "The Lady or the Tiger?" Frank R. Stockton said:

"I cannot answer the question, for I have no earthly idea myself. I really have never been able to decide whether the lady or the tiger came out of that door. Yet I must defend myself. People for years have upbraided me for leaving it a mystery. Some used, to write me that I had no right to impose upon the good nature of the public in that manner. However, when I started in to write the story I really intended to finish it, but it would never let itself be finished. I could not decide, and to this day I have, I assure you, no more idea than any one else."

THE LATE ELECTIONS.

Investigation Ordered In the North Grey Case.

A COMMISSIONER APPOINTED.

What the Duties of Mr. Aemilius Irving, K.C., Will Be in the Matter—The Recount in Centre Bruce Is Off—The Application Was Too Late—An Appeal in Prince Edward.

Toronto, June 14.— Mr. Harcourt, acting Attorney-General, has commissioned Mr. Aemilius Irving, K.C., to go to North Grey at once and inquire into the alleged irregularities concerning four ballots polled in division No. 9 of the Township of St. Vincent. Mr. Irving will, of course, amongst others, interviewed Mr McKnight, returning officer, the deputy returning officer and the poll clerk of the division referred to, and fully inquire into the manner in which they discharged their duties.

Centre Bruce Recount Off.

Walkerton, June 14. — Yesterday Judge Klein said that, as the application for a recount of the ballots in Centre Bruce had not been made within the prescribed time, he could not order the Crown in Chancery to produce the ballots. As there could be no recount without the ballots, the matter dropped.

Other Election Appeals.

Toronto, June 14.— The examination and recount of the ballots in Lennox, which was to have taken place to-day before Mr. Justice Maclennan, has been postponed for a week, the counsel in the case not being ready to go on. An appeal has been entered by the Conservative candidate against the recount in North Grey. No date has yet been fixed for the hearing of the appeal against the East Middlesex recount.

Appeal in Prince Edward.

Toronto, June 14.—S. W. Burns, counsel for the Conservative candidate in Prince Edward, wired to Picton last night, instructing the Conservative Association to serve notice of appeal on Judge Merrill and Dr. Currie, the Liberal candidate. It is probable that the appeal against the recount will be heard at the end of next week.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

About 600 Ministers and Laymen Now in Attendance.

Toronto, June 14.—The Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday discussed many things pertaining to the needs of the church in the mission fields at home and abroad, and received a number of highly interesting reports. There was a heated discussion over college matters. The wants of the great Canadian Northwest were again brought to the attention of the meeting, while the evening session was devoted to a talk on the foreign mission work. Another party of delegates arrived, making the number in attendance about 600 ministers and laymen.

Milk and Crackers.

In the article on "Dietetics" in the Encicyopædia Britannica, which was written by Dr. T. K. Chambers, an eminent authority, the information is given that Dr. Cheyne, a well known English physician, spent sixteen years in the prime of his life without suffering or loss of vigor, while he succeeded in preserving his health and strength, on a daily allowance of only three pints of milk and only six ounces of crackers. Through all those years he also kept up constantly the active practice of his laborious profession.

THE HANGING OF HANSEN.

Tickets For the Execution Were Sold and a Big Trade Done—Murder Was For Nine Cents.

Montreal, Que., June 14.—Thorvald Hansen, the man who murdered little Eric Marrotte to obtain nine cents last October, at West-Mount paid the penalty of the law yesterday. The condemned man was preceded to the scaffold by Sheriff Hon. J. R. Thibaudeau and Governor Valee of the Gaol, in their robes of office, and was followed by Radclive, the official hangman.

Father Meloche, who received Hansen into the Roman Catholic Church some weeks ago, accompanied him and stood by to support him as he moved up the steps. No support was necessary, as he walked with a firm tread and took his place under the fatal noose, without a tremor of excitement noticeable on his features. Radclive moved him into proper position, while Father Meloche spoke to him, and shook his hand, bidding him adieu.

Dead silence reigned as the executioner, after whispering a word to the condemned man, put the black cap on his head and let go the rope. Everything was done so quietly and quickly that the onlookers hardly realized that the man was being launched into eternity until the body was seen dangling there. The muscles of the hands twitched a little, and the whole body quivered from reaction of the muscles. Dr. E. P. Benoit, Goal Physician, held the pulse of the hanged man until life was entirely extinct.

As soon as the trap had been sprung Radclive ran down the steps and disappeared in the gaol, while Father Meloche knelt praying on the scaffold, and the Sheriff and the Governor stood on either side of the steps, waiting till the end. The crowd dispersed quietly, while the body was cut down and the usual inquest was held by Coroner MacMahon.

The execution took place in the presence of a large number of spectators and the roofs of the buildings around the gaol were also crowded with people.

Adverse criticism was caused by the heavy sale of tickets of admission. Before the execution many tickets were offered for sale at the gates of the gaol, the prices ranging from 50c. to $1. An investigation will probably be made.

The crime for which Hansen was executed was the murder of a boy whom he heard jingling coppers in his pocket, which coppers he wanted, in order to further indulge his craving for whiskey under the influence of which the crime was committed.

THE 'DIGGER' TRIALS.

Two of the Toronto Street Railway Conductors Committed For Trial.

Toronto, June 14. —A start has been made in the prosecution of the twelve conductors in custody, charged with stealing money and tickets from the Toronto Street Railway Company. John Caulfield, the Pinkerton detective, who wormed himself into the confidence of the men, appeared in court yesterday morning, and detailed how he had operated. There was some hot cross-firing between Crown Attorney Curry and Mr. Robinette, but the net result was that H. W. Rumman, the first prisoner, was committed for trial.

The hearing of Lewis D. Bailey, who also had a "digger" and detached tickets in his possession when arrested, resulted in his committal for trial. About 150 tickets were found in Bailey's trunk when the house was searched.

Upon application of Mr. Robinette and upon the Crown Attorney consenting, the prisoners were all, with one exception, granted bail in two sureties of $500 each, or one of $1,000. The exception was James Whittington, whose release on bail the Crown Attorney would not agree to.

The case will be resumed on Monday.

ADULTERATKD SEEDS.

Department of Agriculture Now Making Experiments.

Ottawa, Ont., June 14.—G. H. Clarke, B.S.A., chief of the Seed Division of the Department of Agriculture, is engaged in important tests of adulterated seeds. A staff has been selected to examine and separate all samples bought and sent in by farmers, and when the seeds, weeds, etc., have been separated the good seed is placed in incubators and the results noted. Some exceedingly valuable data is already being collected on the subject, which will be invaluable to the farmers in helping them in future to sow their fields with the best seeds free of weeds. A bill is being framed for the purpose of protecting the farmers and enforcing penalties for the sale of adulterated seed.

Charged With Conspiracy.

Dublin, June 13.—At the instance of Lord De Freyne a writ has been issued against a large number of members of the Irish parliamentary party on the charge of conspiracy in connection with the tenant troubles on the De Freyne estate, Roscommon County. Among the defendants are John Redmond, John Dillon, W. J. O'Brien, J. G. Swift MacNeill and Conor O'Kelly and the members of the Standing Committee of the United Irish League which includes Michael Davitt and a number of former members of Parliament. The Freeman's Journal is also defendant. Lord De Freyne seeks an injunction and damages.

Brewing Poison.

More Disease is Caused in the Human System by Uric Acid Than Any Other Poison.

Science has demonstrated that in a few days' time you brew enough Uric Acid in your body to produce death.

Your kidneys are your only salvation.

Because when they are well they filter out this deadly poison.

So, when your kidneys are sick you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

They are all being slowly poisoned.

Uric Acid starts in the system more different kinds of trouble and suffering than any other form of poisoning. It irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable, causes rheumatism and neuralgia, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; makes your head ache and back ache, causes indigestion, stomach, and liver trouble; you get a sallow, yellow complexion; makes you feel as though you had heart trouble; you lack ambition, get weak, and waste away.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are a cure for these troubles because they keep down the excess of Uric Acid by making healthy kidneys. They are not advertised for every ill, only for kidney trouble and its results. They are sold at 50 cents per bottle, of which a fac-simile of package here appears.

Five thousand people in Ontario praise Pitcher's Tablets, because of their relieving faulty acting kidneys. Manufactured by the Dr. Zina Pitcher Company, 82 Church Street, Toronto, Ont.

FRIENDLY ADVICE.

To Weak, Nervous and Easily Tired Women.

Given in the Story of one who had Suffered and has Found Renewed Health and Strength.

(From the Sun, Orangeville, Ont.)

It is a good many years since the good wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was first recorded in the columns of the Sun, but during that period the sterling merit of the medicine has increased its reputation and every day adds to the number of those who have found health through the use of these famous pills. Many in this town have freely spoken of the benefit they have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and to these another is added in the person of Miss Victoria Widdis. To a reporter of the Sun who had heard of her cure, Miss Widdis said: "Several years ago I became very much run down; I felt tired all the time, my blood was watery and I was in what the physicians called an anaemic condition. I was always weary and worn out, not able to do anything and yet not sick enough to be in bed. My heart bothered me with its constant palpitation, brought about by my extreme weakness. My appetite failed me and I was gradually growing worse. I had heard and read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. After using them a short time a decided change was noticeable and it is no exaggeration to say that I felt like an entirely different person. My appetite returned and with it good blood and strong nerves. I can conscientiously say for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that they did me more good than I can tell. To all weak, nervous easily tired, run down women I say by all means give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and you will be delighted with the result."

It is because these pills make rich, red blood that they cure such troubles as anaemia, shortness of breath, headaches, palpitation of the heart, rheumatism, erysipelas, St. Vitus' dance, and the functional ailments that make the lives of so many women a source of constant misery. The genuine pills always bear the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper on every box. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Clever Thief.

This is how the presence of mind and audacity of a Chicago thief saved him from being locked up: A policeman who recognized him and knew he was "wanted" put him under arrest, with the words, "You are wanted at headquarters." "Yes, I know," replied the thief quickly. "I was arrested last night and was bailed out this morning. You are too slow." "It does look that way," said the crestfallen policeman as he told the thief he could go, of which permission the thief lost no time in availing himself. Later, to his chagrin, the policeman found that the thief had not been previously arrested.

The Gilded Man.

At the headwaters of the Orinoco Spanish traditions located the land of El Dorado, "the gilded man," a potentate whose country was so rich in gold dust that he had his body anointed with oil and sprinkled with gold every morning, so that he shone in the sun as though gilded. It is a curious fact that the country in which tradition located this marvelous being has never been explored by a white man.

A Slander.

To say that every man has his price is to deny the existence of the great men who have died for their faith and their country. Nonsense! 'Tis the last plea of a knave and issues out of the mouth of a fool. The sterling strength of man and woman rebukes it everywhere.—Schoolmaster.

KING AND THE BOERS

His Majesty's Reply to the Peace Congratulations.

SOME TACTFUL OBSERVATIONS.

Cordial and Spontaneous Exertions of All Parts of the Empire Recognized With Gratitude—Recent Enemies Bravery Recognized and Praised With an Earnest Hope For Future Mutual Co-operation.

London, June 14.—King Edward held a special court at Buckingham Palace yesterday, for the reception of addresses from the Lord Mayor, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, and the corporation, and from the London County Council, congratulating His Majesty on the restoration of peace. The King took the occasion to express his sentiments on the subject more fully than heretofore, and the tactful recognition which he made of the sterling qualities of the Boers will doubtless materially aid in the work of appeasement in South Africa.

His Majesty, surrounded by the household, received the city dignitaries in the throne-room, and replying to the Lord Mayor's address said:

"I thank you in my own name, and in the Queen's, for your loyal and dutiful address, and the congratulation you tender us at the close of the war in South Africa. I heartily join in your expression of thankfulness to the Almighty God for the termination of the struggle, which, while it entailed on my people at home and beyond the sea so many sacrifices, borne with admirable fortitude, has secured a result which will give increased unity and strength of my Empire. The cordial and spontaneous exertions in all parts of my dominions, as well as in your ancient and loyal city, have done much to bring about this happy result.

"You give fitting expression to the admiration universally felt for the valor and endurance of the officers and men who have been engaged in fighting their country's battles. They have been opposed by a brave and determined people, and had to encounter unexampled difficulties. These difficulties were cheerfully overcome by steady and persistent effort, and those who were our opponents will now, I rejoice to think, become our friends. It is my earnest hope that by mutual co-operation and goodwill the bitter feelings of the past may speedily be replaced by ties of loyalty and friendship, and that an era of peace and prosperity may be in store for South Africa."

Subsequently, in response to the address of the London County Council, the King spoke as follows:

"I thank you for your expressions of loyalty and affection towards myself and the Queen. I rejoice with you at the thought that the victory which has crowned the perseverance and bravery of my forces will pave the way for the extension to the regions newly added to my Empire of that system of Government which with God's blessing, will bring South Africa the peace and prosperity that in every quarter of the globe followed its establishment. The readiness with which my subjects throughout the Empire have borne their part in the arduous campaign now happily at an end, cannot fail to draw them still more closely together in bonds of loyalty and affection, and I confidently believe that the good feeling which is being displayed by those who were so recently our opponents augurs well for the future of that vast country which has been added to the dominions of the Crown."

The Irish Party Disgusted.

London, June 14.—Col. Lynch gets little sympathy from the Irish party, the members of which were disgusted by his letter to the Speaker of the House of Commons, apologizing for the part he took in the Boer struggle. THE BAND CONCERT.

The 2nd of the Series in Victoria Park Last Night.

The second of the open air series band concerts in Victoria park took place last night, when many people availed themselves of the opportunity of hearing a first class concert by Peterborough's crack musical organization. The programme was much enjoyed. It contained many of the old time favourites which were welcome numbers.

The only disagreeable feature of the evening was the action of a masked band, (presumably advertising some event,) in marching in close proximity to the 57th Regimental band, and thereby confusing music with noise. The band had on more than one occasion to wait the pleasure of the men or boys who made up the noisy aggregation. Much dissatisfaction in this regard was expressed by those in attendance at the concert.

MR. BAMFORD REMEMBERED

By the Members of Peterborough Lodge A. F. and A. M., Last Night.

An informal meeting of Peterborough Lodge A.F and A.M., was held last night, there being about sixty brethren in attendance. The affair took the form of a send off to Mr. W. B. Bamford, who has for some years been a prominent member of the lodge.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, the chair being occupied by Wor. Bro. Stocker. The toast of the King was duly honoured, and that of the Grand Lodge, which came next, was replied to by Rt. Wor. Bro. Walkey. Rev. W. L. Armitage proposed the toast of the guest of the evening. In doing so, he made reference to Mr. Bamford's connection with Peterborough Lodge, and the regret that they felt in his leaving them. On concluding he presented Mr. Bamford with a Past Master's jewel.

Mr. Bamford replied in fitting terms, thanking his fellow members of Peterborough Lodge for their kindness.

Short speeches were also made by Bros. T. H. G. Denne, T. F. Matthews, Adam Dawson and F. D. MacKay, of Corinthian Lodge.

[LET US HAVE FACTS.]

In Centre Bruce the returning officer, an appointee of the Government, was so prompt in declaring Major Clarke, the Conservative candidate, elected, that he shut out the application for a re-count on behalf of the Liberal candidate. What a howl there would have been had this incident, quite innocent as it is, imperilled the chances of a Conservative instead of a Liberal! We do not complain of any anxiety our contemporaries may show for fair elections. It is a commendable anxiety, which it is to be hoped they will always show, no matter how circumstances may be altered. There is, however, a hysterical ness and lack of candor in their animadversions which does not help their case. It was quite possible, for instance, for a superficial reader to arise from a perusal of the Opposition articles on the North Grey re-count with the idea that the mutilation of the four ballots deprived the Conservative candidate of the seat, while the fact is that if the Judge had given all four to Mr. Boyd, Mr. McKay would still have been elected by one vote. From the partisan zeal of local correspondents a paper has difficulty in protecting itself. But there should not be the same shortcoming in editorial comment. A great moral crusade should find its best ally in a strict regard to fact. If the four ballots in the North Grey election were criminally mutilated, the crime is not mitigated by the fact that they did not affect the actual result of the election. Nevertheless, it is a fact that the re-count has established that Mr. McKay was elected even though the four suspected ballots are counted for his opponent.—Globe.

BACK FROM THE SOUTH.

An Enjoyable Trip to Florida and Other Southern States.

Mr. A. P. Choate is in town for a couple of weeks, visiting his parents, after having spent the latter part of the winter and early spring in Florida. His trip to the South was partly for health and partly on business. While in New Orleans a syndicate was formed, of which he became a member, to instal electric lighting plants in the chief centres of Nicaragua. An omnibus concession from Nicaragua had been previously secured to light these towns and cities, and for other purposes, and the syndicate was formed to carry it into effect. The first electric light plant is now being installed in the capital city of Managua.

Mr. Choate, in speaking of the country, says that it has a very bright future. Rubber growing is increasing very fast, and is yielding large profits. Hundreds of new banana plantations are being opened up, and a great market for the commodity is to be had in the large cities of the United States. Other large industries are making good progress. The fact that the outlook now is that the Isthmus Canal will now cross Nicaragua instead of Panama, as was expected some time ago, is also doing a great deal to attract capital to the country.

NEW STATION AGENT.

Mr. Frank Harrison, Formerly of Myrtle, to Come to Peterborough.

Mr. Frank Harrison, late station agent at Myrtle, on the C.P.R., has been promoted to the position of station agent of the C.P.R. in Peterborough. Mr. Harrison has had considerable experience as a railway man, having been at one time travelling freight agent for an American road. He has a large acquaintance with the travelling public and its requirements, and is said to be very popular with the commercial travellers. He will be very fortunate if he acquired the popularity which has been gained by his predecessor, Mr. Bamford. Mr. Harrison enters upon his duties forthwith.

Bryce, LL.D., of Manitoba College, a pioneer in the splendid home missionary work of the Presbyterian church in the west, is the man upon whom the highest honour of the Presbyterian church in Canada has fallen by his election Wednesday night to the Moderator's chair. Dr. Bryce's clever address here at the Historical Society's meeting last week will long be remembered.

DIED IN HARVEY.

An old Settler, in the Person of Mr. Adam Payne, Passes Away.

The death on Tuesday, of Mr. Adam Payne, removes one of Harvey's oldest settlers. Mr. Payne came from County Down, Ireland, 46 years ago. For a short time he resided at Brighton on Lake Ontario, then he moved to Bobcaygeon, which at that time consisted of only a few shacks. Mr. Payne stayed in the village for a year or more, and Mrs. Payne come out from Ireland. Land was then being taken up along the Bobosygeon line, and Mr. Payne took up one of the best lots along the whole length of the line. For the last few years he has suffered terribly with a cancer that destroyed one eye and this departure was a blessed relief to him, that came all too slow. He was of a quiet, unobstructive disposition, but firm, sturdy and honourable in his dealing, and was generally respected throughout the settlement. He leaves a widow and a large family all well-to-do. The funeral was a very large one.

When Life is not Life.

"Without health life is not life; it is only a state of languor and suffering—an image of death." The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food gives the weak, languid and discouraged a new hold on life. It makes the blood pure and rich, creates new nerve force and instils new energy and vitality into the whole being. It makes sick and weakly persons strong and well by building up the system.

Amongst those who have of late received their long service medals is Col.-Sgt. Fred McCorry, of town, who for about 33 years was connected with No. 4, (Millbrook) Company, 46th Durham Regiment of Infantry. He was, in fact, about the 2nd man enrolled when the Company was organized by Major Howden of Port Hope, and continued in the service of his regiment until a few years ago. Sgt. McCorry can recite many amusing incidents that have occurred during his military career but more particularly during active service at the time of the Fenian Raid and during the North-West Rebellion, when he served under the late Lieut.-Col. A.T.H. Williams in the Midland Battalion. Sgt. McCorry now wears the medal of '66, the medal of '85, and the long service medal which is inscribed as follows:

"Col.-Sgt. F. McCorry, No. 4 Company, 46th Regiment, for long service in the Colonial Auxiliary Forces."

Sgt. McCorry has a son, Pte. Ed. McCorry, who also wears the North West medal and the long service medal as well.

Another veteran of many military camps is Mr. George E. Whiten, of town, who served for many years in the ranks of the 35th Simcoe Foresters, at one time commanded by Lieut.-Col. O'Brien. Mr. Whiten has at the request of the military editor of the Examiner very kindly contributed a number of short reminiscences of military life in days gone by. Mr. Whiten says:

"I joined the 35th regt. as a drummer boy at 17 years of age, and later I was appointed drum major. I then left the band and went into the ranks and soon became a sergeant. I did not try for a higher position. The two weeks military camp was the genuine article. We sometimes arrived at the camp grounds at dusk, and found no tents up, although it had been raining all day. We had to pitch our own tents, get a bite to eat and lay down to sleep on the wet ground, with one blanket over us, and one under us. I well remember how some of the boys would soon strike up "Home Sweet Home," and before long they would have jack boots fired at them. I remember one camp where it rained steadily day and night for eight days, and our clothing and blankets were wet all the time. We had fun in the midst of our misery, however. At one camp a cyclone struck us; the men all made for the tents to hold them down. The Major of our regiment had his tent very neatly rolled up and his camp bed tied to the tent. The fun commenced in real earnest and it was not long before the Major, camp bed and tent were turned into a balloon and started to travel upwards. The major yelled like a mad man but the boys enjoyed the fun. When the storm was over we found the Major, tent and camp bed in some cedar bushes."

"I was one time given a corporal and told to go out about 15 miles to arrest three men that had failed to appear at camp. The first man that I made for was a clerk in a store. I asked if such a man was there. They first said 'Yes,' but presuming what my mission was, said 'No.' Then they told me to wait and they would go up stairs, and see if he was in. I waited until they reached the top of the stairs, and then concluded that I would go up too. I was just in time to see the lad making for cover. We caught him all right. The next man worked on a farm. He saw me when I entered the gate, so he made to the swamp. He made great time across the ploughed field, each jump being about eight feet. The farmer laughed at me and said I could not catch him. I told the farmer that I would give his man until eight o'clock the next morning to give himself up. On calling next morning the man was there and gave himself up. The third man was in a village. I arrived there at dusk, and asked a boy if he knew of such a person. He pointed across the street and said, "There he is!" We slipped across the street and arrested him, and took all three before the colonel to do the knapsack drill.

"I came near getting into a bad box at Niagara. We all received orders not to go across the river to the American fort; three of us thought that no one would see us, so we went. In coming back near the Canadian shore we saw three police peeking over the bank. Just then about 50 horses came down to water, and we told the ferryman to rush his boat in amongst the horses. He did so, and we jumped out in about two feet of water and worked our way between the horses and then up the bank. We managed to get a good start before they saw us. Two of us reached our tent and were sound asleep before the police came to see if we were there. The other lad was caught and put at knapsack drill, but he did not give us away. When it had quieted down a bit I went to my captain, who happened to be a brother of the Colonel, and explained to him that I was the one that was to blame as I was the sergeant of the tent, so I got my comrade off.

"At Holland Landing, where we used to go, there is a large ship's anchor, so large that another man and I have crawled through the ring of the anchor, both at the same time. The anchor is still there, and I do not think anybody is likely to take it away.

"A Mr. Doyle of Keswick, in the county of York, had a great picnic one day and gave prizes for rifle shooting. All the members of the 35th Regiment were invited but I was the only one that went. When we had only three shots to fire, the best man of the York Rangers and myself were a tie. His chums began to 'guy' me, saying that I could not even hit the target. I thought that I was alone amongst strangers. Just then a young man stepped out of the crowd and said that he would stay with me till the last shot was fired. I never forgot his kindness. He said I could and must win first prize, after the mean way they had taken to beat me. I took courage and won the first prize, which was $25. The young man who was brave enough to see that I had fair play, is now Mr. Andre wMiscampbell, M.P.P., Sault Ste. Marie."

A JUNE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Annie Morrison and Mr. William Shannon.

(Campbellford Herald.)

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, in Seymour east, on Tuesday, when Mr. Wm. Shannon, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Miss Annie Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr. John Morrison.

The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock, by the Rev. A. C. Reeves, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Campbellford, in the presence of the nearest relatives of the young couple.

The honour of bridesmaid was conferred upon Miss Ida Shannon, sister of the groom, while the groomsman was Mr. John Smith, Campbellford, cousin of the bride. The bride was attired in a travelling suit of grey, and the bridesmaid in navy blue.

After the ceremony hearty congratulations were given, and the party were entertained to a sumptuous dinner. There were many pretty and useful presents from friends who showed their esteem and love for the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon were escorted in a carriage to the railway station, and amidst showers of rice they started on a trip to Montreal and Ottawa. On their return they will reside at the homestead on Centre street. With a host of others we extend hearty congratulations.

Mr. Shannon is travelling agent for Mr. Carton, Peterborough, and Mrs. Shannon lately resigned a responsible position as secretary in the Northumberland Paper Mills.

IDYL WYLD.

The Season Opening With Encouraging Prospects.

Mr. S. English, of the Victoria House, Keene, the new lessee of "Idyl Wyld" summer resort, was in town to-day, and reports this picturesque and breezy Rice Lake Island, once more asserting its claims for the patronage of pleasure seekers. On Friday the "City of Peterborough" arrived at the island with a select party of excursionists from Peterborough. Next week the following excursions are billed for the island: On Friday, an excursion from Fraserville; on Wednesday evening a moonlight excursion; on Friday a union excursion from Franklin, Bethany and Millbrook. Many improvements have been effected on the island. The house is under the personal management of Mr. English, and guests may depend on the best of attention. The fishing season opens next week and fishing parties will find every comfort and accommodation.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

Quite a number of Peterborough bowlers will participate in the big Dominion Tournament in Toronto on July 8th and following days;

The committee as in previous years propose holding a general tournament in connection with the Trophy Competition, and offer prizes in the different events.

The donors of the Dominion Lawn Bowling Trophy, Messrs. Hiram Walker and Sons, Limited, will present each member of the rink winning the trophy with a gold medal or other valuable prize.

Because of the interest displayed, and the pleasure derived by the bowlers, who have heretofore taken part in the points competition, and owing to the kindness of Mr. A. S. Wigmore, the chairman of the committee, and Mr. C. Swabey, the Hon. Secretary, in placing at the disposal of the committee two valuable prizes, the committee have again decided to continue this competition at the tournament. A third prize also will be presented by the committee.

The lawn of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club has been resodded this year and a number of new greens added, and the committee can and do assure all who intend to take part in this tournament that no effort or expense will be spared to have the greens in as perfect a condition as possible, and to provide for the entertainment and comfort of bowlers while at the island. The addition of the new greens should materially shorten the tournament.

For some years past the committee have felt that an effort should be made to bring visiting bowlers taking part in the tournament and bowlers residing in Toronto and vicinity together in a social way after play has ended for the day. With this end in view the committee have arranged for a moonlight excursion on Tuesday evening, July 8th, the opening day of the tournament, on the Niagara Co's palace steamer Chippewa, leaving the Yonge street wharf at 8.30, and returning to the city 11.15 or thereabouts. Music and refreshments will be provided.

A complimentary smoking concert will be held in the large hall of the Yacht Club Building on the island on Wednesday evening, July 9th, at 8.30, and there will be a garden party on the lawn on Thursday afternoon.

The prize list is as follows:

Second prize.—One pair extra quality Glasgow Bowls. Presented by the Honourary Secretary. Third prize.—Solid leather finest quality Club Bowl Bag.

The fees are—

Doubles. — $1 each player.

Singles—$1 each player.

Points—For any Bowler who has not taken part in one other event in the tournament, $1.

Entries for rinks must be in the hands of the secretary not later than 6.30 p.m. on Saturday, July 5th. The draw will be made at the Town Club House of the R.Y.C. at 8 p.m., on Saturday, and will be published in the Toronto Monday morning papers.

The preliminary, and if possible, part of the first round, will be played off on Tuesday afternoon, July 8th, at 2 o'clock and play will be continued on the following days commencing at 10 o'clock. All matches must begin on time set by the committee. Absentees will be disqualified.

Entries for doubles and singles will close on the grounds on Wednesday, July 9th at noon.

The tournament will be played under the rules of the Ontario Bowling Association, and Rule VIII will be strictly enforced.

The new schedule for the local club goes into effect on Monday and the following games are down for that evening:

STOCK MARKETS.

Market Outlook Improving.

New York, June 13th, 1902.—The market is broadening out some the past two or three days. While it is not noticeable to any great extent, nevertheless it is gaining in momentum, and it now looks as if the corner had been turned and from now on dealings will gradually increase and prices harden, and the leaders this summer will improve. We enumerate them—Mop., Ill., C., St. Paul, and L.N. We predict lively times in these shares for July and Aug., and confidently expect the general market to wheel into line for an upward move. For the past month these shares have acted exactly as they did during the dull June two years ago, which was just prior to the tremendous advance taken by the market just before and right after the election of the lamented McKinley. This summer will witness increases the size of several dividends, already foreshadowed by the dividend action for the directors of North-west, Omaha and Southern Railway. An increase of dividends now means a maintenance at the advanced rates. It also indicates renewed bullish activity and higher prices. Everything points to still further increase in railway earnings, and every road at present earning net far in excess of their interest at the last declaration. The advance in Pacific dividend last time is pregnant with meaning. An extra now in that quarter will be over and above the rate of six per cent. The market for the past two weeks has clearly demonstrated the remarkable small quantity of stocks offering for sale. Any stimulated demand would start prices soaring. The repeal of the war tax on July 1st will do much to stimulate the purchasing demand for stocks than any event that has taken place within a year. It will stop the diversion of money in vast quantities by the Government arteries of trade to the Government vaults. The strike will in a comparatively short time be a thing of the past. The market outlook at present writing is unusally bright.

In Loving Remembrance of Lottie Cunningham, Who Died, June 7th, 1902.

Dear Lottie, dear Lottie, is now laid at rest,
We loved her, yes loved her, but Jesus loved her best;
He has taken her to Heaven, an angel to be;
She's now with her mother, from sin and trouble free.

It was early in June we were called to her room,
And she like the flowers was just in her bloom,
She said, "I am happy, and ready to die,"
Then she asked, "Sure you won't let my dear father cry."

Then the sweet look and smile showed plainly and true,
That the Golden Gates were opened and Lottie taken through,
We feel very lonely, our hearts feel so sore,
When we think that on earth we shall see her no more.

But we must dry up our tears for dear Lottie's sake,
For she asked that no tears be shed at her wake,
Our time will come, too, be it early or late,
If we follow her path she will meet us at the gate.

ART OF CARICATURE

EVOLUTION AND INFLUENCE OF THE NEWSPAPER CARTOON.

The Ancient Greeks, Romans and Egyptians Used Grotesque Pictures to Emphasize Their Satire—The Eighteenth Century Craze.

The story is told of an abbe of the seventeenth century who was as deformed in figure as he was ridiculous in dress, and as sensitive about his physical deformity as he was vain of his eccentric attire, that while serving mass one morning he observed a smile of contempt on the face of one of the courtiers present and determined to avenge himself by serving a process upon him for appearance in court the following day.

The offender, M. de Lasson by name, knowing that things would go hard with him unless he could show some reason for his mirth, made a hasty sketch of the hunchback abbe, exaggerating in size the six black caps and the waistcoats in which he was wont to appear, and when he was solemnly asked to show cause for his unseemly mirth and indignity to the holy church he suddenly displayed before his judges the caricature of the abbe as his "excuse." The likeness was so excellent and the cartoon so grotesque that the entire court fell to laughing, and the accused was liberated without a reprimand.

This is the first authentic case of the power of the cartoon in a ball of justice, but it illustrates the power of the pencil in depicting the follies of the foolish and the affectations of the artificial.

There is no telling when the art of caricature began. There are a number of grotesques that have come down to us from earliest Egyptian times. The Greeks employed pictures to emphasize their satire, and so did the Romans. All through the middle ages there were numberless examples of "grotesqueries" which, curiously enough, were used in enforcing the doctrines of the church by means of satirizing the devil. But the eighteenth century was the heyday of the cartoon.

Beginning in France and overrunning into Holland and thence across the channel into England, the flood of caricaturists carried everything before it, and it is safe to say that we read the history of the times with clearer vision and with more accuracy of detail for the mirror which caricaturists held up to reflect the striking peculiarities of the men and events passing before it.

Gautier mentions a Spanish cartoonist, Francisco Gaya y Lucientes, a mixture of Rembrandt, Watteau and Rabelais, who preceded the two great caricaturists of the latter half of the eighteenth century, George Cruikshank in England and M. Charlet in France. Charlet is known as the father of modern social caricature and holds as good title to his position as does Philipau to that of the father of comic journalism, with Le Charivari, the strongest paper of its kind. Then came Punch in England, which still retains its subtitle of the London Charivari, for years the faithful if not the most highly polished reflecter of British life. Upon its staff John Leech, Richard Doyle, John Fenniel, George du Maurier and a dozen men of lesser name kept Great Britain in good humor for two generations.

It has been reserved for America, however, to bring forth a new race of caricaturists, which for lack of a better title may be called the personal cartoonists, men who seize upon the characteristics of an individual and so exaggerate them that the subjects of the cartoons are known by the most prominent features in their physical, mental or moral makeup.

True there was one man in London a hundred years ago, Gillray by name, who had this faculty of dissecting his subject until he found his weakest point and then unmercifully pricking it with his drawing pencil, but with him the race died out, to be reincarnated in America. Gillray was a close observer of people and events. He would sit in his publisher's window and watch the fops of the court as they passed and fasten in his memory every feature by which a man would be recognized by his acquaintances. He remembered every story that related to the traits of character of those in the public eye, and the St. James street of 1800 is faithfully reproduced in his art.

Perhaps we Americans look at the droll side of life more than other people, but certain it is we have more and better cartoonists than elsewhere. The very quickness with which we see the point of a joke demands equal facility in portraying drollery in a cartoon. We sketch boldly and leave much of the unnecessary detail to our slower cousins. Then, too, our public events happen with such startling rapidity that a cartoon of yesterday's doings would be flat today, and we must keep very much alive and be ready for a political change overnight.

In other words, the alert American must have depicted in his cartoon the very traits of character that have made him what he is, the quickest and brightest of men.

THE CATFISH ZONE.

And the Origin of the Philadelphia Habit of Catfish and Waffles.

While pessimists have been denouncing the extension of the pie belt through the United States and the enlargement of the saleratus biscuit district, they have been entirely oblivious of the extraordinary development of the catfish zone. This mischievous dweller of the pool is known to the small boy and the rustic angler under many names—in one place as a sucker, in another a bullhead, in a third a wolf fish and, most outrageous of all, in northern Mississippi as a shad. But its own only genuine title is catfish. The name is derived from the fact that when the creature is raised from the water it emits a grunting protest which poetical fishermen have pronounced like the purring of a family cat.

Philadelphia produced the catfish habit. For two centuries the animal was looked at as something which might be eaten to prevent starvation until one fine day a thrifty Quaker found that the catfish would eat boiled cornmeal and that this simple food not only fattened the eater, but changed the color of its belly from white to yellow. He perceived the pecuniary value of the discovery and established a catfish farm in which he fattened the fishes which he caught elsewhere and in due season sold them to the Philadelphia markets.

A Quakeress soon after that discovered that the old fashioned waffle, slightly salted and covered with melted butter, made an irresistible accessory to the fish when well fried. This started the catfish and waffles, for which the City of Brotherly Love has ever since been famous. The habit spread like an epidemic, and, like the star of empire, its way was westward. So far as is known the United States government has no record of catfish and waffles east of the Delaware river, but starting at Philadelphia a distinct catfish zone runs westward, terminating at Denver, reaching as far north as Minneapolis and St. Paul and as far south as Mobile and New Orleans. The catfish is said to possess medicinal virtue. It is mildly anæsthetic, soporific and antispasmodic.

Sufferers From Itching Piles.

If you could read a few of the letters which come to these offices from persons who have been freed from the miseries of itching, bleeding or protruding piles, you would soon realize the marvellous power of this wonderful preparation. Here are two sample letters which show the heartfelt gratitude of cured ones:

Mr. John Tuttle, expressman, 107 Stewart street, Kingston, Ontario, states: "Like most men who do much driving, sitting a great deal, and often exposed to dampness, I have been a great sufferer from piles. As a matter of fact, I had piles for a number of years, and tried nearly everything I could hear of in a vain effort to get cured, but only succeeded when I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. The first application of this grand preparation brought me relief from the dreadful itching, burning sensations, and less than two boxes made a perfect and permanent cure. I am grateful for the freedom from suffering, and desire others to benefit by my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mr. H. Kelly, Cobourg, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching piles, and can truthfully say that it has entirely cured me. Only persons who have endured the torture of itching piles can have any idea of what I suffered. Dr. Chase's Ointment brought me prompt relief from the misery, and has made a thorough cure. I am thankful for this remedy, because it has made life worth living. I cannot say enough in recommendation of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has no worthy rival as a cure for piles and itching skin diseases. It is possessed of certain powers over these ailments which imitators are unable to reproduce. You can be absolutely sure of Dr. Chase's Ointment bringing relief and cure. It is backed by the testimony of the best people in all parts of Canada; 60 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 6

One of Rhodes' Ideas.

A well known peer once asked Cecil Rhodes to stand godfather to his son, and he replied that he would on one condition, which was that he might invest at once £100 in the boy's name and give £100 on each succeeding birthday, provided that it should all go on at compound interest until the boy was old enough to begin to spend the interest, and that then he might yearly decide on what to spend it, so long as it was not on himself. "This," said Mr. Rhodes, "will do two things—first, it will teach your boy how to spend money, and, secondly, it will make him unselfish and kind to those in need."

Not Guilty.

"Is your husband a bibliomaniac?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle as she was being permitted to view the treasures in the library of the new neighbors.

"Mercy sakes, no," replied Mrs. Packenham, "he never bibbles a bit. Oh, of course, I don't say that he wouldn't take a little at his meals if the rest was doin' it, but that's as far as he ever goes in them kind of things."

A Change Suggested.

"What is your occupation?" asked the old physician as he felt the patient's pulse.

"I'm an opera singer," was the reply.

"Ah!" exclaimed the M. D. "What you need is a change of air. Suppose you try singing in a church choir."

Just Right for a Hot Day.

Does this hot weather do you up? Then for that fagged out feeling try a bottle of Merrill's System Tonic. It puts new life and energy in the body and makes one feel equal to their duties. The Women of Damascus.

The women of Damascus—that is, the Moslem women—are more closely veiled than those of Constantinople and other eastern cities because the people here are more tenacious in the observance of the ancient customs of their race and the requirements of their religion. The veils are thicker, also, and cover the entire face. Some of them are figured so that the concealment is even more complete.

Greeks, Jews and Armenians do not wear veils, and some of them are very handsome, particularly the Jewish women. Their eyes, complexion and hair are superb. The types of oriental loveliness remind you of Solomon's Song.

No women are employed about the hotels or restaurants. All the "domestic" work is done by men. In the shops and manufactories of Damascus thousands of women and girls are employed, but they are exclusively Greeks and Jews. No Moslem would permit his wife, daughter or sister to appear in a shop or any other place where men are employed.—Chicago Record-Herald.

If You Have to Fight a Boa.

If any reader of this article should ever be so unfortunate as to experience the embrace of a boa constrictor, it is recommended that he try to release himself by taking hold of the creature's tail and unwinding it from that end. It can be easily unwound in that way, but otherwise it is not possible. The way to kill a snake is not to attempt to crush its head, the bones of which are very hard, but to strike the tail, where the spinal cord is but thinly covered by bone and suffers readily from injury. It is the same with an eel. Hit the tail two or three times against any hard substance, and the eel quickly dies.

The boas are not venomous, but their fangs are sufficiently powerful to inflict serious wounds.

YOU WILL BE HAPPY IF YOU ARE WELL.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Bestows That Health and Vigor That Makes Living a Pleasure.

If you are sick and out-of-sorts in June, it is in your power to make yourself healthy, strong and happy. There is not the slightest reason why you should go through the hot summer weather feeling sickly, miserable, languid and melancholic. To be well and strong, means happiness and true joy, and this is the season when you should be bright, hearty and gladsome.

If you are sleepless, rheumatic, neuralgic, dyspeptic, or have the shadows of disease hovering over you; if you are not as bright, energetic and strong as you were some weeks ago, the use of Paine's Celery Compound tone up and fortify your whole system, cleanse the blood, correct digestion, sharpen the appetite, and conduce to restful sleep. Thousands once in a half-dead condition owe their present good health to the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mrs. E. Rankin, of Courtright, Ont., says:

"With great pleasure I beg to inform you of the good I have received from the use of Paine's Celery Compound. For a number of years I have been in very poor health, and lately I was advised to try your medicine. I used three bottles, and have received a world of good. My severe headaches are completely banished, and the heart disease from which I suffered for 30 years has almost disappeared. I am fully convinced that Paine's Celery Compound is all that it is recommended to be.

Sooty Chimneys.

To prevent soot in a chimney make a brine of common salt and pour it over the coals used. This will keep chimney and flues beautifully clean.

A Domestic Soul.

"John is so domestic in his tastes," said the Billville matron.

"He is?"

"Yes. He's been all day in the hot sun trying to kill a rattlesnake to get a rattle for the baby!"

LINKS WITH THE PAST.

Our "Rude Forefathers"—Where the Old Trail Led—Early Settlers' Homes—Birth of the Village.

Buried in the wilderness, between two steep and thickly-wooded hills, dense with second growth and underbrush, with here and there a charred pine standing silent and forlorn, close to the natural clearing of a beaver meadow, and fronting the old trail from Sudbury to Wahnapitae, stands the ruin of a log cabin. Moss covered, askew, windowless and with one irregular doorway, not one straight line or right angle in its whole composition, grown over and into and through by the encroaching, unchecked bush, the shack remains, forgotten and unknown. Built before Sudbury and the railway and situate two miles east of the town the casual passer-by on the trail would not notice it at all.

No doubt it was built and inhabited by some wandering trapper, long since moved further north in pursuit of the vanishing game and now gathered to his fathers. Possibly later a settler lived here, though no signs of cultivation are to be found in the natural clearing. Now it is doubly lost, for the road and railwat pass two miles to the south, and the old trail is seldom tramped save by a wandering sportsman. Good eyesight he must possess who would follow it now, wandering at its own sweet will along the stream from Sudbury between the hills, always between, and in the easy places, curving sharply round a knoll, stopped short by a wind-fall, and all to guide the traveler, a few bent blades of grass, a scraped rock, a "blazed" tree, a broken branch, until the shack is reached. Then, plunging down a hill it disappears, further I have never followed it.

The hut itself is an interesting study—logs notched together at the ends, and doubtless chinked with moss and mud in years gone by, form the walls; the roof of pine slabs rests on poles, and the floor is terra firma.

Yet this was the class of "home" of the first settlers, the U.E.L.'s, and others earlier. And our great grandfathers lived like their houses—not only three score years, but on into the sere and yellow till centenarians were not curiosities as at the present day. When a settler prospered—and many did—physical degeneration straightway followed, a larger house was built by his sons, clapboarded and of two storeys, the floors were laid and other seeming comforts, the old stone hearth and swinging crane, the iron dogs and spit—synonymous with comfort and hospitality—disappeared, and modern ugly box stoves—dead things with never a blaze to brighten—took their place. The "Dutch oven," an iron box buried in hot ashes, was superseded by the "elevated" abominations of modern times.

But the houses suffered most. After the log shack (to the prosperous) came the rambling homestead, and then high, narrow, comfortless structures, verandahs, became "stoops," and long French windows—open wide in summer to every vagrant breeze were done away, and in their place appeared the "sliding" windows of to-day, which "slide" or not, regardless of one's will. Then came the furnace—lurking in the cellar and filling all the house with dust and heating it until the present generation loathes a draught of pure air from open windows like the plague.

Clusters of huts became villages, a high, square, false front, backed by a single gable ridge assumed the dignity of a store, and can still be seen in any village, though why the necessity of the "front" now nobody can explain, and this collection, growing, was called a town. Here row on row close packed together, like huge square boxes (and as picturesque), comfortless, unsanitary, stand the "modern" houses. Some tried "colonial style," where there was room, and out in front built up tall fluted wooden columns, with rambling rooms, and halls behind, and this was not so bad.

But soon the ever shrinking lots became so small that as they narrowed so the houses rose until replete with all the modern "comforts" of furnace, gas, electric light, and air-tight rooms, with here and there a microscopic "grate" with artificial blaze, and every luxury the heart could wish—but air, a perfect palace from within, but outwardly a glaring eye sore of chopped-off gable ends, of tiny balconies, of jumbled towers, chimneys, doors and steps, and surrounded by the poisonous murk of factory flues and steaming sewer ventilators. A place for money-grubbing creatures, this, for stunted young and feeble babes, but surely not a habitation for a Man!

And our grim old rugged forefathers would smile again to see us now—our narrow shoulders, crooked backs, and babes in spectacles. "This your 'twentieth century civilization'?" they would say; "live as we lived and die as we died in the days of long ago—the good old days of lusty youths and strapping lassies, of grey-haired laborers, who, at sixty, were in their prime, and lived to see their children's children grow up around them, and bless them when they died in white old age, their eighty, ninety winters o'er. In the days—of the spinning wheel, the cradle and the flail."—Hal, in Toronto Mail and Empire.

Ten Years Ago and Now.

There is no better antidote for despondency than to take a measure of your own community as it was ten years ago and as it is today, unless you live in an unrepresentative and stagnant community. You will be likely to find the roads or the streets better than they were, the railroad service, the postal service, possibly even the telegraph and the telephone service better. You will observe better houses, more attractive grounds. The people are better clad or more are well clad. Inside their houses you will find more books or, better, more bathrooms, better lights and better furniture. A larger proportion of children and youth are receiving good training at better schools. All this means more than prosperous years. It means a higher level of life and a stronger ambition. The well being of the people of the United States is rising higher and especially is it diffusing itself wider. Life is constantly becoming more comfortable and more cheerful as well as longer and safer, leading to better conditions for intellectual growth and social development.

The second figure, a dainty Parisian coat, is made in the new moire taffeta. The collar is prettily ornamented with narrow velvet and cream lace. A ruche of ribbon at the edge and down the front and a fancy buckle give the finish.

Insomnia and Nervousness.

There can be no doubt that many persons suffer from insomnia which had its origin, or at least its principal strength, in their own nervous apprehension that they are or are about to be afflicted with it. Any one of a dozen causes may induce wakefulness, and yet the person lying in bed with the faculties alert at the moment when they would naturally be expected to be wrapped in slumber has nine times out of ten or ninety-nine times in a hundred nothing serious to apprehend. The stomach may not be in quite its normal condition, and there is no more potent cause of wakefulness.

Now, an hour—ten minutes even—seems a long time in the middle of the night when a person wishes to be sleeping and cannot. If a sensation of dread, of apprehension, is allowed to enter the mind, such a period simply becomes interminable. The nervous apprehension increases the difficulty, and, feeding upon itself, the derangement may quite possibly increase till it becomes a dangerous malady.

The Place For the Gas Stove.

There is a great deal in having the stove in the proper place. It should be near the stationary furniture, like the sink, with which its work is most connected. No woman ought to take unnecessary steps, whether she is the head of the house or the maid. It is the "constantly being on her feet" that wears out so many housekeepers. Therefore strength as well as time is saved by a convenient arrangement of the kitchen. Count during one forenoon the number of times you carry water from the sink to the stove and dishes from the stove to the sink and you will be impressed with the number.—Kitchen Magazine.

Omelet, Plain.

Break four eggs into a basin, add half a teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and a tiny piece of onion if liked. Beat this well with a fork. Put into the frying pan one ounce and a half of butter and place on the fire. When hot, pour in the eggs and keep on mixing quickly with a spoon until they are delicately set. Then let them slip to the edge of the pan, laying hold of the handle and raising it slantwise. Turn in the edges, let it rest a moment and set. Turn it on a dish and serve. It should be of a rich yellow color.

THE HORSES.

Carmelita, 2:10¼, is dead.

Miss Logan, 2:06½, dam of Harry Logan, 2:12½, has been bred to Barondale, 2:11½.

The six early closing stakes of Cincinnati grand circuit meeting will foot up to $24,000.

Sidney Pointer, 2:07¼, has been put in the stud at Ogdensburg, N. Y. He will not be raced this year.

James Terrell, Williamsport, Pa., will probably have Silver Prince, 2:08½, and J. B., 2:14¾, in his stable this season.

Susie Wilkes, the dam of Coleridge, 2:05¼, and grandam of Dr. Monical, 2:09¾, has been bred to Cecilian Chief.

Lucille, 2:07, and Little Boy, 2:01½, will be trained by Scott McCoy for the world's trotting and pacing records to sulky.

At Cleveland it is believed that if John A. McKerron trains on as he did last year he will trot a mile to wagon better than 2:05½.

Major Muscovite, 2:07¼, will be raced again this season. Last year he was started twelve times in western and grand circuits, also at Lexington and Memphis, winning two second, three third and two fourth moneys.

A Terrible Penance.

A correspondent of The London Spectator tells how a young man came to confess to an Irish priest in London whose experience of the humors of his fellow countrymen would fill a book. "Well, my man," said the priest, "and how do you earn your living?" "I'm an acrowbat, your riverence." The priest was nonplussed. "I'll show ye what I mane in a brace of shakes," said the penitent, and in a moment was turning himself inside out in the most approved acrobatic fashion in and out of the pews. An old woman who had followed him to confession looked horrified. "When it comes to my turn, Father," she gasped, "for the love of God, don't put a penance on me like that; it 'ud be the death of me!"

A Familiar Name.

In the homes of Canada and the United States, there are few names more familiar and none more reverently spoken of than that of Dr. A. W. Chase, the great physician and receipt book author. He is blessed for the suffering he has relieved and the diseases he has cured; his remedies are used and endorsed by the best people in the land; they are popular because they cure when others fail.

Couldn't Be Mistaken.

A Derbyshire squire recently invited some London friends down for a little shooting. One of the sportsmen, after shooting for three hours without success, was considerably annoyed by the keeper in attendance on him repeating after every miss, "I can't be mistaken, surely."

"For goodness sake, be quiet!" he at last shouted. "What do you mean with your everlasting 'I can't be mistaken?'"

"Well, sir," was the reply, "if you 'adn't put a few shots through my 'at, peppered both my legs for me and popped a full charge into my right foot I'm blowed if I shouldn't think as 'ow you was a-firin' with blank cartridges!".

Royal Mascots.

Most of the sovereign houses of Europe possess one or more relics which they regard as mascots. The house of Bonaparte possesses the boots and little hat of Napoleon I. The Hohenzollerns preserve piously the gray leather breeches worn by the Burggrave Frederic when he entered his margraviate of Brandenburg. There is also at Sans Souci the cane which Frederick the Great carried at the battle of Rosbach. The Romanoffs cherish the carpenter's tools of Peter the Great, and the fetich of the Hapsburgs is the shoe which the horse of Count Rudolph cast at the moment when the envoys from the reichstag announced to him his election as German emperor.

The Girl and the Pimple.

Newspapers contained last year the account of a girl who committed suicide because she had a pimple on her face. Merrill's System Tonic from its blood purifying and blood strengthening qualities cures not only pimples but blotches of all kinds, also scrofula, eczema, and salt rheum. Three weeks treatment only 50 cents.

Fooled His Relatives.

A rich and eccentric man who died the other day in Berlin left a will which was to be opened immediately and a codicil to be opened after the funeral. The will said, "Every member of my family who shall abstain from attending my funeral is to receive 300 marks." As a result the funeral was attended by his housekeeper, a distant cousin. On the codicil being opened it was found to enact that the residue of his fortune was to be divided among those who, notwithstanding the loss of the 300 marks, attended his funeral. Hence the housekeeper gets all, but the heirs threaten to dispute the will.

A Dissenter.

A well known bishop was once just starting on a railway journey from Chester station when the station master came up to him and said, referring to his luggage, "How many articles are there, my lord?"

"Thirty-nine," was the reply.

"I can only find sixteen," answered the other.

"Then," said the bishop, "you must be a dissenter!"—Glasgow Times.

Corticelli SPOOL SILK

For dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes, which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk. If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk, it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for Corticelli—the Dressmakers' Favourite Spool Silk.

UNCONSCIOUS HUMOR.

With the unconscious humor of the schoolroom and the examination we are familiar, but in this respect the prayer meeting and the board meeting that doles out parish relief remain almost untouched sources of fun.

Recently a trembling old lady at Camberwell appeared for parish relief. "But what is your son," she was asked, "that he cannot support you?" "Please, sir," she replied, "he's only a millionaire." Amid the ensuing laughter they learned that what she meant was commissionaire.

Also quite recently at a prayer meeting where the worshipers wished for the restoration to health of some friend one of them prayed, "O God, restore unto us our brother if it doth not interfere with thy perquisites." The situation was saved by the exclamation of an intelligent listener: "Hallelujah! The Lord knows what he means!"

Irish Bird Beliefs.

A Dublin journal, speaking about the beliefs about birds in Ireland, says that the blackbird and thrush are "wandering souls" whose sins must be expiated on earth; hence they are forced to endure the rigors of winter. Rooks, jackdaws, bats, hawks and owls are animated by lost souls. The wagtail is called the devil's bird for no other reason, it is supposed, than that it cleverly evades the missiles thrown at it. A dead wagtail is a rara avis.

The robin is called God's bird because it plucked a thorn from the cruel crown pressed upon the head of our Saviour and in doing so wounded its own breast. It forsakes a "cursed" graveyard.

Sparrows, stares and plovers are on friendly terms with the fairies. The lark and the swallow are birds of good omen, but the latter should not rest on the housetop.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

PRESBYTERIAN PROGRESS.

At the opening of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada in Toronto on Wednesday, Moderator, Rev. Dr. Wardon, submitted some interesting information regarding Presbyterian progress during the past year. He said:

"Steady progress has been made in almost every department of the work. In connection with the 58 Presbyteries of the church there are 1,368 ordained ministers, of whom 1,198 are pastors congregations, professors in colleges or filling positions to which they have been appointed by the Assembly. There are 783 self-supporting charges, embracing 1,152 congregations, and 203 charges—embracing 370 congregations—aided by the augmentation fund. In addition to these, we have 506 home mission fields, with 1,461 stations, at which the Gospel is more or less regularly preached by our missionaries. Our elders number 7,559, our families 118,114 and our communicants 219,470, a net gain of 5,799 to the membership reported a year ago. The number of communicants received during the year on profession of faith was 11,259, an average of seven to each congregation. Not including mission fields, 228 congregations report no conversions during the year—no members received on confession of faith—and in 656 of the other congregations of the church, where additions were made on confession of faith, the number in no case exceeds six. There is surely ground for humiliation here. . . Our people contributed last year $1,052,691 towards the salaries of their ministers and $2,857,489 for all denominational purposes. The value of the property owned by our congregations is a little over ten million dollars, on which there is still an indebtedness of about one million and a half.

SABBATH SCHOOLS.

"There are 3,196 Sabbath schools connected with the church (an increase of 147 in the number reported the preceding year); with 21,717 officers and teachers and 182,335 scholars. The scholars show an increase of 626 over those reported a year ago. This increase is encouraging, although according to the recent Dominion census, there must be a large number of young people of school age in Presbyterian homes not in attendance upon our Sabbath schools."

Dr. Warden feared that there is a growing laxity in this matter, and added; "There was a falling off last year, as for several preceding years, in the number connected with the Christian Endeavour and other young people's societies, which is rather significant. The number reported this year is 26,319."

PRESBYTERIAN PUBLICATIONS.

The combined circulation of the 8 publications is 173,187, a very great increase over last year. The two illustrated papers alone have a circulation of 40,574. It has been decided to issue a weekly paper for the senior pupils, members of Christian Endeavour and young people's societies, which will be found a valuable help in the instruction of our young people, more especially in the mission work of the church. In addition to these periodicals for the young, the Presbyterian Record has now a monthly circulation of 50,000."

Dr. Warden referred to the aged and infirm ministers' fund and the widows' and orphans' fund, noting that in connection with the former there are two funds, the Maritime Provinces section, with an endowment of $40,000, and the Western Section, with an endowment of $192,000, increased by $20,000 within the last few days. Last year 101 ministers received annuities, averaging $200 each. The widows' and orphans' funds have a combined endowment of $403,530; 179 widows drew last year annuities averaging $150.

THE THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES.

"The Presbyterian church, the world over, has always been in the forefront in the matter of education, and more particularly in the education of its ministers. In addition to Queen's University we have five theological colleges or seminaries, Halifax, Montreal, Queen's, Knox and Manitoba, with a total endowment of $856,749.

"We believe it is of the utmost importance that our colleges should be kept in close touch with the church, and for this as well as other reasons it is not desirable that they should be wholly endowed. There is still room, however, for a considerable increase to the endowment of these institutions. The amount contributed by our people last year for the support of colleges was $38,000."

ANIMA L IMITATIVE NESS.

How a Beg[illegible]aff's Dog Grov[illegible]s to Be Like[illegible] His Master.

One of the most curious traits to be found in the animal nature," said an observant citizen, "is that which grows out of the unconscious imitativeness of the creatures of the lower order. I have observed many instances of where the creatures of a lower order have taken on the characteristics in some noticeable degree of members of the human family. One might know, for instance, the beggar's dog from the look of the dog, from the droop of the eye, the pathetic hang of the lip and a certain gentlemanly air of despondency and hopelessness which seems to speak in the very nature of the animal. I mention the beggar's dog because it is a familiar example. The beggar's dog never looks cheerful, never smiles, never frolics, but simply sits by his master and broods and begs for whatever charity may give.

"I have seen the dog character modified under happier influences, and the dog became more cheerful. He was a light hearted, free and easy sort of creature and seemed to get something of the sunnier side of things. I am almost tempted to say that if you will show me a man's dog I will tell you what manner of man the owner is, with particular reference to temperament and his moods. The melancholy man, the man who grovels mentally along the gloomier groves, the pessimistic man who is always looking at the dark side of the picture, all the men who come within these unhappy classifications rarely own a cheerful dog. The dog unconsciously takes to the ways of the master and in his moods [illegible]tes the master's way of thinking, [illegible] turn to the dog of the jolly, fellow. Watch him show his [illegible]aughter when the master approaches. He is darting across the yard and dancing and frisking around the master's feet in the happiest way imaginable, and he is up to all kinds of pranks and doe. all kinds of little things to indicate the good nature that is in him. He does as his master does and seems to take the same general view of life. These are small things, but they show at how important one's way of thinking may influence one's dog and change one's whole view of life."

PICKIN[illegible]GS FROM [illegible]ICTA

Ghosts went [illegible]out with [illegible]gan's Cup."

It is only selfish people who cannot believe that they are unselfish.—E. F. Benson, "Scarlet and Hyssop."

The things men [illegible] their weights; they must [illegible] wings.—"In White and Scarlet."

Kings are great in the eyes of the people, but the people are great in the eyes of God.—J. Huntly McCarthy, "If I Were King."

One must love at least two women to appreciate either, and did the silly creatures but know it a rival becomes them like a patch.—Edith Wharton. "The Valley of Decision."

Men are singularly unoriginal when they make love or pray. Woman and the Deity have been perpetually hearing the same thing from the beginning of speech.—"The Story of Eden."

A woman never does care for her own soul so much as she cares for the man she loves, but if she is good cares for her soul more than for his happiness or even than for his happiness.

Science.

"What's the purpose of bacteriology, anyway?"

"Well, it reduces worrying to a positive science, for one thing."

MOHAMMEDANS AT PRAYER

They Always Respond When the Voice of the Muezzin Calls.

The Mohammedan begins his prayer standing, with his hands outspread and his thumbs touching the lobes of his ears. In this position he repeats certain passages from the Koran, then brings his hands down to his girdle, folds them and recites several other passages from the same book. Next he bends forward, rests both hands upon his knees and repeats three times with bowed head the formula of prayer to God, the most great. Then he rises and cries, "Allah hu akbar!" (God is great) sixteen times.

He then drops forward until his forehead touches the ground between his extended hands. He strikes his head upon the floor at least three times, proclaiming his humility, and often a dozen and sometimes twenty times the act will be repeated, according to his desire to show humility and repentance. He then returns to his knees and, settling back upon his heels, repeats a ritual. Next, arising to his feet, he holds his hands and concludes the prayer, repeating over and again the words, "There is no god but God, and Mohammed is his prophet."

This may be repeated once or a dozen or forty times, according to the piety of the worshiper, and he holds a string of beads in his hands to keep tally. His obligations are then accomplished, but he can go through the same ritual again as many times as he likes. The more frequently he does so the better Moslem he is. His piety is measured by the number of times he repeats his prayers, and, like the Pharisees of the Scriptures, he prays in public places. No matter where he happens to be or by whom he is surrounded, whether at labor in the fields or selling goods in his shop or however he may be employed, the Mussulman never forgets to pray when the voice of the muezzin reminds him that the hour for devotion has arrived.

A Good Memory.

When Theodore Roosevelt was governor of New York, he was a great friend of the porters and employees of the New York Central. One morning he took the 9:15 train from Albany west, and as he entered the car he said to Adams, the colored porter: "Hello, porter! You here still?"

"Yes, sir," replied the porter, "and I'm going to stay here till you get to be president, and then I want you to give me a job."

"I'll go you!" promptly replied the governor, and, sure enough, when Governor Roosevelt became president of the United States he surprised Adams by sending for him to go to work in Washington.—Schoolmaster.

What He Really Said.

Mrs. Buffers—The teller at that bank says you are just the meanest, stingiest—

Mr. Buffers—Great Scott! What—what is that? He says—

Mrs. Buffers—Well, he didn't say it in so many words, but that is what he meant, of course.

Mr. Buffers—See here! What did the fellow say?

Mrs. Buffers—He asked me to indorse the check, and when I told him I hadn't the ghost of an idea what he meant he said he presumed I hadn't had much experience getting checks -New York Weekly.

DEAFNESS AND DRY CATARRH OF THE EAR.

Those who suffer from defective hearing, caused by dry catarrh of the middle ear, will find much encouragement in the fact that the Editor of the "Journal for the Deaf" takes a more hopeful view of this disease than aurists in general, who up to the present time have insisted that a very unfavourable opinion must be given as to restoration of hearing. This encouragement is derived from the remarkable results reported in a great number of cases treated by the Drouet Method. In fact, so great has been the success of this treatment in all forms of deafness and ear diseases that the Editor of the "Journal for the Deaf" is now issuing regularly a supplement containing complete details of from twenty-five to thirty cases cured each month by the Drouet Institute. In the April Supplement will be noted particularly the case of the Rev. J. G., who suffered from deafness caused by dry catarrh. In fact the defective hearing was of so serious a character that a doctor had pronounced it incurable. The cure effected by the Drouet Treatment was reported December 17th, and again confirmed nearly three months later.

The Rectory, Suffolk, March 11, 1902.

Dear Sir,—I am glad to say I have had no further return of the trouble, and look upon myself as cured.—Yours faithfully, J. G.

Being a clergyman, the Rev. J. G. does not wish his name to appear, but he has intimated his willingness to communicate privately with anyone who desires to verify his testimonial, and full name and address can be obtained from the Drouet Institute.

Those who are interested in deafness and diseases of the ear, nose, and throat, can obtain a free copy of the "Journal for the Deaf," with the "Supplement," by addressing the Secretary, Drouet Institute, Regent's Park-road, N. W., London, England.

Each "Journal" is accompanied by a Patient's Report Form, which enables applicants to receive full particulars for applying the treatment at home. Any advice by correspondence is absolutely free.

"THY WILL BE DONE."

Dewet Accepts Defeat as the Will of Providence.

HIS ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION.

Burghers, Women and Children at the Winburg Concentration Camp Received Him as a Loved Hero—He Was Never Wounded—Nor Was Steyn —16,500 Surrenders and Everything Satisfactorily.

London, June 16.—Despatches received here from South Africa show that the surrenders of Boers are proceeding with the greatest good will. The total numbers who have already surrendered numbers 16,500, and the British are extending every possible kindness to the men who come in.

The appearance of Gen. Dewet at the camp at Winburg was the signal for the great display of enthusiasm. When he arrived at the camp he was at once surrounded by men, women and children, who struggled and clamored to shake the hand of their hero. Gtn. Dewet mounted a table and delivered an address. He warmly applauded the staunch support the women had given the burghers during the war, which, he said, had greatly encouraged the men in the field.

Continuing, Gen. Dewet recommended his hearers to be loyal to the new Government, and said: "Perhaps it is hard for you to hear this from my mouth, but God has decided thus. I fought until there was no more hope of upholding our cause, and, however bitter it may be, the time has now come to lay down our arms. As a Christian people, God now demands that we be faithful to our new Government. Let us submit to His decision."

Neither Gen. Dewet or Mr. Steyn, former President of the old Orange Free State, was wounded during the war. Gen. Dewet has not seen his wife for two years.

The Repatriation Committee which has been formed to assist the Boers in returning to their farms, has a gigantic task before it. The concentration camps will be converted into supply depots to provide the returning burghers with the means to rebuild and re-stock their farms. The wives and families of the Boers will, if desired, be maintained at the expense of the Government while the burghers are preparing the farms for their reception.

Two thousand of the national scouts, who fought upon the British side during the war, will immediately be disbanded, and each scout will be provided with a pony and enabled to return to his farm.

LYNCH RAISED IRISH BRIGADE.

Fought Against British and Assisted the South African Republics.

London, June 16.—Bow Street Police Court was crowded Saturday. The investigation into the charge of high treason, brought against Colonel Arthur Lynch, formerly of the Boer army, who was elected member of Parliament for Galway, in November last, and who was arrested at New Haven on Wednesday, on landing there from France, was begun. Mrs. Lynch, and other friends of the accused, were present. The Solicitor-General, Sir Edward Carson, opened for the prosecution.

"The case for the prosecution," said Sir Edwaed, "will be that, on arriving in South Africa, Lynch took service with the Transvaal Government, raised a regiment of which he acted as commander, to fight in its behalf, and actually fought against General Buller's operations. Lynch was in Pretoria on January 15, 1900, and wrote to the Transvaal authorities, notifying them of his desire to take up arms, January 18, he signed a field cornet's certificate, describing himself as an Irishman, a British subject, and as born in Australia. But he declared his willingness to fight for the South African Republic in order to maintain and defend its independence. Lynch also took the oath of allegiance as a full burgher, the certificate enabling him to do so, as well as to accept a commission from the Transvaal Government. Lynch then raised the so-called Irish Brigade, joined the invading army at Natal, and issued an appeal, signed 'Arthur Lynch, Colonel, Irish Brigade, inviting Irishmen to assist the two republics."

The Hon. Charles Russell (second son of the late Lord Chief Justice Baron Russell of Killowen), representing the defendant, said that Lynch had faced the proceedings like a man. What he had done, he had done openly, and he desired to facilitate the inquiry as much as possible.

DRIFTED FOR THREE DAYS.

Three Owen Sound Fishermen Clung to Their Upturned Boat.

Owen Sound, June 16.—Capt. Robert Foote of the steamer City of Collingwood, on his return from the Soo Saturday afternoon, sighted three men clinging to a boat near Cabot's Head. After getting them aboard, they proved to be three fishermen of Owen Sound, Thos. Jones, Andrew Park and Ronald Clairmont, who told of their perilous adventure. On Wednesday last they went out to where their nets were. Near the points where they were picked up, the buoy being in sight from the steamer, something went wrong with the rigging and the boat upset, the ballast shifting so as to hold her on her side with only about a foot of freeboard above water. They lashed a few loose boards to the side, and on this raft they drifted for seventy-two hours, traversing the Georgian Bay south nearly to Collingwood, and north almost to Tobermoray, being finally picked up near the spot where they started. The men were greatly exhausted with their fast of three days and nights, and with the exposure to cold weather and water, but were kindly cared for by the crew of the Collingwood, and appear but little the worse now except for the want of sleep.

POLICE COURT.

Several Cases That Were Disposed of This Morning.

A youth appeared in the Police Court this morning charged with damaging the irons of awnings by swinging on the same. He was found guilty and fined $5 or a brief term in jail. The fine has not yet been paid.

Mr. Isaac Richardson who was run down on Aylmer street some time ago, while riding a bicycle had his alleged assailant up in the Police Court this morning. The evidence showed that the accident was due to the horse having shied and not to carelessness of the driver. The charge was dismissed.

A man was found drunk last night. He paid $5 for his spree, this morning.

A triumph of science that has come to stay. "DARDANELLES," pure Egyptian cigarettes. Packed in silver, cork and plain tips. Sold everywhere, 15c per package.

Summer Underwear.

The wearing of woolen underclothing has done more to weaken and debilitate our systems than we can estimate.

For summer wear it is especially objectionable, causing prickly heat and skin irritations of various kinds.

The Dr. Deimel Underwear

Made of clean, porous linen-mesh is delightful to the skin —the most healthful, comfortable Underwear known. Let me send you a little booklet, telling how to be comfortable during the hot, sultry days of summer.

THE IMPERIAL MULTUM IN PARVO.

The Coronation ceremonies will serve to bring into brilliant prominence the cosmopolitan character of the population of the Empire. This will be effected through the presence of military contingents, composed of all races and coming from every clime and quarter of the globe; for the crimson blazon of Imperial sovereignity reddens wide areas of the map of every continent, and of hundreds of the isles of the sea. They will come from the farthest east and the farthest west, from Oriental Cathay to Occidental British Columbia, from the boreal Klondike, with the pole star almost overhead, to the island continent of Australia set under the Southern Cross. And a significant feature is that Canada furnishes the highway of travel to the far east, to the heart of the Empire, London. Two contingents are composed of the giant Hillmen, of India, and the Chinese from Hong Kong, a Crown colony sliced out of China, are on their way to the Coronation across Canada. These two contingents halted at Montreal, where they were paraded upon the Champ de Mars, and inspected by Colonel Roy, D.O.C., in the presence of thronging thousands of the city of Montreal, the commercial metropolis of the Dominion. As these contingents, British in heart and allegiance, but foreign in speech and aspect, stood on this historic square, the spectator, who thought at all, could not help musing over the tremendous significance of the scene. As the account of the Montreal Star tersely and comprehensively puts it: "There before him were British and Chinese troops of Indian and Chinese birth, facing an inspecting officer of French-Canadian origin on a parade ground made famous by French and British troops, in a city largely composed of British subjects of French descent, and in a Dominion of which a French-Canadian is premier." This spectacle illustrates well the welding and blending spirit of British influence, under which divers nations and divers bloods are brought into a unity of aim and harmony of purpose unparalleled on the face of the earth, and unrecorded upon the page of any precedent history.

LICENSE OR PROHIBITION.

The Woodstock Express is distinctly hostile to the Ross Government, and particularly so in regard to its relation to prohibitory legislation, and it declares that the Liberal Government deserves no credit for any license legislation in the interests of decreased drinking and moral reform. The Express says the "temperance legislation the Government has given has been as much in the interests of the liquor sellers as of temperance people It has been designed to establish the traffic, to legalize it, and to make it respectable." The Liberal Government when it took office thirty years ago, found the traffic legalized and permitted under license. Their first effort was to regulate it, and put an end to the scandals that obtained in the indiscriminate issue of licenses. Licenses were greatly reduced, the growth of temperance sentiment recognized, and restrictions were increased with a view of diminishing the drink habit, and thus promoting morality. The Government in the process made the hotels "respectable," something that the public appreciated. Hotels are a public convenience, and the better they are made — the more "respectable" they are made, the less objectionable. The Government found the liquor traffic legalized, and made excellent efforts to minimize the evils of it. Hotel-keepers were incidentally benefitted by the weeding out of inferior houses, and retaining the "respectable." Nobody will make that a ground of complaint. The Government found the liquor traffic legalized, and set to work to make the best of it. The Government could not delegalize it, because public opinion creates Governments would not have supported any Government in such a course. When the Government took office 30-odd years ago, public opinion would no more have sanctioned delegalizing the traffic than it would have sanctioned the extension of the franchise to children in arms — the country was not ripe for prohibition. Even with all the subsequent growth of temperance sentiment, public opinion does not seem ripe for prohibition, because temperance people seem inclined to reject the opportunity the Government has given them of procuring what they had advocated as a most important boon. Extremists denounce the referendum, which demands an effective preponderance of public opinion in favour of prohibition of the traffic — they demand that the Government stake its existence on a straight prohibitory law, without reference to popular approval, when the late elections show that public opinion did not develop sufficiently in favour of temperance to give success to one of the many temperance candidates who presented himself for election. Till the country is ripe for prohibition, till the temperance people can make up their minds to subordinate party politics to temperance reform, the Government is justified in making the best that can be made of the license law.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Withe the Conservatives thinking they are elected in Ontario and Hon. F. D. Monk thinking Quebec is Conservative, the Montreal Herald remarks that all the poor Liberals have left are the good jobs and the salaries.

The Montreal Herald figures it out that Canada's share of the cost of the Boer war would have been $170,000,000 if she had contributed in proportion to population. Are we prepared to put up "millions for defence?"

Canada's exports of domestic merchandise for the last eleven months were $172,925,945, as compared with $155,118,252 in 1901, an increase of $17,817,693. That is a healthy growth, and what is more gratifying as a type of the general expansion in every line of Canadian activity.

Mr. Clergue at the "Soo" has orders booked for 100,000 tons of steel rails, which he can produce at the Sault at the rate of 600 tons per day; and at this rate he can fill this order in six months. The phenomenal "steal" Mr. Whitney attributed to the Ross Government is the indirect if not immediate cause of this phenomenal steel-production. Mr. Clergue does not need to fear the United States Trust and its price-cutting policy.

The Opposition papers rage and imagine a vain thing—the general election has gone against them; they have not gained the spoils of office and they talk of all sorts of extreme measures; they did not win at the polls and in their desperation some of them are preaching the doctrine of force, one desperate and momentarily demented journal advocating the use of guns. Regarding this threat the Hamilton Times says: "The idea expressed clearly enough in the Toronto World's editorial to-day, 'The Shotgun Stage at Hand,' may be thus stated. 'We are out of power; the Grits have the Government and are appointing Grit Judges and K. C's. and generally managing things, and we can't get them voted out. It is about time we resorted to murder in order to get into office. The attention of the criminal authorities should be directed to the World's disgraceful effort to incite to violence.'"

Speaking of the appointment of Sir Wilfred Laurier, and Messrs. Fielding, Mulock and Paterson to represent Canada at the Colonial Conference in London, the Montreal Star (Conservative) says: "They are three level-headed, well-informed and progressive Canadians. Mr. Fielding will represent Maritime Province opinion, and should be able to speak with a fair knowledge of the conditions of trade in that section of the Dominion. Mr. Paterson will carry into the Conference the ripe knowledge of a man of observation who has been a trade expert for years, and who has been a practical manufacturer under several different kinds of tariff, and who has, since his selection as Minister of Customs, enjoyed an unequalled opportunity to study the relations of the tariff to all the principal business of Canada. Mr. Mulock is, par excellence, our enterprising and up-to-date business Minister. He is, moreover, a man of tested and alert patriotism."

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT, ACTING-PREMIER.

The Montreal Star, (Conservative) has the following: For the next few months, Sir Richard Cartwright is to be Premier of Canada.

The doughty knight will probably not regard it as much of an honour to be acting-Premier during the summer vacation; but the people of Canada will like to see his name written down as the first citizen of the Dominion for even this limited period.

Sir Richard has been a long time before the public eye; and he has proven himself one of those rare characters who win, by the sturdiness of their opinions, a sort of affection from the very people who cannot accept the opinions themselves. This country is Protectionist and Sir Richard is an unbending free trader; but Canadians would do almost anything else for Sir Richard, except let him put his free trade theories into practice.

Then Sir Richard is endowed with the instincts of a man of honour and a gentleman. He may be compelled by the exigencies of politics to sometimes look the other way when things are going on, but his name is associated with no dirty business and he is always felt to be a force on the side of honest government.

Moreover, he is a financier second to none in ability in our politics. When he sat in Opposition, his criticisms of the financial statements of the succession of Finance Ministers who passed before him, were ever illuminating and instructive to the country and distinctly educative in their effect upon Parliament. If vigorous Opposition criticism is a thing to be greatly desired in our system of party government—and no one will pretend that it is not—then the services which Sir Richard rendered the Dominion during the long years he sat as leading Liberal finance critic are among the highest which Parliament has witnessed. It was such a case as is seldom paralleled outside of the Parliament at Westminster—that of a financial expert devoting his talents to the business of the country without salary or office.

Sir Richard is well worthy of any distinction that may come to him as acting-Premier; and Sir Wilfred has made an excellent choice of a colleague to lead the Government in his absence.

THE WEALTH OF THE YUKON.

Mr. Wade, who was Crown prosecutor in the Yukon for five years, in an address before the Royal Colonial Institute, recently gave a graphic description of the vast mineral wealth of this country. The enormous mineral wealth of the Canadian Yukon, was shown very plainly in the statement that while the gold output of Canada during the past forty years, exclusive of the Yukon, has been some $84,000,000, there is every probability that in four years only, the Klondike diggings will have equalled this great sum. The extent of the mineral belt which runs from northy to south of the American continent reaches a length in Canada alone of 1,650 miles, which is equal to the entire length of Europe. The lecture was illustrated by many interesting lantern slides and by this means he was able to compare the difficulties of travelling in 1897, with the ease and comfort provided to-day by the White Pass and Yukon Railway and its fleet of steamers. He was enabled also to show his audience the enormous growth of of Dawson, which has grown from a collection of tents in 1898 to a well-built town, which is now assessed for municipal taxation at $12,000,000. He bore witness to the blessings furnished by British law, by showing that in California during the early gold rush over four thousands homicides occurred, whereas the total number which have taken place up to the present in the Canadian Yukon, is but fifteen. The lecturer referred to the quartz mining industry at Dawson, which is now keeping two small mills steadily employed, and he spoke hopefully of the future of gold mining.

The Minister Disturbed.

DIED FOR HIS NIECE.

Capt. Louis N. Pouliot, a Government Employe, Drowned in the Rideau Canal —Belonged to Influential Family.

Ottawa, June 16.—Capt. Louis N. Pouliot of the Postoffice Department was drowned in the Rideau Canal near the Exhibition grounds on Saturday afternoon in an effort to save his little niece, Miss Alice Loranges. The girl was in bathing, and the uncle and aunt were sitting on the bank watching her. Shortly after she went in the steamer Rideau King, which plies between Ottawa and Kingston, came along, and the waves caused by the big side wheels washed the girl off her feet, and she being unable to swim, got into difficulties. Capt. Pouliot pulled off his coat and jumped to the rescue. It is thought that the excitement and the sudden contact with the water must have caused heart failure.

Miss Glen, who was on the opposite shore, asked three boys to come to the rescue. One, aged 14, Willie Headley, responded, and after taking Miss Loranges out commenced diving for Capt. Pouliot, but was unable to find the body. Later the body was recovered with grappling irons.

Capt. Pouliot belonged to an influential family in Temiscouata County, Quebec. His father, the late J. B. Pouliot, represented the county in the Commons during the Mackenzie regime. His brother, the late S. E. Pouliot, was elected for the same county in 1896, and died shortly after the election of that year.

Capt. Pouliot was a member of the Papal Zouzves who went from Canada to fight the battle of Rome against Garibaldi. With others he was taken prisoner, but benefitted by the fact that he was a British subject.

A POSSIBLE CONFERENCE!

The Rock on Which the Split Will Be Made—Both Sides Seem to Be Fully Determined; One That the Union Must Be Recognized and the Other That It Shall Not Be.

Toronto, June 16.—The question of a street car strike will be determined at midnight to-night.

A mass meeting of employes of the company has been called by the committee having the matter in charge.

The committee announces that the sub-committee which it appointed Saturday night, on receipt of the last letter from the company, to call on the officials, will make one more effort this morning, to secure an interview with General Manager Keating.

General Manager Keating says he will be in his office all day, and that if the committee wishes to see him it will have no difficulty of finding him.

This is the situation this morning, but it is not altogether certain that the committee and the company will get together this morning and an amicable settlement of the existing trouble follow.

General Manager Keating's letter Saturday evening to the committee asserted that he would receive any committee that came to him with proper credentials from the employes of the company. The committee which will call on him for a final conference this morning will bear credentials showing that they are authorized to treat with the officials by a convention at which 900 employes of the company were present. No employe of the company was barred from the meeting to act, and the records will show that many of those in attendance were not members of the union.

Mr. Keating was asked last night what he meant in his last letter by "proper credentials." He replied, "I mean credentials showing that the committee which waits on us to discuss this proposition comes as the formal representatives of our employes."

In other words, appearances indicate that the company would probably grant a substantial increase in wages, not twenty-five cents an hour as the men demand, but a considerable increase over the present scale, provided it was not asked to recognize the union, and the men, in turn, would probably forego some of their other demands if the company would recognize the union first.

A 15 PER CENT. INCREASE.

C.P.R. Arbitrators Announce Satisfactory Award on Saturday.

Toronto, June 16.—The Board of Arbitration, who have been sitting for the past few days at the Queen's Hotel adjusting the wages of the C. P. R. Trackmen, concluded their labors on Saturday night. The Board was composed of John D. Wilson of St. Louis, Mo., president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen, representing the men; Chief Engineer Gutelius of the Maintenance of Way Department, Montreal, representing the company; and Chancellor Boyd as the third party.

The award was made public on Saturday night, and is satisfactory to the men and company alike It amounts to an average advance of 15 per cent. all around. Wages is scaled from $2.60 per day to $1.40 per day. A copy of the award was sent to the head office of the C.P.R. at Montreal on Saturday night to be formally ratified and signed by the company.

A DYNAMITE BOMB.

Attempt Made to Blow Up Home of Coal Police Special.

Hazelton, Pa., June 16.—The home of James Applegate at West Hazelton was badly shattered early Saturday by an explosion of dynamite, which had been placed near it by unknown parties. The family escaped injury. Applegate has been employed as a special officer at the Cranberry colliery since the strike went into effect.

Frank Pardee, superintendent of the Cranberry colliery, offers a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the dynamiters. He says bloodhounds will be brought here to assist the police in running down the guilty parties.

Riots in Pawtucket Still.

Pawtucket, R.I., June 16.—The presence of 700 armed men sent by Governor Kimball to restore order had little influence, except in central parts of the city. Yesterday, and during the afternoon rioting broke out anew in the suburbs and spread to the neighboring city of Central Falls.

For Selling Army Secrets.

Warsaw, June 16.—Col. Grimm of the Russian army was arraigned Saturday on the charge of selling Russian military secrets to a foreign power. The trial lasted twelve hours and resulted in the accused being sentenced to deprivation of all his rights and to be imprisoned for twelve years.

Small Fish.

An Englishman walking through a certain part of Scotland with rod and reel came upon a tiny loch which he thought held out promise of good sport. Patiently he fished for three hours, moving steadily from spot to spot along the borders of the little pond, but no success came to him.

At last he accosted a boy who had stood for ten minutes watching him with mingled surprise and curiosity on his face. "My little lad," said the Englishman, "can you tell me whether there are any fish in this pond?"

"If there be ony, they must be vera wee ones, sir," returned the boy, "for there was nae water here until it rained yesterday!"

CHAMBERLAIN NOT WOUNDED.

Rumor That Attempt Was Made to Assassinate Him a Hoax.

London, June 16.—A persistent rumor gained currency throughout a wide spread area of the Midlands yesterday that an attempt had been made to assassinate Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, and that he had been shot and seriously wounded.

Inquiries regarding the truth of the rumor reached Sheffield from neighboring towns. A London message announcing that the report was a senseless hoax subsequently allayed the anxiety.

Chamberlain Looks Better.

London, June 16.—The conclusion of peace has brought renewed buoyancy to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's spirit. The Daily News, his chief opponent of the press, finds that whereas before peace he was always grim and silent, unless addressing Parliament, and the pallor of his face ghastly, he now has a tinge of color and his features and expression respond to the feeling of the House.

FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Honest Words of Advice From One Who Knows.

Algoma Young Lady Speaks Strong Plain Counsel to her Suffering Sisters—Tells Them her own Experience as Proof.

Blind River, Ont., June 15. —(Special.)—Anyone who might to-day see Miss Emily Liddell of this place for the first time would find it hard to believe that only a few months ago she was an invalid.

Miss Liddell suffered with Female Weakness and Backache, and for months was so ill as to be unable to attend to her household duties, the slighest task being too much for her in her weakened condition.

She was terribly run down, and nothing seemed to do her any good or afford her the slightest relief till she tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the very beginning they seemed to help her, and although at first the improvement was slow she persevered and gradually grew stronger, till today she is in better health than she has ever known before.

Miss Liddell is very grateful for her remarkable deliverance, and strongly recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all her lady acquaintances who need help. She has given for publication a very strong letter of recommendation in which she says:

"I would most heartily and conscientiously advise all young women troubled with Female Weakness in any form, to try the remedy that cured me after everything else had failed, and that remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For months at a time I was so low and weak that I found it impossible to attend to my household duties, my back used to ache something dreadful. Now I feel strong and better than I ever did, and Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all. They are worth their weight in gold to any young woman suffering as I used to suffer.

"They built me up wonderfully and I cannot speak too highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a medicine for sick women."

The Fare-Robbing Trials.

Toronto, June 16.—The trial of the street car conductors, accused of robbing fare boxes, will be continued in the Police Court this morning. The examinations are expected to be brief. All but that of James Whittington can be disposed of in very short order, possibly within 30 minutes for each case. The case against Whittington, the man with whom Caulfield, the detective, boarded, is likely to take a whole day by itself.

Patrick McHugh, M.P., Arrested.

Dublin, June 16.—Patrick McHugh, M.P., has been arrested on a warrant on the charge of conspiracy and intimidation in connection with the complaint of a tenant of a farm from which a member of the United Irish League had been evicted. The warrant was issued by a special court, which assembled at Sligo, Ireland, June 6, under the Crimes' Act.

Filled Ship With Beggars.

Lisbon, June 16.—The authorities here have taken a short way with the host of beggars and idlers that have infested the city. They were captured and taken to the police court, whence, in a body, they were sent aboard the steamer Alem Queen, which left immediately for Portugal's African colonies.

KING CONTRACTS A CHILL.

It Prevented Him From Attending the Aldershot Garrison Church Parade.

London, June 12. — King Edward yesterday was suffering from a chill, which has prevented His Majesty from attending the day's church parade of the Aldershot garrison. The chill came as a result of his prolonged stay outdoors Saturday night upon the occasion of the torchlight tattoo.

Sir Francis Loring, physician-in-ordinary to His Majesty, was summoned to Aldershot early yesterday morning. He prescribed for the King and recommended that yesterday be spent in perfect quiet.

The court circular last night published the following official announcement: "King Edward was unable to leave his room to-day, owing to an attack of lumbago caused by a chall.

The latest report is that King Edward will be able to attend the review.

Says He Hopes to Encourage Emigration From England to Canada.

New York, June 16.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, and Lady Laurier sailed Saturday for England on the Etruria to attend the coronation of King Edward. They expect to return home about the end of July or the middle of August.

"I hope to have an opportunity while in England," Sir Wilfrid said, "to devise some plan for the greater encouragement of emigration to Canada.

"Emigration from the Unites States, I am glad to note, is increasing every year. Fully 50,000 have gone from this country across the border during the last three years, and we will be glad to have all the fifty thousands more she can send."

Was run Down.

Miss Josephine Picard, daughter of Mr. Adolphus Picard, town, was run down by a horse and carriage on Saturday afternoon, on Hunter street and her escape from serious injury was nothing short of miraculous. Miss Picard's accident was due, it is said, to the reckless driving of a farmer who did not even wait to inquire if the girl was injured. Such action on the part of drivers is most unreasonable.

MR. M. RILEY RETIRES.

His Retirement From Active Connection With the Lock Works.

This week Mr. M. Riley, who has since the establishment of the industry—seventeen years ago—been connected with the Peterbprough Lock Manufacturing Company, will complete his contract with the Company and sever his connection with the establishment.

Mr. Riley has been in ill health for some time and the necessity is felt of a relaxation from the strain of active work such as his position envolves. At a meeting of the directors of the Company this morning a practically formal farewell, this being probably the last meeting of the Board prior to his retirement, was made to Mr. Riley, and regret expressed that ill-health necessitated the severence of business relations at the present time.

Mr. Riley having disposed of his residence proposes taking a trip to the Old Country, and his numerous friends in town earnestly hope that his health will be greatly benefitted, if not restored, by the voyage.

SEND-OFF FOR MR. BAMFORD.

Citizens Present Him With a Substantial Purse.

COMPLIMENTARY REMARKS.

He Leaves To-day to Assume His new Duties as Travelling Freight Agent for the C. P. R.

A large number of the principal merchants, manufacturers and professional men of the town assembled on Saturday evening in the Oriental Hotel Parlour for the purpose of testifying to the extreme regret of the citizens in general at parting with Mr. W. B. Bamford, C.P.R. Agent, who has just been promoted to the important position of Travelling Freight Agent for the line. Amongst those pesent were,—His Worship the Mayor and Messrs. W. H. Meldrum, J. H. McClellan, W. Rudkins, H. P. Kennedy, E. G. Patterson, T. F. Matthews, J. J. McBain, John Crane, J. C. Grant, F. H. Dobbin, R. R. Hall, F. D. McKay, G. M. Roger, W. Bunton, V. Eastwood, Col. J. Z. Rogers, J. C. Shook, and Messrs. Bene and Cohen, of the National Construction Company.

Mr. Meldrum asked Mayor Denne to take the chair. On doing so His Worship expressed his pleasure at being present and on behalf of the citizens voiced the general regret which was occasioned by Mr. Bamford's departure. He than read the following address:

To W. B. Bamford, Esq.,

Dear Sir, — We have assembled here this evening, on the eve of your departure to take up residence in another city to give expression in a small way of our feelings towards you.

We are speaking as citizens of the good town of Peterborough to one who has been a good citizen of that good town, and is now about to sever those relations of citizenship. Therefore in the first place we would assure you that we regret exceedingly that you are leaving Peterborough. Since coming here, ten years ago, you have identified yourself with the town's interests, and have never failed to respond readily when fellow citizens requested your assistance in any movement that had for its object the advancement of the general good, although your business made large demands on your time, you were always to the front to give your services and your leisure—limited though the latter was—to the advancement of the town's interests. In a word, you have displayed a public spirit and a zeal in your citizenship that has made you a worthy example to others, and at this time we desire to let you know this has been appreciated by the citizens of the town.

Then your services on the Board of Education for several years have been valuable in the promotion of the important interests of our schools and ensuring them a careful business-like management, and this public duty you discharged with the same fidelity and straightforwardness that has been characteristic of all your relations here.

But, sir, it is with the business men of the town, that your daily relations have had most to do, and it cannot fail to be gratifying to you to know that at this time so many of them are anxious to express their appreciation of you and your business methods. The majority of the business men of the town are represented here, including all our manufacturers, who, as shippers, have had to meet you in a business way. The unanimous sentiment is, that your record here has been an honourable one, and that your word at all times has been as good as your bond, and that you, in a particular degree possess the qualities of an ideal railway man. You were ever true and careful of the interests of your employers, yet you were always alive to and showed a sympathy with the interests represented in the manufacturers and business men of the town. Genial, courteous and diplomatic at all times, your business relations have been of the most pleasant character, and we regret that they are to be severed. Yet we recognize that your ability is worthy of a large field and equal to larger and greater responsibilities, and we are pleased that the great railway concern with which you are employed, has recognized your faithfulness and successful service, and has shown its appreciation of your talents by promoting you to the position of Travelling Freight Agent. The fact that you have been so successful here and have so emphatically demonstrated your capacity for business, leads us to predict that your new position will be but a stepping stone to larger and more important things.

That such may be the case and that you and Mrs. Bamford and your family may enjoy success and happiness and frequently return to renew pleasant associations in Peterborough, is the wish of the citizens of the town, who would now say, "God speed and good luck," and ask your acceptance of the accompanying purse.

Mr. Meldrum then handed Mr. Bamford a substantial purse.

In expressing his thanks for the address and the gift, Mr. Bamford assured those present that he spoke from a full heart. It was ten years since he had come to Peterborough and it was with the greatest interest that he had watched the rapid growth of the many manufacturing concerns. It had been a pleasure to extend what help he could to the manufacturers and the manufacturers had stood by him and entrusted him with their shipping business. He hoped that he had proved worthy of the trust they had put in him. It was a couple of months since he had received a telegram asking if he would accept the position of Travelling Freight Agent, and as he had acquiesced his appointment had come in due time and he would be leaving town by Monday. His successor, Mr. Harrison, was in the room. He came to Peterborough well recommended and would look well after the interests of the business men. In the case of any grievances it was always well to report the matter to the agent in order that a settlement might be reached. Continuing, Mr. Bamford went on to speak of the progress which was being made by all of the industries in Peterborough and stated that he hoped in his new position to still be of use to the manufacturers. He concluded by again expressing his thanks for the presentation on behalf of both himself and Mrs. Bamford.

Mr. T. F. Matthews was pleased to be present to add his testimony as to the business qualifications of Mr. Bamford. No one perhaps had been more closely associated with Mr. Bamford in business relations than himself, and he always found him anxious to do what was fair for the shipper as well as fair for the Company. He hoped to see him around often in connection with the matter of settling grievances and was sure that all would join in extending a welcome to Mr. Bamford's successor. It would take him all his time if he intended to follow in the footsteps of Mr. Bamford. He found it hard to say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Bamford, but wished them a long life and a happy one.

Mr. J. H. McClelland was then called upon, and he referred in opening to the sincere regret he felt at losing Mr. Bamford as the local agent of the C. P. R. He wished however to congratulate him, as what was the town's loss was Mr. Bamford's gain. He welcomed his successor and warned him of the difficult position he had to fill. The shippers, however, would try to help him out. He had met Mr. Bamford in many different ways, and could say that no gentleman in the town could be more missed. The company, he thought, should be congratulated on securing such a man as Mr. Bamford as their Travelling Freight Agent.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum stated that he was one of the first that Mr. Bamford had called upon when he came to the town ten years ago, and their relations had been of the most cordial nature ever since. Nothing had given him greater pleasure for some time than arranging for this presentation. Mr. Bamford had always shown a very active interest in the affairs of the town and he wished him all success in his new position, adding the hope that before long he would be able to take his friends on a jaunt to Young's Point over a new branch line of the C.P.R.

Mr. William Bunton spoke of having come from the same town as Mr. Bamford, and expressed his pleasure at seeing his old fellow townsman get such a cordial send off, and hoped that he would yet see him rise to the position of General Traffic Manager of the road.

Mr. G. M. Roger spoke of the interest which Mr. Bamford had taken in the town's affairs apart from his business interests. He had met him on many occasions, when all had derived great benefit from his presence. His loss would be seriously felt in more than one way.

Mr. J. C. Shook stated that he had known Mr. Bamford when in charge of his first station and had learned to appreciate him as a man of honour and integrity. He was glad to see that the Peterborough citizens had also learned to appreciate him. It must be very gratifying to Mr. Bamford to hear such expressions of good will. He congratulated the C. P. R. on its choice of a Travelling Freight Agent, and thought that the promotion was an earnest of even better things.

Mr. E. G. Patterson was glad of an opportunity of expressing his esteem for Mr. Bamford. All the harm he could wish him was that he would yet rise to be president of the road. Mr. Bamford had always endeavoured to do what was right for his clients as well as for the company. He hoped his successful career would be continued.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy assured the guest of the evening that there was nothing in the address more flattering than what was deserved. He had dealt largely with Mr. Bamford, and the association had left no recollections but pleasant ones. An American had told him that it would be better for Canada if there were more railway men like Mr. Bamford up here. He wished Mr. and Mrs. Bamford every happiness.

Mr. J. J. McBain in speaking stated that Mr. Bamford had not been in the town forty-eight hours before he struck him for business. He thought at the time that he had considerable nerve, but he found that he hustled for business in this manner all the time. Personally he had been associated with Mr. Bamford in many ways—on the Town Charity Board, the Children's Aid Society, the Board of Education and various committees. He had always found him to be careful and possessed of excellent judgment.

Mr. John Crane thought that the citizens not only did honour to Mr. Bamford but to themselves in showing that a straightforward, honest, upright man was appreciated in the town. Mr. Bamford had recently been elected to a position on the Nicholls Hospital Board and he would be missed by his associates there who had looked forward to enjoying his counsel and advice.

Mr. J. C. Grant, as a travelling man, spoke of how Mr. Bamford was appreciated on the road and mentioned an occasion when a remark by one of the head officials of the road showed that Mr. Bamford's merits were appreciated at head quarters.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin hoped that the many disclosures made during the evening as to Mr. Bamford's friendly relations with the shippers would not lead to an advance being made in the rates. He understood that Mr. Bamford's services would be greatly missed in connection with the church to which he belonged.

Mr. Wm Rudkins stated that though he was not a shipper yet as a citizen it gave him great pleasure to testify that he had always looked upon Mr. Bamford as one of the first men in town. The C.P.R. people showed that they knew a good thing when they saw it. Once before, in the case of Mr. Leonard, they had come to Peterborough for a man and he thought Mr. Bamford was following in Mr. Leonard's footsteps.

Mr. F. D. McKay remarked on Mr. Bamford's good citizenship and the general interest he had taken in the town's affairs. He thanked him for courtesies extended to the press in various ways.

Mr. R. R. Hall thought that so far as the citizens of Peterborough were concerned they should congratulate themselves on Mr. Bamford's appointment. His interest in Peterborough would naturally continue to exist and realizing the importance of dealing fairly with the shippers, he could draw the attention of the higher officials to the necessity of encouraging growth in a manufacturing town such as Peterborough. As one interested in the Cordage Company, he saw what a great advantage could be derived through reasonable freight rates, as with this encouragement a far greater amount of stock would be manufactured. This would apply to all industries and would result in much benefit to the town.

Colonel J. Z. Rogers expressed his regret at the departure from town of a man of Mr. Bamford's capabilities, but congratulated him on his promotion, and expressed the wish that he would often visit Peterborough.

Mr. Harrison, who is Mr. Bamford's successor, stated that he was much pleased to witness the send off given Mr. Bamford, as it would encourage him to make greater efforts himself. From what had been said, he saw that he was going to have a rough road to travel if he was going to try and fill Mr. Bamford's boots. However, he would do all in his power to discharge his duties faithfully and would be only too pleased to be of what service he could to the town.

Mr. Bene, of the National Const. Co., congratulated the town on having so many orators, as he had heard during the evening. He also congratulated Mr. Bamford on receiving such a verdict as had been expressed, from the people among whom he had been living. It was something to be proud of, he thought.

Mr. V. Eastwood referred to the great interest which the late Mr. R. S. Davidson had taken in the matter of Mr. Bamford's promotion. He thought Peterborough had got the start of the C.P.R., through having kept Mr. Bamford here five years longer than was expected, as his promotion was due long ago.

Before the gathering dispersed, Mr. Bamford expressed himself as believing that a great deal of satisfaction would result, if, as a set-off against demurrage bills, the shippers were allowed a rebate of one or two dollars a car on their freight charges for prompt unloading.
